Ask The Everyday Scientist

POLITICAL POLLING
by Dr. Thomas P. Sheahen

Q. There are so many political polls being quoted these days. Are they really accurate?

A. The activity of gathering polling data is very important in an election, and a lot of effort (and money) goes into trying to do it right. The pollster who gets it right one time gets paid a lot more the next time.

The factors influencing the accuracy of a poll have mostly to do with what statisticians term the Sample Space, meaning just exactly who is polled. There are both random variations and structural variations. As a poll-taker, you accept the former and try hard to eliminate the latter.

Random variations are related to the number of people sampled. An example helps: Suppose you ask 10,000 people the same question (e.g., "Who are you going to vote for?"). You then expect a random variation of 100 people either way. This number is chosen simply because 100 is the square root of 10,000. That's just something statisticians agree on. It can also be expressed as a percentage: 100 is 1% of 10,000. So you say the "margin of error" is 1%. This is strictly a way of relating a statistical analysis technique — there is absolutely no further significance to the number. You don't really know the poll result with that much precision.

Generally, pollsters try to pose a question to about 1,000 people, which of course is 10 times easier than asking 10,000 people. The "margin of error" is then about 3% — the square root of 900 is 30, which gives that percentage. It's not worth the expense to try to "beat down" the percentage via massive sampling, because of all the other errors that creep in.

The structural variations are sometimes much more significant than pollsters expect. A famous example from history came in the 1932 election, when people were called on the telephone. The polling results clearly showed that Hoover would beat Roosevelt. What went wrong? Only the comparatively wealthy had telephones in 1932.

For many decades later in the 20th century, telephone polling was pretty reliable, because everybody had a telephone. However, today we face a situation in which a finite fraction of people have only a cell phone, not a "land-line." Calling up conventional telephones listed in the phone book may not adequately reach a valid sample of the total population. In the current election, pollsters are worried that they might miss a disproportionate share of young voters by not contacting cell phones.

It is often very difficult to estimate other structural variations in the sample of people responding to the poll. Some people consider it invasive to be asked, don't want to be bothered, and refuse to participate. Are such people uniformly split between Democrats and Republicans? That's a big unknown. A pollster is often just guessing when applying a correction factor to the data that tries to compensate for non-participants.

Pollsters make use of previous years' polls when deciding who to poll this time around. By examining the outcome of past elections and comparing it with past poll results, polling firms have discovered that there are certain towns, even certain precincts, scattered across America where the polling data show a remarkable correlation with the national outcomes. Whatever might be the causes of structural variations, they seem to average out in those particular communities. Therefore, these are favorite hunting grounds for pollsters.

The various polling companies try to keep secret the locations in which they've found such accurate results. That's how they gain competitive advantage over one another. If you're in that business, the payment you get for the next election depends a lot on how accurate you are in this election.

Finally, another serious structural variation is caused by "feedback." The electorate includes people who just want to "vote for a winner." Such voters listen to announcements of polling results and let it influence their own voting decision. This "feedback" effect can lead to changes in the outcome of an election. Knowing about this factor, the politician who is ahead in the polls makes a big deal of polling data, while the one behind minimizes the importance of polls.

For the individual voter, the message in all this should be clear: Don't be swayed by the announced polls! Make the effort to actually show up and vote for the candidate of your choice.

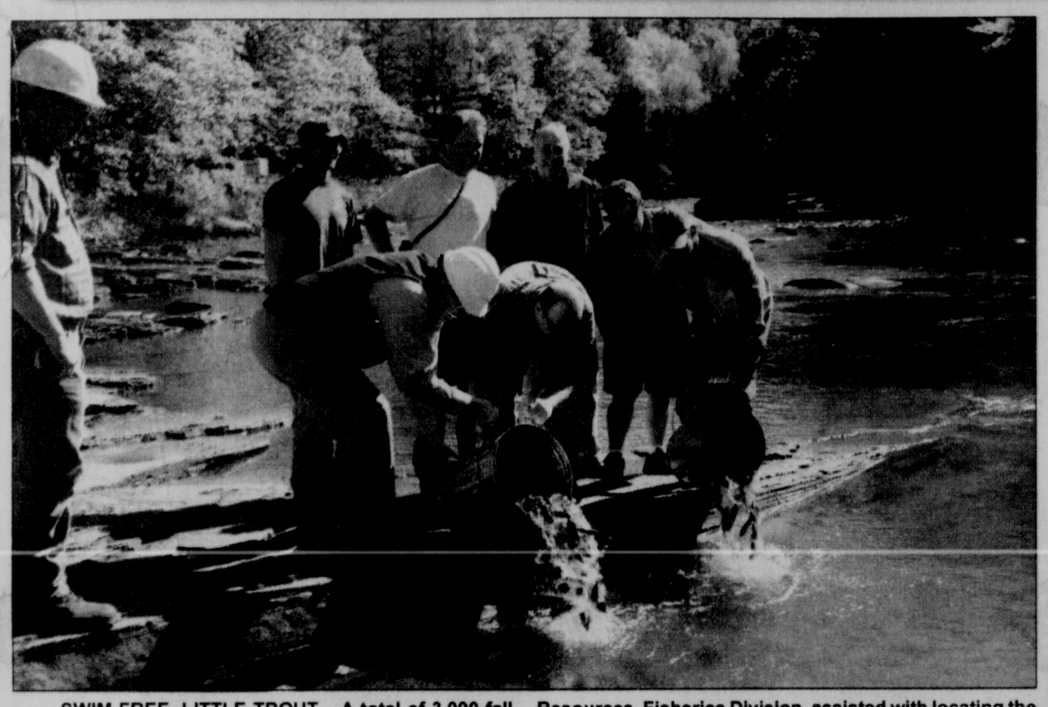
PEOPLE'S CHOICE AWARD – The Heritage Quilters hosted the 6th annual Autumn Glory Quilt Show last weekend, and as always invited guests to vote for their favorite designs. More than 500 people walked through the display, which featured a wide variety of meticulously made quilts. The most votes were garnered by the quilt pictured above, winner of the People's Choice Award. Shown with the piece is Martha McGettigan (left) and Susan O'Neal. Susan pieced the quilt and is the owner, and Martha did the machine work on it. O'Neal was presented with a Longaberger Halloween basket, donated by Linda Reagan. Several quilt stores set up booths at the event. The raffled quilt was won by Barbara Dawson of Boca Raton, Fla. The quilters group meets every second Tuesday of the month in the Continuing Education Building of Garrett College at 7 p.m. All interested persons are invited to attend.



SWIM FREE, LITTLE TROUT – A total of 3,000 fall fingerling trout from the Laurel Hill Trout Farm, Bedford, Pa., were released into Youghiogheny River on Autumn Glory Friday, swimming freely into the catch and release section of the waterway. The Youghiogheny Chapter of Trout Unlimited organized the stocking effort and secured the funding from local businesses and individuals. Brookfield Renewable Power provided half of the funding, with matching funds provided by TU, Orvis at Wisp Resort, Western Maryland Guides Association, and several individuals. The Maryland Department of Natural Resources, Fisheries Division, assisted with locating the fish and providing the manpower and transportation for stocking. Alan Klotz, Regional Fisheries manager, and Eric Guthrie, president of Trout Unlimited, indicated that the total stocking number in this river is now over 35,000 fingerling trout for 2008. In the front with the first bucket are David Barhart, general manager, Brookfield Power; and Guthrie. From far left are Randy Garletts, Brookfield Power; S. Zorn, Laurel Hill; Klotz, DNR; Tim Prather, general manager, Wisp resort; Mike Valach, director, Wisp summer programs; and P.J. Daly, Orvis guide.

Church Damaged By Fire Sunday; Child Responsible

A child playing with matches in the sanctuary of an Oakland church was reportedly the cause of a fire Sunday afternoon that caused an estimated $30,000 in damages.

Firefighters from the Oakland and Deer Park volunteer departments were summoned to St. Paul's United Methodist Church at 318 East Oak Street at 4:58 p.m. after two Girl Scout leaders who were at the church discovered the fire.

According to a report released by Deputy State Fire Marshal Jamie Rodeheaver, a 10-year-old female was playing with matches and ignited the cushion on one of the church pews. Scout leaders Adele Naylor and Elizabeth Huxford, who were in the basement of the church, smelled smoke and went to investigate. Upon discovering the fire, they called 911 and then doused the fire with two fire extinguishers.

"Had they not extinguished the fire when they did, even if it had been two or three minutes later, we probably would have lost the entire church," said a spokesperson for St. Paul's.

Huxford was reportedly treated on the scene by the Southern Garrett Rescue Squad for smoke inhalation, but was not transported to the hospital.

Rodeheaver's report said that the church sustained moderate fire damage and heavy smoke damage, with the loss to the structure estimated to be $5,000, and loss

Man Sentenced To 12 Years In DOC For Theft

A former local resident was sentenced in Garrett County Circuit Court on Monday to 12 years in the Division of Corrections for a theft conviction. Mitchell Cyril Gibellino, 51, was convicted in May by a jury.

Evidence indicated that in 2004 Gibellino had convinced a neighbor to give him $70,000, claiming the monies would be used to assist in building an investment property at Deep Creek Lake and that her monies would be secured by a lien against the property.

"It was later determined that no such property, nor project, existed, and Gibellino failed to return her funds," said the state's attorney.

In addition to the prison sentence, Judge Jim Sherbin entered a restitution judgment against Gibellino for $70,000 and imposed a $5,000 fine.

Public Works Ctr. Projects Finished, Near Completion

General Services director Gary Mullich presented an update report to the Garrett County commissioners on Tuesday on recent departmental activities. Topics discussed included Public Works Complex buildings, the county's surplus auction, and the courthouse centennial celebration.

The new $3.4 million Oakland roads garage is completed at the county's Public Works Complex, Mullich reported. Roads Department personnel have been busy moving items into their new facility, which is located off Rt. 135 near Mtn. Lake Park.

The Department of Public Utility's maintenance/warehouse at the complex is also near completion, Mullich said. Staff should be able to move equipment and supplies into their new $1.9 million facility by the end of December. DPU currently leases a storage building near Oakland.

The next phase of the Public Works Complex is the administration building, which is to have offices for DPU, the Roads Department and engineering, and the Permits and Inspections Division.

Mullich said staff members from those departments recently reviewed the floor plan for their new building with the project architects, Proffitt & Associates.

Jerry Bell, General Service's project manager, showed the plan to the commissioners. The design includes additional space for future expansion, as well as possible room for an alternate Emergency Operations Center, Mullich noted. The EOC could be funded through a federal grant.

Bell said the design for the administration building will be finished in November or December, and the project could be put up for bids in late December or January. Construction could then begin in the spring, he noted.

The commissioners reviewed the architects' invoices for the work they have completed so far. The total contract for the design phase amounts to $186,364.

County officials must now decide whether to proceed with the construction phase of the project, given the current economic situation. Commissioner Ernie Gregg said they needed to balance the cost of construction with the cost savings that would be accrued by having all the offices in that one building.

The commissioners and department heads will meet next month to review the county's budget and look at various ways to save money and cut costs in all areas of government.

Mullich also reported that county would conduct a surplus auction this Saturday, Oct. 25, at 10 a.m. at the old Oakland roads garage. The commissioners reviewed the list of available items, which includes vehicles, heavy equipment, long guns, parts, tools, office furniture, and electronics.

Some of the vehicles and

GC Patrol Cars All Receive AED Units From POA

Thanks to the Property Owners Association of Deep Creek Lake, all Garrett County sheriff's deputy patrol vehicles are now equipped with automatic electronic defibrillators (AED). The POA made a donation of $20,000 in memory of Judge Fred A. Thayer, who died in the spring of 2007 as the result of a heart attack.

The announcement of the donation was originally made last November, but because of government paperwork changes at the time, the AED units were months from becoming a reality. They have now been distributed throughout the county to all patrol vehicles, with all deputies trained to use them. The idea behind the donation is that deputies can now offer to a victim a greater chance of surviving cardiac arrest.

Reportedly only about 5 percent of people who suffer cardiac arrest survive, with victims of every age, including infants and the elderly. If victims receive CPR and AED shock within 3 minutes of collapse, the survival rate can increase up to 74 percent.

Sudden cardiac arrest is usually caused by an electrical malfunction that makes the heart quiver in a deadly rhythm called ventricular fibrillation. A lifesaving pulse of electricity is the single most effective way to restore the heart's normal rhythm, noted a spokesperson. This donation has made it possible for deputies to respond to a cardiac arrest and be equipped to handle it in the most beneficial manner possible for the survival of the victim. They can offer assistance before emergency medical crews may be able to arrive.

It has been agreed among the Garrett County commissioners that the maintenance expense associated with the AED units will be funded by the commissioners. The hope is that additional AED units will be obtained to complete the sheriff's office fleet. There will be training and retraining headed and coordinated by Dep. John Frank.

Judge Fred Thayer was a past president of the Property Owners Association and was conducting POA business the day he died. The rural vastness of Garrett County was a contributing factor in his death, said the spokesperson, as he did not receive aid timely enough to effect a life-saving outcome. The POA decided then to improve the survival chance for others in a similar situation. The project was headed by Scott Johnson, president of POA, and Lou Battistella, secretary of POA.

Battista Defending Comedian "Tater Salad" Ron White

Jeffrey Battista, son of Donald and Patty Battista, Deep Creek Lake, and graduate of Southern High School, is currently serving as a defense attorney for comedian Ron "Tater Salad" White, a member of the "Blue Collar Comedy" group now touring the United States.

White was scheduled Tuesday to be arraigned on the charges at the Indian River County (Fla.) Courthouse, but previously waived his right for the hearing. He was charged in September after three Vero Beach (Fla.) police officers and a drug-sniffing dog met the California-based comedian when he exited his private airplane at the Vero Beach Municipal Airport. Only he and the pilot were aboard.

Police alleged they found White with about one-eighth of an ounce of marijuana and a pipe for smoking marijuana, according to reports.

White contended the marijuana was medicinal, but he didn't have a prescription. Battista has been quoted in national reports about the case. He said that there is discussion now with the prosecutors about a plea deal to avoid going on trial on misdemeanor drug charges.

Man Charged With Sexual Soliciting, Exploiting Of Minor

An Oakland man was arrested last week by detectives with the Garrett County Sheriff's Office in connection with an investigation in the alleged solicitation of a minor.

Michael Westley Dever, 36, has been charged with three counts of sexual exploitation of a minor, one count of sexual solicitation of a minor, and possession of marijuana and paraphernalia.

Dever was taken to the Garrett County Detention Center to await an initial appearance before a District Court commissioner.

Kitzmiller Concert Date Changed; Fall Fest Still On

The annual Kitzmiller Fall Social at the Kitzmiller Elementary School will take place on Oct. 25, as previously announced, but a concert slated that evening by Charlie Kenny has been rescheduled for Nov. 1.

The Fall Social will now feature a concert by MMK, a rock and roll band headed up by Aaron Kerr. The change was a result of a scheduling error, according to Richard Stevens, principal of Kitzmiller Elementary School.

The social on Oct. 25 will begin at 5 p.m. Guests may come in costume, and costume judging will take place at 5:30 p.m. There will be games from 6 to 8 p.m., and the concert by MMK will begin at 8:30.

The Kenny concert, now set for Saturday, Nov. 1, will also begin at 8:30 p.m. that evening. All proceeds from these events will benefit the Kitzmiller PTO.

Tickets for the social are $5 for adults and $2.50 for students in kindergarten through 12th grade. Those who wish to attend the social only (minus the MMK concert) may pay $.50 to enter, or bring canned goods to benefit the House of Hope.

Tickets for the Charlie Kenny concert will be the same ($5 for adults and

A NEW LOCATION for the annual Autumn Glory Antique/Classic Car and Tractor Show, held Sunday, Oct. 12, resulted in a significant larger turnout, both of entries and spectators. For many years the show was held at Broadford Park, but was moved to downtown Oakland this year. There were over 150 vehicles involved, lining both Second and Alder streets. These shots were taken by Ed Deal of the Mountaintop Cruisers Car Club, which coordinates the annual show. Amid the vehicles above center is Oakland mayor Asa McCain. Below is a 1952 model that is, rather obviously, owned by a Baltimore Ravens fan. The show, and the beautiful weather, drew a huge crowd.

SHS Students Prepare For YLI Mock Election

Students and teachers at Southern High School will be conducting a mock election next Wednesday, Oct. 29. Students will use an online voting system as they participate in a mock election program sponsored by the Youth Leadership Initiative (YLI).

YLI is a national civic education program based at the University of Virginia Center for Politics. With millions of students expected to vote nationwide during the two-week voting period from Oct. 20 to 30, the YLI Mock Election is the largest secure, student-only online mock election in the nation.

Over 380 students have completed mock voter registration forms during a voter registration drive sponsored by Dave Bender's contemporary problems class. Bender created a web quest Internet based lesson at www.ga.k12.md.us/-schools/sh/ElectionWebquest%2008/Election%-202008.htm that is designed to help students to:

- understand the importance of voting
- learn their own political point of view (ideology)
- learn the positions of the major presidential candidates
- register to vote
- debate important issues
- use reasoned judgment to make their decision for president
- predict the outcome of the Electoral College vote

Bender's class will hold political "rallies" for both of the major party candidates during all three lunch shifts on Monday prior to the election, Oct. 26, and has developed a Ram Election 2008 political blog at www.-ramelection2008.blogspot.-com, where students can voice their political viewpoints.

A national research study conducted by University of Virginia Center for Politics director Larry J. Sabato and chief of staff Ken Stroupe found conclusively that the instructional components of the Youth Leadership Initiative can have a positive impact on students. Stroupe found that students in classes where teachers used the YLI Mock Election and the related lesson plans reported a higher tendency towards future political participation.

The UVCP study further found that youth voter registration totals are reaching high-water marks in dozens of states across the country compared with recent election cycles. "As young people have become engaged in the political process through the classroom and community service, we are seeing those experiences translate to a heightened sense of interest and excitement in this year's election," added Sabato.

National and statewide results of the YLI Mock Election will be available the morning of Friday, Oct. 31, on YLI's web site at www.youthleadership.net.

Annual Banquet Held By Grantsville Museum Group

The annual [illegible] Community Museum dinner was held recently at the Grantsville Senior Center. Goehringer Catering provided a turkey meal, and many community members contributed to the silent auction as both suppliers and buyers.

During a brief business meeting, the heirloom quilt winner was announced. It was Sharon Kuehne, Phoenix.

Bruce Shifflett Sr., Glen Burnie, donated $5,000 in memory of the late Roseann Damiani.

Wendell Beitzel, representing the House of Delegates of Maryland, recognized Maxine Broadwater as Garrett County's "Most Beautiful Person" 2008 during the evening's itinerary.

The focal point of the evening was a 17-minute segment presentation that was produced by David Solomon. Michael Bartley and David Burke, participants in the DVD, explained the process necessary to create the finished project.

The DVDs can be purchased at the museum on Friday and Saturday afternoons.

Many of Leo Beachy's family's descendants attended the banquet.

JROTC CADETS TAKE TRAINING COURSE AT CAMP DAWSON – SFC. Mike Kulcsar, LTC. Ralph Sheaffer, and 12 JROTC cadets from Southern High School recently took an adventure training field trip to Camp Dawson, W.Va. Operated by the West Virginia Army National Guard, the training camp comprised challenging obstacles that were designed to give the cadets confidence in their mental and physical abilities, as well as improve their leadership skills. The rope climb and the cargo net were ranked the most difficult by the cadets. "The rope ladder was the most challenging obstacle to me," stated cadet private Josh Dewitt, "because I started to slide down and burn my hands." The group is pictured above taking a break from the course. In the front row, from left, are cadets Matt Jordan, Anthony Mullen, Anthony Cervi, Dewitt, Nathan Glotfelty, Ryan Jenkins, Chris Moon, and Blaine Stemple. Back row: SFC. Investment Fees Spike As Pension Fund Decreases

by Eli Segall
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS – The state pension system had a $16.9 million spike in investment fees last year, even as the value of the pension fund shed billions, officials said Wednesday.

Pension directors attributed the spike to a new investment strategy which they said will stanch the fund's losses and, in the long run, earn more money. But the fund was still criticized in a new report, which called the $89 million in asset management fees "counterintuitive," given the fund's $2.8 billion loss in fiscal year 2008.

For example, the investment in the Templeton Global fund lost 12 percent of its value last fiscal year. But the fees paid for managing the investment rose by 3.5 percent, from $4.17 million to $4.3 million.

Mansco Perry III, the State Retirement and Pension System's chief investment officer, dismissed the criticism from the Department of Legislative Services' report, describing fees in general as "somewhat deceptive."

For example, he said, Baltimore-based Legg Mason had a "very disastrous" performance the last three years, but over the long term booked high returns for the fund.

Legg earned $2.3 million in fees last year, a 20 percent drop from $2.8 million in 2007. The assets it managed, however, plunged by 41 percent, from $1 billion to $614 million.

"We hire managers for their performance over a long period of time," Perry said.

The soured stock and bond markets have caused large investment funds across the country to bleed cash, wiping out trillions in value this year. Maryland's pension system, for instance, lost $7 billion since June 30 alone, dropping from $36.6 billion to $29.5 billion as of Monday.

Pension funds pay money managers to invest and help monitor their assets. According to the legislative services report, the fees paid to these firms generally mirror the value of the assets they manage.

Maryland's new investment strategy, launched in January, has the state moving more money into real estate and private equity, among other areas, from the battered stock and bond markets. Firms that specialize in real estate and private equity often charge higher fees, state officials said.

Jan Jacobson, senior counsel for retirement policy at the American Benefits Council, a trade group, said it's "definitely possible" to pay higher fees with a new investment strategy.

"If they're going into some private equity arrangements, that would not be surprising," she said.

Still, not all of Maryland's investment firms showed an increase in fees last fiscal year. LaSalle Advisors REIT had a 39 percent drop in management fees, from $1.7 million to $1.1 million, while the assets it managed climbed 15 percent, from $411 million to $474 million.

Cargo Too Precious...

National Teen Driver Safety Week is under way and is designed to draw attention to car crashes as the leading cause of death for teens, killing more than 5,000 teens annually, according to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA). In Maryland, 82 persons in the 16-20-year-old age group were killed in motor vehicle crashes in 2006. That's the second highest fatality rate after the 21-24 year-old group, according to the State Highway Administration.

Injuries among 16-20-year-olds from vehicle crashes totaled 7,834 in 2006, and Maryland drivers age 16-20 were involved in 106 fatal crashes and 8,360 crashes involving injuries. This year, the Maryland State Highway Administration projects Maryland teenagers will be involved in over 20,000 crashes.

Most of us know that inexperience, excessive speed, and the consumption of alcohol are the major contributing factors in crashes involving teen drivers. However, another factor that is not realized by many is that the presence of other teens in an auto being driven by a teen increases the likelihood of an accident.

As part of National Teen Driver Safety Week, the American Automobile Association (AAA) recently released findings from a survey which indicated that nearly half of parents of teen drivers say that their teen rides with another teen driver at least once a week. More than 1 in 7 (15 percent) parents of non-driving high school students allow their child to ride with a teen at least weekly.

AAA research confirms that crash risk is greatly increased when teenage drivers transport passengers, and the more passengers, the greater the risk. Current Maryland law requires that minors with a provisional license not transport other minors during the first 150 days of their provisional licensure. Last year, AAA Mid-Atlantic supported legislation which would have extended that period to one year. Unfortunately, it did not pass.

There continues to be discussion about whether or not the driving age should be increased from 16 to 18 years old, something which deserves strong consideration. But in the meantime, it seems that the least our legislature can do is reintroduce – and pass – a bill that extends the aforementioned restriction from the present 150 days to one year. This particular cargo is far too precious to place in the hands of such young, inexperienced operators.

To the Editor:

As president of the Garrett County Humane Society, I am writing in response to your recent article about our organization in order to present a more balanced position. The article described the commissioners, a few local farmers with Mr. Kermit Yoder as their spokesman, and representatives from the three animal welfare groups in Garrett County.

As your article reported, Mr. Yoder encouraged people to write a letter or come if they felt "they had been treated unfairly" by the Garrett County Humane Society. Since the accusations made by Mr. Yoder can damage our reputation, I would like to point out that, through hearsay, many people confuse us with PETA or the Humane Society of the United States, and believe that we are vegetarians or against hunting, which is simply not true. We want to make clear that we do not "drive around the county looking for things to do." We only go when we receive a report of neglect or abuse. We truly appreciate the concerned citizens who call in reports about animals in distress, as many might perish otherwise.

At the meeting, there were many people who support what we do. Some of them took off work to be there. Our group is nonprofit, all-volunteer, made up of pet-owners with reputable backgrounds – all solid members of the community. Our members consist of: a Garrett County employee, a medical office manager, a retired teacher, a retired law enforcement officer (who also worked at a veterinary office), and several others. As I mentioned at the meeting, during its 25-year history, no one has written a letter to the commissioners complaining about us.

Abuse or neglect of an animal is prohibited under Maryland Criminal Law, Title 10, Subtitle 6, and is punishable by 90 days' imprisonment and/or a $1,000 fine. We work to protect the animals in the county, with few resources and a handful of volunteers. We do not irresponsibly seize animals. In fact, during the last three years, we have only seized nine animals. A veterinarian was involved in all seizures, and a police officer was on site for two of them.

We do not make our own laws. We do what we do because we care deeply about animals and we do not want to see them suffer.

To the Editor:

There are a couple of questions we need to ask ourselves about Sunday sales of alcohol before November 4:

1. Will any of the businesses close because they cannot sale alcohol on Sunday? No.

2. Will an employee who works on Sundays where they sell alcohol be able to buy a new house or new car? No.

3. Will an employee be able to pay his rent because of Sunday sales? Doubtful.

4. Will real estate taxes be lowered because of Sunday sales? No.

5. Is it going to bring 500, 1,000, or 5,000 more visitors into Garrett County? Doubtful.

6. And last, are Sunday sales going to benefit the majority of residents in Garrett County? I don't think so.

Just say no to Sunday sales.

Thank you,

To the Editor:

My 2-cents worth – the return on investment (ROI) on a $200 ad is estimated at about 40 senior citizens rehashing the good ol' days at a local senior center, harmonizing praises for the caring man who provided them a, hmmm, free lunch. Their smiling faces, the bright side... priceless.

The ROI and evidenced-based analysis of the commissioners' scholarship program is probably too early to say with any reliability. Like it or not, this is a knowledge-based economy, and we cannot to afford either "brain-drain" or "brain freeze." We need to be able to minimally attract business that pays a living wage with benefits and, ideally, green/clean enterprise so that our youth with post-secondary credentials can remain in their home community.

Garrett County youth, our future, are perfect candidates for local windfall residuals. I appreciate the many thoughtful professionals who ensured that the scholarship program implementation occurred, and I hope that it continues to be vibrant.

As far as free lunches go, I recommend Bastiat's "what is seen and what is not seen" as we pay a much heftier price when we ignore the economics of game and leverage theory.

Sincerely,
Susan Athey-Oxford

To the Editor:

How do wind energy amusement parks benefit the rich at the expense of everyone else? A good question, as we reel from the Wall Street welfare bailout. Let's follow the money.

On a kilowatt-hour basis, wind is by far the most heavily subsidized source of power, receiving 25 times more than coal, hydro, and natural gas, and 16 times more than nuclear, despite not producing any capacity value, unlike the rest. Wind limited liability companies are relative small fry that assemble the capital and grease the local authorities, promising the moon and doling out breadcrumbs to landowners. Once built, they either sell their project to large corporations with a lot of income to shelter or enter into an "equity" relationship with those companies. Today, Florida Power and Light, the nation's third largest utility, owns the largest number of wind facilities in the U.S. Close behind is General Electric, which bought Enron's wind plants in the bankruptcy sale.

Using Congressional subsidies in the form of production tax credits and an accelerated capital depreciation schedule, these mega-corporations can avoid substantial tax obligations. Florida Power & Light Energy, a subsidiary of Florida Power & Light Co., claimed its quarterly earnings would surpass its parent company by 2012. FPL Energy boasted a 2006 profit of $610 million, triple its earnings in 2005. That followed an earnings increase of 200 percent between 1998 and 2002, then significant profit growth each year thereafter, mostly fueled by wind-power projects.

According to Citizens for Tax Justice, FPL has paid no federal income tax for the last five years, despite having revenues in the billions. FPL Energy is the owner of the Mountaineer Wind facility in West Virginia and Meyersdale Wind in Pennsylvania, contributing miniscule taxes.

Maryland's electricity playing field is aquatic – a sea of big fish and bigger fish playing tag at the expense of rate and taxpayers. If big corporations don't pay their share of taxes to the federal treasury because of boondoggles like industrial wind, then those losses must be made up by average taxpayers – or services must be cut. The lack of funds to service our schools, our departments of natural resources, our health care, among many others, is due largely to the predatory tax loophole "subsidies" government extends to the slap and tickle of corporate wind.

Wrapped up in the latest Wall Street bailout bill is a proposal to once again renew the public subsidies for wind.

Jon Boone
Intervenor in MDPSC
Wind Hearings

To the Editor:

There he goes again. It's been a while since the last crazy rant from Jon Boone regarding wind power. Unfortunately, he is hitting the county commissioners, who are actually exercising good judgment, careful concern, and respect for private property rights while creating a framework for tough planning decisions facing Garrett County.

It is responsible to allow landowners the freedom to consider many possibilities – including wind energy – for their property. Wind power will benefit the county, region, and nation. These projects, when appropriately sited, provide much-needed tax revenue for communities, significant landowner income, and valuable clean energy, with virtually no environmental impacts. Yet, it is not a blank check, as all projects must go through rigorous local and state reviews and be subject to public meetings where opponents and supporters can debate any proposal's merits. It only seems responsible to seek opportunities that protect county residents from additional tax burdens. Unlike tax-cut promises we've heard on the campaign trail, revenue generated from wind actually does come from thin air right into the community's pocket.

And while Boone and his allies rage about wind, Maryland is being left behind in the region. Last week, Pennsylvania Governor Ed Rendell dedicated a new project that will reduce bat impacts at wind farms just across our border in Somerset County. The West Virginia PSC heard that a new project in Greenbrier County had completed its preconditions and is ready to start construction. Mount Storm is sending clean energy to the grid, and two more projects are being readied. Virginia's leaders, largest utility, developers, and environmentalists are working together to advance potential projects. And Delaware and New Jersey are not only moving forward on offshore wind, but they are entering agreements that use power generated by our region's land-based projects to meet clean energy demands.

This is not coincidence or conspiracy. It is a demand for cleaner energy spurred by addressing issues like climate change and green technologies, while providing much-needed revenue boosts to struggling rural communities. It would be a shame to just "x" that out of the county's land-use plan – as Boone suggests – without even considering the possibilities.

The county commissioners deserve thanks for their thoughtful hard work on difficult, complex issues. Expanding possibilities for private property owners and our communities are a green light for our freedoms and opportunities – whether or not it includes wind turbines.

Sincerely,

Frank Maisano

To the Editor:

I think that most laws or rules were made with the best of intentions. Then, somewhere down the road, things change enough that the law needs revised or discarded. This seems to be the case with social services.

More and more, grandparents are raising their grandchildren, and it only makes sense that if the grandparents are the sole caregivers, they should have the right to make all decisions concerning the children as well as monetary compensation.

It is wrong to make a child return to a parent that has been abusive to the child. If someone had done harm to you, would you want to be forced to live with them? Of course you wouldn't.

Neither should a child be forced to go back to a home that will only continue to change who he or she will become. This child did not ask to be born. Life is fragile, and so is a child. A child needs love, encouragement, and positive influences. A child needs his or her grandparents.

I realize that not all grandparents are physically able to care for their grandchildren full time. My husband and I took in our only two grandchildren for nearly six months. At the end of that time, we needed a rest. They had never gotten hurt while they were in our care, and the kids loved being with us. Because we did not want them to get hurt, a foster family that we knew kept them for the night and then decided to care for them while my husband and I took a much needed break.

Once social services got involved, we weren't allowed to see them. We were investigated. We have no police records. We even had to get a doctor's approval. Even after all of this, we only get to see our only grandchildren two hours per week. Does this sound fair to you?

Anyone that is going to be a parent should be required to take some classes so things can start out on the right foot. (If nothing else, watch Supernanny.) If an abusive parent wants to be with his or her offspring, then that parent should be more than willing to do whatever is best for the child, which is also best for the parent, so there can be a happy, peaceful family.

If you really want the laws to change, write to your senators, congressmen, and the governor.

Missing our grandkids,
Bob and Connie Mohr

To the Editor:

With last week's state budget cuts, the bad old camel of legalized slots and casino gambling in Maryland managed to nudge his nose further into the tent, under the pretext of closing the state's budget gap with a vast new revenue source of highly questionable value. Maryland voters will be asked to vote on a constitutional amendment to allow slot machines.

A constitutional amendment, recession, tax increases, bail-outs for the banksters, Wall Street gangsters, and more taxpayer subsidies for the Maryland horse racing industry. Fraud, waste, kickbacks, and abuse are surely on the way.

The arguments, pro and con, have been made. The polls have been conducted. The positions have solidified. Now the voters of Maryland, as it should be, will have the final say.

From out here in western Maryland beyond the glitter of Baltimore's Inner Harbor and Ocean City's Miami-esque skyline, there's a more sober view, a view tempered by a citizenry that shuns gimmicks and sees bad public policy and a threat to our way of life for what it is.

The issue we face in Allegany and Garrett counties is far and away more fundamental than the economic fantasies spun by the gambling interests to mesmerize and seduce local office holders.

The critical issue, as I see it, is the public good. Where, in all the arguments made to support the use of the gambling take to close the revenue gap, is the common good taken into consideration? Moreover, with the size of the largesse alleged to be generated by these schemes, how will it make a difference in strengthening our communities and improving the lives of our citizens?

Yes, we have our raffles, fundraisers, and our drives for charity and volunteer fire and rescue companies. We're proud of the monies these events raise for our communities and organizations. But with the full court press the gambling industry is waging out here, we can forget about community, church, and charity. By transferring discretionary income to off-shore bank accounts and into the pockets of unscrupulous public officials, we face an ongoing threat to our communities and our lives.

The citizens of Allegany and Garrett counties reject the blandishments of the gambling industry and the politicians that support them. The question to me by my fellow citizens has remained unchanged since this dubious scheme first appeared here: "How can we kill this thing once and for all?"

To the Editor:

In a recent news article by Anath Hartmann, Capital News Service, titled "The Birds: Western Md. residents, commissioners in dust-up over wind turbines," the author stated, "The [Garrett Co.] Commission declined to protect the ridge tops, as some residents demanded, citing personal property rights." Commissioner Holliday is quoted as saying, "The main thing is property rights – people here will tell you they want to do whatever they want with their property and they don't want anybody telling them they can't."

I am for "property rights" as much as anyone else, but unless I have been living on a different planet than Commissioner Holliday, I do not believe that I can do whatever I want with my property. If that were the case, our natural landscape and environment would be in a very sorry state today.

I am sure that the reader can think of a multitude of things that people cannot do with their property – mostly for health and safety, but also for environmental and aesthetic reasons. There are rules and regulations that everyone who owns property has to follow. We accept these rules and regulations without giving them much thought, except sometimes to grumble about them, because they are beneficial to society, including our neighbors!

Although ridgeline protections were removed from the Comprehensive Plan, weren't things like floodplains, steep slopes, rare species, etc., left in? I guess that I won't be able to divert and dam that small trout stream for my micro-hydropower project, even though the diversion and pond would only be on my property. So what if my neighbors would no longer be able to enjoy the trout stream! As a society, we seem to value free-flowing trout streams over damming them.

Let us face the facts: The real issue here is not "property rights," wind turbines, or anything else that makes any logical sense. All the logical arguments have been presented to no avail. The commissioners have the power now to regulate industrial wind, but choose not to.

The real issue boils down to money: royalties to landowners, a few local jobs, and tax money to the host county. If I could sell it, it likely would not matter if I wanted to lease ridgelines to build an amusement park of 400-foot-tall towers with spinning whirligigs, as long as I paid the landowners royalties and the county received the property taxes.

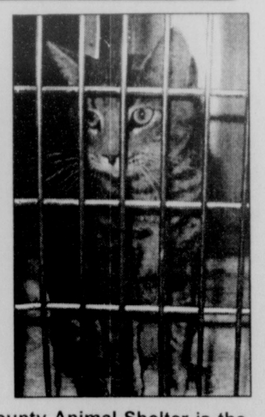
Adorable Adoptables



STILL WAITING TO BE ADOPTED at the Garrett County Animal Shelter is the canine pictured above. "One of last week's featured dogs was adopted, but this one remains," said a Humane Society spokesperson. "He is anxious to meet you so he can leave the shelter and be in a loving home. He looks to be a hound mix, but is a handsome boy none the less. Several other dogs were taken to rescues by HART last week, as the shelter was full." Also looking for homes are a very friendly gray male cat that was picked up in Loch Lynn and has not been reclaimed and a young longhaired white cat with spots (pictured below). "If you have black kittens please do not adopt them out until after the Halloween season; many major animal organizations' web sites advise this each year at this time," said the spokesperson. For more information about these and other pets at the Garrett County Animal Shelter, persons may call 301-334-3553. Located along Oakland Sang Run Road, the facility is open Monday through Friday.

Letters

To the Editor:

This letter is in response to John Rokicki's ad/article "To the People of Garrett County."

Mr. Rokicki's claim that the commissioners are exploiting the seniors of our county, or that they had an ulterior motive for the commissioners' scholarships to help educate our local youth astounded me. I, a tax-paying citizen of Garrett County, applaud the commissioners for contributing to the advanced education of our young citizens, and support the comments of the editor's editorial, "The Bright Side."

There are a few who could possibly question the social and economic value to our society of an educated populace. Unfortunately, with rising costs of higher education and the current economic crisis, it is ever more difficult for our young people to afford an education. "College costs have grown nearly 40%... students are graduating from college with more debt than ever before... and many would-be students are holding off going to college, or skipping it altogether, because they cannot afford it." (National Underwriter, Life and Health; June 07).

The initial cost in tax dollars to support education provides a huge socio-economic return. A 2008 study by Harvard economists Goldin and Katz notes, "In 2005, the typical full-time year-round U.S. worker with a four-year college degree earned $50,900, 62% more than the $31,500 earned by a worker with only a high school diploma. Annualize that over a lifetime, and a 2007 college grad will have an extra $800,000 to spend. That's a 15 to 20 percent annual rate of return.

"College alumni reap other socio-economic benefits. They're more likely to have jobs with health insurance, etc. There's no question that going to college is a smart economic choice." (Newsweek, Aug. 25, '08).

We, as a society, do not question the value of a tax-supported education through high school. Extending that by two years would be taxpayer dollars well spent for the socio-economic returns. I hope that the majority of Garrett County citizens recognize the value of this program and support its continuation. It truly is "The Bright Side" in otherwise dark times.

I might also suggest that Mr. Rokicki consider altering the tone of his letter to the people of Garrett County. Such inflammatory language as he used in his ad seldom wins people over, but only alienates him from his readers.

"What the best and wisest parent wants for his own child, that must the community want for all its children." – John Dewey

State Fights "Brain Waste" With Immigrant Integration Programs

by Lindsey McPherson
Capital News Service

Maryland is one of the few states taking measures to fight the "brain waste" resulting from the more than 1.3 million college-educated immigrants unemployed or working unskilled jobs, according to a Migration Policy Institute report released Wednesday.

"What we have here may be in some ways the worst of all policy worlds," said Michael Fix, institute senior vice president and report co-author. "What we have is brain waste in the receiving country, the United States, and brain drain in the sending country."

But that educated work force is not wasted in Maryland, said Tom Perez, secretary of the state Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation.

"At a national level, immigrants tend to be less educated than their native-born colleagues," he said. "In Maryland, the opposite is true – 43 percent of immigrants working in Maryland have a college degree or above, compared with 36 percent of their native-born colleagues."

Maryland is better off than most states because it has a worker shortage in several sectors, including health care, construction and hospitality, Perez said.

The state will even receive 60,000 more jobs by 2015 as the No. 1 beneficiary of the Base Realignment and Closure process, which consolidates the nation's military installations.

"I believe that information is power, and Maryland is in an enviable position," Perez said. "We have this economic downturn that is obviously the talk of the nation. In Maryland, we're well positioned to weather the storm better than most states because we have a very robust economy even in economic downturn."

Despite recent state budget cuts, Maryland is funding a program to move foreign-born, foreign-trained health care professionals to jobs in their field.

The program started by the Latino Health Initiative in Montgomery County, which made a "modest investment," Perez said, of about $5,000 per student to train 25 custodians, cab drivers, hotel workers, etc., to use the education they received in their home countries in a U.S. job.

"When you are demand-driven and supply-savvy, and when you've broken down and really drilled down on what your supply side is, you will learn that right in your back yard there are remarkably talented people who are grossly underutilizing their talents," Perez said.

Eleven of the nurses in the program work at Holy Cross Hospital in Silver Spring.

The nurses provide a tremendous benefit to the hospital, said Wendy Friar, vice president of community health.

"These nurses are lovely," she said. "They're very well-trained, and they bring in a bicultural element that's a must. ... It's not

Medicare Open Enrollment Begins November 15
Plans Change. You change. Shop & Compare.

Each year plans adjust what they cost and what they cover. Now is the time for people with Medicare to review the changes being made by their current plan and compare it to others to make sure it still meets their needs. Those who don't have prescription drug coverage can also enroll in a drug plan during open enrollment.

Some beneficiaries may see significant premium increases or changes–such as reduced coverage in the gap–if they stay in the same prescription drug plan in 2009. Medicare encourages individual beneficiaries to review how their plans are changing and what other options are available.

Dear Members,

We've all been watching the news reports from Wall Street and how recent events have impacted our national economy.

Understandably, many of you are concerned and want to know about the security of your savings at WEPCO Federal Credit Union. I am writing you this letter to address these concerns.

I want to assure you that your money is safe and sound in WEPCO Federal Credit Union. We've been in business for over 58 years, and our depositors have never lost a single dollar of their money.

Unlike some of the financial institutions you have been hearing about on the news, we know our market and members. We do not make risky "subprime" mortgage loans, nor do we invest in securities that are backed by these loans. Instead, we use conservative, safe lending practices that have successfully served our market and institution for years. Our investing can be summed up by the word "SLY," which stands for Safety, Liquidity, and then Yield.

You should also know that WEPCO Federal Credit Union is well capitalized and has financial reserves to back up what we are doing. For example, we'll continue to have money to lend for autos and homes within the markets we serve.

As a reminder, your deposits are insured up to a maximum allowable of $250,000 by NCUA, and our staff would be pleased to assist you in setting up new accounts and discussing your specific insurance coverage.

In summary, I want to personally thank you for your continued business with WEPCO Federal Credit Union, and we look forward to a long and continued relationship with you.

Sincerely,

David H Lucas III, CCUE
President

"He [White] has been straightforward about it," Battista said.

Battista recently filed a not-guilty plea for White on the two drug charges, both of which Battista said are first degree misdemeanor crimes punishable by up to a year in jail and a $1,000 fine. The comedian is charged with possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia.

National reports note that Battista would not say when he might enter a new plea of either guilty or no contest.

"We're trying to come to some compromise" so White doesn't have to return, Battista said. "On one hand, we want them satisfied there is sufficient punishment, yet at the same time we don't' want to single White out.

"We working on it hard," said Battista, adding he had heard his client has done USO tours and volunteer work with the military. "We have gotten a lot of calls of support from the community."

Battista earned a bachelor of science degree in accounting at West Virginia University, and then his juris doctorate in law from the University of Florida.

DON'T COMPARE. . . COMPETE!

As you prepare to list your home, you'll need to determine how to set your asking price. You may come across the term Comparative Market Analysis, which is used as a tool for gauging the perceived value of your home. However, as a seller, you should think of that estimate of value more as a COMPETITIVE Market Analysis.

Why? Because comparisons can be very subjective, and while buyers may "compare" several homes, sellers must "compete" against other properties. No matter how unique you believe your home to be, it doesn't really matter how it compares to others until you have priced it to compete successfully against them.

In today's real estate market, past sales may not necessarily reflect the present reality. Similar listings compete by asking the lowest price for the perceived value, with price and value representing different sides of the same coin.

When you speak with a real estate agent, he or she will explain how your home must challenge the competition with savvy marketing, spotless presentation, and aggressive pricing. That is how to attract the interest of other agents and buyers.

Remember, it is the prospective buyers who will be making the comparisons. It's your responsibility as a seller to compete for their best offer in a challenging marketplace. Ask your real estate professional today for a Competitive Market Analysis to get the ball rolling.

If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call today.

PRESERVING FLOWERS AND LEAVES

compiled by Susan McGreal from Maryland Cooperative Extension Fact Sheet #556

Many flowers and woody plants growing around the home and in the wild can be preserved for dried arrangements. Plants for preserving can be collected throughout the year, and can include flowers of various shapes, colors, textures, and at different stages of development.

Plants should not be collected when wet. Flowers and plants should be cut with a sharp knife or pruning shears. Leaves should be stripped from the stem, since stem foliage does not dry properly. Stems that are one-quarter inch or more in diameter should be splintered to aid drying.

To keep plants fresh until ready for preserving, they should be placed in plastic bags in the shade. Stems should not be placed in water. Proper drying methods should be selected for each particular plant. Air drying works for a wide variety of grasses, grains, and typical garden flowers such as hydrangea, roses, dusty miller, statice, salvia, lilac, strawflower, and larkspur.

Stem bases should be tied in small, loose bundles. The bundles should be hung upside down in a dark, warm, dry room. It will take one to three weeks for flowers to dry completely. For large amounts, a small fan is helpful to circulate air.

Chemical drying works well for a large number of summer flowers, such as carnation, coleus, gladiolus, lily of the valley, marigold, cornflower, snapdragon, pansy, peony, delphinium, and daffodil. Flowers preserved with borax, detergents, or commercially prepared mixtures hold their natural shapes better. In addition, shrinkage is minimal and color retention is generally better.

Commercial mixtures, while more expensive, are preferred because they are pre-mixed and can be reused by redrying them in the oven. Drying mixtures can be prepared using borax, or detergent without bleach, combined with cornmeal, dry sand, or oatmeal. The usual combination is one part borax (or detergent) to five to 10 parts of the other material.

Flowers can be dried face up using a shallow box that is supported about eight to 10 inches from the ground (plans can be found at http://mastergardener.umd.edu/GardeningTopics). Several layers of newspaper should be spread over the bottom of the box, with holes punched through the paper so that the stems or wires can go through the mesh at the base of the box, with the flowers resting face up on the bottom. The drying mixture should be sifted under and between the petals and around the flowers until they are completely, but lightly, covered.

Drying will take from one to three weeks. A petal can be gently squeezed to determine if the flowers are ready to be removed from the mixture. If the petal feels cool and moist, more drying time is needed. If the petal feels dry, the plant can be carefully removed from the mixture. If the base of the flower is also dry, the flower is ready to be removed.

Dried materials should be stored in a dark, dry, airtight container. A layer of tissue paper should be placed between flowers to reduce breakage. Dried flowers and leaves may be sprayed with any clear plastic spray that does not contain water. This will prevent the plants from absorbing water during humid periods, and also prevent dust from sticking and discoloring the petals.

about language, but it's about understanding different cultures, belief systems and customs, and these nurses bring it to the bedside and also teach other staff as well."

Eight of the nurses have already passed their licensing exam, which gives them the same degree as a U.S. registered nurse, Friar said. The other three are still working with the program to pass the exam.

"There is no doubt in our mind they will all pass," Friar said. "It depends on their level of English proficiency, their reading comprehension, things like that, and that takes time."

Other immigrant assistance efforts, such as English learning programs, are feeling the effects of the budget deficit.

The state passed a bill last year to merge the delivery of adult education and work-force development under the Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation. Perez said 60 percent of these services are for English language learners.

But budget woes won't stop Maryland's efforts to help its immigrant population, Perez said.

"Our vision is that immigrants are our lifeblood.

Trick Or Treat Set In Oakland

The town of Oakland will hold its annual Trick-or-Treating on Friday, Oct. 31, from 6 to 8 p.m.

Residents who wish to participate should leave porch lights on. All drivers in the town during those hours are urged to use extreme caution while maneuvering through town, as there will be many young children along the streets.

Driver, Passenger Taken To GCMH Following Collision

Two people were transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital Monday following a two-vehicle collision on Third Street near Center Street, Oakland.

Monday evening's traffic on Third Street northbound stopped when an unrelated vehicle attempted a right turn into the Sheetz parking lot. John Elsworth Mayne, 76, Oakland was operating a 1996 Chevy sedan and failed to stop with the traffic. He subsequently ran into the back of a 2002 Dodge van operated by LeRoy Edwin Bolding.

Mayne and a juvenile passenger were taken to Garrett Memorial by Southern Rescue Squad for minor injuries. No other injuries were sustained from the collision.

The Oakland Volunteer Fire Department also assisted at the scene. Charges are pending from the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

GLAF's Annual Mtg. To Feature Guest Speaker

Brian Dorval will be the special guest speaker at the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival annual meeting, slated for Friday, Oct. 31, 7 p.m., at the Garrett College Art Gallery. The community is invited to attend.

Dorval is a noted strategic planner for arts organizations and other entities, a GLAF spokesperson said. Michael Bielski, senior vice president and chief operating officer of the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra, will also attend the meeting.

The agenda will include an introduction of GLAF's strategic planning process and vision for the next five years.

Dorval is a facilitator, speaker, and trainer in the fields of organizational innovation and growth, the spokesperson said. He has more than 20 years of consulting experience and has delivered more than 450 innovation programs, training courses, and performance improvement workshops in 19 countries.

In addition to speaking at the meeting, Duval will facilitate a strategic planning retreat for board members and community leaders on Saturday, Nov. 1.

Reservations Now Being Taken For Inherit the Wind

Our Town Theatre's production of Inherit the Wind, written by Jerome Lawrence and Robert Lee, will be presented Nov. 5 to 8 at 8 p.m. and on Nov. 9 at 2 p.m. Reservations may now be made by calling the theatre at 301-334-5640, ext. 1.

Tickets for Wednesday, Thursday, and Sunday are $5 per person, and for Friday and Saturday are $8 apiece. Director Jane Avery said the play is suitable for persons age 12 and older.

The play is based on an authentic court case in 1925 involving a science teacher accused of the crime of teaching evolution, Avery said.

"The story of Inherit the Wind is far more than 12 sweltering days in history; it is, instead, the narrative of a nation and its continual struggle for control — the central issues are as current as ever," Avery said.

The major roles will be played by John Wilson, Richard Hill, Jack Spencer, Phil Wotherspoon, and Rebekah Rush.

The play is being produced via special arrangement with the Dramatists' Play Service and is sponsored by the arts councils of Garrett County and Maryland. Questions may be directed to Avery at 301-334-5640, ext. 3.

The theatre is located in Oakland at 121 Center Street.

Seven books published by Headline Books Inc. in Terra Alta, W.Va., have been named finalists in the National Best Books 2008 Awards, sponsored by USA Book News, an online magazine and review web site for mainstream and independent publishing houses.

Jeff Keen, president and CEO of USDABookNews.com, said this year's contest yielded an unprecedented number of entries, which were then narrowed down to more than 500 winners and finalists in over 140 categories covering print and audio books. Awards were presented for titles published in 2008 and late 2007.

"It's wonderful to compete with the larger publishing houses," said Headline Books president Cathy Teets. "Six of our seven finalists in the competition this year are West Virginia authors, one is from Virginia, and they definitely rank with the best."

Headline Books released 20 new titles in 2007 and will have nearly that many new releases by the end of this year, according to Teets.

The company's seven finalists and their categories are as follows:

• Silent No More by Krista Fink, Charleston, W.Va., Best in Women's Issues.

"The 2008 results represent a phenomenal mix of books from a wide array of publishers throughout the United States," Keen said.

McCAIN: THE ESSENTIAL GUIDE TO THE REPUBLICAN NOMINEE
by Mark Silva
OBAMA: THE ESSENTIAL GUIDE TO THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE
by Naftali Bendavid
c. 2008, Triumph Books, $14.95 each, 127 pages each
Review by Terri Schlichenmeyer

Got change? If you're undecided this November, you'll need it. Heads, you vote for this duo; tails, you vote for that one. Both candidates have talked about "change" at one point or another, and you're glad you've got a pocketful of it.

So what does a thinking adult do in an election year like this one? First, you find a copy each of McCain: The Essential Guide to the Republican Nominee by Mark Silva and Obama: The Essential Guide to the Democratic Nominee by Naftali Bendavid. Then, you settle in and get educated.

As the son and grandson of Navy men, it wasn't hard for John Sidney McCain III to choose a career in the service. Long before his years as a Navy pilot, though, McCain was known as a rebel who would fight with anyone who provoked him. His tenacious personality served him well when he was shot down over Vietnam in 1967 and imprisoned in a POW camp. When beaten for information, he reportedly gave his captors highly important data: the names of the Green Bay Packers line-up.

Released from captivity in 1973, McCain continued with his Navy career. In 1982, a year after his retirement, he ran for Congress for the first time.

McCain maintains a commitment to the War on Terror. He wants to see federal taxes simplified. He hates "pork-barrel spending" and he pledges to fix Social Security and the housing crisis.

When Stanley Ann Dunham (born in Kansas) fell in love with Barack Obama Sr. (born in Kenya), everyone was surprised. Stanley Ann never seemed interested in marriage or motherhood, but within a year of meeting Barack Sr., their son Barack Hussein Obama Jr. was born in Hawaii.

Raised in different cultures on different continents, Barack Obama started his career as an activist working for Chicago's South Side community. Wanting to do more, he attended Harvard, then returned to Chicago with an eye toward a "dream job" as governor of Illinois. Instead, in 1997, Obama entered the Illinois State Senate.

Obama wants to increase the size of the Army and the Marines, and he calls for a time-table for withdrawal of troops from Iraq. He pledges to create new jobs through cleaner energy. He's promised to crack down on mortgage fraud.

Written by Chicago Tribune staff members, both Essential Guides include biographies of the candidates, their careers, and platforms. What's most interesting about these books, though, is that they include scandals and controversies in which the candidates have been embroiled and the struggles they've had. Also interesting are the chapters about the candidates' wives and families. All this information makes both these books comprehensive overviews for any voter who's undecided, confused, or just wants to know more before heading to the polls.

With that in mind, pick up McCain: The Essential Guide to the Republican Nominee and Obama: The Essential Guide to the Democratic Nominee and leave the coins at home. With these two books in hand, the change you'll need is the one you'll get by voting.

OUR WHITE HOUSE
Created by 108 renowned authors and illustrators and the National Children's Book and Literacy Alliance, with an introduction by David McCullough
c. 2008, Candlewick Press, $29.99, 242 pages
Review by Terri Schlichenmeyer

Have you ever slept in a tent? How about a teepee? Ever slept in an igloo, a yurt, or a mud hut? Spent the night in a building made of grass or glass, twigs or paper? What about a castle? Have you ever slept in a house that floats?

Now imagine living in a dwelling that was built more than 200 years ago, all by hand and without machines. Imagine sleeping in a place that's been home to over 40 families, plus dogs, cats, horses, an alligator, and a goat. That place is our White House, and in the book by the same name, created by 108 authors and illustrators and the National Children's Book and Literacy Alliance, you'll learn about that house and the people who lived in it.

Long before the home for our presidents was built, architects looked at the grounds and saw a mosquito-filled swamp surrounded by fields. A stone-cutter and his son began carving and crafting the magnificent house, despite a bit of jealousy and rivalry. Mary Brigid Barrett imagines what it must've been like, while Walter Dean Myers reminds us that slaves had a hand in the building, too.

Our third president, Thomas Jefferson, was a very brave man, according to Stephanie Loer. Jefferson had a kitchen garden (a garden near the kitchen door), and he actually planted, grew and – gasp! – ate a tomato! That was when people thought tomatoes were poison, but Tom taught them otherwise.

By the way, did you know that Thomas Jefferson loved dinosaurs? Did you know that the White House he lived in is not the same White House you see in Washington now? In fact, did you know that the first 25 presidents, technically speaking, really didn't live in the "White House"?

Native Americans were frequent visitors to the White House during President Lincoln's time. Some of them, says Joseph Bruchac, were disappointed that the president didn't speak well, (He did; it was just a misunderstanding.)

From George W. to George W., Our White House is a great book to read when you want to learn about the history behind the little shack where the president lives.

Do your kids have a definite opinion on the political process this year? Do you know a future U.S. president who wants to learn about his or her someday-home? If so, this is the book to get.

I was stunned at the work included in Our White House. You and your child will read articles by Charles Dickens, John Scieszka, Lynda Johnson Robb, and more. There's a beautiful poem in here by Kate DiCamillo. Matt Tavares contributed illustrations, as did Mark Teague and others. With so many talents coming together, you know this book is well worth having for this and plenty of elections to come.

Although it might be tempting to get this book for grade-schoolers, much of what's in here is probably beyond them. But if your 12-years-old-and-up young historian is loving this political year, Our White House is definitely a book to have in your house.

HUSKIES DESTROY SENTINELS — The visiting Fort Hill Sentinels were no match for the powerful Northern High School girls' varsity, which coasted to a 13-1 rout of the visitors on Monday. The win gave the Huskies a 12-2 regular season and a second seeding as they head into the 1A West Region tournament. Northern Girls Lose Heartbreaker, But Close Season With Two Wins

The girls' varsity soccer team of Northern High School wrapped up its regular season this past week with a heart-breaking, 1-0 loss to top-ranked Mountain Ridge, and victories over Bishop Walsh and Fort Hill.

The results will send the Huskies into the 1A West Region playoffs next Tuesday with a final regular season record of 12-2.

The lone goal of last Thursday's match against visiting and undefeated Mountain Ridge (14-0-0) was recorded in the 15th minute of the first half when the Miners' Stephanie Fazenbaker took advantage of a defensive miscue off a pass from Quincy Hegeman and found the back of the net from about 15 yards out.

The Miners' defense did the rest, limiting the Huskies to a total of just seven shots, compared to 13 by Mountain Ridge. The Huskies also trailed in corner kicks, 2-0.

Husky keeper Justine Harvey had a dozen saves, and then Heather Shipe finished with seven for the Miners.

"We were very disappointed with the result, said Husky coach Jeff Graham, "but the Miners deserve the credit because they really out-pressured us in the second half. Defensively, we played superbly. They really only scored on their one legitimate scoring chance of the evening. We had two excellent chances, but both were cleared off the line by their defenders. Hopefully, we'll get another shot at them in the playoffs."

The Miners also won the junior varsity match, 8-2. For Mtn. Ridge, Elizabeth Diamond had a hat trick, Madi Nightengale and Kaylee DeVore each scored two goals, and Amber Ravenscroft netted one. Tara Goff and Whitney Murphy each scored a goal for Northern, and Monica Keller had an assist. Northern keeper Brittany Mallow had seven saves, while and Mtn. Ridge's Hunter Marsh recorded six.

The Huskies traveled to Bishop Walsh on Saturday and came away with a 6-0 victory.

Northern's sophomore midfielder Jenny Shaffer put the Huskies on the board first by finishing a shot from in front of the goal off a head-flick assist by Adria Graham at the 19:18 mark of the first half.

Two minutes later, Graham ripped home a shot from a crossing pass off the foot of Kaitlynn Fratz.

The Huskies made it 3-0 with 10:29 to play before intermission, with Graham dribbling around two defenders and then beating the keeper one-on-one.

Then with four minutes to play in the half, Graham provided freshman forward Sydney McFarland with a through ball that she finished from about 12 yards out.

After the intermission, Graham completed her hat trick with an unassisted shot from about 10 yards out with 15:17 left in the match.

Fratz earned her first goal of the day via an unassisted shot with just under nine minutes to play.

The Huskies outshot the Spartans (8-9) by a lopsided 22-5 margin and held a 6-3 edge on corner kicks. Harvey turned away five shots in goal for the Huskies to gain the shutout, and Spartan Chaise Crossland had 16 saves.

"We had some very high quality play out of our midfield today," Coach Graham said. "Megan Kinsinger, Megan Wiley, Meghan Voelkel, Kara Savage, Jenny Shaffer, and Morgan Brosnihan give us the unique ability to wear teams out with fresh substitution in the midfield."

The Northern jayvees coasted to a 9-0 victory in the first match. Whitney Murphy led the Huskies with four goals and two assists, Tara Goff had one goal and two assists, Haley Margroff provided a header goal and two assists, Kiersten Butler had a goal off a corner kick, and Monica Keller and Karina Deniker each contributed one goal. The Huskies blanked the Spartan jayvees in both shots, 22-0, and corner kicks, 6-0.

The Northern teams hosted their final regular-season matches Tuesday against the Lady Sentinels of Fort Hill and blasted their way to a 13-1 victory on Senior Night.

Fort Hill's Alyssa Yost gave the Sentinels a 1-0 lead, scoring unassisted about 11 minutes into the match and after the Huskies' defense failed to clear a ball in the penalty area.

Three minutes later, the Huskies went to work on the back of the net, as junior defender Nikki Diehl got on the end of a Graham corner kick to record the Huskies' first goal.

Then the Huskies went on a scoring rampage, with five goals in five minutes to basically put the match away.

Fratz and Sydney McFarland both nailed unassisted goals, before Graham got on the end of a McFarland cross for another score. Graham then caught the Sentinel defense off guard by taking a quick restart to finish a direct free kick from about 20 yards out. Fratz then got on the end of another McFarland cross to complete the five-minute flurry and put Northern on top 6-1 with 13:48 to play in the first half.

Then at the 5:10 mark, Graham scored again unassisted, and with 2:27 remaining before intermission, Fratz scored from point-blank range off a header assist by Graham, giving the Huskies a commanding 8-1 lead at halftime.

In the 15th minute of the second half, Graham went back to work with an unassisted goal. One minute later, McFarland received a through-ball from senior defender Amber Kling for the one-on-keeper goal, and just 30 seconds later, McFarland crossed a ball from the left side for senior midfielder Megan Kinsinger to put her head on for the finish, making it 11-1.

Kinsinger scored her second goal in the game's 65th minute off a feed from Wiley, before sophomore midfielder Morgan Brosnihan finished the scoring with an unassisted goal at the 4:26 mark.

The Huskies outshot the Sentinels (6-7-1) by a 26-5 margin and held a 12-1 advantage in corner kicks. Harvey finished with four saves for Northern, and Fort Hill's Alyssa McTaggart had 13.

"Our girls were in the zone tonight," said Coach Graham. "After Fort Hill gave us the early wake-up call, our team connected passes and executed the game plan perfectly. Our seniors pulled together for this one. It was their night, and they really dominated play."

The Huskies' junior varsity team also won its final match of the year, 4-0, over the jayvee Sentinels. Scoring for the Huskies were Whitney Murphy with a pair of goals, and Tara Goff and Karina Deniker with one each. The Northern jayvees finished their season at 8-2, outscoring opponents 48-11 and logging eight shutouts.

"The girls demonstrated their commitment to the game this year," said NHS jayvee coach Melanie McFarland. "We met most of our team objectives and really had a lot of quality play throughout the season. I'm very proud of them."

The varsity Huskies earned the #2 seed in the 1A West Region bracket and will await the winner of Clear Spring at Williamsport for a quarterfinal matchup next Tuesday at the Cove.

SHS Girls' Soccer Team Tops Fort Hill, 5-1, Blanks Alco, 6-0

The Southern High School girls' soccer team wrapped up its regular season by recording a pair of victories this past week, stopping Fort Hill last Thursday, 5-1, and Allegany on Tuesday, 6-0.

The Rams' offense proved stronger in the second half, as Kelsey Lear scored just 17 seconds in on an assist from Joanna Guy to make it 2-0.

Guy then made it 3-0 off a pass from Claire Wilkinson at the 32:25 mark.

Amanda Meneghim finally put Fort Hill on the board, scoring on an unassisted goal, with a little under 10 minutes left.

Ayla Fulmer scored about three minutes later for Southern, assisted by Wilkinson, and Wilkinson tacked on the final goal, unassisted, with 2:29 left on the clock.

Rams Dominated By Top-Ranked Golden Tornadoes In 55-8 Rout

Total dominance is the only way to describe the performance of the Golden Tornadoes of Keyser over the home-standing Southern High Rams last Friday night, as the #1-ranked AA team in West Virginia had a 35-0 lead by the end of the first quarter and went on to hand the Rams a 55-8 thrashing.

The loss dropped Southern to 2-4, while Keyser extended its perfect streak to 8-0.

There was a total of only 10 first downs in the game, as Keyser amassed yardage in large chunks on its way to the end zone, and the Ram offense struggled to move the ball at all. The Tornadoes finished with a lopsided lead in total offense of 383-146.

Keyser's 35 first-quarter points were recorded in a span of just over six minutes, which began with a 38-yard touchdown run by Jeremy Green at the 8:46 mark, followed by Scott Kittrell's conversion kick.

Quarterback Preston Hartman followed with a 41-yard TD run with 6:21 remaining, and another successful PAT by Kittrell.

About three minutes later, Green scored his second TD, this time on a 14-yard carry. Kittrell's kick made it 21-0 at the 3:29 mark of the quarter.

Then on the ensuing kickoff, the Southern ball carrier was stripped of the ball at the three-yard line, and Keyser's Taige Redman took it in for another six-pointer at the 3:25 mark. Kittrell kicked the PAT.

Keyser made it 35-0 with a 27-yard scoring run by Brandon Wilson and another Kittrell kick with 2:31 still on the clock.

In the first minute of the second quarter, the visitors struck again, this time through the air, with Hartman hitting John Purdy with a 37-yard touchdown aerial with 11:08 to play in the first half. Kittrell booted his seventh straight PAT.

Then with 1:26 remaining before intermission, David Echartea reached pay dirt for Keyser via a 33-yard run. Kittrell missed his first PAT attempt, leaving the Tornadoes with an overwhelming 48-0 halftime advantage.

Because of the gap in the score, the clock ran continuously in the second half.

The Rams averted a shutout when Brutus Scheffel broke loose and raced 75 yards for a touchdown with 9:21 to play in the third quarter. He then ran successfully for the two-point conversion.

THE GOING WAS NEARLY IMPOSSIBLE for the Southern High Rams last Friday night against the undefeated Golden Tornadoes of Keyser, with the home team getting leveled by a 55-8 margin. In the photo above, Ram quarterback Ryan Sweitzer hands off to sophomore Bryson Knox. Among those teammates attempting to clear a path for Knox are #75 Seth Hinebaugh and at right, #54 Dan Shockey. Pictured below is one good moment for the Rams, as Keyser quarterback Preston Hartman is sacked by Southern's Travis Skeweris and another unidentified defender. Photos by John McEwen.

The Keyser offense was still not finished, though, adding another touchdown in the final minute of the third period, with Kittrell scoring on a three-yard carry and then kicking his seventh PAT for the evening.

Scheffel led all rushers, recording 113 yards.

Echartea led the Tornadoes' rushing with 67 yards on just three carries. Green had 53 yards on only three attempts, and Hartman picked up 43 yards on two carries.

The Ram defense was led by Jeremy Shockey and Travis Skeweris, who each recorded six tackles.

Redman led Keyser's defense with 11 tackles and a pair of fumble recoveries. Joey Amtower provided seven tackles.

"They are truly a complete team," said Ram coach Steve Savage. "We were simply overwhelmed. When you only have to worry about one or two really talented players, that's one thing. But having to face four or five with that level of talent was just too much for us to overcome."

Savage did, however, point out the efforts of three of his players.

"Brutus Scheffel, Ryan Fitzwater, and Brison Knox played very well," Savage said. "They played hard from the beginning to the end, and never let the score or the situation phase them. If every single member of our team played the way they did, we would be very tough to beat."

Depth is almost always a problem for the Southern program, and that situation worsened considerably, as four starters sustained injuries and will likely be missing for this week's game against a strong Mountain Ridge squad.

Definitely out of the Ram line-up are running back/defensive back Brutus Scheffel, who sustained a hip pointer, linebacker/running back Derek DeWitt with a separated shoulder, and senior lineman Chris Noble with a knee injury. Listed as "possible" is fullback/linebacker Brandon Pritt, who is also nursing a knee injury.

"Mountain Ridge does not have the overall speed that Keyser does, but they are bigger than Keyser," Savage said, noting that the Miners' line averages around 250 pounds.

The Mountain Ridge offense is wishbone oriented, but also utilizes the wing-T, veer, and spread formations.

The offense is led by senior Matt Farris (5-9, 180), a three-year starter twice named as an honorable mention to the Maryland 1A/2A All-State team.

"Farris is a great runner and always a major threat," Savage said.

Defensively, Mountain Ridge typically uses the 4-4.

The game will be Southern's homecoming, with the homecoming court to be recognized and the queen crowned at halftime. The fall homecoming dance will be held in the school cafeteria on Saturday from 8 to 11 p.m.

Friday's kickoff is set for 7 p.m.

Stats Close, But Huskies Fall To Host Chestnut Ridge, 28-8

The box score of the last Friday's game between the visiting Northern High Huskies and Chestnut Ridge would indicate a close contest, as the Huskies finished with more first downs and trailed in total offense by a relatively small margin (258-215); however, the most important statistic showed a 28-8 defeat for the Garrett County squad.

Containing Chestnut Ridge's big senior fullback Josh McDannell proved to be too much for the Huskies, as he rushed for 152 yards and two second-half touchdowns to seal Northern's fate.

A seven-yard touchdown run by Chestnut's John Daniels in the first quarter, coupled with Tony Zimmerman's conversion kick, would be the only scoring in the first half. The drive was set up by a Chestnut Ridge interception that put the ball on Northern's 40-yard line.

The Huskies also got a bad break on the final play of the drive, as on third-and-five they hit McDannell and forced a fumble, but the ball one-hopped right into Daniels' arms, and he scampered into the end zone.

The home team took a 15-0 lead on the first play of the second half, as Mike Morgan returned the Huskies' kickoff 79 yards, and McDannell ran for the extra two points.

The Huskies cut the lead to 15-8 midway through the third period when Zach Fratz scored on a 22-yard run, and Dylan Day ran for the conversion.

Northern had a golden opportunity to tie the score or take the lead on their next drive, moving the ball to the Chestnut Ridge 20-yard line, only to fumble it away.

The home team responded by marching 80 yards for a touchdown, scored by McDannell on a five-yard carry late in the third period.

He also had a 20-yard touchdown run in the fourth period, followed by another successful PAT kick by Zimmerman to conclude the scoring.

The win improved Chestnut Ridge's record to 3-5, while the Huskies dipped to 2-5.

Fratz led the Huskies' rushing effort, recording 83 yards on 13 carries.

Spearheading the Northern defensive effort were Adam Moranduzzo with 14 tackles, Randy Wiley and Dustin Stough with one sack each, and Jason Green with a fumble recovery.

"They are a pretty good team," said Northern head coach Phil Carr, "better than we thought; much more physical than we were expecting.

At the 22:20 mark, Gina Stuck then scored for the Rams on an assist by Guy.

The final goal came from Anderson off a pass from Madi Storey, with a little over 16 minutes left in the match.

Southern, which is ranked ninth in the region, will play eighth-ranked Brunswick tonight in the first round of the Maryland 1A West Region playoffs. The winning team will then move on to the second round to face Mtn. Ridge on Tuesday.

The result and details from Southern's Saturday match against Keyser were unavailable at press time this morning.

Southern High Boys' Soccer Team Shuts Out Spartans, 6-0

The boys' soccer team of Southern High School blanked Bishop Walsh Monday evening, 6-0, to close the regular season for the Rams.

Huskies Fall

we have for the past couple of games, but our fumble inside their 25 in the third quarter, plus a couple of penalties, really hurt us."

The Huskies out-rushed Chestnut Ridge in the first half, and finished the game with a 14-11 advantage in first downs.

"It was pretty frustrating," Carr said. "We knew McDannell was going to be tough, and we did a pretty good job against him until midway through the second half.

The Huskies also had to play without Kyle Gillum, the team's top receiver, who was out with a shoulder injury. He is listed as "probable" by Carr for this week's game, as the Huskies will face another major test in hosting Fort Hill.

The game will be the final home outing for the Huskies, and it will be Senior Night, with recognition of the senior players slated to commence at about 6:30 p.m.

"Once again we will really have our hands full," Coach Carr said. "They are bigger, faster, and have more players than we do."

The Sentinels' basic offense is the wing-T; however, they use a lot of variations and plenty of motion. Much like Chestnut Ridge, the Fort Hill offense utilizes a big, powerful fullback in senior Marcus Lashley (6-3, 210), who leads the team in rushing.

But other threats to the Husky defensive unit will be junior halfback Kwam Kassim (5-9, 155), whose great speed is a major threat when the Sentinels decide to run outside.

"They also like to bring in junior split end Devin Lee (6-3, 163) as quarterback," Carr said, "and he also has very good speed."

Among the outstanding linemen for Fort Hill is junior Brandon Burkett (6-0, 278).

The Sentinels' 6-2 defensive unit is led by senior linebacker Jordan Helmick (6-2, 212).

"Their defense is very aggressive, and has been successful in shutting down most inside running games," Carr said. "They average about 250 pounds up front, so we are going to have to try to use our quickness to move the ball. And with Kyle back this week, we hope to put the ball in the air a little more."

Carr said that the game represents another "big opportunity at home" for his team to try to pull off the upset.

"It seems lately that every break has gone against us," he said. "We really need for a couple breaks to go our way."

Steelers Stopped In Overtime In CAYFL Playoffs

The Division I Northern Steelers were ousted from the Cumberland Area Youth Football League playoffs this week, losing a 16-8 overtime heartbreaker to the Ridgeley Rams.

The Division II Steelers endured a similar fate, letting a 16-6 halftime lead fade away into a 19-16 defeat.

The Division I contest was scoreless until the second quarter, when Marcellous Hockaday scored on a 32-yard run for the Rams. The two-point conversion kick made it 8-0.

There were also no points recorded in the third quarter, but the Steelers came back to knot the score at 8-8 in the fourth period, with Robert Hill on the receiving end of a six-yard TD pass from Aaron Broadwater. Jeremy Bender's successful conversion kick tied the score and ultimately sent the game into overtime.

Md. Democrats Register 10 Times More Voters Than The Republicans

by Christopher Weaver
Capital News Service

New Democratic voter registrations in Maryland were 10 times those of Republicans since the 2004 election.

According to data released by the Maryland Board of Elections, 210,000 new Democrats registered, compared with 21,000 Republicans. Overall registration had grown by 302,961 new voters, as of Friday.

For weeks, pundits and political analysts have warned of unprecedented throngs of new voters, compelling county election boards to pump up poll staffs. Even though state Democrats tallied record gains in the rolls, more new voters registered between the 2000 and 2004 cycles than this one by 57,000.

Across the state, new reg-istrations in the last month of the period ending Tuesday tallied to just over 100,000, falling 20,000 voters short of the state election board's predictions, and 40,000 short of the 2004 election cycle, when Republicans and Democrats both saw large gains.

The Republican Party, energized by Gov. Robert Ehrlich, nearly matched Democrats in registration gains in 2004, but failed to recapture momentum this time around.

"The Republicans are not keeping pace with their past (registration drives), and that's why we're not getting record registrations here," said Michael Cain, a professor at St. Mary's College of Maryland and the director of the Center for the Study of Democracy. "If these people all come out on Election Day, it's going to be a blowout."

Nobody expects John McCain to win Maryland in November, and only Maryland's 1st Congressional District is considered likely to choose a new Republican congressman, but if Democrats continue to outpace Republicans in recruitment, the already wide gap could become enormous.

"In this election cycle, it's clear that the economy is going to play very well for the Democrats," Cain said. [However,] "these registration numbers show something much more long term. The long-term prospects for the Republican Party do not look good."

This reality is not lost on the state's GOP leadership.

"It's not good," said Justin Ready, a party spokesman. "We've definitely got to work hard."

The Republican Party has had volunteers in canvassing and setting up registration booths in every county, but their drives have been more targeted than Democrats.

"We have a high conversion percentage within the types of folks who tend to register as Republican," Ready said, referring to small-business owners and other groups the party targets. "The people we register are people who are going to vote. We don't often have Bruce Springsteen concerts and register thousands, not that there's anything wrong with it."

He added that, after what's been "a tough time for the Republican Party nationally," it may be worthwhile for Republican strategists to consider using such tactics to amplify their rolls.

A Democratic official attributed the registration success to "shoe leather," not concerts.

"Within the Democratic Party, we have fairly sophisticated and very involved clubs and elected [officials] who know and understand how to register new voters," said spokesman David Paulson.

"It's been more successful where there's more people, in your major metropolitan areas," he added, but noted that earlier this year, Calvert County Republicans outnumbered Democrats by a few voters.

In registration numbers, Democrats are now ahead by a few hundred in that more rural part of the state.

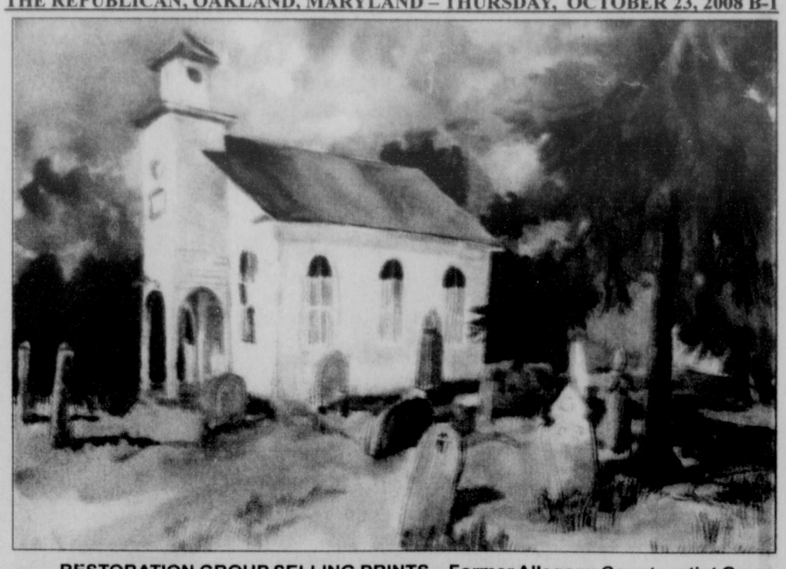
"The credit for that goes to the local Democrats in Calvert County," said Paulson. "They created their own program, their own scientific approach to going out and registering voters, and then they hit the road."

Jonathan Carpenter, an Obama organizer from Denton, but who operates in Baltimore City, says voter registration is all about location. At the Obama headquarters a few blocks from Lexington Market, he said at least 100 new voters signed up a day during the registration period, and for the last few weeks, his co-workers have registered thousands.

"We got to the point where we set up tables on the sidewalk," Carpenter said.

From the vantage point of a Democratic organizer, this week marks the end of a very successful season.

"It's a relief," Carpenter said, "but also, for someone like me who's enthusiastic, it's also kind of sad. I've never seen so many people just voluntarily, enthusiastically want to get registered to vote."



RESTORATION GROUP SELLING PRINTS – Former Allegany County artist Grace M. Scherer has given the Mt. Beulah Restoration Association permission to sell copies of her watercolor rendition of the historic Mt. Beulah United Methodist Church, located along Twin Churches Road in New Germany. To purchase a print, persons may call 301-895-5735 or 301-746-7222. A copy will be on display at The Republican newspaper office in the Grantsville Plaza during November and December. Study Shows That Md. Business Taxes Among Nation's Highest

by David Hill
Capital News Service

Numerous tax increases during the past year have turned Maryland into the nation's sixth-worst business tax climate, according to a recent study.

The Washington-based Tax Foundation, a nonprofit research group, ranked Maryland 45th among the 50 states, down a staggering 21 spots from last year. In addition to criticizing state tax increases, they labeled Maryland as having "by far the worst individual income tax in America."

The state rated 24th in the last year's study, but dropped largely due to Democratic Gov. Martin O'Malley and the General Assembly's approval of more than $1.3 billion in tax increases last November.

Among the increases, the report pointed to the corporate income tax, up from 7 to 8.25 percent; sales tax, up from 5 to 6 percent; and cigarette excise taxes, up from $1 to $2 per pack, as being especially significant. All took effect in January.

"Taxes diminish profits," said the report, released Oct. 6. "Thus a state with lower tax costs will be more attractive to business investment, and more likely to experience economic growth."

State officials did not comment directly on the report, but defended Maryland's taxing methods.

"There are several different studies, and you never know the agenda behind the groups that do them," said Joe Shapiro, spokesman for Comptroller Peter Franchot. "But we believe that the business climate in Maryland ... is among the best in the nation."

The Tax Foundation rated states primarily on their individual income tax, corporate tax, sales tax, unemployment insurance tax, and property tax, with heavier emphasis placed on the first three areas.

Maryland rated favorably in sales and corporate tax, ranking 10th and 14th, respectively. But the state was 31st in the unemployment insurance tax, 34th in property tax, and dead last in individual income tax.

Neil Bergsman, director of the independent and nonprofit Maryland Budget and Tax Policy Institute, criticized the report, saying that despite its tone, taxes are not necessarily bad for business.

"Clearly, [the Tax Foundation's] agenda is to reduce the tax burden on people with the highest income," said Bergsman, whose organization focuses on the effects of tax policy on low- and middle-income families. "Taxes pay for education ... they pay for roads. And these things are good for business."

Bergsman pointed out that some of the nation's more affluent states did not fare well in the study. Three states that rank high in most income studies – Connecticut, Maryland, and New Jersey – ranked 37th, 45th, and 50th, respectively.

"All three of those states get pretty poor ratings from the Tax Foundation," Bergsman said, "which kind of suggests that their policy preferences are not well-connected with economic well-being."

"Change Clock, Change Battery" Reminder Noted

The Energizer and the International Association of Fire Chiefs (IAFC) have teamed together to support "Change Your Clock, Change Your Battery®." This campaign encourages families to take action in preventing accidental deaths caused by home fires by changing the batteries in smoke and carbon monoxide detectors.

On Nov. 2 this year, Energizer and the International Association of Fire Chiefs will encourage families to use Daylight Savings Time as a reminder to change the batteries in their smoke detectors when changing their clocks back to Standard Time.

The Change Your Clock Change Your Battery effort began as a pilot program in 1987 in St. Louis and Atlanta, and now incorporates more than 6,100 fire departments.

"Hundreds of fatalities occur every year when individuals neglect to ensure their smoke detectors have fresh batteries," said Chief Larry J. Grorud, CFO, MIFireE, and president of the International Association of Fire Chiefs. "The habit of changing batteries during this campaign is a simple step that can help save the lives of so many families each year."

The IAFC reports that while 96 percent of American homes have at least one smoke alarm, 19 percent of those detectors are not working, mostly because of missing or dead batteries. On average, home fires kill 540 children, 14 and under each year, according to statistics compiled by the National Fire Prevention Association.

A working smoke detector can provide crucial extra seconds to escape a burning home, according to Grorud. Eighty percent of home fire deaths result from fires in homes without working smoke alarms.

Have You HEARD?

ADDRESSING YOUR CHILD'S HEARING LOSS

More than five million American children have a speech, language, and/or hearing disorder, and many of the parents of these children are unsure how to respond. To begin with, parents should learn to spot the symptoms of hearing impairment. Such symptoms include inconsistency responding to sound, delayed language and speech development, unclear speech, inability to follow directions, turned up volume on electronic equipment, and frequent misunderstandings. If any of these (or other) warning signs manifest themselves, parents are urged to schedule an appointment to have their children meet with a qualified hearing specialist, who can identify and assess hearing disorders. This can lead to treatment with hearing instruments and assistive listening devices that help children perform better socially and academically.

For children as well as adults, good hearing is not something to be taken for granted. Millions of people suffer from hearing loss, including school-age children (3 out of every 100 affected) and senior citizens (1 out of every 4 affected). If you suspect a hearing problem for you or a family member, give us a call at AUDIBEL. We'll arrange a convenient, painless hearing test to determine the best way to proceed.

P.S. Children with family histories of hearing loss should have their hearing tested as often as necessary to ensure that they are hearing well.

Health Insurance To Be Topic Of GGBA Meeting

Rodney Glotfelty, Garrett County health officer, will be the speaker for the Greater Grantsville Business Association (GGBA) monthly meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 29, at the Casselman Restaurant, Grantsville, beginning at 8 a.m.

The topic will be the Health Insurance Partnership, which is designed for businesses with two to nine employees earning an average yearly wage below $50,000 who have not offered health coverage to their employees in the previous 12 months. Businesses that meet the criteria may be eligible to receive a subsidy of up to 50 percent of their insurance premium.

Glotfelty will explain an overview of the program, describing who is eligible to apply for the subsidy and how application should be made.

State Receives Youth Suicide Prevention Grant

Governor Martin O'Malley announced this week that Maryland has been awarded three-year, $1.5 million federal grant to combat the tragedy of youth suicide in local schools, communities, and on campuses statewide. The federal Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) has provided the funding to the departments of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH) and Education (MSDE).

"The pain of losing a loved one is unspeakable, and compounded when the death may have been prevented," said Governor O'Malley. "This grant allows Maryland to serve as a leader in the ongoing struggle to prevent and intervene in youth suicides."

Receipt of this highly competitive grant enables DHMH, MSDE, and other state and local partners to expand national best practices in prevention and implement effective, culturally competent interventions to deter the tragedy of youth suicide.

"DHMH and its partners in education and local government will work collaboratively to promote the message that youth suicide is preventable," said DHMH Secretary John M. Colmers. "This outreach is consistent with the broader approach we have brought to mental health to educate the public on the early warning signs of mental health problems and what they can do to help a person in need."

Grant funds will be used to strengthen local school systems' ability to quickly detect potential problems of their students, and put into place strategic local community responses to provide swift and effective interventions.

"By training teachers to recognize the warning signs of youth suicide, this grant will provide an enormous service to Maryland families," said State Superintendent of Schools Nancy S. Grasmick. "Our goal is to have 100 percent of our staff trained to identify students who might be at risk, and to be able to refer those students for appropriate assessment and treatment."

A special focus will be placed on Maryland counties where the rates of youth suicide are higher than the national average, as determined by the federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

In addition, a portion of the funds will be directed toward development of campus-based programs to address the heightened risk felt by college-age youth who may be away from home for the first time and therefore experiencing increased isolation, competition, sense of failure, and emotional vulnerability.

STUDENTS HONORED IN LOCH LYNN – Austin Kauderer was named student of the month for September by Partners After School @ Loch Lynn. "Austin always does his homework and participates in all of our activities," said a group spokesperson. Eleven students were also recognized for having perfect attendance in September. Pictured, left to right, in the front row are Courtney Hebb, Dylan White, Austin, Jacob Davis, and Amy Custer. Second row: Danny Hebb, Victoria Friend, and Jacob Green. Third row: Jordan Sweitzer, Harley Harbourne, and Kyle Harbourne. Anyone wanting more information about the program may call Elizabeth Gibbons at 301-334-0723.

State Wins Grant To Improve Mental Health Services For Foster Care Youth

Governor Martin O'Malley this week that Maryland will receive a total of $8.5 million over the next six years from the federal Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) to expand a program designed to address the mental health needs of children in the state's foster care system.

"This is a highly competitive grant that becomes even more meaningful in these extremely difficult economic times," said Governor O'Malley. "Its receipt is a testament to the hard work and leadership put forth by the departments of Health and Mental Hygiene and Human Resources, and their partners toward expansion of national best practices in mental health services for children in our foster care system."

Grant funds will be used to expand and support "wrap-around" services to foster children in their communities. Wrap-around services provide a comprehensive array of home and community based services to maximize the strengths of families, natural support systems, and community resources. These services are different from traditional "one size fits all" programs and expensive residential care.

The funds will enable the state to build upon the strengths of Maryland's Public Mental Health System and DHR's successful signature child welfare initiative, Place Matters. Both promote safety, family strengthening, permanency, and community-based services for children and families in the child welfare system in the least restrictive settings.

"DHMH and DHR are working together to create a continuum of mental health services that meets the needs of children in foster care," said John M. Colmers, secretary of the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene. "This will be a statewide initiative which will focus on communities with significantly high numbers of foster care children."

"Countless children will directly benefit from these expanded mental health services," said DHR Secretary Brenda Donald. "When our vulnerable children are mentally stronger and healthier, so is the rest of our community."

There are approximately 9,300 children in foster care in Maryland and 5,500 of them come from Baltimore City. Service dollars awarded under this grant will be targeted to the neighborhoods in Baltimore City, where the majority of the youth and families in foster care reside.

Through a solid infrastructure and carefully planned statewide strategies, this grant opportunity will also support adapting the model developed in Baltimore City for statewide application, according to an MDHMH spokesperson.

The Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene is a public health department with a goal to improve the health status of every Maryland resident and to ensure access to quality health care. The department is responsible for helping each person live a life free from the threat of communicable diseases, tainted foods, and dangerous products. To assist in this mission, DHMH regulates health care providers, facilities, and organizations, and manages direct services to patients where appropriate.

The Maryland Department of Human Resources serves 500,000 people in need each year. The agency provides foster care, adoption and protective services to children, and temporary cash, food stamps, and medical assistance to families in need. In addition, the agency administers programs for homeless persons, refugees, migrant workers, victims of crime, and women who are displaced, battered, or assaulted. It is Maryland's fourth largest agency.

Bittinger School Plans Potato Bar

A Potato Bar will be held on Friday, Oct. 31, at the Bittinger Mennonite Gym from 4 to 8 p.m.

The cost will be $6.50 for adults, $4.50 for children ages 5 to 12, and free for children under 5. No tickets are needed for the event, which will be on a first-come, first-served basis.

The meal will include baked potatoes with toppings, hand-dipped ice cream, a variety of gelatin salads, rolls, and drinks. Proceeds will benefit the Bittinger Mennonite School.

Health Benefits of Olive Leaf Extract

Olive leaf extract is prepared from the leaves of the olive plant. This extract has been used to treat infections, high blood pressure, high cholesterol, and diabetes. It contains several substances including oleuropein, triterpenes andflavenoids. The extract has been shown to have antioxidant, antiinfective, and cholesterol, blood sugar, and blood pressure lowering properties in test animals.

Few studies have evaluated the effects of olive leaf extract in humans. However, one recent study evaluated the effect of olive leaf extract on the blood pressure and cholesterol levels in sets of twins. Study participants received 500mg, 1,000mg, or a placebo capsule daily for a period of 8 weeks. Those in the study that took the largest amount of olive leaf extract had significantly lower blood pressure readings than those in the other treatment groups. Cholesterol levels had decreased in all treatment groups by the end of the study. No significant side effects were reported during the study. However, larger studies are needed to further evaluate the effect of olive leaf extract on blood pressure and high cholesterol.

TOUCHDOWN!

Whether we are in the warmth of the family room or wrapped in blankets in the frosty stands, those of us who are football fans love to watch the action and feel the excitement of the game. What we don't see is the inspiration behind the perspiration...the coach. The coach is possibly the unsung hero, faithfully dispensing encouragement and advice.

We have a coach available to us; all we have to do is open our hearts. God seldom chooses the spotlight; instead, as life goes on, God makes Himself available to each of us if we choose to heed His advice. "The steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord, and he delights in his way" (Psalm 27:23).

Worship God at His house...then spread the Spirit. Score a touchdown in your life and in the lives of others!

Nurture Your Inner Innocence

Is it not a miracle that God can make saints out of sinners? By almost any standard, most of us are unrepentant, profligate sinners and yet we all know that it would be best to repent of our sins and find refuge in God. Almost invariably, we know what is the right thing to do, and yet we often refuse to do it. And even those of us who have learned how to control our sinful nature know that this is mostly just for show. We may be kind and merciful on the outside, but inside, we are often a seething cauldron of envy, jealousy, lust and hateful impulses and working hard to refrain from sin, but it is possible for us to tame the inner beast. When we find ourselves thinking bad thoughts and inclined to sin internally, we must immediately ask for God's help and soon we may find that our inner life will be closer to the truly saintly life. And we should take encouragement from the fact that even genuine saints struggle with this. Think of Saint Paul's struggle with the flesh, which he mentions over and over again, or Saint Augustine's wayward youth. And more recently, we have heard about Mother Teresa and her inner strugglewith her faith. Fortunately, God's mercy is greater than our sins, and God never gives up on us. So, we should not give up on ourselves, and know that we are all called to be saints.

To all God's beloved in Rome, who are called to be saints: Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

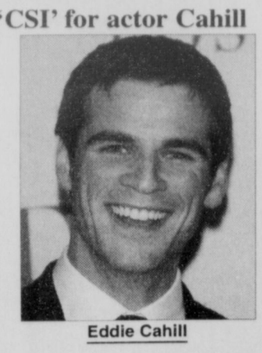
It was 'Sex' before 'CSI' for actor Cahill

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it



Eddie Cahill

Q: In the "Sex and the City" episode titled "Boy, Girl, Boy, Girl ...," Carrie briefly dated a younger man named Sean. Was this the same actor who played Rachel's love interest in several episodes of "Friends"? –Scott Newman, Owosso, Mich.

A: Yes. Eddie Cahill also was partnered with Jennifer Aniston in a "Friends" story arc, playing the character Tag. Lately, he's been seen as Don Flack, the forensic sleuths' prime New York Police Department contact on CBS' "CSI: NY."

Q: I would love to watch "Damages." Why can I not find it listed on FX? –Bonnie McCoy, Aurora, Colo.

A: Because its second season hasn't started yet. At this writing, no specific date had been set yet, but the cable network plans to bring back the intense drama early in the new year. You shouldn't have any trouble hearing about that date once it's set, since FX won't be shy about trumpeting the Emmy for outstanding lead actress recently won by "Damages" star Glenn Close. We're looking forward to her reunion with her "Big Chill" co-star William Hurt, who will have a regular role on the series in its new season. In the meantime, the first round of "Damages" is available on DVD.

Q: Did the series "The Fugitive" end with the shooting of Lt. Gerard and either Dr. Richard Kimble or the one-armed man? –Carol Quitzon, Milwaukee

A: We normally stay away from revealing endings, out of consideration to those who haven't seen the program or movie in question, but this one is so famous that we'll go ahead. The classic 1960s drama actually ended with a shooting BY Lt. Gerard (who was played by the recently deceased Barry Morse); he took aim at the murderous one-armed man (Bill Raisch), who was atop a tower with a gun trained on the wrongly accused Kimble (David Janssen) at the moment of truth.

Q: What happened to the show "The 4400" on USA Network? Is it on hold, or is it done for? –Jeff Harris, Oklahoma City

A: It's done for. Series creator and executive producer Scott Peters notified fans of that himself on the show's message board last December.

Q: What is the fate of "Notes From the Underbelly?" I really like it, but I have a feeling that it has been canceled. –Jennifer Thompson, Highlands Ranch, Colo.

A: Your feeling is correct. ABC pink-slipped the Jennifer Westfeldt-starring comedy after two seasons.

Shih-tzu Is Biting Herself Crazy

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: What would make my shih-tzu bite her tail? I noticed that "Mitzy" was constantly trying to nibble her own tail. When I looked closer, I found a hard lump and a small cut that was draining. She bites at it worse at night. Mitzy has no fleas, but she does have dry skin. What's going on? — Alice H., via e-mail

DEAR ALICE: Without knowing exactly where the lump is located, I can't say for certain. It goes without saying that any change in a dog's behavior, or anything odd that you notice on your pet (such as a new lump or a draining cut) should prompt you to visit the veterinarian as soon as possible for a thorough checkup.

Some dogs, regardless of breed, suffer from chronic dry skin. But dry skin can be a herald of a deeper health problem, such as a thyroid condition, which can only be determined through a blood test. So, the best thing to do, again, is mention it to Mitzy's vet when you bring her in to have the lump checked.

The vet may do a biopsy to determine whether the lump is benign. He or she also will ask you a number of questions about Mitzy's daily behavior: how much and how often she eats, if she is drinking and urinating more than usual, if the dry skin has been a problem for a long time or if it's recent, any known food allergies or health problems, and so on.

If there are no underlying problems, the vet may recommend that you try a change in Mitzy's diet (he or she will give you some options) to treat her dry skin. You can also add an Omega 3 supplement to her food — the vet may have this available, or you can purchase the supplement at a pet store.

ALL ABOARD FOR THE HAYRIDE – Children and parents attending the Oakland Library's Home-Schooler Series took a hayride through the Pleasant Valley countryside last Friday. "Pulled with a tractor driven by Marlene Miller, the hay wagon was loaded with 45 children and adults who experienced the area in a way that you can't do when driving in a car," said a library spokesperson. "The horses and cattle seemed much closer, and the farmland felt more alive, so that those in the wagon became a part of the landscape, rather than pure observers." She expressed her appreciation to the Ray Miller family of Pleasant Valley Dream Rides for donating their services to the HomeSchooler program. The next event at the Oakland library is scheduled for Friday, Nov. 21, from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. with journalist Sarah Moses. Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

Late last Tuesday afternoon, Cindy Stanton picked me up to go on a four-wheeler adventure in the woods, accompanied by Aaron's blond lab, Ben. Boo also wanted to go along, but we were able to keep her in the house. I am sure she would have enjoyed taking dips in the Beachy and the Maust ponds.

We saw Ida Maust in their prime pavilion overlooking the pond. The woods were lovely, with so many brilliant, colorful trees and lots of gold and yellow ferns among the green ones. The only wildlife we saw were lots of crows.

The last week or so I have really wished I had a horse to go into the woods. I used to love to ride up to Meadow Mountain ridge overlooking Route 495 and New Germany. It was quite a view in autumn.

I thought today that I saw brilliant orange and yellow trees, but they were nothing compared to tonight's sunset.

I heard from two very reliable sources that our bands of coyotes have been raising cain the past nights.

Kevin Dodge and his wildlife program students at Garrett College are very busy trapping and banding saw-whet owls. So far they have caught 16 on Orendorf Road, of which four had already been banded by someone else.

We had another frosty morning, which makes two in a row. The night temperature was in the 20s and lower 30s. Our corn fields have now been frozen and are turning very brown. After two weeks with temperatures in the 60s, it is a real shock.

JoEllen Graham of St. Albans, W.Va., who spent the summer months at her home on Deep Creek Lake and visiting with her sister, Beulah Moon, was packing up to return home when she got sick. She is presently hospitalized in Oakland with blood sugar complications. She will probably stay in the hospital for several days. One of her daughters came up from West Virginia to help her mother get home.

My Claire came home to help with and attend a welcome-home party for Carrie Conray's brother Jason, who just returned from Afghanistan. Meredith also attended the party.

Ruth DiPaolo attended a Celebration of Life for Robert Jacobs on Sunday morning at Georges Creek Church of the Brethren. A luncheon was held at the home of the family in Barton following. She also attended the Garrett County Farm Bureau dinner Thursday evening at the Bittinger fire hall.

She will have a cataract removed from her left eye on Tuesday in Morgantown. Later she is to return to Morgantown to have some tests. She, Sheila Southerly, and I are all suffering from pain. Sheila is dealing with pain caused by an arthritic disc in her back, I have pain in my left leg, and Ruth is bothered with pain in her neck and head. I am sure there are many more who are having pain here or there.

Linda Buckel and Terry Caparelli recently attended the New Jersey Women of the ELCA Convention in Freehold, N.J. Linda was a representative from the national ELCA.

I am so glad it is almost Election Day, and I hope I will stop worrying about it. This is, I hope, the last thing I will write about the presidential election.

To me it is enough to know that McCain doesn't believe in Social Security or Medicare, because there are many thousands like me who count on them. We have been led to believe that Social Security will be there for us. What if we had privatized Social Security and had put the money into stocks and bonds, with the stock market that has dropped so critically?

The campaign is trying to portray Democrats and liberals as "leftist," which is another way to call them communists who hate Americans. If we move to a national bank system, that is a major movement into the direction of socialism. However, an extreme "rightist" was involved in the worst domestic terrorist attack the United States ever received.

I do not understand why "Joe the Plumber" is so upset about a rise in taxes since he owes lots already. He will just not pay them. Taxes pay for national defense inter-structuring and action to stabilize our economy, enabling people to build more homes and give him more work.

"Joe Plumber" is afraid that his income will cross the line of a quarter-million dollars per year. Do you know any teachers, public servants, firefighters, nurses, or policemen who make that kind of money? I could go on and on, but do not want to upset some of my readers. I hope most of them think what might happen to our country if the right person does not get elected. I resent the fact that as a Democrat I am labeled as liberal, which is supposed to mean I am dangerous and an anti-American. To me, being a liberal means helping the have-nots, like raising the minimum wage, which is what Obama means when he says he wants to "spread the wealth."

I awoke one morning at one o'clock and wished I could call someone on the phone, but no one I know in our time zone is up at that time of the night. Even my West Coast friends are not still up at 11 p.m. I turned to my favorite channel, Turner Classic Movies, but all they had on was a crime movie. It was the last thing I wanted to watch. Even CNBC was out. There are also not many sports on at 2 a.m.

Finally I happened to get on CNN and, believe it or not, there was good news on the TV. The missing 6-year-old boy in Las Vegas was found safe. A few minutes later was another story about the lifestyle of Wall Street fat cats; not the chief executives, but those who still have two new luxurious cars, private planes and helicopters, and are dressed in $500 suits. Believe me, they can afford higher taxes, and if they keep all their money they will create jobs. They have no interest in investing in America, as all they care about is living the high life. When political parties say "Keep taxes low," that is who they are talking about; not "Joe Plumber" or ordinary Americans who have to run their old used cars until they stop. In America we have thousands who have so much wealth that they wouldn't miss a little bit if the government spread the wealth to pay for programs like low-income health clinics, and educational things such as student loans. The wealthy don't have to worry about how they can pay for health care or Social Security.

The usual Saturday night losers have been back at work around Bittinger, trespassing on properties and removing political signs. One of my friends heard that over 70 Obama signs have been taken off private property. I think these losers are the same ones who don't know what else to do other than be destructive.

It was strange that my sign was still standing on Sunday morning. However, they must not be too choosy, as I heard that the McCain sign at Brenneman's Grove was also taken.

My dog Boo had a major fit of barking on Saturday night. Part of the great thing about being an American is the right to express one's opinion. Perhaps the sign stealers are so insecure in their own beliefs that they can't allow others to express theirs. I mostly feel sorry for them.

I am afraid Boo will be spending more time inside, with the bear hunting season open, even with her bright orange bandana on. I know of several Bittinger hunters who received bear permits. Even though the bears do a lot of damage to farmers' crops, I believe that their presence is something we should be proud of. As America and even Garrett County are being over-developed, the bears have less and less room to live and roam. Even though many people around my area have seen them, I still feel we should protect them.

It is much less bright outside my window now. Many leaves have already dropped from the trees, and those still on the trees are brown.

GARDENERS SPRUCE UP HOSPITAL ENTRANCES – This summer, master gardeners with the Mountain Laurel Garden Club took on the project of working to beautify the grounds surrounding the main entrance and emergency entrance at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The project was spearheaded by Jerry Crabtree, chair of the Hospital Garden Committee. "Many hands, many hours, and much devotion were generously given to make the hospital gardens a pleasure to visit," said Don Battista, hospital president/CEO. Pictured in the front, left to right, are Beth Calvert, Shelley Packard, Joan Manahan, and Sherry Frick. In the back are Bobbi Briggs, Lois Steinfort, and Crabtree. The garden club's Bob Calvert was not available for the photo. Volunteer gardening last summer was provided by Crabtree, Valerie and Samantha Hodge-Williams, and Charles Buffington. Also contributing flowers or a bench were 219 Outdoor Center, Green Acres Garden Center, Jim and Diana Thompson, and Tri-State Gazebo. "Public support of this fashion always makes us at Garrett County Memorial proud to be part of this great community," concluded Battista.

MSTA Delegates Vote To Change Association Name

After more than 140 years as the Maryland State Teachers Association (MSTA), representative assembly delegates voted this past weekend in Ocean City to change the Association's name to the Maryland State Education Association (MSEA) – a change that will become effective sometime during the 2009-2010 school year.

Although the proposed amendment to the association's bylaws had come before the assembly in previous years, this year the name change to MSEA earned unanimous backing from the MSTA Board of Directors and easily passed the 2/3 majority from the 700-plus delegates needed for passage.

"Our leadership felt strongly that it was time for a change," said MSTA President Clara Floyd. "Educating students is what we are all about □ it's our shared mission. There are so many people who have an impact on creating great public schools for every child. Yes, the classroom teacher is critical, but school staff and administrators also play vital roles, and we wanted our name to reflect the full richness of our association membership."

"It was a case of doing the right thing," added Donna Schulze, an elementary school paraprofessional in Howard County who was the lead sponsor of the by-law amendment and who pointed out the growing occupational diversity of the 70,000-member organization. "MSTA isn't just about teachers, it's about paraprofessionals, bus drivers, cafeteria workers, administrators, guidance counselors and more. They don't think of themselves as teachers, but they are educators, we are all educators, and we work together towards one common goal – to educate our children."

Other highlights of this year's assembly included speeches by Governor Martin O'Malley and new National Education Association president Dennis Van Roekel, a panel discussion of the student dropout crisis, and discussions about the importance of the November election for school funding and other education priorities and how educators can get involved. The three-day convention also featured more than 50 professional development workshops and hundreds of exhibits focused on education and health issues.

Oakland Man Receives 90-Day Sentence

Scott David Collins, 25, Oakland, pleaded guilty to a charge of violating a protective order against another individual in March. Judge Malloy sentenced Collins to 90 days and fines of $57.50.

Garrett County sheriff's officers were called to an apartment complex for a destruction of property complaint. Officers intercepted Collins on the hallway steps in the apartment complex where the victim lived.

Collins was to have no contact with the victim and was in violation of the protective order. A warrant for his arrest was issued that same day, and he was taken by sheriff's officers. His case was heard in September.

In an unrelated case, Michael Wayne Wilburn, 47, Grantsville, was handed 36 months of supervised probation for a February charge of theft less than $100. Judge Price sentenced him to 90 days, all of which was suspended.

Wilburn was charged for allegedly stealing lumber from New England Truss and Joist in February.

GCSO were dispatched to respond to the Grantsville area for the report of a theft. An unidentified witness had told officers that Wilburn had taken lumber from the company three weeks prior to the February incident.

When officers arrived at the scene, the suspect had already driven off. Wilburn was then spotted at a local gas station; according to court records, when approached, he explained that he "thought the lumber was scrap and free for the taking."

Wilburn was charged with theft after officers found more lumber at his place of residence. Other charges of theft and conspired theft were not prosecuted.

In another district court hearing, Tracy Elaine Ali, 21, Morgantown, W.Va., was found guilty for assault in the second degree and was sentenced to one year, all of which was suspended.

Ali's charges stemmed from an arrest in June when sheriff's officers responded to a department of social services call. It was reported that Ali had allegedly been physically abusive to a 1-year-old child.

After officers tracked down Ali and questioned her about the incident, she admitted that she had slapped the child out of frustration when she would not stay still in bed. The child was then taken from Ali and placed in foster care.

Judge Price handed her 18 months of unsupervised probation and fines of $200.

Ryan Scott Friend, 27, Friendsville, was not prosecuted on charges of distribution of a schedule I CDS, marijuana; possession of a schedule I CDS, marijuana; distribution of a schedule III CDS, suboxone; possession of a schedule III CDS, suboxone. No fines were given for the July arrest.

DUI/DWI HEARINGS

The following driving while under the influence (DUI) and driving while impaired (DWI) cases were heard in recent Garrett County District Court proceedings:

Mark Stephen Yannacci, 33, Md., was handed a probation before judgment (PBJ), for his February charge of DWI. He will serve 12 months' unsupervised probation and fines totaling $250. He was not prosecuted on charges of DUI and DUI per se.

RECOGNIZED FOR "MAKING A DIFFERENCE" – The Dove Center recently held its 9th annual Awareness Ceremony in observance of National Domestic Violence Awareness Month (October). During the ceremony, the lives of victims were remembered, survivors were celebrated, and advocates were commended. The Dove Center presented its annual Advocacy Award to the Garrett County Chapter of the American Association of University Women (AAUW). "The AAUW members are instrumental in supporting the Dove Center's client transportation program, which assists clients with the cost of commuting to counseling and other relevant appointments," said a center spokesperson. "Such support can make a difference in whether or not a victim returns to an abusive situation." Pictured at left is Heather Hanline, Dove Center executive director, presenting the award to Ellen Fritz, AAUW member.

New Drug for Depression Offers Advantage

Depression is a chronic condition involving both the mind and body. Although some persons who are depressed may only experience one episode of depression, many experience recurring episodes throughout life. Typically, the symptoms of depression include decreased interest in daily activities, feelings of hopelessness, and difficulty sleeping. A correct diagnosis is dependent on the presence of a depressed mood during most days for at least 2 weeks, as well as a number of symptoms characterizing the condition. Although the exact cause is unknown, biochemical changes in the brain, genetics, and environmental factors all may play a role in the triggering of a depressive episode.

Non-drug options available, such as psychological counseling, may improve depression for some individuals. Medications that may be prescribed include fluoxetine, paroxetine, and sertraline. These drugs generally cause fewer side effects than other types of antidepressants. A new drug, desvenlafaxine, may offer the advantage of decreased drug interactions, when compared with another similar medication, venlafaxine. Drugs for depression may not improve mood for up to 8 to 12 weeks, although some persons may experience benefit earlier.

Ag Promotion Grants Available

The Maryland Agriculture Council Inc., representing the broad spectrum of the state's largest industry, is now accepting grant applications for its 2009 awards. Projects receiving funding will promote Maryland agriculture and may originate from individuals or organizations with requests up to $9,000.

The application deadline is November 28, 2008; awards will be announced at the Maryland Agriculture Legislative Dinner held at Michael's Eight Avenue, on Thursday, Feb. 5, 2009. Grant applications can be obtained from Maryland Agriculture Council Grant Committee chairperson Donna Myers at 410-635-2028, or by visiting the council's web site at www.mdagcouncil.com for downloadable guidelines and application.

Special consideration will be given to applications which would maximize the value of the grant by using matching funds or "in-kind" donations.

A spokesperson said that the Maryland Agriculture Council is "committed to the pursuit of a viable industry, enabling present and future generations to enjoy safe, plentiful food products, abundant and varied fiber products, a healthy environment, and productive landscape for the well-being of all our citizens."

NEW POLICY ANNOUNCED FOR FARMS WITH 10 OR FEWER BASE ACRES

The 2008 Farm Bill was enacted on June 18, and it stipulated that producers would not receive direct payments, counter-cyclical payments, or average crop revenue election payments for farms with base acres of covered commodities of 10 or fewer acres, unless the farm was wholly owned by a socially disadvantaged or limited resource farmer or rancher.

On Oct. 13, legislation was enacted suspending the 10-acre provision for crop year 2008 and extending the enrollment period for those farms with 10.0 or fewer base acres of covered commodities until Nov. 26.

For producers on farms with 10 or fewer base acres who have not filed a crop year 2008 Crop Acreage Report with the FSA office, late-filed crop acreage report fees will be waived by close of business, Dec. 1, 2008.

The extended enrollment period does not apply to farms with bases of 10.1 or more acres. The enrollment deadline for these farms remained Sept. 30.

To enroll farms with 10.0 base acres or fewer in the 2008 Direct and Counter-Cyclical Program and file late-filed crop acreage reports, producers may visit the Preston County FSA office, located in the Corner Mall of the Kingwood Plaza, or telephone the office at 304-329-1923.

Kingwood Mining Company Fined Over $736,000

The U.S. Department of Labor's Mine Safety and Health Administration (MSHA) has announced it has assessed $736,300 in fines against Kingwood Mining Company's Whitetail Kittanning Mine, located in Preston County, for repeated violations over a year. Five violations relating to accumulation of combustible materials near ignition sources were assessed under the flagrant violation provision of MSHA's civil penalty regulation.

"The result of coal dust accumulating underground could have been a catastrophic fire or explosion," said Richard E. Stickler, acting assistant labor secretary for mine safety and health. "It is especially troublesome that the mine operator failed to take any corrective action, despite its own records and prior notice from MSHA that clearly indicated the need for corrective actions to protect the safety of miners."

Prior to Feb. 13 and April 15, 2008, inspections at the mine, MSHA supervisors, and inspectors met with mine management to discuss compliance with applicable safety standards, including addressing accumulations along energized conveyor belts. During both inspections, MSHA's inspector found that the belt and/or rollers had been turning in the accumulations, producing dangerous frictional heat and suspending additional combustible coal dust in the atmosphere.

Because the company failed to address the issue, despite notice of the hazard which was also documented in their own pre-shift examination reports, the MSHA inspector cited high-negligence unwarrantable failure violations.

In addition, on Feb. 27, 2008, an MSHA inspector discovered empty rock dust bags, coal, and coal dust accumulations in contact with the moving rollers and the belt, producing frictional heat. As a result, MSHA issued another high-negligence unwarrantable failure order for permitting dangerous accumulations of combustible coal and debris along a beltline.

In total, MSHA cited 13 unwarrantable failure violations by the mine operator between May 1, 2007, and April 15, 2008, for dangerous accumulations of combustible materials.

Reformation Day To Be Celebrated At St. Mark's

St. Mark's Lutheran Church will celebrate Reformation Sunday at its 10 a.m. worship service on Oct. 26. The church is located at the corner of Second and Center streets, Oakland.

The Reformation Sunday service will feature special music, with choir and brass accompaniment. Holy Communion will be shared as well. The public is invited to attend.

"The Reformation began quietly when Martin Luther posted his now-famous 95 theses on the chapel door at the Castle Church in Wittenberg, Germany, on Oct. 31, 1517," said Rev. C. Scott Robinson, pastor of St. Mark's. "Those theses were actually proposed 'talking points' for regular university discussion, written in protest of the church's sale of 'indulgences' — forgiveness for past and present sins then being sold by the church for cash. Later the protest expanded to include other areas of doctrine and practice that the reformers found to be faulty and corrupt."

Robinson said it was never Luther's intention to start his own church.

"He intended only to reform the teachings and practices of the church he loved and dutifully served as an Augustinian monk and seminary professor," the pastor said. Today there are more than 68 million Lutherans in the world.

"We view the Reformation not only as a movement of the past, but as an ongoing effort to renew and revitalize the church, keeping it responsible, accountable, and relevant through the ages," Pastor Robinson said.

A coffee hour will follow the service, open to all who wish to attend. For more information, persons may call the church office at 301-334-2668, or visit the church web site at stmarksoakland.com.

ROSE-COLORED GLASSES

by Dr. Thomas P. Sheahen

Q. I have two different pairs of sunglasses, one reddish-looking, one blueish. This year, the fall foliage looked ho-hum through the blue sunglasses, but when I put on the red ones, the colors were really brilliant. What is going on?

A. What you are experiencing is the effect of different optical filters. The basic idea of sunglasses is to reduce the amount of sunlight that gets through to your eyes, reducing the intensity. (Your eyes do that all by themselves, when your pupils get smaller under intense light, and sunglasses help that along.)

There are several different ways to make sunglasses. One way is to put a reflective coating onto ordinary glass, and so a high fraction of the sunlight will just reflect away. To another person, you look like you're wearing big headlights. Another way is to use crossed polarizers, a pair of layers where the first layer takes out half the light, and the second layer takes out most of what's left, so that only a small percentage of the original sunlight gets through.

A third way is to use optical filters, which take out nearly all the light of some wavelengths and let other wavelengths pass through. To filter out light, the glass must contain certain chemicals that absorb selected colors of incoming light. Your rose-colored (reddish) sunglasses are of that kind. (Really, any piece of "stained glass" is one type of optical filter or another.)

If the glass filters out the green part of the spectrum, it must let some other light through, to have enough light to see by. What comes through is mainly light from the orange and red end of the spectrum, but very little from the green and blue wavelengths. So when you look at trees through such sunglasses, you cannot see their green colors, but the red hues come through at full intensity.

Leaves contain various chemicals of different colors, called chromatins. Leaves also contain chlorophyll, which makes them look green. Most of the year the chlorophyll masks the other colors, but in the autumn the chlorophyll goes away first, allowing the remaining chromatins to be seen. But in many autumn seasons, the chlorophyll sticks around longer, the green component diminishes slowly, and the result is a dull mixture of green, yellow, orange, red — nothing very impressive. Later in the autumn, all the chemicals have vanished, and on the way to dead leaves, nothing ever looked really good.

However, when you look through a filter that takes out the green, you're not seeing the chlorophyll, and so the bright chromatins are clearly visible. A dull autumn suddenly turns brilliant, by the magic of optical filters.

Your other blue sunglasses are probably crossed polarizers, and those remove all wavelengths just about the same, so they don't change the way you see colors.

Q. I bought a pair of cheap sunglasses. The sticker said they provide minimum required protection: 95% UV-B and 60% UV-A. That still leaves 40% getting through. Will that "60%" rating mean my eyes will get hurt?

A. Ultraviolet light (UV) is more energetic than visible light, and hence it can be harmful. UV light is often used to kill bacteria on food as it is being packaged. Sunburn is an example of a human getting too much UV light. The "band" of radiation known as UV-A is the ultraviolet light closest to the visible wavelengths, which has only slightly more energy than visible light. The UV-B band has shorter wavelengths, higher energy, and that radiation is potentially more damaging.

When UV light from the sun approaches the earth, a lot of it is filtered out by the ozone layer in the upper atmosphere. But enough reaches the surface that we generally want to avoid it. You can tell right away when visible light is too intense, and you tend to squint or shield your eyes. The trouble with UV is that you can't see it, and you don't get a warning about how intense it is. Therefore it matters that sunglasses take out the UV light as well as the visible.

The ultimate in sunglasses is a welder's mask, which takes out nearly all the intense UV radiation produced during welding.

The sunglasses you describe will protect you reasonably well. The more damaging rays (UV-B) are mostly taken out; the UV-A rays that get through are less harmful — but still more energetic than visible light. One thing to watch out for is sunburn on the rest of your face, especially during the skiing season when UV light reflects off snow.

Thank You

I would like to thank everyone for the outpouring of love, kindness and prayers that was shown during Andy's illness and following his death.

Whether you said a kind word, sent food, flowers, other items, cards, money or made a donation in Andy's name, ran errands, cleaned or sat and cried, prayed and/or laughed with us. To say thank-you seems too little. All the support was more than I could have ever imagined. It has shown me how very blessed we are to have such a good and caring circle of friends and family. Again, thank you all.

In Memory of Shannon Forrester
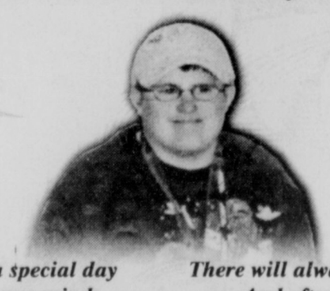
October 22, 1970 – January 29, 2008



We do not need a special day
To bring you to our minds.
The days we do not think of you
Are very hard to find.

Each morning when we awake,
We know that you are gone.
And no one knows the heartache
As we try to carry on.

Our hearts still ache with sadness
And secret tears still flow.
What it meant to lose you
No one will ever know.

Our thoughts are always with you,
Your place no one can fill.
In life we loved you dearly;
In death we love you still.

There will always be a heartache,
And often a silent tear.
But always a precious memory
Of the days when you were here.

If tears could make a staircase,
And heartaches make a lane,
We'd walk the path to heaven
And bring you home again.

We hold you close within our hearts;
And there you will remain,
To walk with us throughout our lives
Until we meet again.

Our family chain is broken now,
And nothing seems the same,
But as God calls us one by one,
The chain will link again.

Love always, ~Author unknown

Maryland's Land Preservation Budget Expected To Plummet In Coming Years

by Christopher Carey
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS — Maryland's budget for land preservation will plummet dramatically in the next few years, falling by more than $100 million by 2010, according to statistics released Tuesday at a meeting of the Maryland Joint Subcommittee on Program Open Space and Agricultural Land Preservation.

The loss of funds could make it more difficult for the state to purchase and preserve undeveloped land.

The projected loss of funds combines new estimates for fiscal year 2010 from the Department of Natural Resources and the Department of Agriculture, the two agencies most responsible for purchasing undeveloped land.

"We have to acknowledge ... that we don't have the funding," said Shaun Fenlon, director of the Department of Natural Resources Land Acquisition and Planning Unit.

James Conrad, executive director of the Maryland Agricultural Land Preservation Foundation, which is part of the Department of Agriculture, said the weak real estate market is to blame for the drop in funding.

The foundation, like the Department of Natural Resources, generates most of its land acquisition revenue from real estate and agricultural transfer taxes, and purchases land rights to limit development of agricultural areas.

Conrad said the reason the foundation is predicting lower funding in the next few years is because it has to repay excess spending from 2007.

"We overspent in 2007," said Conrad. "That was when the bottom opened in the real estate market."

The foundation expected $91 million in funding in 2007, but revenues for that year came up short by about $30 million, according to the foundation's statistics. This is because its budget is based on an estimate of what transfer taxes will be in future years.

The estimate for 2007, however, did not predict the housing crisis, and the foundation spent more than it actually had. As a result, it has to repay the difference in three years, which will be in 2010.

The Department of Natural Resources Land Acquisition and Planning Unit faces similar funding shortfalls.

Despite the bleak outlook, the meeting focused on ways that land preservation work could continue to move forward with success.

"Landowners are much more willing to talk to us," said Fenlon.

Fenlon pointed out that prices for undeveloped land have lowered recently, and that landowners have become more willing to sell to the state.

"When the real estate market is hot, we have money but people are not as anxious to put their property in, and what we get is expensive," said Conrad. "When the real estate market is cool, we don't have money and people are anxious to put their properties in."

In addition, the cost to purchase land has fallen to approximately $4,500 per acre, down from almost $6,000 last year.

"We can still be very successful, because I don't see the real estate markets changing in the next couple of years," said Fenlon.

DAY CARE TOURS THE COMMUNITY – Debbie Workman's family child care clients recently took a daylong field trip to visit several prominent places throughout the community. The children started at a petting zoo, where they fed the animals. They were then given the opportunity to tour the Maryland State Police station, shown above, where they were given badges and a "buckle-up beaver," as well as sat inside a police vehicle. The next stop for the group was the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company hall, where they were given a tour by fire prevention queen Jackie Rodeheaver. Rodeheaver showed them the firefighting gear and the fire trucks (below) before reading a story to the kids that she had written especially for them. The group then worked its way up the mountain to the Adventure Sports Center International at the top of Wisp Resort. They got a chance to observe several whitewater rafters. The day ended with a trip for ice cream from Katy's.

HOMESCHOOLERS BUILD VEGGIE SCULPTURES – The HomeSchooler series at the Oakland Library began this month with a program about organic farming, which was presented by the Max Dubansky family, owners of Backbone Farm. "You learn something new every day," said Max. "That's one of the things I love about organic farming." He explained the concepts of raising crops organically, composting, preventing erosion, and sowing cover crops that get turned into the soil for worm food. "On our farm," he noted, "the horses do the work in the fields for us instead of the tractor. We can learn a lot today by looking back to see how things were done years ago." The children crafted a myriad of unique characters, turning the farm's produce into veggie sculptures. They are shown holding these sculptures in the photo, with Max in the back row, third from the left. The next HomeSchooler program will be held in Oakland and will feature a hay ride with Pleasant Valley Farms Carriage Rides on Friday, Oct. 17. Anna Marie Hosner and Kirby Douglas King were united in marriage on Aug. 9 on the beach in North Myrtle Beach, S.C., by Rev. Steven L. Brown. The reception was held oceanfront at Bay Watch Resort, located just behind the ceremony site.

The bride is the daughter of William B. and Gina M. Hosner, Canton, Ohio. The groom is the son of Frances M. Grove, Friendsville, and the late Richard D. King.

Ask Sheila

Decorating Dilemma?
Sheila offers helpful advice.

Dear Sheila:

My children are all grown and I would like to have a very elegant feel to my living room this Christmas. I gave the kids all the decorations they have made over the years and I would like to do something dressier. My sofas are black leather and I have hardwood floors. I desperately need new window treatments but do not want drapes. Then I would like to have my holiday treatments reflect my colors with red being the main color. Is this possible?

BandW lover

Dear BandW:

Not a problem. Black, white and red go extremely well with some silver pieces, which you probably already have, and we can definitely do a sophisticated room for you!

Maryland Seeking Volunteers To Work As NRP Officers

A meeting was recently held at the Discovery Center by Cpl. Jeffrey T. White, Reserve Officer coordinator of Maryland Natural Resources Police, in order for him to meet his newly assigned reserve officers. The meeting also gave Anne Rogers an opportunity to talk about improving boater safety on Maryland waters.

White met with several of the volunteers from Garrett and Allegany counties who make up the Western Region Reserve Officer Force. He reviewed the newly computerized reserve officer time and work sheets with the volunteers.

"The Maryland Natural Resources Police Reserve Officer Program comprises volunteers of all walks of life, such as retired citizens, college students, and/or employed citizens who want to give something back to the public while assisting regular DNR police officers," noted White. "And we need more reserve officer volunteers today all across Maryland."

NRP SEEKING RESERVE OFFICERS – A meeting was recently held at the Discovery Center at Deep Creek Lake by Cpl. Jeffrey White, reserve coordinator for Western Maryland Natural Resources Police. The meeting was held to draw volunteers interested in becoming reserve officers for the NRP. Those in attendance were Henry Stuckey, Chris Warden, Frank Och, Paul Dudak, White, Anne Rogers, boating safety coordinator for NRP in Stevensville, and Bryan Walkup, reserve officer. See story for details.

One of the newest NRP officers is Chris Warden, Frederick, who is a student at Garrett College studying natural resources and wildlife technology. "Being an NRP reserve officer in Garrett County is giving me hands-on experience in my field of study and allows me to work with DNR officers who have years of tested time in the field," he stated.

The reserve officers are committed to performing non-law enforcement duties that would otherwise have been performed by commissioned police officers.

"We work hard to protect what makes Maryland unique–from our Chesapeake Bay to our diverse landscapes in Mountain Maryland, as well as our living and natural resources," says Paul Dudak, 10-year veteran reserve officer and boating safety course instructor. DNR as well as reserve officers teach hunter and boater safety courses, and handle and file paper work to support public safety.

The state of Maryland is seeking more volunteers. For more information on how to become a reserve officer, persons may contact White at 1-443-934-3159 or Maryland DNR Natural Resources Police Western Region Area 7 Office, 2001 Monument Road, Myersville, MD 21773.

Preston County Police Seeking Info On Fatality

The Preston County Sheriff's Department is looking for any information on a fatal car accident that killed two people last Thursday on Rt. 68 near Bruceton Mills. Any person who may have witnessed the accident is asked to call the PCSD at 304-329-1611 and ask for deputy T.E. Mitter or deputy J.S. Brown.

Preliminary investigation revealed that a 2002 Isuzu Axiom SUV was traveling eastbound, when the vehicle ran off the left side of the roadway partially into the median, came back onto the road, and then overturned several times before striking the guardrail on the right hand side of the road. The vehicle went over the guardrail and traveled approximately 60 feet over an embankment.

The driver, Kevin Carleton Anderson, 38, Great Cacapon, W.Va., was pronounced dead at the scene. Passenger Devon Sabatian, 24, Morgan County, was transported by Healthnet Helicopter to Ruby Memorial Hospital, where she later died.

The Bruceton-Brandonville Volunteer Fire Department, the Bruceton-Brandonville Ambulance, and KAMP Ambulance also assisted at the scene. Persons with any information are asked to call the Preston County Sheriff's Department.

Police Seeking Info On Destruction Of Oakland Mailboxes

Deputies with the Garrett County Sheriff's Office are investigating the destruction of numerous mailboxes in the Oakland area. The damage reportedly occurred sometime during the evening hours of Sunday, Oct. 26, and Monday, Oct. 27.

During that time, unknown persons took a blunt object and smashed approximately 10 to 15 mailboxes on Oakland Sang Run Road and Old Crellin Road. The GCSO is seeking information concerning the incidents.

Persons with any leads are asked to call the GCSO at 301-334-1911 or Crime Solvers at 301-334-1975. Callers may remain anonymous.

THE NIGHTMARE BEFORE CHRISTMAS? Trick-or-treaters know better. It's simply Mother Nature playing a little 'trick' before Halloween, dumping over six inches of snow over the past week. But have no fear, temperatures are rising, the snow is melting, and each costumed boy or ghoul will have the chance to collect all the candy desired on Friday evening. Perhaps this skeleton, found along Baltimore Avenue in Mtn. Lake Park, won't look quite so, uh, chilled to the bone by then? Several towns will hold trick-or-treat, and other areas are offering communities parties. The Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club will host its annual parade and party this evening in Oakland, with the parade line-up at 6:15 near the Ruth Enlow Library and the party taking place at the Oakland fire hall. Dress up, have fun, and be safe this Halloween! And yes, stay warm. Photo by John McEwen.

Accidental Fire Causes $100,000 In Damages To Oakland Building

An accidental fire caused an estimated $100,000 in damages to a two-story apartment building in downtown Oakland Monday morning.

Volunteers from the Oakland, Deer Park, Gorman, and Terra Alta fire departments were summoned to 301 South Second Street at 8:01 a.m. Upon arrival of the first Oakland units, heavy smoke was coming from the building, which housed three apartment units, as well as the Visible Changes hair salon.

A neighbor saw the smoke and called 911. All of the occupants who were home at the time escaped uninjured.

The structure is owned by Tambra Fulk.

Approximately 30 firefighters responded and brought the blaze under control in about 15 minutes, according to a report released by fire investigator Jamie Rodeheaver of the Maryland State Fire Marshal's office.

Rodeheaver determined that the fire started in the bedroom of one of the first-floor apartments as a result of a portable electric heater that ignited nearby combustible materials.

That apartment was occupied by Adrienne Moats, her 10-month-old daughter, and Dennis Garlitz.

Rodeheaver estimated $75,000 in losses to the structure, and an additional $25,000 to contents.

Moats and Garlitz lost all of their possessions, and are particularly in need of clothing for the baby and for Garlitz. Persons who have 12-month size clothing, as well as 34-34 pants and large or extra large shirts to donate are asked to telephone Moats at 240-321-7116.

Most of the damage to the other two apartments and the business was caused

Animal Owners Schedule Meeting To Discuss Humane Society Issues

A group of local residents who want to change the way animal neglect cases are investigated will hold its second public meeting on Saturday, Nov. 15, at 1 p.m. in the Garrett College Auditorium in McHenry.

"There will be ample seating room, so we urge you to come to the meeting and make a difference," said group spokesperson Kermit Yoder.

He and seven livestock owners met earlier this month with the Garrett County commissioners to express their concerns about the Humane Society and its ability to investigate alleged neglect/abuse cases and to seize animals. Members of the Humane Society, HART, and PAWS (Partners for Animal Welfare & Safety) also attended.

A state law currently places most of the authority of investigation and seizure on "an officer of a humane society." The commissioners said at the October meeting that the county could not arbitrarily change the law. They suggested that the group and Humane Society meet again and come up with "good, legitimate changes" to the law that could be presented to the General Assembly.

"This [second] meeting will give concerned citizens a chance to participate that didn't know about the first meeting," Yoder said.

He will open the November meeting, then turn it over to Nevin Umbel to moderate the rest of the event. Persons attending the meeting are asked to sign in and to note if they plan to speak.

"The Humane Society members will be given an opportunity to speak and air their feelings," Yoder said.

He also asks that HART, PAWS, and the Garrett County Animal Shelter/Control have representatives at the meeting to help answer questions from the public.

Yoder cautioned that some of the statements made at the event and the way they are conveyed may not be appropriate for un-

Swanton Woman Arrested After Stabbing Husband

A Swanton woman was arrested early Wednesday morning by Garrett County sheriff's deputies after she reportedly attacked and stabbed her husband.

Deputies responded to the Lloyd residence in Swanton after a family member reported that Josephine Marie Lloyd had assaulted her husband. Tex Lloyd was found to have three lacerations to his hand and was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by Southern Rescue Squad. He was treated and later released.

Josephine Lloyd was taken into custody to await an initial appearance before a District Court commissioner. She is charged with first and second degree assault and reckless endangerment.

Local Veterans' Groups To Hold Parade In Oakland

VFW Post 10077 and American Legion Post 071 will hold their annual Veterans Day parade in downtown Oakland on Sunday, Nov. 9, beginning at 1 p.m.

"Please come out and show all veterans that you thank them for their service," said spokesperson Marvin "Red" Guthrie.

The parade will form at the train station along Liberty Street at 12:30 p.m. Any groups or individuals wanting to participate in the parade need only to show up at that time to do so.

For more information, persons may call Guthrie at 301-334-9092 or 301-616-6404.

GC Officials Hear Update Reports; Award Bid For Career Training Ctr.

The Garrett County commissioners held their regular public meeting on Tuesday. Agenda items included a report on a federal housing program, an update from the Garrett County Department of Planning and Land Development, and a bid award for the proposed Garrett County Career Technology Training Center.

Garrett County Community Action Committee president Duane Yoder gave an update report on the federal Neighborhood Stabilization Program, under which Maryland will receive $26 million. Of that funding, $20 million will be primarily distributed to rural communities with high rates of foreclosures and sub-prime lending.

Yoder said Garrett County does not have a large number of foreclosures, but other program criteria may enable it to qualify for as much as $1 million. The funding can be used for housing acquisition and rehabilitation, housing construction for ownership and rental, homeownership assistance, and infrastructure.

A draft of how the county would use the Neighborhood Stabilization grant is due at the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development office by Dec. 5. The final draft is due in January.

Yoder noted that the funding must be used within 18 months after it is awarded.

The commissioners also heard an update report from Garrett County Department of Planning and Land Development staff members. Director John Nelson noted that public hearings will be held in the near future for two proposed county ordinances.

One outlines provisions for establishing local agri-

Garrett County To Receive $183K From Homeland Security Program

Gov. Martin O'Malley announced last Thursday that nearly $26.7 million in homeland security grant funds had been awarded to local communities in Maryland. The funds are part of U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS) grant programs for state and local government.

Garrett County will receive $183,077, the least amount of the state's counties and three select cities. Allegany County was awarded $326,137.

Baltimore City will receive the most Homeland Security funding in the state at $2.42 million, plus $11.39 million from the Baltimore Urban Area Security Initiative. Annapolis will receive $404,763, and Ocean City will get $400,531.

Baltimore County was awarded the most Homeland Security funding, $1.25 million, of the counties, followed by Prince George's, $1.34 million, Montgomery, $1.27 million, and Anne Arundel, $1.06 million.

"Even in difficult economic times, providing safety and security for the people of Maryland remains one of government's primary functions," noted O'Malley. "The demands on our public safety community do not decline when available resources are limited. In spite of a reduction in federal funding, we remain committed to providing the resources necessary for the brave men and women who serve as first responders."

Once again this year, the governor passed through 85 percent of the available funds under the State Homeland Security Grant Program to local governments, despite a minimum legal mandate of 80 percent. The state also passed through 98.5 percent of the Baltimore Urban Area Security Initiative.

Funds are being provided to every county in Maryland, Baltimore City, Ocean City, and Annapolis. Funding amounts were determined by providing a baseline amount to each jurisdiction, with the balance of funds allocated using a formula calculating each jurisdiction's risk level. The formula was developed by the Maryland Emergency Management Agency

Recycling Division Schedules Annual Sculpture Contest

The Garrett County Solid Waste and Recycling Division will conduct its annual "Rethink Recycling" Sculpture Contest this Saturday, Nov. 1, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Garrett College in Room 204. Admission is free.

The sculpture contest is held in celebration of America Recycles Day, a national event that unites business, environmental and civic groups, and local, state, federal government agencies to promote recycling, source reduction, and buying products made from recycled materials as means to a more sustainable society.

The sculptures, created by local students, will be judged on creativity, workmanship, and use of recycled materials. The variety of recycled materials will also be considered in the judging.

There will be three judges to determine a winner in each grade. Prizes will be provided from corporate and non-profit organization sponsors.

Students, parents, teachers, and the general public are welcome to attend the event. Light fare and beverages will be served.

Residents Once Again To Weigh In, With Votes, On Sunday Sales

by Megan Lahman

With Sunday sales of alcohol being on the ballot in Garrett County for the first time since 1998, the issues of morals, personal rights, and business are at the forefront.

On November 4, voters throughout the county will decide whether or not to allow restaurants and bars in their voting districts to sell alcohol with a meal. Exceptions for this vote are the voting districts of Avilton and Elbow, which have had Sunday sales for the last 10 years.

"There is no law that says you can't drink on Sundays," said Charlie Neely, senior manager of the Black Bear Tavern in McHenry, who has been in the restaurant business for 10 years.

Originally from Annapolis, Neely was quite surprised at first by the absence of alcohol sales in restaurants on Sundays. From working at other restaurants in the area, he has his fair share of stories concerning the issue. "I've lost business because of no Sunday sales. People would just get up and leave, all because they couldn't have a glass of wine with dinner," he said.

Currently, the Black Bear isn't open on Sundays because it wouldn't be profitable for them to just serve food. "I'm all for Sunday sales. I feel people would stay longer in the area if they could have a beer with their food while watching the big Sunday football game or NASCAR race," said Neely.

At Uno's in Deep Creek Lake, manager Jamie Durst said that the majority of negative feedback received about the lack of Sunday sales has come from tourists, especially those who are hoping to have a beer with pizza while watching a football game. While the restaurant is opened on Sundays, the revenues made can't compare to other days, he said.

"During the summer, the restaurant along with the Honi Honi Bar generates an average of $5,000 to $6,000 a day in alcohol sales. There have been times where we've been just as busy on Sundays as Saturdays in terms of food sales, but the numbers for Sundays will show that we made less than Saturdays," said Durst.

As for why there are sometimes higher food sales on Sundays, Joe Brag, another manager at Uno's, said that not having the sale of alcohol doesn't detract from business. "People are going to eat regardless," he said.

In terms of the county's economy, Jim Hinebaugh, director of the county's Department of Economic Development, said that despite no actual economic studies conducted, there is merit and value to having Sunday sales.

President of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce Charlie Ross said that Sunday sales won't change the economy or society much.

"Most restaurants will admit that their sales come from alcohol more than food, they also know that the county already has a secure economy for tourism. At the same time, this is a matter of personal choice," said Ross, who believes that Garrett County will remain a safe, moral place for families regardless of voting results.

Bobbie Watson, a waitress at Uno's, believes that the citizens' wishes should come before business. "I like the law, honestly. We do so much business without selling alcohol on Sundays. It's not worth selling on Sundays because it's what the local people want. Why make them upset?" she said.

Oakland native Thomas Doyle is opposed to the idea of Sunday sales. For the last few weeks in this newspaper, he has placed ads that feature claims about drunk driving and alcohol related deaths.

"This has nothing to do with religion, but with public safety and health. I want Garrett County to remain safe for families," said Doyle.

Garrett County Public Health Officer Rodney Glotfelty said that it doesn't matter what day people drink, but how they do it.

"There are public health impacts with drinking. It may lessen the impact by having no Sunday sales in restaurants, but it won't make a major difference. People can still drink at home. No matter what day it is, the key is not drinking to excess, and to not drive after having a drink," said Glotfelty.

Pastor Phillip Matthews of the Oak Grove Church of the Brethren in McHenry was unaware of the ballot measure until Doyle contacted him a month ago. Matthews' objection to Sunday sales is faith-based.

"Out of respect for the Lord, the county should strive to keep the one dry day as a dry day," said Matthews.

Along with the Oak Grove Church of the Brethren, which funded its own newspaper ad, other area churches have joined the cause against Sunday sales. Across the street from Uno's is the Deep Creek Baptist Church, which has a sign in the yard making its position known. The sign reads, "Keep Our Sundays Alcohol Free."

Black Bear Tavern patrons Pat Becker and Terri Hopler, both of Baltimore, questioned the religious influences behind the lack of Sunday sales.

"I get wine at church, so why can't I get it when I go to Sunday brunch?" said Becker.

"We come up a couple of times a year, but we'd be here more if they would allow Sunday sales," added Hopler, whose husband is a pastor.

When asked about any resentment locals might have towards the successful tourism industry at Deep Creek Lake, Pastor Matthews said, "The most upsetting thing for locals that I've seen is the expectation that is placed upon them (from tourists) that they have to cater to the tourists' lifestyles."

Owner of the Long Branch Saloon and Steakhouse in Mountain Lake Park, Rebecca Williams agrees with Matthews about the feelings about Deep Creek Lake, but she disagrees with him on the issue.

"I've been in the bar and restaurant business for 30 years. There is a local resentment towards the lake, but it would be nice to see sales get approved," she said. Williams' restaurant and bar are also closed on Sundays because of not being allowed to serve alcohol.

Donna Beckman, a local patron at the saloon, said that the citizens against Sunday sales won't buy alcohol no matter what the law is.

"I, too, am a Christian, but I believe in personal freedom," said Beckman. "If you don't like it, then don't buy it."

NAMED WAL-MART'S TEACHER OF THE YEAR – Jackie Stuck, fourth grade teacher at Broad Ford Elementary School, was recently named Wal-Mart's Teacher of the Year. She won the award through a nomination process, which occurred over the summer, in which students and community members nominated their ideal teacher. George Jones, manager at Oakland's Wal-Mart, presented Stuck with a personal gift basket and a check for $1,000 to use at the school for the students. "This is such a surprise!," noted Stuck. "It means so much to me that I was nominated by students and community members." In the photo above, Stuck (center) is pictured from left with superintendent of Garrett County schools Dr. Wendell Teets, Jones, Broad Ford principal Suzie Sincell, and supervisor of elementary education Barb Baker.

Three Charged With Possession Of Marijuana

Several men were charged with possession of marijuana after Maryland State Police trooper Tfc. S. Bennett initiated a traffic stop last Thursday near Grantsville.

The stop was conducted on a 2009 Nissan Murano for speeding. The vehicle was clocked at 92 mph in a 65 mph zone driving westbound on I-68. Upon contact with the driver, a strong odor of marijuana was reportedly detected, and a probable cause search was executed.

The search resulted in the confiscation of a plastic bag containing marijuana, along with three rolled marijuana cigarettes. Roman Marc Nelson, 31, and Christopher Edward Sinquinot, 30, both of Reston, and Joseph Farrell Miller, 30, Orange, Calif., were all charged with possession of marijuana.

Foreign Workers Becoming More Prevalent On The Mountaintop

by Glenn Tolbert

Foreign workers, who are currently playing a comparatively small role in the Garrett County employment scene, are predicted to become increasingly important to regional employers as the local unemployment rate hovers near 4 percent and the costs of production continue to spiral upwards.

Karen Myers, president of Recreational Industries Inc., the company that operates Wisp Resort in McHenry, says another reason to hire imported workers is, since seasonal work is not stable, it is difficult to find workers who can commit to jobs that depend on the season.

"We have encountered difficulties over the past few years in finding enough people to hire to complete the workforce necessary to operate the resort during the prime winter season," Myers said. "Our workforce grows from approximately 135 year-round, full-time benefited employees to over 600 people in the winter season."

Myers also said that absenteeism of some of the workers they are able to hire is another problem.

"We were forced to schedule 15 to 20 percent more employees per shift than we actually needed so that we could feel confident that we would have the required number report to work," she said.

Myers said this was not a problem with foreign workers hired at the Wisp because if they fail to show up on the job, "we simply notify the authorities, their visa is voided, and they must then return to their home country immediately," she said.

Currently working at the Wisp are 15 employees from Chile, 62 from Brazil, and 16 from Peru, according to Christopher A. Willis, director of human resources.

They are described as "students" on summer break and do not receive the full benefits that long-term, local workers do. They are reportedly paid "a starting wage" for their positions.

Positions being filled by these workers for the winter season, according to Willis, will include cashier, lift attendant, prep cook, line cook, housekeeper, ski instructor, facility support, ski check attendant, day care attendant, ticket scanner, mountain coaster attendant, dishwasher, and front-desk clerk.

At least one longtime observer of the local economic scene sees the area potentially becoming more dependent on imported labor.

Jim Hinebaugh, director of Garrett County Economic Development, considers it a complex issue.

"I think you'll find that the use of immigrant labor in Garrett County has been limited to date to large-scale construction projects that were very labor intensive, including the Wisp Resort golf course project, Lowe's Store construction, and the Thousand Acres golf course project, as well as at the Wisp Resort to perform seasonal work during the winter ski season.

"I expect you'll continue to see the use of immigrant labor for these purposes in the future," he added.

Hinebaugh said that Garrett County's population is projected to be flat or slightly declining over the immediate future, according to Maryland Department of Planning projections. At the same time, the county's full-time permanent population is aging.

"The county is at, or very near, full employment, with an average annual unemployment rate of about 4.5% over the past few years," he said. "Businesses are having a more difficult time filling positions.

"Admittedly, part of the problem is the quality (pay and benefits) of many of the available jobs. Given this situation, the issue becomes, how do you grow the county's economy when there are insufficient people to fill new jobs?"

Part of the answer, according to Hinebaugh, is that county officials must find ways to keep more of its young people from moving away in order to make a living. He said that one of the reasons the county commissioners implemented the Garrett County Scholarship Program was to improve educational attainment of county residents and develop the local skill base. Through this initiative, he says, the county hopes to encourage more of its young people to stay here rather than move away for better jobs.

"The second part of this challenge is to create better jobs to encourage people to stay in the county," he said.

Hinebaugh says it's likely that other local businesses will start giving consideration to selectively employing immigrant labor at some point in the future. He said that if businesses cannot get the labor needed to grow their business and remain competitive, they will likely consider relocating.

"Faced with this decision, I believe many businesses will look at all the alternatives," he said "If you look around at other jurisdictions, I think you'll see that this is a growing trend. I'm not sure how long it will be before Garrett County businesses have to make this decision, but it appears to be forthcoming."

While some local employers have found a lack of dependability of some members of the workforce to be a problem, two other local business owners have found this not to be the case with their operations.

"Garrett County workers are the best in the world," said Olin Beitzel, president of Beitzel Corporation, Bittinger, though he did admit that he has and is considering imported workers when he's strapped for the skilled workers his operation requires.

Gary Ruddell, president of Total Biz Fullfillment in Mtn. Lake Park, said he has no problems with local workers.

"I just make it clear that a poor showing in attendance means they no longer have a job, and that seems to work out well," he said.

Duane Yoder, president of Garrett County Community Action Committee (GCCAC), feels that he has a formula that would assist local businesses in keeping workers fulltime.

"Community Action has an interest in promoting the concept of having seasonal employers pay a premium wage to an employment agency that can consolidate part-time positions into full-time jobs, with employees working at different sites throughout the year, depending on the season.

"These employees would be paid full benefits, but would also be qualified and available when the need exists," he explained.

"I am not sure how else we can achieve the goal of having local persons fill the seasonal jobs in a county economy where the unemployment rate is so low.

"What the Wisp is doing is pretty much the same as what is happening in many other parts of the country," he added.

Key Word is "Excess"...

Among the most important decisions that will be made next Tuesday for Garrett County is the approval or rejection of the proposal for limited sales of alcoholic beverages on Sunday in the county. It is a sensitive, controversial issue for many residents.

For both opponents and proponents of the measure, there are at least three areas of consideration; three angles from which most are using to analyze the proposal – economics, safety, and religion.

According to many business owners, there is no question that the prohibition of the sale of any alcohol on Sunday has a negative effect on those businesses. Some weekend visitors apparently do leave the area earlier on Sundays, and those who live here and enjoy an alcoholic beverage with Sunday dinner are more apt to stay home. Some opponents of the measure claim that the business owners (sometimes referred to as "fat cats") are the only ones who lose money in this case, but of course that is not true. Wait staff make less in tips, and other employees are often sent home early. Lower income also stunts the growth of a business, including the potential for creating additional jobs. There is also a reduction in income that day for many of the other businesses that cater to tourists and residents, such as service stations.

In terms of safety, the approval of this proposal will likely have little or no negative effect, as the vast majority of Sunday diners at local eating establishments have no intention of drinking to excess. They simply want to enjoy an alcoholic beverage with their meal. Unfortunately, individuals who have a drinking problem will continue to drink on Sundays, regardless of whether or not alcohol is available for purchase that day since it is available the other six days of the week. This proposal will not allow "bulk sales" of alcohol, since grocery and package stores will still be prohibited from selling it on Sundays.

The word "excess" is key here. Some opponents take the stand that consumption of any alcohol is a bad thing, yet there are a number of health benefits to consuming a glass of wine. Aspirin is one of the greatest drugs ever discovered, when taken in proper dosage. But consumption of a whole bottle of aspirin is fatal, 100% of the time.

The angle evoking the most passion is the religious one, yet alcohol sales/use on Sunday really has no historic basis as a religious issue. For Christians, there is no scriptural prohibition against a glass of wine on any given day of the week, including Sundays. The Sabbath of the Bible is actually from sundown Friday to sundown Saturday. Wine has opened and closed the Jewish Sabbath for thousands of years, and wine has been a part of the Sunday gathering and Eucharistic meal ever since the house churches of early Christianity. Communion wine was and is the symbolic blood of Christ, designated and first distributed by Christ himself.

Yes, the Bible also teaches that drunkenness leads to foolish behavior, being taken advantage of, and even injury and death. But here again, the key word is "excess." The problem is not drinking, but drinking to excess.

With all of these angles being considered, a yes vote on the limited Sunday sale of alcoholic beverages in Garrett County is recommended.

To the Editor:

Next Tuesday's general election will include a referendum to authorize Sunday liquor sales in each election district under certain strictly controlled situations. Quoting from Chapter 655 (House Bill 276): "Sunday sales may begin, where permitted, at 1 p.m. and continue until 10 p.m. Sunday sales may be made only when the customer places an order of a meal simultaneously or prior to placing an order for an alcoholic beverage or the consumer is otherwise entitled to a meal on the premises as part of a prearranged event, such as a banquet, where the alcoholic beverage is served. Bar or counter sales may be made as long as the consumer complies with the requirement of this paragraph."

The referendum applies only to Class B (hotel and restaurant) and certain Class C (service clubs) license holders. The complete and official document may be viewed on the POA web site http://www.deepcreeklakepoa.com.

The Board of Directors of the Property Owners Association of Deep Creek Lake Inc. fully supports this referendum and encourages all Garrett County registered voters to vote for the referendum for the following reasons:

•Helps maintain the viability of local restaurants,

•Provides needed employment for our citizens,

•Reinforces the tourism industry which employees 18% of our workforce,

•Supports Garrett County's Economic Development Plan without requiring additional infrastructure cost,

•Makes for a desirable dining experience for residents and visitors,

•Encourages responsible sales and consumption.

Please go to the Board of Elections web site for complete information: http://-www.garrettcounty.org/-Elections/Elections.aspx.

Please remember to vote on November 4.

To the Editor:

There has been one comprehensive study done on the effects of selling alcohol 7 days a week. There was a 29% increase in traffic crashes on Sundays and a 42% increase in crash fatalities. In five years, 543 alcohol-related crashes and 42 alcohol deaths since the ban was lifted.

Clearly, laws help save lives. "By increasing the availability of alcohol on Sundays, you open the door to more opportunities for drinking and driving and the negative consequences that result as well as endangering public health." – Garner McMillan, Ph.D.

The reality is, most are irresponsible drinkers; Sunday will empower them another opportunity to get behind a vehicle, get the last drink in, head home, and kill an innocent victim walking enjoying the lake.

There seems to be a trend in the increase of DUI incidents already in Garrett County. Logically, I conclude an even greater increase by adding an additional day. Is it fair to permit a group of establishments to profit while the tax-payers foot the bill for the increase to cover the additional expenses incurred by selling alcohol on Sunday? Do our already overworked law enforcement officers need more work?

The referendum would increase alcohol consumption and sales by nine hours. Will this put more or fewer drunks on our roads? Our history and uniqueness is not worth compromising just because everyone else is doing it, is it? This is nothing more than outright deception.

Maybe you have heard or been told that this referendum is progress, and it will help our community by stimulating our local economy. Do the current establishments really think that nine more hours will make a huge impact on their bottom line? Progress is not selling more alcohol; progress is the development of our county.

Statistics prove an increase in alcohol accidents. Is that the family value we want to pass on to our children? Government has already stripped them of their future; do we want to strip them of their "now?"

This is not political rhetoric. Neither is it designed to impose God on you through morals and or values. Rather, the purpose of this letter is simply to appeal to your intelligence and common sense.

Vote against the referendum to bring Sunday sales to Garrett County. Aren't your children worth it?

To the Editor:

Hasn't anyone noticed that Maryland is poised to become the only state in the country to put gambling in a state park (our beloved Rocky Gap State Park)? I grew up in Maryland and proudly served the DNR as a Maryland State Park naturalist for over 10 years. I am astounded that a state that loves its state parks as much as Maryland would consider voting for such a proposal.

I have spent many wonderful days hiking, catfishing, camping, canoeing, and hunting around Lake Habeeb in Rocky Gap State Park. The 3,000-acre preserve that composes the park is certainly a Maryland treasure. I was reluctant many years ago to the concept of a lodge being built as an economic development initiative, since I had never seen a fiscally successful state park lodge in West Virginia, Kentucky, Ohio, or Tennessee state parks. We can't make a second mistake to try to fix another.

I currently reside in Delaware where I am employed as the chief park naturalist for Delaware state parks, so I can't vote on November 4 in Maryland. But I am praying that this measure fails. Slots are legal here in Delaware and personally, I don't oppose slots, but I am not willing to sacrifice Maryland's special places for slots revenue. What's next? Sandy Point going condo? I am sure that would raise revenue estimates. But as with gambling, it is not why we have state parks.

To the Editor:

This is just a response to the insensitive and uninformed letter sent in by Fred Sanders last week about Sunday alcohol sales. Allow me to take every point made into consideration.

Will any of the businesses close because they cannot sell alcohol on Sunday? They might not go out of business, but numerous restaurants around the county most definitely lose business and slow down on Sundays. Can't have wine with my meal? I'll have wine at home (that I bought Saturday).

Will an employee who works on Sundays be able to buy a new house or new car? Who is to say yes or no to this question? A meal with a bottle of good wine could cost a few hundred dollars, yielding a massive tip. A meal with soda would average $40-$50 dollars at best. On top of that, bartenders make great tips, usually. Not everyone can have a dream job and only work weekdays.

Will an employee be able to pay his rent because of Sunday sales? Redundant. See above.

Will real estate taxes be lowered because of Sunday sales? This question really does not have anything to do with the topic. I could just as easily say, "Will gas prices be pushed higher if we are allowed to buy alcohol on Sunday?"

Is it going to bring more visitors to Garrett County? I'd have to completely disagree and say yes*. Business conferences, seminars, and conventions have been lost to other areas where alcoholic beverages may be served on Sundays.*

And last, are Sunday sales going to benefit the majority of residents in Garrett County? This question comes with a hideous twist. Should we really implement a law that infringes on the rights of even a single citizen? Not everyone in Garrett County is Christian, and an even larger number have something they would rather do than go to church. This is their right to choose. Now are they too immature to choose to have a glass of wine with a meal?

I really think the "right" and "moral" thing to do would be to free the rights of Garrett County citizens. You don't have to go and drink on Sunday if you don't want to, but you shouldn't have to be oppressed either. Vote yes to Sunday sales!

To the Editor:

On June 11, I along with a lot of other veterans participated in a Flag Day ceremony at Wisp Resort. This program was well organized and included the correct way to retire worn out American flags. The only thing missing was Garrett County people. If it hadn't been for those participating, nobody would have been there. I think this was a disgrace.

The people of Garrett County will get another chance to show their support for our county veterans on Sunday, Nov. 9, at 1 p.m., when there will be a Veterans Day parade in downtown Oakland. There will also be a Veterans Day ceremony held Tuesday, Nov. 11, at 11 a.m. at Veterans Park on Third Street. If the weather is bad, the program will be held under the rotunda inside the courthouse.

I know it can be cold on Veterans Day, but Garrett County residents know how to dress to keep warm. If it's not too cold for an 80-year-old WWII veteran who was held as a prisoner of war, then it's not too cold for the public to come out and thank him and other veterans for giving you the right to attend the church of your choice, the freedom to go when and where you want, and most of all, the right to bear arms. We could be speaking German or Japanese if it weren't for these veterans.

Approximately seven years ago, I started the Veterans Day parade in Oakland, as one had not been held for over 40 years. This year may be the last again if the people don't come out and support it. Local groups can gather to complain about the way things are going in the world, but they don't have the time to come out and support the men and women who gave them that right. Go to a Muslim or communist country and do that, and they'll put you in jail.

Please, for the sake of our veterans – past, present, and future – come out on Nov. 11 and show your support.

In response to Karen Maxey's letter in the Cumberland Time-News on Monday, I'd like to say this:

As far as Mr. Brad Stewart not notifying people that "he has stolen their money," the Board of Morticians has forbidden him to say anything. That includes anything in his own defense. Isn't that a violation of his freedom of speech?

Brad Stewart has done nothing wrong! He has always been on the up and up and more than professional on the job. I know for a fact there has been money refunded by Stewart Funeral Home, including the $20,000 you spoke of. The vast majority of people who have money with Stewart Funeral Home, after speaking with Brad, have elected to leave their money where it is. They are behind Mr. Stewart 100% because they didn't want to go to any other funeral home in Oakland.

For your information Karen, The Republican does not print civil suit cases, and that is why there hasn't been any "backyard" coverage!

When faced with having to choose another funeral home, here's the solution, Garrett County: Call W.H. Fredlock in Piedmont, W.Va. He owns and operated his funeral home there, but has also been Brad Stewart's right hand man for over a year and a half. W.H. will come to your home to make arrangements. He will also make arrangements for the service to be held in your church or public building in the area. We do have a choice.

Sincerely,
Mike and Debbie

To the Editor:

This letter concerns the reckless way certain administrators are allowed to run Garrett College with no accountability or care.

If GC is going for student quantity and not quality, then it certainly has succeeded. Certain students' behavior, both on and off campus, is a great concern to many in the county, and no one wants to deal with it or they try to make it a race issue. Common courtesy is not a race issue, but a matter of respect that everyone is expected to give the students. However, the respect is not returned by some. That includes some of all races/cultures.

As a state college, alcohol is forbidden on all campus property. Yet this past summer there was a group that rented the dorms and was allowed to have all the alcohol they wanted. Because the administration does not want the college's name in the papers, there are many things that get swept under the rug. If the accreditation board would do an investigation, it would find more discrepancies.

To the GC board of directors, please allow the faculty and staff to once again be permitted to meet or speak with you. This would enable the board to hear the full story of what actually happens in the college, and not just the sugar-coated version. If there is nothing to hide, then why is there such secrecy about getting in touch with the board? Shouldn't the board want everyone's input?

Security personnel are treated more as a laughing matter than a serious part of the college. They have little to no authority, as rules and regulations get changed on a whim, and they have virtually no backing by the administration. Why is security under the same department whose most apparent function is to pamper the students instead of maintain order and insure that regulations are followed for student safety?

I'm not sure an investigation would do any good, for the simple reason that no one will talk. Those who do talk know that there will be a reason found to relieve them of their employment. There is a great deal of fear and concern among the college personnel because of the actions of the individuals who are at the heart of the problems.

Control at GC must be reestablished. These situations are hurting those who need the college the most – the students who have come for an education, and not the free ride or party.

Sincerely,
Jeff Eggleston

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter concerning all the rumors that are circulating in the community and also in the Cumberland Times-News. I am a sister-in-law to Brad Stewart.

It saddens my heart to hear and read the lies and rumors that are being spread about Brad and Patsy. These two people go above and beyond to help not only family members, but also community members. They are two of the most giving people in Garrett County.

The recent letter to the editor published in the Times-News concerning Brad and the funeral home was not only riddled with lies, but also contained very slanderous, misleading information.

If you have any questions about any accounts that you have at the funeral home, call Brad at 301-334-2166 or stop by to see him – other people have. The building is open and he will be happy to answer any of your questions!

I know there are a lot of local people who are standing behind Brad, Patsy, and the Stewart Funeral Home, and are faithfully praying for them. Remember, God is faithful. "Vengeance is mine, saith the Lord." When you have to resort to deceit and lies, expect to reap what you sow.

If Americans think they have it rough now, they need to be aware of recent scams coming through as "Global or International Sweepstakes" winners for any amount of money, from $1 to $3 million. But first you are asked to pay them a certain amount before your check can be delivered by UPS on a Saturday. (UPS doesn't even deliver on Saturdays!) Red flag! If you are sent a check, don't cash it or try to cash it. They get your bank account number from it.

These are non-citizens of the U.S. trying to scam good people. No matter how good it sounds, there is a scam behind it. If you look up Global/International Sweepstakes on the Internet, it will say scam.

I'm writing because I heard about a girl in our neighborhood who lost $8,000 because she was told she won a car. Guess what – no car! And she lost the money. Beware.

P.S. Cops say they can't trace these people, even when I tell them I have the name and address of the man to whom you are supposed to send the moneygram.

To the Editor:

Oakland's Our Town Theatre next week will feature Inherit the Wind, a Broadway play first produced in 1955. It dramatizes the Scopes Monkey Trial of 1925 and, ostensibly, engages the issue of how fundamentalist religion shackles knowledge. But it's really about prejudice in all of its many forms, and the dubious policies prejudice often unleashes. The play's title comes from Proverbs 11:29: "He that troubleth his own house shall inherit the wind, and the fool shall be servant to the wise of heart."

Garrett County is about to inherit the wind mess, with a number of carpet-bagging limited-liability wind companies threatening to transform how we literally see ourselves by placing hundreds of skyscraper-sized wind turbines on our ridgetops. By endorsing such outlandish development, the county's commissioners are troubling their own house, foolishly selling out its natural heritage for unsecured promises. Their justification is not just unwise; it is gibberish.

Wind is an impotent energy source, with power contrary to coordinated, responsive, precision performance. It is incompatible with demand, producing most when needed least; it provides no capacity value, the kind of enduring reliable performance we get from an automobile; and it is relentlessly volatile, destabilizing the grid in ways that increase a number of costs. Nowhere in the world has a coal plant closed because of wind projects. In fact, increased growth in demand continues to require more coal farms. Trading wind for nuclear, coal, natural gas, or hydro is akin to trading Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Ted Williams, and Sandy Koufax for a third-string high school first baseman who made the team because of his father's contributions to the alumni fund.

Yet, year after year, the commissioners repeat their conviction that wind technology will play an important role in replacing reliable fossil-fired plants. When challenged, they respond, "Well, we'll have to agree to disagree...."

The many residents who will be hammered by the wind boondoggle here, and the rest of us who will experience the dismantling of derage children.

Some of the current laws that the Humane Society operates under will be discussed at the meeting, as well as possible changes to those regulations. Yoder's group has suggested at least three items that it would like included in a new law. Those are as follows:

• The Humane Society must give pet or livestock owners a chance to correct problems before they seize the animals.

• All Humane Society members must educate themselves on animal health and behavior.

• Humane Society members should be required to pass drug tests so when they make a decision to seize an animal the public can be "confident that their judgment is not impaired."

Yoder's group has also discussed the idea of starting a winter food bank for animals. Owners who may have trouble feeding their livestock until spring would receive assistance.

A hotline may also be implemented. Owners whose animals are about to be seized by the Humane Society could call the hotline if they felt they were being treated unfairly.

"Our elected officials cannot make a judgment from hearsay," Yoder said. "That's why it's important for you to be at the meeting so they can hear it firsthand. It may be too late for your situation, but you can make a difference for someone in the future."

To the Editor:

It has been forecast that it may be a bad year for the Republican Party. A bi-weekly New Mexico newspaper's editorial staff already peered into their crystal ball and proclaimed to their readers that Senator Barrack Obama has already won the presidency. House Speaker Pelosi is setting into motion legislation that would raise the capital gains tax, and Senate Majority Leader Reid is counting on hitting the magical filibuster-proof number of 60.

Yet, all Marylanders have to do is to take a look at the General Assembly and the 2006 election to realize the mistake that the nation may soon be making. Many from western Maryland were upset with Annapolis. Some even let the infamous $30 "flush tax" stop them from voting for a man who not only kept his word and did not raise taxes, but who also took a structural deficit and turned it into a surplus.

At that time, the governor's charismatic opponent came from out of nowhere. He was personable and seemed like he had an uncanny ability to always have the right thing to say. He, too, campaigned on a change platform and promised to "provide leadership that works for Maryland." And work he sure did.

As a result of that work, Maryland fell to 48th place in a ranking of business-friendly states. Our working families now face a 6% sales tax. Other tax increases have been painful, and as a result of both the increased taxes and an economic downturn, Maryland may see a renewed round of tax increases on its horizon.

As the old saying goes, "Fool me once, shame on you... Fool me twice, shame on me." Senator McCain may not have been many people's first choice, nor for that matter their second. Yet, I believe he is the only choice as we move forward as a nation. Marylanders, above all, should know the consequences of empty rhetoric.

Sincerely,
Brandon Butler

To the Editor:

I think that most laws or rules were made with the best of intentions. Then, somewhere down the road, things change enough that the law needs revised or discarded. This seems to be the case with social services.

More and more, grandparents are raising their grandchildren, and it only makes sense that if the grandparents are the sole caregivers, they should have the right to make all decisions concerning the children as well as monetary compensation.

It is wrong to make a child return to a parent who has been abusive to the child. If someone had done harm to you, would you want to be forced to live with them? Of course you wouldn't.

Neither should a child be forced to go back to a home that will only continue to change who he or she will become. This child did not ask to be born. Life is fragile, and so is a child. A child needs love, encouragement, and positive influences. A child needs his or her grandparents.

I realize that not all grandparents are physically able to care for their grandchildren full time. My husband and I took in our only two grandchildren for nearly six months. At the end of that time, we needed a rest. They had never gotten hurt while they were in our care, and the kids loved being with us. Because we did not want them to get hurt, a foster family that we knew kept them for the night and then decided to care for them while my husband and I took a much needed break.

Once social services got involved, we weren't allowed to see them. We were investigated. We have no police records. We even had to get a doctor's approval. Even after all of this, we only get to see our only grandchildren two hours per week. Does this sound fair to you?

Anyone who is going to be a parent should be required to take some classes so things can start out on the right foot. (If nothing else, watch "Supernanny.") If an abusive parent wants to be with his or her offspring, then that parent should be more than willing to do whatever is best for the child, which is also best for the parent, so there can be a happy, peaceful family.

If you really want the laws to change, write to your senators, congressmen, and the governor.

Susan Athey-Oxford

To the Editor:

As the founder and executive director of the Garrett County Humane Society Inc., I was appalled that someone would approach the commissioners complaining of unjust actions. We have state animal laws that give us the right to charge people with animal cruelty when warranted. And also the right for the health of the animal to take the animal and not be held liable for that entry. We seldom need to do the above because most people usually take very good care of their animals.

It is so heartbreaking to see animals tied by the neck 24/7, some with no shelter, food, water, or veterinarian care, as the law requires. I have seen dogs with chains grown into their necks and with maggots. One dog was in such agony that it needed tranquilized before it could even be taken care of.

Some of the people at the commissioners' meeting who are against the Humane Society are ones who have grudges because they have been charged with animal cruelty. Now I am asking the person who organized the meeting to have these persons who feel they have been unjustly treated to face me with their accusations. My number is 301-746-5725. I will be waiting to hear from you.

To the Editor:

My letter is concerning the so-called judicial system in Garrett County.

Those who are meant to uphold the law and help with community and well being of the children totally messed up the life of an innocent little 4-year-old child. His father, (not only in my opinion, but in many others') was unfairly judged in a case heard on Monday, Oct. 20, in the district court.

He got behind in child support, but was currently working. On Monday he left work early to appear in court. Even after all this, the judge still gave him six months and supervised probation. Because of that ruling, he lost his job and is unable to find another job (because who really wants to hire someone on work release). So now he will fall six months more behind!

My question is, what is the purpose of putting him in jail for failure to pay child support, just to make him lose his job and fall that much more behind? What about the rapists and murderers who only get that? Where is the justice?

Now I have to explain to his son where his Daddy is! He asks me all the time why his daddy went to jail, he's not a bad guy. Try explaining that one! His world has been turned upside down and I have no one to blame other than the court system and one woman. (You know who you are!) Maybe the judge should reconsider the sentence if not for anything else but the little boy, whose life he destroyed!

Sincerely,
Deanna Slaubaugh

To the Editor:

We would like to address this letter to parents or anyone who cares about the health of youth.

There is a phenomenon sweeping the country that is ravaging the health of our youth. They are in pain and simply do not know how to deal with it. In an attempt to do so, they turn to drugs, alcohol, sex/porn, self-injury, and even suicide. As a result we have more juveniles in trouble.

Our youth hurt for a variety of reasons., ranging from parents' separation/divorce to abuse. Our kids are under more stress than we were at their age. This may come as a surprise to most adults, but rest assured, it is true. They are under pressure to excel in school and in life. Most kids live in a home where both parents work, or perhaps one or no parent works. They struggle with addictions. They struggle with a lack of identity, with peer pressure, and with right and wrong. They struggle to please their parents and each other. The list goes on.

Yet in the midst of their pain, there is often no one to turn to, and if there is they fear they will be misjudged, not be understood, or simply dismissed.

Our kids are being pummeled daily with mixed messages that seek to strip away everything they think they know about themselves. It is done by way of the media, the Internet, and music.

As of this past Monday, Oak Park Church of the Brethren is offering a way for youth to deal with issues that are causing them pain. It is a program called Life Hurts, God Heals (LHGH), designed specifically for youth ages 12-22. LHGH is a 13-week, eight-step recovery program that deals with addictions and pain. It is based on the "Celebrate Recovery" Program for adults.

Persons desiring more information are invited to visit the web site LifeHurtsGodHeals.com or call the church office at 301-334-2243. You may also preregister your child when you call.

Thank you,
Ed and Yvette Nutter

To the Editor:

Nowhere in Mr. Maisano's response last week to Jon Boone's letter did it appear that he was actually denying the specific points that Mr. Boone was making in his comments on some of the history, current activities, and future impacts of the wind energy industry in Garrett County.

However, he did a good job hitting the usual talking points that are promulgated by the wind industry. I've heard them all before, directly from the source. The only new talking point was his assertion that we should jump on the wind bandwagon because everyone else is – something akin to the logic behind buying swampland in Florida.

I also note that Mr. Boone has based his comments on research that he has conducted on his own time, out of concern for the county, while Mr. Maisano apparently draws a paycheck from the wind energy industry, which lends more credence to Mr. Boone's statements.

Anyway, I would like to comment on a few of Mr. Maisano's claims:

1. The commissioners' activities, at least in my situation, do not represent "good judgment, careful concern, and respect for property rights." Otherwise, I wouldn't be faced with the prospect of a 476-foot turbine only 1,185 feet away from my house. Allowing such industrial activity so close to a residence does not express either good judgment or careful concern. Ok, maybe they're showing some respect for property rights, at least for my neighbor's property, but I'd have to say not so much for me.

2. As to their creating a framework for tough planning decisions, they probably are, but it's not a framework they should be proud of. Their framework is sacrificing the beauty of the county, which is the primary draw for tourism in the county, for the questionable (at best) benefits of wind energy.

3. As to the statement that "all projects must go through rigorous local and state reviews and be subject to public meetings," this is belied by the fact that when those reviews originally denied Synergics the permit they needed to build a wind plant at Roth Rock on Backbone Mountain, they used political contacts in Annapolis to get the rules changed. So now the state review isn't so much of a review as a rubberstamp.

4. As to Maryland being left behind in wind energy development, I think that is a good thing for Garrett County. In the race for more and more wind plant development, the "winner" loses in the long run.

To the Editor:

I am responding to the letter about the grandchildren in foster care. Social services should put the children with the grandparents because the children need the love of their grandparents.

No, it's not fair for them to only see their grandchildren for a little while. I know how you feel. My husband and I are going through the same thing with our grandchildren, and yes, we also have a clean record.

Social services is always trying to help parents get their children back, but who's to say which parent might hurt the children? It wouldn't matter which parent they put the children with. They could still be abused or worse.

Grandparents should not have to be supervised. It doesn't matter which parent does the abusing. If the parents can't get the children back, then they don't want the grandparents to have them either. They need to put the children with the grandparents.

Social services should be helping these grandparents, not the parents. Some of the people there are not grandparents yet, so they don't know how it feels to not be with the children. Social services is more or less punishing the grandparents instead of the parents, which is not right.

The grandparents play a big role in their grandchildren's lives. Some of them play a bigger part than the parents. Don't punish the children. Let them see and be with their grandparents.

To the Editor:

I am writing in regard to a letter in last week's paper (from Mr. Sanders). I was angered by the writer's lack of credible information. I would think, because of the state of our country's financial situation, any opportunity for added income is a blessing.

As a member of the service industry in Garrett County, I am one of the first groups of people greatly affected by our economy. We need to view Sunday alcohol sales as an opportunity for this county. The added income generated by Sunday sales will help owners and employees pay their rent, car payment, mortgage, etc., and keep visitors in our area spending money.

Will it benefit the majority of the residents in Garrett County? Absolutely! You can not financially affect one without eventually affecting all.

Elections Web Site Crashes Upon Arrival Of Absentee Ballot Deadline

by Allyson Dickman
Capital News Service

WASHINGTON - The Maryland State Board of Elections' Web site crashed Tuesday evening, the night applications for absentee ballots were due and just six days before the Nov. 4 election.

When visitors tried to access the site, an error message popped up saying there was a server error. Deputy Administrator Ross Goldstein estimated the site was down for about two hours. A state archives technician confirmed his estimate.

When Capital News Service called at approximately 5:45 p.m., the office was closed and employees had no idea the site was down. It was still down an hour later. The webmaster had already left for the day.

"No one knew here," said Thomas Queen, a member of the information technology staff. "We've never had it go down before, as far as I've ever known."

The crash was caused by a hardware problem and is the first major problem since the board acquired the site, Goldstein said. The Web site is hosted at the state archives, where information technology workers switched the site to an alternate server Tuesday night.

The evening the site went down was the deadline for absentee voters to submit an application for a ballot. While the site was down, absentee voters were unable to get the application, which had to be submitted in person by 4:30 p.m., or by fax by midnight.

"They could be faxed in before midnight," Goldstein said. "So there was still time after (the site went down) to fax it in. So I think there was minimal disruption. The issue will be resolved."

Most of the local boards of elections' Web sites also had the application available, said Goldstein. The board received no complaints from the public while the system was down, he added.

The hardware problem is still being worked out and a Dell computer technician was called to fix the kinks. Until then, the Web site has been switched over to the board's backup server.

"It had nothing to do with the number of hits," said Goldstein, who emphasized the site will not have a problem if many people are on all at once.

Throughout this election cycle, Maryland State Board of Elections has had a robust number of visitors on its Web site.

"Bad timing," said Kevin Zeese executive director of TrueVoteMD, a grass-roots organization dedicated to voting integrity. "It's a shame the Board of Elections can't extend the deadline of the application by even one day."

The Board of Elections provides substantial election information for voters who rely on the Internet, said Ryan O'Donnell of the government reform organization, Common Cause Maryland.

"This is one of the risks," he said. "This crash, poll book crashes, Web site crashes, it comes with the territory."

Problems with election technology, from Web site failures to electronic ballots, may cause voters to become disenchanted with the vot-

Children Among Most Innocent Victims Of Domestic Violence

by Debbie Holler
Dove Center Staff

When people talk about domestic violence, they have many different opinions. Some say, "If she is really being abused, why does she stay with him?" Others say, "She must like it or she would leave." Other people recognize that battered women feel trapped in a horrific situation. They stay in abusive relationships for many complex reasons, including intense fear and financial dependency.

When people talk about domestic violence, they often forget the most helpless victims: the children. Children living in a violent home have little control over their lives. They cannot change their situation, yet they suffer the consequences of it. These children experience many negative effects as a result. Many are victims of abuse, including physical, emotional, and sexual abuse. Even those children who are not direct victims of abuse are harmed by living with violence in their homes.

The lives of these children are often chaotic. They do not know what mood Dad will be in each night. They cannot predict which night Mom will be beaten by Dad. They may have to flee their homes in the middle of the night for their safety. Even on "good nights" when no one gets hurt, the tension is still very much present and felt by the children. All the while, these children are growing and developing, both their bodies and minds. Experiencing domestic violence in the home hampers the emotional, social, and intellectual development of a child. The lack of safety and security keeps these children from fully focusing on learning what they need to know to become happy, healthy adults. Instead, they focus on day-to-day survival for themselves and their families.

A child from a violent home has a greater chance of being in an abusive relationship as an adult than a child from a non-violent home. As Dorothy Law-Nolte said, "Children learn what they live." Boys often grow up to be abusers and girls often grow up to be victims. They continue the generational cycle of domestic violence.

Counseling children from violent homes is one way to help break this cycle. In counseling, children learn how to express feelings in a healthy way. They learn that abuse is not acceptable behavior and that everyone deserves to feel safe in their own homes. They work on increasing their self-esteem and assertiveness, and learn healthy coping skills.

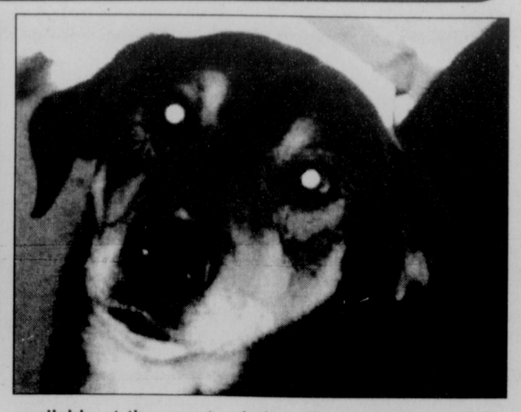
The Dove Center offers confidential counseling for children from violent homes and child victims of abuse. This service is free of charge. Counseling may be arranged at the Dove Center office between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Another convenient option is the Dove Center School Outreach program. If the parent works during the day or transportation is a problem, the school outreach counselor can see the child at his/her school during the school day. It could not be simpler to get a child the counseling he/she needs. All that is required is a call to the Dove Center at 301-334-6255 to schedule an intake appointment. Then, during the appointment, the counselor collects necessary information about the child and the situation. A school release form is signed by the parent. This gives the counselor permission to see the child at school. This process can also be initiated through the child's guidance counselor at school. The child can then receive counseling services on a weekly basis for the remainder of the school year.

If you are in an abusive relationship, please call the Dove Center for help — for yourself and your children. Together we can put an end to domestic violence by helping one child at a time.

Editor's note: This column appears in recognition of November as National Domestic Violence Awareness Month.

Adorable Adoptables



THIS YOUNG "HEINZ 57" (pictured at left) is available for adoption at the Garrett County Animal Shelter. He was picked up as a stray near the West Virginia line and has not been reclaimed. Also looking for homes are two very playful, soft gray/peach cats (one of which is pictured). "It would be great if they were adopted together so they could play while you are at work," said a Humane Society spokesperson about the felines. "Last week's hound/shepherd mix (pictured at right) is still here. He wants to be adopted so badly he wags his tail as hard as he can when he sees someone." These and other dogs and cats are available at the county shelter. New animals come in weekly, and many are never reclaimed. "Please check on petfinder.com for adoptable animals in the tri-state area and save a life," said the spokesperson. "With the cold weather upon us, now is the time to prepare adequate shelter for all your outdoor animals. We have some hay for free for use in dog houses. Please only take what you need. One-fourth of a bale is plenty for one doghouse. Call ahead to check availability." For more information, persons may call the shelter at 301-334-3553. Located along Oakland Sang Run Road, the facility is open Monday through Friday.

I hope to provide leadership, vision and advocacy so that all students have educational opportunities to meet their potential and achieve competency. The economic times are going to require prioritizing the needs of the students and then efficiently using the funds available to implement programs that meet those needs. We must be sure that every student is receiving the information they need to be successful on the Maryland High School Assessments so they can graduate.

United States House of Representatives

THE OFFICE:

SALARY: $169,300 annual base

TERM: Two years, no term limit

HOW ELECTED: The United States is divided into 435 Congressional districts that are reapportioned after each decennial census. Following the 2000 census, reapportionment resulted in Montgomery County having parts of three Congressional districts located in its boundaries. All seats in the House of Representatives are up for election in every even-numbered year.

DUTIES: Representatives share responsibility with Senators for enactment of the nation's laws as provided for in the U.S. Constitution.

THE ISSUES:

BACKGROUND: What are your qualifications for this office?

IMMIGRATION: What changes, if any, do you support in regard to immigration policy?

CLIMATE CHANGE: Describe Federal legislation you would support to address global climate changes.

ECONOMY: Identify a major challenge to the U.S. economy and how Congress should address it.

EDUCATION: What are your views on the No Child Left Behind legislation?

HEALTH CARE: What plans need to be put into place to meet the country's health care needs?

SIXTH DISTRICT

JENNIFER P. DOUGHERTY PARTY: Democratic
WEB SITE: www.jennifer08.com

BACKGROUND: As a small business owner for more than 21 years and a former Mayor of Frederick, I have experience setting priorities and balancing a government budget. I am the only person in the race who has balanced a government budget, created jobs and managed government contracts.

IMMIGRATION: I support legal immigration and will work to make federal law clear, enforceable and effective. I support improving electronic employment verification, raising penalties on employers who violate the law and create a method for immigrant to pay for immigration processing through a payroll deduction.

CLIMATE CHANGE: I support raising vehicle efficiency standards, adopting a cap & trade system for emissions and investing in pilot programs to encourage conversion to sustainable energy sources. I propose a biofuels refinery in central/western Maryland that will advance the best technology, create jobs and offer an All-American Alternative.

ECONOMY: The government budgeting process is one of the biggest problems. I support requiring new budgeting restrictions that encourage meeting the mission, controlling costs and rewarding creativity. Reckless spending, growing deficits and crushing debt is hurting our ability to invest in actual services.

EDUCATION: I support reforming No Child Left Behind by funding all federal requirements, reducing classroom size, hiring new teachers, addressing pay equity for teaching professionals, and funding Head Start.

HEALTH CARE: I support health care for all within 5 years. I support expansion of State Children's Health Insurance, allowing early retirees (over 55) to buy into Medicare coverage, allowing young people (18-24) to remain on family coverage. I support consumer choice — stay in current plan or buy into federal plan.

NATIONAL SECURITY: The endless War in Iraq has depleted the resources and strength of our military. First, support a plan for a responsible withdrawal from Iraq; guarantee the people in uniform have adequate pay, benefits, supplies, invest in restoring equipment for military; invest in adequate rehab facilities and treatment for veterans.

ROSCOE BARTLETT
PARTY: Republican
WEB SITE: www.bartlettforcongress.org/

BACKGROUND: I have been elected eight times to represent the Sixth District of Maryland in the U.S. Congress. Conservative, taxpayer advocacy and business organizations confirm that I have consistently voted for less taxes, less spending, less regulations, and to protect life and Americans' Constitutional rights.

IMMIGRATION: Our immigration system is broken. I have voted against amnesty for illegal aliens. My priorities are to secure America's borders, enforce laws against illegal immigration, prosecute those who violate laws and facilitate illegal immigration, establish English as our official language and improve resources for employers to find legal employees.

CLIMATE CHANGE: To counter mounting evidence that burning fossil fuels may contribute significantly to global warming and that world oil production may be unable to keep up with growing demand, I support energy efficiency, conservation and research and development to transition from dependence on finite fossil fuels to renewable sources of energy.

ECONOMY and NATIONAL SECURITY: Our increasing dependence upon imports for 2/3 of the oil we use is making Americans poorer. Our transportation is 95% dependent upon oil endangering both our economy and national security. We are transferring $600-700 billion per year, more than we spend on defense, to oil producing countries such as Saudi Arabia, Nigeria and Venezuela. As cofounder and cochairman of the bipartisan Congressional Peak Oil Caucus and Defense Energy Working Group, I am recognized as a leader in Congress promoting energy efficiency, conservation and research and development to transition transportation to electricity generated by alternative and renewable sources of energy.

EDUCATION: I voted against No Child Left Behind because I oppose decreasing local control of education by parents, teachers and administrators in the Sixth District. They know better than any bureaucrats in Annapolis or Washington, DC what aid will assist our youth to acquire the skills they need to compete globally.

HEALTH CARE: We have a sick care system, not a health care system. I support changes to increase and reward healthy lifestyle choices by individuals, increase competition by insurers and health care providers and limit malpractice awards unrelated to medical expenses to help reduce health care costs.

GARY W. HOOVER, SR.
PARTY: Libertarian
WEB SITE: www.hoover4congress08.com

BACKGROUND: I have been in the automobile business for the past 16 years. During this time, I have had to negotiate everyday. I believe that we need people in the congress that are willing to negotiate with others to get the peoples business done.

IMMIGRATION: I support greater enforcement of the current immigration laws, not just at the boarder but also at the factories and business that are hiring people that are not permitted to work in our country. There needs to be a total reform of Immigration policy but no amnesty.

CLIMATE CHANGE: We need to completely rethink our energy policy, along with our environmental policy.

ECONOMY: 9.5 trillion dollar debt that Congress has strapped the future generation with. Stop spending money we do not have, any new spending has to be matched with cuts elsewhere. Balance budget amendment with emergency provision in case of war or major catastrophe. In addition, cut in programs.

EDUCATION: Failure !! Need to abolish the Department of Education and return schooling to the states, local school boards, and the parents. After watching how those in congress run this country why in the world we want them to educate our children.

HEALTH CARE: Complex problem, but I would start with opening up the health care program that is now enjoyed by members of congress and other federal employees. This would make health care much more affordable to many people. Then look at how we can help the private sector cover those without insurance.

NATIONAL SECURITY: We need to rethink our aggressive attitudes towards the world. Deploy troops only in case of direct attack, withdraw from outdated alliances. Regain the respect of the world.

Candidates For President of the United States

In August 2008, the League of Women Voters of the United States/Education Fund (LWVUS/EF) sent questionnaires to all candidates who met the following criteria:

1) The candidate must have made a public announcement of her/his intention to run for president;

2) The candidate must qualify for the ballot in enough states to win a majority of electoral votes; and,

3) The candidate must meet the Presidential Election Campaign Fund Act's minimum contribution threshold requirements for qualifying for matching funds, based on the most recent data publicly available on the FEC website as of August 8, 2008.

The Maryland ballot will have additional candidates who did not meet the LWVUS/EF criteria and did not receive questionnaires. Their names and websites, when available, are included in this guide. Names of Write-in candidates for President who filed by September 12, 2008 appear in this Voters' Guide. No write-in candidates will appear on the ballot but a list will be available at each polling place.

JOHN McCAIN REPUBLICAN
WEB SITE: johnmccain.com

BIOGRAPHY: John McCain graduated from the Naval Academy and served for 22 years as a naval aviator. He was elected to the House of Representatives in 1982 and the Senate in 1986. He has served as chairman of the Commerce Committee and ranking member of the Armed Services Committee.

GLOBAL CLIMATE CHANGE: What, if anything, do you believe the federal government should do to control global climate change?

I support developing a cap-and-trade system to reduce greenhouse gas emissions 60% by 2050, providing tax credits for alternative energy, promoting zero-carbon nuclear power, reducing the federal government's carbon footprint, funding research into clean-coal technology, and offering incentives for America's automobile industry to develop electric cars.

COST OF HEALTH CARE: What should be done at the federal level, if anything, to combat the high cost of health care?

Under my plan, American families will receive $5,000 tax credits to purchase insurance, either through employers or the private market—insurance that can follow them if they change jobs or leave the workforce. I will work for reforms to lower costs and provide coverage to Americans with pre-existing conditions.

ECONOMIC DISPARITY: What, if anything, should the federal government do about the growing economic disparity between the middle class and the well-to-do?

We must spur growth, create jobs, improve educational attainment, and enhance financial security. My plan will keep income and payroll taxes low, reduce the price of gas, double the dependent exemption, bring down health-care costs, give deserving homeowners new fixed mortgages, slash our high business taxes, and expand trade.

EDUCATION: What, if anything, should the federal government do to create the world's best educational system for all children in America?

Our education system must focus on standards, accountability, and choice. My plan calls for recruiting highly qualified teachers in the neediest communities, empowering parents to choose the best schools for their children, expanding online educational opportunities, providing low-income families with access to tutors, and funding professional development for teachers.

U.S. STRATEGY — RISING GLOBAL POWERS: What should the U.S. strategy be towards rising global powers like Russia and China?

As President, I will work to establish good relations with other nations. At the same time, I will stand up for democratic values and human rights, and I will oppose aggression and international lawlessness that threaten our security.

BARACK OBAMA DEMOCRAT
WEB SITE: barackobama.com

BIOGRAPHY: Obama began his career as a community organizer on Chicago's South Side and headed a voter registration drive. Obama practiced civil rights law and taught constitutional law. He served eight years in the State Senate before his election to the U.S. Senate. He graduated from Columbia University and Harvard Law.

GLOBAL CLIMATE CHANGE: What, if anything, do you believe the federal government should do to control global climate change?

I believe the federal government should pursue multiple paths to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and address the threat of global climate change, including implementing aggressive cap and trade requirements to reduce U.S. emissions by 80% from 1990 levels and investing heavily in clean energy and advanced vehicle technologies.

COST OF HEALTH CARE: What should be done at the federal level, if anything, to combat the high cost of health care?

My healthcare plan will make aggressive investments in cost-cutting technologies and will place more focus on prevention and chronic care management. The net result will be to bring down the costs of healthcare spending by $2,500 for a typical family, annually, and lower the expense of Medicare's services.

ECONOMIC DISPARITY: What, if anything, should the federal government do about the growing economic disparity between the middle class and the well-to-do?

I will cut taxes for the middle class and roll back some of the Bush tax cuts for those making over $250,000 to restore fairness to the tax code. I will make long term public investments in R&D, clean energy, infrastructure, and manufacturing to create millions of good-paying jobs.

EDUCATION: What, if anything, should the federal government do to create the world's best educational system for all children in America?

I will strengthen public schools by expanding early childhood education, reforming and funding No Child Left Behind, recruiting and rewarding high-quality teachers, and expanding afterschool and summer learning opportunities. I will create a $4,000 American Opportunity Tax Credit and expand financial aid to make higher education affordable for all.

U.S. STRATEGY — RISING GLOBAL POWERS: What should the US. strategy be towards rising global powers like Russia and China?

We must enhance our abilities both to collaborate and compete with China, while being vigilant about China's military modernization and respect for human rights. As we seek a future of clear-eyed engagement with Russia, we must ensure Russia acts as a force for progress, not regression to past conflicts.

WEB SITE: votenader.org

BIOGRAPHY: Attorney, author, and consumer advocate, named by Time Magazine one of the "100 Most Influential Americans in the 20th Century." Over 4 decades of public service. Helped establish the OSHA, EPA, Consumer Product Safety Commission, the Safe Drinking Water Act, Motor Vehicle Safety Act, and Freedom of Information Act.

GLOBAL CLIMATE CHANGE: What, if anything, do you believe the federal government should do to control global climate change?

The government should stop subsidizing fossil fuels: oil, electric and coal mining interesis. Invest in renewable energy that is efficient, sustainable, and environmentally friendly: wind and solar power. Encourage more efficient automobiles, homes and businesses. Ratify the Kyoto Protocol. Create an independent Oceanic Protection Agency. Adopt a carbon pollution tax.

COST OF HEALTH CARE: What should be done at the federal level, if anything, to combat the high cost of health care?

Adopt a private delivery, free choice of hospital and doctor, single payer public health insurance system. This would save $350 billion annually by eliminating exorbitant executive pay, advertising, computerized billing fraud and abuse, and apply those savings to comprehensively cover everyone without increasing taxpayer costs. Lower costs through bulk purchasing.

ECONOMIC DISPARITY: What, if anything, should the federal government do about the growing economic disparity between the middle class and the well-to-do?

Unfair legislation allows the middle class to suffer while the rich entrench their status. To correct this we should enact a living $10 wage, adopt a fair tax, and provide equal pay for women. We must end corporate subsidies and bailouts. Repeal NAFTA and the anti-union Taft/Hartley Law.

EDUCATION: What, if anything, should the federal government do to create the world's best educational system for all children in America?

Increase civic education and decrease standardized testing. Repeal "No Child Left Behind" Act. Do not tie test performance to school funding. Provide full funding for pre-school and nutrition programs. Get product marketing out of the schools. Ensure that the nation's crumbling schools are repaired within 3 years.

U.S. STRATEGY — RISING GLOBAL POWERS: What should the US. strategy be towards rising global powers like Russia and China?

The US should be a humanitarian superpower. Our foreign policy must redefine global security, peace, arms control, an end to nuclear weapons and expand the many assets of our country to assist with major initiatives against global infectious diseases. Stop support of foreign dictators. Human rights come before trade, profit.

PROPOSED MARYLAND CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

Voters will be asked to mark their ballots "For" or "Against" two amendments to the Maryland Constitution.

Question 1— Constitutional Amendment
Early Voting; Polling Places; Absentee Ballots

Authorizes the General Assembly to enact legislation to allow qualified voters to vote at polling places inside or outside of their election districts or wards and to vote up to two weeks before an election. This amendment also authorizes the General Assembly to enact legislation to allow absentee voting by qualified voters who choose to vote by absentee ballot, in addition to voters who are absent at the time of the election or who are unable to vote personally.

(Amends Article I, §§ 1 and 3 of the Maryland Constitution)

Origin of this Ballot Question: Legislation that would allow early voting and "no-excuse" absentee voting was passed by the General Assembly in 2006, but a court decision found the legislation to be in conflict with the Maryland Constitution. Therefore, in the 2007 session, the General Assembly passed SB 1, Elective Franchise, Early Voting and Polling Places, which amends the Maryland Constitution to allow the General Assembly to pass legislation that will establish early voting sites and allow voters to vote by absentee ballot without having to give a reason. All Constitutional Amendments must be passed by a majority of voters statewide.

Present Practice: Article I, Section 1, of the Maryland Constitution states that a voter "shall be entitled to vote in the ward or election district in which he resides." As currently interpreted, this means that a voter cannot vote at an early voting location outside the voter's election district and that a provisional ballot cast by a voter outside his or her election district cannot be counted. Article XV, Section 7, of the Maryland Constitution designates the "Tuesday after the first Monday of November" as the date of the general election. This has been interpreted by the Court of Appeals to mean that early voting is not permissible.

Absentee ballots are only for use by voters who are absent at the time of an election or who are unable to vote in person at the assigned voting precinct. The absentee ballot application requires a voter to affirm this fact.

Proposed Change: If the amendment passes, the General Assembly may enact laws to establish early voting sites. Early voting would allow registered voters to vote, in person, up to two weeks before a statewide primary or general election at polling places outside of their normal district or precinct. Early voting sites can accommodate voters from multiple precincts or even from the entire state. However, passing this amendment only allows the General Assembly to establish an early voting process. The details of how many early voting sites will be established and how the locations for them will be determined will come in future legislation.

Passage of this amendment will also allow the General Assembly to pass legislation that enables any qualified voter to vote by absentee ballot if he/she chooses to do so. The enabling legislation could remove the requirement to sign a statement telling why the voter wants to vote by absentee ballot.

Question 2— Constitutional Amendment
Authorizing Video Lottery Terminals (Slot Machines) to Fund Education

Authorizes the State to issue up to five video lottery licenses for the purpose of raising revenue for education of children in public schools, prekindergarten through grade 12, public school construction and improvements, and construction of capital projects at community colleges and higher education institutions. No more than a total number of 15,000 video lottery terminals may be authorized in the State, and only one license may be issued for each specified location in Anne Arundel, Cecil, Worcester, and Allegany counties, and Baltimore City. Any additional forms or expansion of commercial gaming in Maryland is prohibited, unless approved by a voter referendum.

(Enacts new Article XIX of the Maryland Constitution)

Origin of this Ballot Question: For several years, efforts to enact legislation that would authorize Video Lottery Terminals (slot machines) as a way to raise revenue for state expenditures failed in the legislature. The governor proposed, and legislators agreed, that the decision of whether to significantly expand gambling in Maryland should be decided by the voters. The Maryland Constitution allows only two ways for citizens to vote on laws. The first is to gather enough signatures on a petition to place a law that has been passed by the General Assembly on the ballot for voter approval. The second is to place a constitutional amendment, approved by three-fifths of the legislators, before the voters in a General Election. In the 2007 Special Session, the Maryland General Assembly passed HB 4, which would add a new article to the Maryland Constitution to authorize video lottery terminal gaming (slot machines) in Maryland. A majority of voters, statewide, must vote in favor of the amendment for it to go into effect.

Present Practice: Currently, the annotated code of Maryland prohibits video lottery terminal (slot machine) gambling except certain fraternal, religious, or war veterans' organizations in a few counties may operate no more than five individual slot machines, and the revenue from them must be used for the charitable purposes of those organizations. Public education is currently funded through Maryland's General Fund. State funding for primary and secondary education is about $5.35 billon for this fiscal year. The three main sources of revenue for the General Fund are income tax, retail sales tax and the State Lottery. School construction may be funded by the General Fund but is primarily funded by borrowing through the issuance of State bonds.

Proposed Change: If the amendment passes, Maryland may operate up to 15,000 video lottery terminals in five locations: Baltimore City and Anne Arundel, Allegany, Cecil, and Worcester counties. No more than one gambling facility would be allowed in each of the authorized jurisdictions. Another bill related to gambling, SB 3, was also passed during the 2007 Special Session. It will go into effect contingent on the passage of this constitutional amendment. As defined by SB 3, 33% of proceeds from video terminal gambling would go to the licensed operators, 9.5% to the horse racing industry, and approximately 48.5% to education. The remainder would be used for lottery expenses, local impact grants and administrative

Southern, Northern Marching Bands Head To Chapters

Both the Northern and Southern Garrett marching bands will travel to North Hagerstown High School this weekend to compete in the Region 13 Chapter Championships, a culminating band competition for the 2008 season. Both bands have fared well in the past several competitions, with their scores moving up at each event.

Both bands compete in the Tournament of Bands (TOB) circuit, and are ranked along with about 50 other Group I (marching 30 or fewer members) bands. Southern is currently ranked at 32 and Northern is at 35. To compete in the Atlantic Coast Championships, slated for Nov. 13 in Allentown, Pa., a Group I band must be in the top 25 or must win its chapter championship, which is what both Garrett bands will be striving to accomplish this weekend in Hagerstown.

Northern is under the direction of Duane Salisbury. The band's music this year is that of Chicago, the Broadway musical.

The group's scoring record over the past three competitions is as follows: Oct. 11, Western Maryland Tournament of Bands at Southern, 72.55 (there were no other Group I bands at that show); Oct. 18, Connellsville (Pa.) High School, 75.60, second place out of two; and Oct. 25, Musselman High School, Bunker Hill, W.Va., 76.05, placing third in a group of four.

Southern Garrett Marching Band is under the direction of Joshua Elmlinger. The band's theme this year is "Fire," with music by Stravinsky.

Southern's scoring record over the past several weeks is as follows:

Performing in exhibition at its own show, the Western Maryland Tournament of Bands, Southern earned a score of 75.95; Oct. 18, Northeast High School in Pasadena, 77.45, third place out of four bands; and Oct. 25, Musselman High School at Bunker Hill, W.Va., 78.35, second place out of four bands. Southern won the award for Best Percussion at Bunker Hill as well.

A report on the results of the chapter contest will be published next week.

Mtn. Maryland Artists' Studio Tours Scheduled

Residents may visit local artists and watch them create in their studios during the Mountain Maryland Artists' Studio Tours, slated over two weekends: Nov. 1 and 2, and 8 and 9. Guests may visit the participating studios from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on those days.

During these studio tours, which are being sponsored by the Allegany Arts Council, visitors can learn about various artistic techniques, including fusing glass, woodworking, and weaving.

The participating artists in Garrett County are Julie Turrentine (fused glass), Caroline Blizzard (nature photography), Liz Hackney (watercolor artist), Alan Arnson (woodworking), Sue Arnson (watercolors, monotypes and collages), Ann Jones (weaving), and Kenny Braitman (metal sculpture). Artists are also participating in Allegany County and West Virginia, numbering 35 in all.

The tour was established in 1999. Held annually, the event has attracted thousands of art lovers to western Maryland, a spokesperson said.

For more information on the tours, persons may go to www.visitdeepcreek.com or www.mdmountainside.com.

Garrett Coll. Club To Host Movie Nights

Garrett College's Worldview International Club (WVIC) will host two international movie nights this fall in the college auditorium. The Chorus (Les Choristes) will be shown on Thursday, Nov. 6, at 7 p.m., and a Serbian film will be featured on Thursday, Nov. 20, also at 7 p.m.

The Chorus, directed by Christophe Barratier, is a French film about a failed musician who takes a job teaching troubled boys in the 1940s. After discovering how serious the boys' behavior problems are, the teacher (Clément Mathieu, played by Gerard Jugnot) decides to teach the boys to sing. In doing so, he earns their respect and trust.

The Serbian film has yet to be determined.

Admission to both movies is free. Refreshments will be sold, and donations will be accepted, with all proceeds benefiting the WVIC.

For additional information about the movies, persons may contact Melissa Parker at 301-387-3010 or melissa.parker@garrettcollege.edu.

cultural land preservation districts. The other ordinance would establish a local permitting process for electrical work.

Permits and Inspections Division chief Jim Torrington also reported on building permit activity in the county. He noted that the total number of permits issued for all types of construction was down nearly 16 percent for the first nine months of this year, compared to the same time frame for last year.

Also at Tuesday's meeting, the commissioners accepted Crabtree, Rohrbaugh & Associates' bid of $152,587 for architectural/engineering services. The company will design the first phase, the welding component, of the Garrett County Career Technology Training Center. The facility will be established in the old Phenix Technologies building in Accident.

A bid review committee, composed of county staff members, had recommended that the commissioners accept a $180,480 bid submitted by Hayes Large Architects because of the company's references, interest in the project, and other factors. Crabtree was the committee's second choice.

The commissioners accepted Crabtree's lower bid because of the cost-savings factor.

"For the program," Commissioner Denny Glotfelty said, "we felt this was the best way to do it."

The commissioners have allocated $500,000 for the Career Technology Training Center. The Maryland Department of Business and Economic Development has also earmarked $1 million for the project.

The commissioners will hold their next public meeting on Thursday, Nov. 13.

(MEMA) in coordination with emergency management and law enforcement personnel from local jurisdictions.

"We understand that many local jurisdictions in Maryland are facing severe budget conditions, which is why we continue to pass though more homeland security money to local governments than federal law mandates," said MEMA director Richard Muth. "I would like to thank my staff at MEMA and their colleagues at other state agencies, along with our local partners, for spending this money where it will do the most good."

Each of the local jurisdictions receiving funds – the 23 counties, plus Annapolis, Baltimore, and Ocean City – will receive an average of about 11 percent less than last year, mirroring the reduction in total funding to the state.

Funds will be used for a variety of projects, including providing protective equipment to first responders, hardening critical infrastructure, and building interoperable communications systems.

The $2.7 million in funds for the state will be used to support equipment purchases for state agencies, state-funded regional response units, and other state-wide initiatives. Local responders and emergency managers will also benefit from much of the state's portion of the federal funds, according to O'Malley's office.

ing process. Absentee voters who were unable to go on to the site and print an application at the time of the crash, may not have checked back to see if the site was back up.

"Anytime a Web site goes down right on the eve of a deadline or on the deadline, it could certainly cause at least confusion for voters if not discourage them from voting all together," said Adam Fogel, the right to vote director at Fair Vote Maryland, an organization dedicated to transforming elections.

"If there's any way for the Board of Elections to be more flexible with their deadlines, that may help voters with their problems," Fogel said.

The crash is just another example that we've come to rely too heavily on high technology efforts we don't truly understand, Zeese said. He predicted courts will be asked to extend voting on Nov. 4 because of high turnout and problems with electronic voting machines.

"Usually the Board of Elections is good at hiding any problems and not letting anyone know about it," Zeese said. "They try to cover these things up and say everything's fine when really it's the opposite."

costs. Included in the latter is money to fight gambling addiction. The amendment also states that no additional video lottery terminals shall be authorized without another approval by voters.

Garrett County voters will be asked to vote on one Local Referendum from the General Assembly:

QUESTION A — Alcoholic Beverages — Sunday Sales in County Districts

Authorizes Sunday sales of alcoholic beverages by certain license holders in those election districts in Garrett County where voters approve this question. It will allow the sale of alcohol on Sundays by holders of Class C service club licenses and by holders of Class B (restaurant and hotels), special 2-day Class C (clubs and organizations) licenses, special 6-day Class C licenses, and special 12-day Class C licenses, but only if the consumer at the licenses facility places an order for a meal or is otherwise entitled to a meal on the premises as part of a prearranged event, such as a banquet. Sunday sales are authorized to begin at 1 p.m. and continue until 10 p.m.

Each license holder that will be allowed to sell the alcoholic beverages on Sundays will be required to pay $250 in addition to the fee for obtaining the license.

Under the current law, Sunday sales that are already authorized in election districts 11 and 15 will not be affected by the result of the vote.

If this question receives a majority of yes votes cast in any of the remaining 17 election districts, it will take effect in those areas on Dec. 15 of this year.

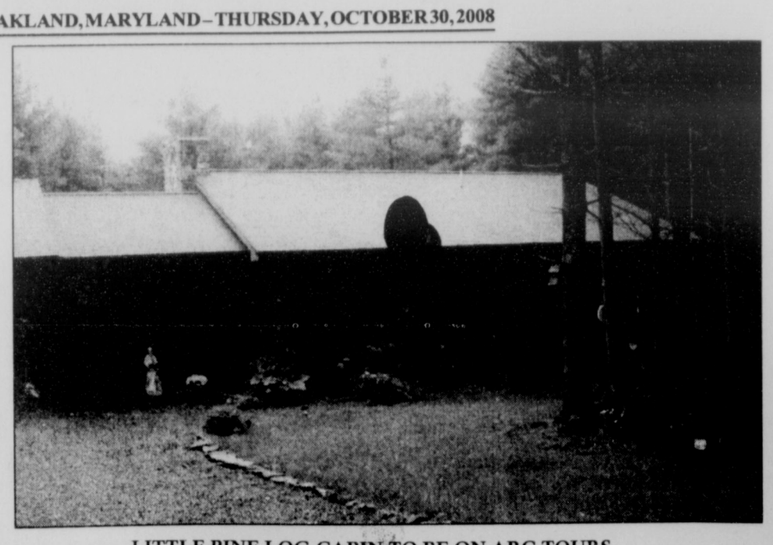
Little Pine Log Cabin To Be On ARC Tour

The Little Pine Log Cabin at North Glade Hills will be among the stops on this year's American Red Cross Home for the Holidays House Tours. The event will be held on the first weekend in December. Ticket-holders will be able to visit five tour stops on Friday, Dec. 5, from 4 to 9 p.m., or Saturday, Dec. 6, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. All five locales are included in the price of one ticket.

"I came to love this place as a child when my grandparents, parents, cousins, aunts, uncles, and neighbors came here every summer to camp," said Linda Glotfelty, who owns the cabin with her husband Ross. "I loved the smell of the many pines and I knew I wanted to stay here forever, in a little log cabin. And so my dream began."

The cabin was built in 2000, and was enlarged some years later. When guests arrive at 111 North Glade Hill Drive, they will be greeted with the sounds of Christmas and the sight of an American flag. As they walk through the rail fence gateway, luminaries will light the way to the home, but first guests will pass the guest cabin, where a live nativity will be staged.

The windows and doors of the cabin will be decorated with swags, wreaths, and garlands crafted of mountain greenery and pine cones. Entering the doorway, fragrances of Christmas will welcome guests, who may browse by lamp light and candlelight. Christmas trees of various themes will be on display, adorned with a variety of ornaments. Many of the trimmings are handmade and others are findings from the Rosses' travels in the United States and abroad.



LITTLE PINE LOG CABIN TO BE ON ARC TOURS

Among the collections are Mr. Glotfelty's nativity sets, Mrs. Glotfelty's assortment of first ladies in the inaugural gowns, and singing carolers. Among the special antique gifts are a little red dog, given to Linda from, her father during World War II; a little log cabin made by Delegate Arthur Green; and Santa in his rocking chair.

The other four stops on this year's circuit are Ridgeview Valley in McHenry, the WildWood Athletic Club, a private home along Markwood Drive, and the Faith Evangelical Free Church in Mtn. Lake Park.

Tickets for the tour are $8 in advance and $10 on the day of the tour. Tickets are available at Proudfoot's , Gregg's, and Deep Creek pharmacies, as well as Arrowhead Market at Deep Creek Lake. Directions are printed on the back of the tickets, and Red Cross signs will be placed in the yard of each tour site.

For more information, persons may call 301-334-3153, 301-334-9727, or 301-334-4465.

LOGGERS RAISE $76K FOR HOSPITAL – More than 80 companies and individuals participated in this year's Mountain Loggers Cooperative Association Auction at Newlon's International Sales in Elkins, W.Va., on Oct. 2. The event raised more than $76,000 for West Virginia University Children's Hospital. Loads of logs and other forest products, including wood pellets and rustic fencing, which sold at prices above fair market value, were added to cash contributions of $5,840. Since 1996, the loggers have raised more than $1 million for the hospital, according to an association spokesperson. "We are so grateful to the Mountain Loggers for, year after year, conducting the auction and other activities to benefit children who are admitted to WVU Children's Hospital," said Cheryl Jones, hospital director. "Donations have helped to renovate our lobby, creating a bright and cheerful space for children and families, as well as to purchase medical equipment and help in the expansion of the pediatric intensive care unit." A nonprofit group, the Mountain Loggers Cooperative Association is composed of loggers, foresters, sawmills, and other forestry-related businesses in West Virginia, Maryland, and Pennsylvania. Bartlett, Dougherty Both Confident Of Victory In 6th Congressional Dist.

by Anath Hartmann
Capital News Service

WASHINGTON - Both major-party candidates in Maryland's 6th Congressional District are confident of a win, despite the incumbent's superior fundraising.

The 6th District, represented by Rep. Roscoe Bartlett, R-Frederick, since 1993, includes Frederick, Carroll, Allegany, Garrett, and Washington counties, as well as portions of Baltimore, Harford, and Montgomery counties.

Bartlett's fundraising outpaced his challenger, former Frederick Mayor Jennifer Dougherty, D-Frederick, by nearly $50,000 in the third quarter, according to documents filed with the Federal Election Commission Oct. 15. To date, Bartlett has raised more than double — $275,230 — what Dougherty has collected — $117,608.

But Dougherty, 47, the mayor of Frederick from 2002 to 2006, said she believes the district is ready for a change after 15 years of Bartlett.

Dougherty, who has cited the development of the long-stalled Carroll Creek Park project and the hiring of a new Frederick Police Department chief as two of her administration's greatest accomplishments, lost her second mayoral bid to former Mayor Ronald Young during the 2005 Democratic primary. However, she beat four other Democrats in the congressional primary this year, including previous nominee Andrew Duck.

She said Bartlett has "lost touch" with issues important to his constituents.

"I don't think the current Congress has been paying attention to the details that affect our district, specifically job growth, the cost of energy ... and health care," Dougherty said. "(Bartlett) is a person who has lost touch with the issues on Main Street."

Last year, Bartlett voted to invest in homegrown biofuels. He has spoken out against drilling in Alaska's Arctic National Wildlife Refuge out of concern for wildlife and lives in a solar-powered house. He was the first member of the U.S. Congress to own a hybrid car.

Dougherty has said she supports working with existing businesses in the district to generate job growth, building a 6th District biofuel refinery to convert raw material such as algae to the "flex-fuel" called e-85 ethanol and allowing individuals to purchase health insurance from the federal employee plan.

Though Bartlett, 82, has long run on a platform of small government and low taxes, this election year his high-priority issues are nearly identical to those of his opponent.

Bartlett has cited the economy, energy costs, and health care as the topics he would first address if given another term, said spokeswoman Lisa Wright.

"Congressman Bartlett understands that businesses and entrepreneurs create wealth, and that government can hire people to do important jobs, but governments don't create wealth," Wright said. "He will continue to advocate for and vote for lower taxes, less spending, and fewer and more effective regulations that will help Americans to create and to obtain more and better jobs."

But while Bartlett trumps Dougherty in experience and funds, the outcome of the 6th District race may yet be a surprise.

An Oct. 15 poll, paid for by the Maryland Democratic Party and conducted by the Washington D.C.-based Garin-Hart-Yang Research Group, showed Dougherty was behind Bartlett by just 6 percent.

"Now, that poll was paid for by the Democratic Party, so it has to be taken with a grain of salt, but there is certainly reason to believe there are changing patterns of voting registration in the 6th District," said Adam Pagnucco, a writer for political blog Maryland Politics Watch.

In September, just over 47 percent of voters in the 6th District were registered Republicans, according to the Maryland State Board of Elections. Earlier this month, that number had decreased to 46.6 percent. Conversely, last month Democrats made up about 36.6 percent of the district's voting bloc; this month, they composed about 36.7 percent of 6th District voters.

"I wouldn't get too carried away with it," Pagnucco said. "But this is an indication that Democrats are gaining ground in the 6th District."

Slots Machine Question Divisive; May Bring Money, Crime, Or Both

by Eli Segall
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS — To one group, it's the "crack cocaine of gambling." To another, it's a fountain of cash for schools.

The item in question: slot machines.

The slots referendum, or Question 2 on Maryland's election ballot, has polarized activists and spawned a web of competing, contradictory "facts." Based on these arguments, the ballot item could either save Maryland from economic failure, or send cash-starved gambling addicts on crime sprees.

One thing's for certain, though: On Tuesday, voters will decide whether or not to authorize up to 15,000 slot machines throughout the state, potentially reversing a decades-long ban.

Residents are as divided as the interest groups working to pass or defeat the referendum. Asked how she feels about it, Lois "Lo" Hibbert, a Dunkirk resident, said, "Wonderful. Happy. Great."

"I'm tired of Maryland getting screwed while West Virginia and Delaware get all the apples," Hibbert said, referring to Maryland residents crossing state lines to gamble. "I'm definitely voting for it."

Preston Metcalf, however, couldn't disagree more. The Annapolis resident described slot machines as social poison.

"Back in the old days, people would spend their grocery money on gambling," he said.

According to a recent poll by The Washington Post, 62 percent of likely voters support the ballot item, while 36 percent are against it. State officials have projected that slots will pump at least $600 million a year into the state's coffers.

More than half the total revenues produced would be used for various education needs, from pre-K through higher education.

Slots revenue would also go toward their own operating costs, the horse-racing industry and the local governments where slots are based, among other places.

The ballot item, proposed last fall in the General Assembly's special session, is the latest of several attempts to bring slots back to Maryland, where they've been banned since 1968. The horse racing industry pushed to legalize slots in the mid-1990s, but Parris N. Glendening, the governor at the time, opposed it, said Donald F. Norris, a public policy professor at the University of Maryland, Baltimore County.

Glendening's successor, Robert L. Ehrlich Jr., tried to legalize slots four times during his administration, but opposes the current referendum.

Nevertheless, there are doubts as to whether tax revenue generated by slots will plug the state's budget deficit, projected to be $1 billion next fiscal year. The Maryland Institute for Policy Analysis & Research, a think tank, said in a recent report that the referendum's approval may also have "significant social costs" tied to addiction treatment and debt, among other things.

Should the ballot item fail, the state would lose out on new revenue at a time of worsening economic stress. On Oct. 15, state leaders hacked nearly $350 million from this year's budget, affecting everything from jails to hospitals. Officials described the cuts as painful but necessary, given the state's financial woes.

Among other problems, the nation's struggling economy has slashed Maryland's income and sales tax receipts, leaving the state with less money for salaries and operations.

Slots proponents often cite the battered economy as a reason for passing the referendum. According to For Maryland For Our Future, a slots advocacy group, failure to approve the ballot item would lead to further budget cuts and new taxes.

The referendum would also create "thousands of jobs," said Tom Saquella, president of the Maryland Retailers Association, a trade group.

"We believe it will jumpstart the Maryland economy," he said.

Opponents, however, say the referendum will cause more harm than good. They argue it will benefit casino and horse-racing interests, fuel gambling addiction, and unnecessarily rewrite parts of the state constitution, which approval on Question 2 would do.

Marylanders United to Stop Slots, for instance, released a flier calling slot machines "the crack cocaine of gambling," featuring the silhouette of a man smoking what appears to be a crack pipe.

Sandra Thorne, a waitress in Mechanicsville, also opposes the referendum on social grounds.

Thorne recalled seeing acquaintances gambling recently at St. Mary's Landing, a restaurant in southern Maryland that has bingo machines. The gamblers, however, were of meager financial means, and were "wasting money (they) didn't have," she said.

"I feel bad, but it's what they want to do," Thorne said. "I can't stop them."

Lakers To Begin Campaign This Weekend In PSC Tournament

The 2008-09 Garrett College men's basketball team will open its season this weekend, Nov. 1-2, as a participant in a tournament hosted by Potomac State College, Keyser.

The Lakers will first meet Howard CC, Columbia, at 5 p.m. Saturday, and then face the home-standing Catamounts of Potomac State on Sunday at 3 p.m.

Laker head coach Dennis Gibson, heading into his 23rd season at the helm, says he is not a big fan of early season tourneys, especially when they include Maryland JUCO or Region XX opponents.

"This season's schedule is not really conducive to how I like to open," he said. "I prefer to play non-league teams and gauge ourselves that way. But economics and the dynamics of our location make this early season tourney helpful to us. It is close enough we do not have to stay overnight, and both teams are tough opponents. November 1 is the first day JUCO teams can play, so hopefully we are prepared."

Last season the Lakers defeated Howard at home, 76-70, and split with Potomac State, winning at Dana Lough Gym in the second game of the year, 82-71, and losing at Garrett, 88-78, two weeks later.

"We did well in this tournament last year," said Gibson, "beating a very good Lackawanna (Pa.) team and then Potomac State, but fell flat on our faces at home in our own tourney, losing to Mercyhurst and Potomac State."

The real test for the Lakers coming into this season is the fact that nearly an entirely new lineup will be expected to fill some very capable shoes. Among last year's starters, Glen Izevbigie is now at Division I Savannah State. Also gone are Dale Taylor, local favorite Joe Tressler, and leading scorer Shawn Greenfield. The lone starter returning is JT Lewis from Morgantown High.

Other players who filled valuable roles last year and are back include Reco Siler, Terrance Taylor, and Mark Smith. Point guard Chris Speicher, a Northern High product, has served a red-shirt year and is also expected to add needed depth and maturity to the squad.

Gibson says he is confident about his returning core, and feels that they can provide the leadership needed to survive the long trips and tough teams prevalent in the JUCO Conference.

"Siler has really improved and started for us some last year, and I think that Smith has also learned a lot about what is required of him," said Gibson. "Terrance had some very good games for us also, but has been hampered by a back strain most of the preseason.

"It is hard to stay consistent at this level; it is very tough with the weather, travel, academics, and distances from home, so we need guys like these, who have proven that they can handle the adversity and have learned from it."

Gibson believes that the newcomers to the team have a lot of potential and must also add to the rebounding as well as scoring that Greenfield provided as a freshman.

Francis "Mo" Gunn, a 6-4 swing forward, should have a major impact in both those areas. He is a transfer from Philadelphia University, and was an All-Met scorer at CH Flowers High School in Maryland.

Another transfer who may have a significant impact is 6-3 guard Brian Koonce, transferring to Garrett from Montgomery, Takoma Park. He comes in averaging about 12 points per game.

Rodney Clark, a highly recruited point guard from Thomas Stone High School, helped lead his team to the state finals. Clark finished with 18 points and six assists, as his team finished in the runner-up spot.

Howard Ferguson, also a red-shirt last season, gives depth and great energy to a solid guard corps, according to Gibson.

Three foreign athletes have also signed on with the Lakers. Marko Agbaba, a 6-6 forward from Serbia, and 6-0 high riser Mihail Dimitrov both are accomplished players with experience.

Doma Ibrahim is a 6-7, 260-pound former football recruit, whom Gibson describes as "raw" in the terms of not playing organized basketball for two years.

"But he has great potential as a rebounder and inside threat," said Gibson. "He will not be able to play until second term, but should have an immediate impact on the rotation."

Local standouts Kory Gibson (Northern) and Jeff Stem (Southern) have opted to red-shirt this season and should benefit from a year of gaining strength and practicing against the sophomores.

"It is a win- win situation for them and for our team," noted Gibson. "We practice with three teams, and our sophomores are not always the best team playing. This is good for the young guys.

"We actually have Brandon Nanton, Joe DuBuche, Chris Hilliard, and Aaron Jones also sitting out this year. It was a tough decision for me, as all of these guys could have helped us at any time, but I felt it was best for everyone to play our sophomores first. Most of them have earned that consideration," he said.

The Lakers' first home contest will be on November 14 when they host the McDonald's Classic, opening with newcomer Philadelphia CC and then facing Potomac State in a rematch.

"A real problem in our scheduling is that we weren't able to find an opponent after this tourney, so we will be off for nearly two weeks before we play at home in the McDonald's Classic," Gibson said. "We do scrimmage Mount Aloysius Nov. 7 (6 p.m.) to fill the gap, and I hope some fans come out to see us. Former Laker Lance Loya is the head coach of Mount Aloysius, and two former players, Daniel Conway and Derrick Sherman, are on the team. It should be fun."

With some of their most solid depth in years, Gibson believes it should be "another exciting season," not only for the Lakers, but also the fans. As always, a primary goal of Gibson and his squad is to win the Region XX Division I tourney and put themselves in the hunt for their first-ever trip to the NJCAA national tourney in Hutchinson, Kan.

Huskies Surprised By Sentinels' Aerial Attack; Defeated 42-7

Caught off guard by a passing, rather than power-running, offensive game plan by the Fort Hill Sentinels, the Northern High Huskies went down to a convincing 42-7 defeat last Friday evening at the Cove, dropping the Huskies to 2-6 for the season.

Sentinel quarterback Eric Howser was the biggest problem for the Huskies, as he not only led his team in rushing with 103 yards, but also made good on 13 of 19 passes for 218 yards and two touchdowns.

The 6-1 Sentinels put the first points on the board when Howser hit Jonathan Foster with a pass that would ultimately cover 72 yards for a touchdown at the 7:05 mark of the first quarter. The conversion kick was no good.

The visitors made it 13-0 later in the same period when Marcus Lashley capped a drive with a 10-yard TD run, and also booted the extra point.

In the first minute of the second quarter, Fort Hill took a 20-0 lead, with Lashley capping a long drive with a one-yard touchdown carry, and again kicking the extra point.

The Northern offensive unit finally put together its own successful 70-plus-yard march down the field, which ended with a six-yard touchdown run by Jake Bosley. The drive featured three strong carries by Randy Wiley. Josh Duckworth kicked the extra point to cut the Sentinels' advantage to 20-7 with 5:50 to play in the first half.

However, the Huskies' new-found momentum was halted just seconds before intermission when Sam Walker scored a touchdown on a two-yard run, and Howser hit Jordan Helmick with a conversion pass to give Fort Hill a commanding 28-7 lead.

The visitors put the game away with a pair of six-pointers in the third quarter, the first on a one-yard run by Lashley, and the second via a 41-yard pass from Howser to Helmick. Lashley booted two more PATs.

With the clock running non-stop the rest of the way, the Huskies seemingly scored another touchdown on a 75-yard run by Jason Green in the fourth quarter, but it was called back because of a penalty.

The Huskies were outgained in total offensive yardage by a 417-158 margin, and also turned the ball over three times – twice on fumbles and once by interception.

Fratz led the Huskies in rushing with 46 yards on a dozen carries, and Wiley was right behind with 45 yards on 10 attempts.

"Who would have thought that Fort Hill, a team that usually runs the ball about 85% of the time, would come out and instead throw the ball?" said NHS head coach Phil Carr. "We weren't expecting that at all, and we had trouble trying to make adjustments for that.

"We also didn't tackle very well, plus their quarterback really hurt us."

Carr said that the one glimmer of hope that the Huskies had was their long, successful drive for a touchdown in the second quarter.

"That made it 20-7 and gave us some momentum, but that was pretty much destroyed when they scored in the last few seconds before halftime," he said. "That pretty much broke our back."

Things will get no easier this week for the Huskies, who must travel to Greenway Avenue Stadium in Cumberland to face another 7-1 team and last season's state runner-up, Allegany.

"I believe Allegany is the best team in our region," Carr said. "They have a lot of experience back from their state championship game team. They're not fancy, they just get out there and pound you."

From the wing-T, the Campers will occasionally put the ball in the air, but far more often they put the ball into the hands of either senior halfback Sean Collette (5-10, 175) or junior

Rams Crushed In Homecoming Tilt, 56-8, By Mountain Ridge

It was another long evening for the Southern High School varsity football team last Friday, who were manhandled by visiting Mountain Ridge, 56-8.

The Miners wasted little time taking control of the contest, as Braxton Brodie scored the first of his three touchdowns with 9:10 left in the first quarter, taking the ball to pay dirt on a four-yard carry. Cody Hovatter booted the first of what would be eight conversion points for the evening.

Hovatter's foot would also play a big part in keeping the Ram offense deep in its own territory all evening.

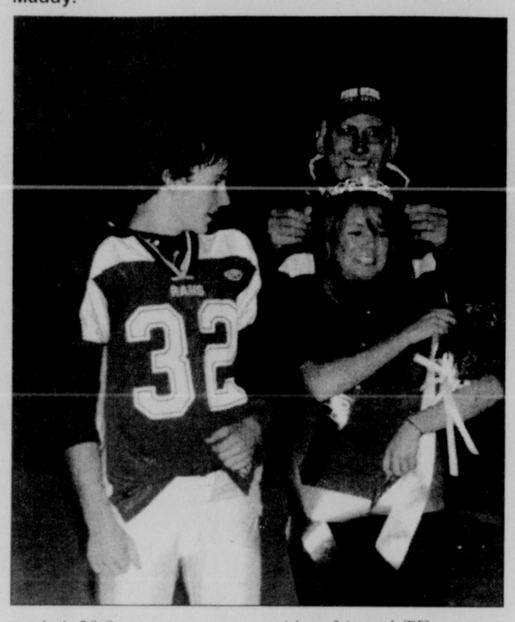
A five-yard touchdown run by Matt Farris late in the first period following a two-yard punt by the Rams, and another Hovatter conversion, put the Miners on top 14-0.

Less than three minutes later and just 16 seconds into the second quarter, Keinan Harper broke loose and raced 46 yards for another Mountain Ridge TD. The possession came as a result of a Ram fumble.

Then on the next Miner drive, Matt Farris hit Jared Stakem with a 22-yard touchdown pass. Another PAT by Hovatter gave the visitors a commanding 28-0 lead at the 6:27 mark of the second period.

The Rams finally got on the board just before halftime after they recovered a Miner fumble on the Southern 23. Travis Skeweris broke through the Miner defense and ran 70 yards from the 27 to the Mountain Ridge three, and Brutus Scheffel scored from there on the next play with 1:12 remaining before halftime.

Ryan Sweitzer's pass to Scheffel for the conversion made it 28-8.



The Miners secured their victory in the third quarter by putting 21 unanswered points on the board.

Brodie started the run with a 36-yard TD carry at the 10:53 mark. Harper scored his second six-pointer of the night just over two minutes later by returning a punt 55 yards, and Brodie broke loose for a 52-yard touchdown jaunt with 6:15 left in the quarter. Hovatter kicked three more PATs, and the Miners' lead jumped to 49-8.

The Rams still did not quit, and engineered one final drive deep into Mountain Ridge territory, only to have it stopped when Nick Graham intercepted at the Miners' five-yard line. On the next play, Harper scored his third touchdown of the night, this one on a 95-yard run from scrimmage. Hovatter tacked on his eighth straight PAT.

Harper amassed 141 yards on just two carries to lead Mountain Ridge's rushing attack, while Brodie gained 110 yards on just six attempts. Graham contributed another 46 yards on only two carries.

Skeweris recorded 136 yards on 13 carries to pace the Southern ground game.

Dan Shockey had nine tackles for the Ram defense.

The Rams will have no easy go of it again this Saturday when they travel to Cumberland to take on a 7-1 Bishop Walsh team, although the Spartans' schedule is considerably easier than that of Southern and most of the area teams.

The Spartans are led offensively by sophomore running back and linebacker Dylan D'Atri (6-1, 205), who was a first-team All-Area pick as a freshman.

Other standouts are senior running back Marshall Porter (6-1, 200), senior receiver Robby Lehmann (6-4, 165).

Their 6-2 and 4-4 defensive units are also paced by D'Atri and Porter at linebacker spots, and Lehmann in the secondary.

Saturday's kickoff is set for 1:30 p.m.

fullback J.D. Hook (5-9, 174).

"With the possible exception of the Keyser backs, these guys are leading the area in rushing," Carr said.

The Sentinels' 6-2 defensive unit has size up front and speed in the secondary. Among the leaders in that unit are junior linebacker Melvin Tyson (6-0, 225) and Collette and Hook in the defensive backfield.

"We've also heard that Justin Hymes is supposed to be back this week," Carr noted.

Hymes, who sustained a broken foot early in the season, is a 6-3, 270-pound senior lineman who is a Division I prospect. He will occupy tackle positions on both the offensive and defensive lines.

"We will do our best to get outside offensively," Carr said, "just like we tried to do against Fort Hill. Because of their size, it will be very difficult for us to stay inside."

Carr said he is hoping that his team will respond to Allegany they way Huskies from the past have.

"We almost always play well against Allegany," he said. "We lost to them last year (25-8), but we allowed the fewest points to be scored by them against everyone else on their schedule."

The Campers only loss this season was to undefeated Keyser, and the Golden Tornadoes had to pull off a fourth-quarter rally to win that one.

The Huskies are generally healthy, Carr said, although Randy Wiley has been slowed this week with a hip injury, and Ted Linton sustained a minor head injury. Both are listed as "probable."

Friday's kickoff is set for 7 p.m.

Northern Girls Blank Clear Spring On "Tundra" To Advance In Playoffs

With a 2-0 victory over visiting Clear Spring Tuesday evening, the Northern High School girls' varsity soccer team advanced to the semi-finals of the 1A West Region playoffs and will host Poolesville this evening.

While playing in about an inch of snow, with high winds and continued precipitation Tuesday night the Huskies controlled the match with Clear Spring from start to finish.

The only goal of the first half of action was recorded in the 22nd minute by Northern junior forward Adria Graham, who fired a laser shot from about 12 yards out into the left half of the goal.

With the wind at their backs, the Huskies spent most of the first half on the attacking end of the field, and led in shots, 10-3.

"We got off several very nice shots in the first half, but their keeper did a good job of being at the right place at the right time," said Northern head coach Jeff Graham.

The Huskies scored their second goal of the evening at the 33:13 mark of the second half, with Nikki Diehl connecting from about six yards out off a corner kick from Graham.

"This was a big goal for us, given the conditions," Graham said. "It gave us the cushion we needed to defend a little more aggressively as the clock wound down."

The Huskies finished with a 13-6 advantage in shots, and led 4-0 in corner kicks. Northern keeper Justine Harvey had six saves in getting the shutout, while Beth Andrews recorded 11 for the Indians.

"Justine came up with two huge saves in the second half to seal the deal for us," said Graham. "She and our defending backs really played a masterful game. Actually the whole team played extremely well, given the weather conditions. I'm really proud of them."

The Huskies, who are the defending Region 1A champions, are now 13-2 overall.

TRYING TO STAY WARM and ready to sub in are members of the Northern varsity girls' soccer team, who edged out Clear Spring on Tuesday, 2-0, despite the tundra-like climate. Pictured above, left to right, are senior midfielder Megan Kinsinger (#16), junior defenders Kaitlyn Walker (#9) and Nikki Diehl (#17), and senior midfielders Megan Voelkel (#18) and Megan Wiley (#4). Below is senior midfielder Meghan Voelkel (#18), preparing to boot the ball past a Clear Spring opponent. The Huskies face Poolesville in Accident tonight for the third-round in playoff matches. In Tuesday's quarterfinal playoff match, Mtn. Ridge's Zach Saylor recorded two of the Miners' goals in the first half, with the first just under two minutes into the match off an assist by David Hobel. The second came off a pass from Matt Cunningham at the 27:12 mark. The Miners held a 2-0 lead at halftime.

Steelers Blank Rams In Youth Invitational, 20-0

The Northern Steelers shut out the Oakland Rams, 20-0, in a Cumberland Area Youth Football League Division I clash, which was part of the BW Invitational.

Tyler Yutzy scored the only points of the first half of action when he hauled in a 44-yard scoring aerial from Jeremy Bender in the second quarter. The conversion kick was no good, leaving the Steelers with a 6-0 lead at intermission.

After a scoreless third period, Bender was on the receiving end of a 12-yard TD pass from Aaron Broadwater, putting the Steelers on top 12-0 early in the third stanza.

Robert Hill then capped the next Steeler drive with an eight-yard touchdown run, and Bender booted the two-point conversion.

Leading the Steeler defensive unit was Shawn Snyder with 13 tackles. Other standouts were Ryan VanNosdeln and Craig Funk.

The Division II Steelers finished their season with a 3-6 mark.

Division II Rams Edged By Warriors

The Division II Oakland Rams were edged 2-0 in a Cumberland Area Youth Football League clash with the Braddock Warriors.

The Ram offense was held scoreless for only the second time this season, and both times by the Warriors.

The only points of the game were recorded in the first quarter when the Rams had possession on their own one-yard line, and a Ram running back was tackled in the end zone for a safety.

Coy Ozias led the Ram offense with 47 yards on eight carries.

Oakland finished with 114 total yards, and held the Warriors to 177 total yards.

DNR Announces Final 2008 Black Bear Hunt Nos.

Maryland's 2008 black bear season opened on Monday, Oct. 20, one-half hour before sunrise in Garrett and Allegany counties and closed on Thursday, Oct. 23, at 9 p.m.

Fifty-six bears were reported taken in that time frame. The harvest objective for the 2008 bear hunt was 55 to 75 bears.

The average estimated live weight of the bears taken during this year's hunt was 178 pounds. The largest bear of the season was a 332- pound male taken by Matt McKenzie of Frostburg, according to the DNR.

The hunt by numbers is as follows:

- 46 of the bears were taken in Garrett County, while 10 were in Allegany County.
- 86 percent of the bears were taken on private land.
- 59 percent of the successful hunters live in the hunt area.
- 452 hunters participated in the hunt, and 3,278 hunters applied for a permit.

"This was the first year that the new preference point system could be used by hunters to gain advantage in the drawing," said Jonathan McKnight, acting director of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources' Wildlife and Heritage Service. "Although only 56 percent of the applicants entered the drawing with a preference point, 70 percent of those who drew permits had preference points. It appears that this new system DNR implemented based on hunter input was effective in its first year."

More information about Maryland's black bear is available at dnr.-maryland.gov/dnrnews/infocus/blackbear.html.

Panther Achieves Goal, Places In Top 16% Of MC Marathon

THE FIRST 17 MILES WERE GREAT! – Dawn Panther, pictured above, participated in the Marine Corps Marathon, her first to date, on Sunday, Oct. 26. She finished in the top 4% of her age group. See story for more details of her experience.

As a personal challenge before her 50th birthday, Dawn Panther, Oakland, ran in the 33rd Marine Corps Marathon held through the streets of Washington, D.C., on Oct. 26, finishing in the top 4% for her age group and the top 16% overall.

"Because I have been a runner for almost 31 years, I thought why not challenge myself by running farther than I ever have – 26.2 miles," said Panther. "I have competed in 5K's & 10K's, even one triathlon, but not a marathon. My goal was to complete the Marine Corp Marathon in four hours. "

In mid April, Panther began preparations, accumulating running articles and tips from various web sites and magazines which offered advice from experienced marathon runners. She adapted this material, which led to a 16-week training schedule, designed for five days of running with two days off.

"The training schedule was based on time, not distance, so the muscles and tendons could get acclimated to running long distances. At first that didn't make sense to me," explained Panther, "however, as I continued to train, I finally made the connection. My longest run was 3 hours and 19 minutes, which turned out to be 24 miles."

Panther modified her training schedule to work around her job and day-to-day activities, rising at 4 a.m. some mornings in order to fit her workout in.

In late September, Panther experienced her first bout with shin splints on her right leg. "It swelled and HURT!!" Panther said. "I thought 'I've come too far not to complete this challenge.' With the professional advice of two great friends, I was pain free after three weeks of babying the injury."

Panther and her husband Ed arrived at the starting line on Sunday, Oct. 26, at 7 a.m. to an overwhelming site. There were 18, 273 runners present, ready to compete.

"[I thought] 'WOW! SO MANY RUNNERS IN ONE PLACE!'" Panther said. "What an awesome site. I definitely had an adrenaline high!"

According to Panther, the first 17 miles were great, with many people cheering everyone along the route. "That truly helped. At times there were spots where there weren't a lot of people. At those spots my pace would decline. I hit the 'wall' at mile 20."

With another 6.2 miles to go, the route exited D.C. and crossed back into Virginia – Crystal City, and the mental and physical challenge began for Panther.

"There were very few people [cheering] along this stretch, plus many people were showing signs of stress – muscle strains, sickness, etc. I told myself that I was stronger than that and I wasn't going to stop," Panther explained. "To my right, I could see the Pentagon Memorial, which was close to the finish line, and that kept me motivated."

At miles 21-24, Panther struggled. Her pace went down, but she kept her feet moving. "Watching two disabled veterans run and bike helped me get out of the 'zone' and focused," she said. "At mile 24, I told myself it would be like running to Englander's and back to my house. At mile 25 I told myself that it would be like running to the Custard Stand and back."

The cheering crowd allowed Panther to "dig deeper for that last burst of energy which motivated me to get up the hill to the finish line."

During the race, Panther had the support of not only her husband, but her son and daughter-in-law, Nathaniel and Megan, and her other son, Chad, who was in Morgantown, W.Va., at the time.

Chad was able to track his mom at every point during the race, keeping the ground crew informed of her location, by the chip she wore on her shoe.

This technology allowed Chad continuous and instantaneous tracking access via the Internet, and he was able to keep the others updated during the entire race. He was able to tell them where she was, her pace, and when her supporters would get their next visual.

"I completed my challenge in 3:50:45, which beat my four-hour goal," said Panther. "I am strongly considering running it again next October as I want to shave time off and try to complete it in 3:17:00."

Panther said that some of her best moments were not during the race at all, but afterwards when she "was able to thank the Marines for all that they do to make it possible to run this race in the United States – the land of freedom. It was quite an honor to be in the presence of all these wonderful young men and women who fight to protect our country from harm's way."

Asked what kind of advice Panther could offer anyone pondering the idea of running a marathon, she said, "Just do it! Challenge yourself both mentally and physically. It is quite rewarding."

She also suggested getting in contact with several experienced marathoners for their expert advice, even a running group, which she hopes to find.

Panther teaches aerobics at Brenda's Body Shop and is a guidance counselor at Southern Middle School.

CHEERLEADERS MEET UP WITH SAVAGE AT FEDEX STADIUM – Twenty students from Brenda's Body Shop, five of whom are also Southern High cheerleaders, participated in the 2008 Washington Redskins Spirit Explosion, held at the FedEx Stadium in Landover two weeks ago. The girls arrived at the stadium the day before the game for a 5-hour rehearsal to learn a routine for the halftime show. They met up with Garrett County native Bethany Savage, who is on the Washington Redskin cheerleading squad, sponsor of the cheer event that involved teenagers from the tri-state area. Savage alerted Brenda Brosnihan to the Explosion, and then helped the local girls learn the routine. "We are so proud of Bethany," Brosnihan said, noting that Savage is a former student. "It was a lot of fun to watch her perform at the game." Brosnihan, who operates the body shop, said she was impressed by how much choreography the girls learned in a short time. Kathryn Drennan, a participant, said she was nervous at first. "But after a little time went by, I knew I could do the routine," she said. On game day, the group was transported to the FedEx field by bus. Most of their families attended, and for many it was their first professional football game. The stadium holds 92,000 people, which Dan Beiler, father of Erin Beiler, noted would be Garrett County's population by about three times. Madeline Whittemore said she and the other girls waited in the tunnel area under the stadium for about 20 minutes before taking the field. "It was surreal when we walked out and lined up behind the bench of the Cleveland Browns," she said. Brosnihan said the local athletes gave an outstanding performance. "We were proud of all of them," she said. The photo above was taken shortly after the completion of the halftime show. In the front row, from left, are Whitney Walker, Patricia Sherrard, Corinne Weaver, Leah Mowbray, Kassi Smith, Kenya Rinker, and Abbi Smith. Second row: Alexandra Alt, Karisa Weissgerber, Alexis Harvey, Grace Herpel, Jennifer Feaster, and Drennan. Back row: Jessica Warnick, Kellie Shotwell, Erin Beiler, Whittemore, Brittany Harvey, Elizabeth Green, and Sara King. Savage is shown above right as she escorts her fellow Garrett Countians into the stadium. She is the daughter of Terry and Carol Savage, Nest Lick Acres.

House Of Hope To Hold Autumn Hopefest Benefit

The annual Autumn Hopefest, that benefits the House of Hope, is set for Saturday, Nov. 1, at Will O' the Wisp beginning at 6 p.m.

"This is a very special year for the House of Hope, celebrating 30 years of service to the fine people of Garrett County," said Patty Wells, fund-raising committee member and House of Hope board member.

House of Hope is located in Oakland and is an ecumenical and non-deno-minational organization relying solely on donations. According to a spokesperson, the House of Hope accepts neither government funding nor soliciting, but provides flexible, individualized, and immediate aid to those in crisis. Hopefest is the major fund-raiser for the year.

Three original art pieces, donated by Frostburg artist Nancy Biggs, a stained glass panel by artisan Lou DiCarlo, gift baskets from Fireside Deli and Deep Creek Gourmet, Pirates baseball tickets, and much more will be auctioned off during the Silent and Chinese Auctions.

This year also features a live auction of staff from Brenda's Pizzeria, including owner Brenda McDonnell, who will go to the winning bidder's home and prepare a meal for up to 10 people.

The evening will include dancing, door prizes, and local guest bartenders, who will donate their tips to the House of Hope.

A limited number of tickets, which are on sale at Brenda's Pizzeria and Will O' the Wisp, are still available for $45 per person which includes dinner, dancing to the sounds of DJ Jonny Rock, and beverages. A cash bar will also be available. The event is being sponsored in part by Mettiki Coal Corporation and Will O' the Wisp.

For more information, persons may contact Linda Carr at 301-387-7124.

LOTS OF SUPPORT continues to be provided to the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department, as demonstrated again this year at the organization's 31st annual Oktoberfest. Thanks to a successful grant-writing effort by OVFD member James "Smokey" Stanton, the department received from United States Smokeless Tobacco (USST) a new Polaris Ranger all-terrain vehicle, which will be used for forest and brush fires, as well as for special rescue situations. Pictured from left directly above are: Stanton; Oakland Mayor Asa McCain; Phil St. Moritz, owner of Bill's Marine Service, who delivered the vehicle; OVFD chief John Feather; OVFD president Fred Callis; Paul Gordon, representing USST; and Dana Smith, regional representative for USST. Archie's Barbeque of McHenry sponsored the Firefighter of the Year, Auxiliary Member of the Year, and Emergency Medical Services Person of the Year, and also made a monetary donation to the department. In the photo above right, from left, are Dave Archer, owner; Alex Mellott, OVFD vice president; and Kevin Archer. Below right, President Callis (center) accepts another donation of $1,000 from Doug Shears, assistant manager of the local Wal-Mart. At left is Chief Feather. Below left is a photo of the trailer of Bradley's Concessions of Westernport, which also makes regular donations to the department at the annual Oktoberfest.

Garrett County SKIES

By Dr. Bob Doyle
Frostburg State Planetarium

NOVEMBER SUN – In early November, the sun rises in Oakland at about 6:50 a.m. (EST) and sets about 5:15 p.m. During November, the sun appears to drift through the star group Libra, past Scorpius, and ends the month in Ophiuchus (Serpent Doctor). As November draws to a close, Oakland and surroundings will have sunrises about 7:15 a.m. and sunsets about 4:55 p.m. So we lose over ¾ an hour of sunlight in November, as the sun moves further south along its path.

NOVEMBER MOON – In early November the moon emerges in the southwestern dusk as a skinny crescent, appearing near the bright planet Venus in the early dusk on November 1. On the evening of November 3, the crescent moon appears near the bright planet Jupiter. On the evening of November 5, the evening moon appears half full in the star group Capricornus. For the few days before and after, this is the best time of the month to see the moon's craters and mountains through binoculars or a telescope. The moon grows to full on the evening of November 12, then in western Aries. In the next five days, the moon moves farther north, reaching its most northerly sky track in Gemini. By November 19, the moon appears half full in the southern dawn sky. This moon phase can be seen in the early morning daylight hours, and you can see the craters and mountains with binoculars as well. Just after Thanksgiving, the moon swings from the morning to the evening side of the sun. On the last day of November, a slender crescent moon appears near the bright planets Jupiter and Venus in the southwestern 5:30 p.m. dusk.

BRIGHT PLANETS IN NOVEMBER – There are two evening planets, brilliant Venus (lower) and the bright planet Jupiter, seen as it begins to darken after sunset in the southwest. Both planets shine steadily, not twinkling as the night stars. Both planets are visible from a place with a flat southwestern horizon. During November, Venus moves from Ophiuchus into Sagittarius, appearing only two degrees from Jupiter as November ends.

BRIGHT STARS IN NOVEMBER – The brightest stars on October evenings include white-blue Vega in the west, the star Fomalhaut low in the southwest, and the golden star Capella in the northeast. As the evening hours pass, Vega descends and Capella climbs higher. More delicate sights on moonless November evenings include: the Seven Sisters, or Pleiades star cluster, in the east (to the right of Capella), and the Milky Way, seen as a delicate glow running from the northeast, across the top of the sky and down into the southwest.

PLANETARIUM PROGRAM – The November public program at the Frostburg State University is "Star-Death and Elements," with free Sunday presentations on November 2, 9, 16, and 23, at 4 and 7 p.m. The Planetarium is in Tawes 302, just off the front lobby and facing the Compton Science Center. To get a free Planetarium bookmark with an included map of location and parking, persons may telephone 301-687-7799 and leave name and mailing address.

Dr. Doyle writes this column for those who would like to identify the brightest stars, planets and sights in their backyards. To ask questions or get a planetarium/science discovery center bookmark, persons may call Dr. Doyle at 301-687-7799 and leave name and mailing address.

ARC Releases Schedule For Nov. Classes

The Western Potomac Chapter of the American Red Cross has scheduled several health and safety services courses for next month.

An adult, child, and infant cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR)/automated external defibrillator (AED) class will be held from 6 until 10 p.m. on Tuesdays, Nov. 11 and Dec. 2, at the Cumberland chapter house.

This four-hour course includes caring for and recognizing breathing and cardiac emergencies, including choking, in adults, children, and infants.

This course meets OSHA guidelines and is designed to fit the needs of businesses and industries. A discount is applied when taken with a CPR class.

The cost is $25 for new certification and $20 for recertification, and includes text, a practice first aid kit, and a three-year certification card.

Berry that Promotes a Sense of Well Being

The berry of the Goji plant has been consumed for food and used for centuries in Traditional Chinese Medicine. This particular berry has been used to treat inflammation, general aches, cough, anti-aging, kidney, liver, and vision problems. Some small studies have shown that extracts of Goji exhibit anti-aging, nerve and cell protective, anti-tumor, and anti-oxidant properties. The Goji plant contains many substances; however, it is believed that the lyceum barbarum polysaccharides (LBP) are the substances responsible for its effects.

Very few research studies have been conducted to evaluate Goji's effectiveness in humans. One recent study examined the effects of daily consumption of either 4 ounces of plant juice or a placebo juice for 14 days. The juice contained the equivalent of 150g of Goji fruit. Individuals in the study who consumed Goji juice reported significant improvements in sleep quality, an ability to focus on activities, and athletic performance. They reported overall feelings of contentment. Goji should not be used by those who take the blood thinner medication warfarin, due to a potential increased risk of bleeding.

Monumental Mirror

Stretching from the Washington Monument to the Lincoln Memorial is the Reflecting Pool, one of the required stops for any tourist on a trip to our Nation's Capital. What is its purpose?

It's more than a monumental mirror…it inspires reflection! We can reflect on the challenges of our democracy and the responsibilities of our freedom; we can recall the spiritual foundation on which our institutions rest.

Those reflections can point us toward our chosen place of worship. Next Sabbath, renew your commitment to the religious convictions which helped shape our history…and will undergird our destiny.

A Light in the Darkness

The German poet and philosopher, Novalis, claimed that philosophy was an attempt to make us feel at home in the world, to somehow domesticate the world, as it were. "Philosophy," he said, "is properly homesickness, the wish to be everywhere at home." Philosophy and religion are twin endeavors in this regard, and that is at least part of the reason why philosophers tend to have a religious bent, and why religious thinkers tend to be philosophical-because life and the world are problematic. Of course, some people have neither a religious nor a philosophical turn of mind, and seem to take it all for granted, as if there were nothing to wonder or worry about in any of this. But Novalis could not be so easily turned away from his thoughts. As a young man, he was crushed by the death of his fiancee, Sophie, whom he regarded as something of an angel, and then within a month, by the death of his brother, Erasmus. His grief was overwhelming, and he turned to poetry and philosophy as the only way to reconcile the visible and the invisible realms, and attempt to make sense of it all. From the depths of his despair, a singular serenity came over him. And although little read today, his poetry and philosophy remain some of the most poignant and beautiful expressions of a truly spirited soul.

"Love works magic. It is the final purpose of the world's story, the Amen of the Universe."

Novalis

WEATHER OR NOT

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• It was Andrew Jackson Young, American civil-rights activist, former U.N. ambassador, congressman and mayor of Atlanta, who made the following sage — and disturbingly accurate — observation: "Nothing is illegal if 100 businessmen decide to do it."

• Those who study such things claim that by the time the average American reaches the age of 20, he or she has been exposed to more than a million advertisements.

• The United States has more dogs than any other country in the world, followed by Brazil in second place and China in third.

• Just to see what would happen, a group of scientists gave various drugs to spiders. The arachnids that were given caffeine created webs with random tangles, making them useless for catching insects. Interestingly, the ones that were given LSD created extremely neat webs. It's unclear whether the scientists performed this experiment for research or just for fun.

• Moscow has more billionaires than any other city in the world. And, except for one — the mayor's wife — they're all men.

• The next time you're heading to Boston for a little R and R, you might want to consider stopping by a rather unusual attraction. The Museum of Bad Art describes itself as "the world's only museum dedicated to the collection, preservation, exhibition and celebration of bad art in all its forms."

• The word "wedlock" originally referred to money given to the groom by the bride's father (presumably for taking the girl off his hands).

• Have you ever experienced xerophthalmia? If you're like most people, you probably have, but it's not usually a condition to be terribly concerned about. Xerophthalmia is simply a fancy way of describing an abnormal dryness of the eyes.

• On Nov. 4, 1922, British archaeologist Howard Carter and his workmen discover a step leading to the tomb of boy-king Tutankhamen in the Valley of the Kings in Egypt. In the tomb was a solid-gold coffin containing the mummy of Tut, preserved for more than 3,000 years.

• On Nov. 3, 1964, residents of the District of Columbia cast their ballots in a presidential election for the first time. The passage of the 23rd Amendment in 1961 gave citizens of the nation's capital the right to vote for president and vice president.

• On Nov. 6, 1984, the New York Stock Exchange decided to keep its doors open on a presidential election day for the first time in 193 years. The move didn't sit too well with traders, who responded to the news with a chorus of boos and hisses. Fortunately, the Dow did manage to post a 15-point gain on the day.

Old Tricks for New Dog

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: I have a new dog! What are some basic tricks I can teach her? — Tammy J., Huntsville, Ala.

DEAR TAMMY: Congratulations on bringing home a new member of the family! There are many tricks you can teach a dog to perform, but I'll cover just three. These should be taught following basic obedience training (which includes sit/stay and down commands). Each session should last about 30 seconds; let her play for a while afterward.

• Shake Hands: Popular and easy to learn, this is a nice skill for puppies to have, especially when visitors arrive. Begin teaching Shake Hands after she has developed a good response to the Sit/Stay commands. Once she is sitting, pick up one of her paws gently, release it and give her a treat. Do this for a couple of days, and then add a verbal command, like "Shake hands" or "Say hello." Give her a reward after you say the command.

• Play Dead: Another easy trick, once she follows the "Down" command, you can progress to "Roll Over." Give her the "Down" command, and note which side she leans toward. Gently push her over onto that side, and give her verbal praise and a belly rub. Follow up with a reward.

• Roll Over: Once she masters "Play Dead," start from that position. First, desensitize your puppy by rubbing her belly and touching her legs and feet while she's in the Play Dead position. Once she's used to this, give the command "Roll over," take hold of the back and front legs closest to the floor, and very gently pull her over to the opposite side. (If she gets frightened or is in pain, stop immediately.) Reward her with a treat or toy. (Or, tempt her around with a treat: Show her the treat, then slowly move it up around the back of her head to the other side. She may follow it around, rolling over automatically.)

No matter what trick you teach your dog, she'll love the attention, so make this training a regular part of your day!

TV Pipeline

Kelsey Grammer sitcom won't be 'Back'

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Q: My favorite show on television is "Back to You." Will it be back this season? –Suzanne Johnson, Oelwein, Iowa

A: No. Fox canceled the Kelsey Grammer-Patricia Heaton sitcom about newscasters after one season, which wasn't really even a full season, given the interruption caused by the writers strike. Several networks had competed to land the show initially, thanks to the drawing power of its two stars, but it never caught fire in ratings terms.

The existing episodes are available on DVD from Fox Home Entertainment as "Back to You: Season 1," though we believe a more appropriate label would be "Back to You: The Complete Series." That's what it is.

Q: What happened to the FX series "Dirt"? Did I miss something? –Deborah Lewis, Midlothian, Texas

A: Yes, apparently ... the announcement of the show's cancellation. Just as the second round of Courteney Cox's tabloid magazine drama ended, the network said that would do it for the series. Also an executive producer of the show, Cox said she had attempted to lighten it up tonally a bit, but the effort ultimately was to no avail.

Q: I was becoming an avid fan of the show "Swingers," and I've noticed it has vanished. Will it be returning? –Timothy Frank, Stuart, Fla.

A: We're assuming you mean the CBS show actually titled "Swingtown," which we've also seen called various other things ("Swinging," "Swingtime," etc.) in the letters and e-mails we've received about it. It already has returned in a sense, though probably not the one you're hoping for. Bravo picked up the existing episodes that were made for CBS (which canceled the series after its summer run), and those are being repeated now – but the cable network has no plans to produce additional installments beyond those.

Q: I'm a big fan of Billy Drago. I loved him as John Bly in "The Adventures of Brisco County Jr." I was just wondering what he's up to these days. –Ron Allen, Owosso, Mich.

A: A number of his recent films have gone straight to video, but the actor – famous to many for being thrown off a roof, while playing Frank Nitti, by Kevin Costner in the 1987 movie version of "The Untouchables" – still works steadily. His latest efforts seen have been an episode of the CW series "Supernatural" and the Sci Fi Channel movie "Copperhead," and he's finished three other projects: "Rounds," "Downstream" and "Dark Moon Rising."

ROTARY DONATES TO STEPHEN'S TABLE – Oakland Rotary Club representative John Kinzer presented a $500 check last Thursday to Rev. Dr. Chip Lee. The donation was made in recognition for the work of several members of the Episcopal Church of Garrett County (St. Matthew's and St. John's) in the Rotary french fry booth during the county fair in August. The group has served the Rotary for the last two years in this capacity. Pictured, left to right, are Lloyd Cole, Jeff Fahrner, Lee, Kinzer, and Betty Sue Kinzer. Not pictured are Madalyn and Chuck Hoffeditz, Rev. Pam Fahrner, Lou Schoemer and grandchildren, Jack Regentin, and Steve Stromwell. Stephen's Table serves free meals to the public on the next to last Thursday of each month from 4:30 to 6 p.m. in the St. Matthew's parish hall, 126 E. Liberty Street, Oakland. Cole, chef and manager of Stephen's Table, has planned the menus, bought the food, and, along with his wife and members of St. John's and St. Matthew's, served the public for the past six years. Cole estimates that approximately 6,000 meals have been served since the inception of Stephen's Table.

ROTARY DONATES TO RESCUE SQUAD – Rotarian Tom Browning presented a check last week to the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad Auxiliary for help given at the Oakland Rotary Club's french fry booth during the Garrett County Agriculture Fair this summer. Several auxiliary members worked two different days at the booth. The auxiliary supports the rescue squad through fundraising activities held during the year. Pictured, left to right, in the front row are Browning, Artie Dixon, Rose Baker, Connie Domenick, and Jo Cvetnick. In the back row are Dee Moyer, Ann Smith, Sue McDaniel, June Baker, and Charles Baker. Auxiliary members who also worked at the french fry booth but are not pictured are Phyllis Rinker, Dolores Moyer, Linda and John Maroney, and Birgitta Jonson.

LITTLE ONE DRAWS WINNER – Madi Hanline, daughter of Heather and Patrick Hanline, pulled the winning ticket for the Civic Club of Oakland's Autumn Glory quilt. The winner was John Kaier from Sykesville, who said he comes to Garrett County frequently to visit friends. The ticket was sold to him on Saturday, Aug. 10, at Arrowhead Market.

SAFE Program Available At GCM Hospital

Garrett County Memorial Hospital, in collaboration with the Garrett County Health Department, has established a local Sexual Assault Forensic Examiner (SAFE) program, which aims to better meet the needs of the community and improve health care for victims of sexual assault.

Christie Cameron, Heather Cooper, and Diana Pepe are community health nurses at the GCHD, and will be the three certified Forensic Nurse Examiners (FNE) for the program.

Cameron was an FNE at Western Maryland Health System (WMHS), as well as a labor and delivery nurse prior to moving to Garrett County. She specializes in Family Planning, Child Immunizations, Lead Poisoning Prevention, and Administration Care Coordination.

Cooper specializes in Communicable Diseases, Emergency Preparation, Family Planning, and Adult Immunizations. She is enrolled in the Pediatric Nurse Practitioner program at West Virginia University.

Pepe is a registered nurse at GCMH and is currently enrolled in the Family Nurse Practitioner program at WVU.

According to a spokesperson, an estimated 683,000 rapes are reported per year, 1,871 per day, and 78 per hour in the United States. "Unfortunately so many go unreported and Garrett County is not exempt from the crimes of society," said the spokesperson.

Previous to the GC location, victims of sexual assault had to travel to Allegany County for a forensic examination. Thanks to a state funded grant, there are currently 18 SAFE programs located in Maryland.

Victims of sexual assault are encouraged to contact members of the Garrett County Sexual Assault Response Team, who are available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Persons may call the DOVE Center at 1-800-656-4673 or 301-334-9000.

Two Juveniles Are Taken To GCMH Following Accident

A single-vehicle accident resulted in a juvenile driver being transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for minor injuries on Saturday.

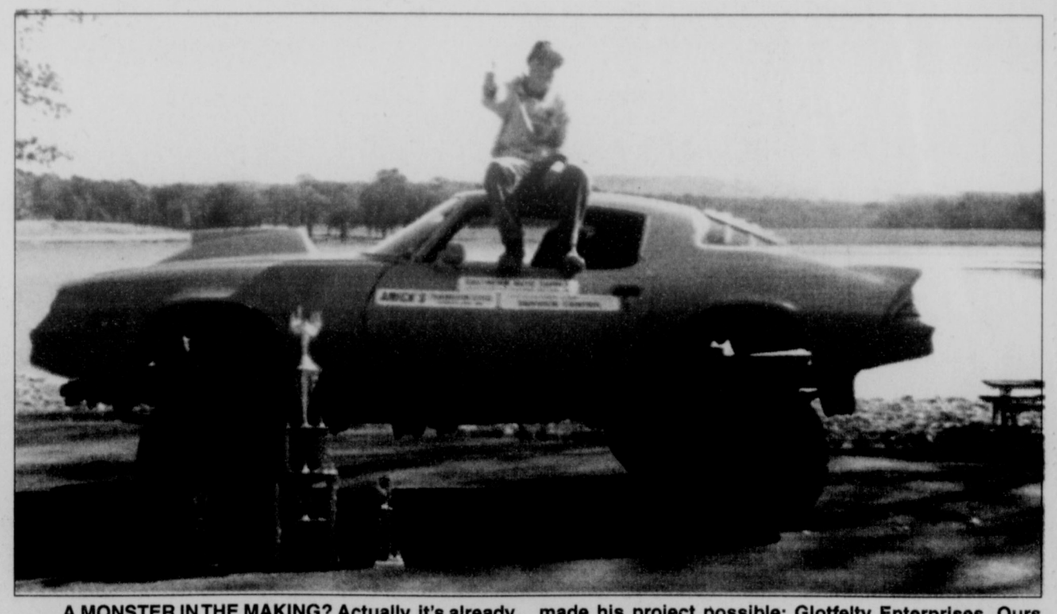
Investigation revealed that the driver was traveling east on Garrett Road, when the 1996 Ford Ranger he was operating lost traction and traveled off the roadway, colliding with an embankment. A neighbor heard the crash and notified authorities.

The driver and his juvenile passenger were transported to the GCMH emergency room by Southern Rescue Squad. They were treated and released to their parents. Traffic charges are pending investigation.

Swanton Center Will Serve Cakes

The Swanton Community Center will serve a buckwheat cake/pancake dinner on Saturday, Nov. 8. The menu will include "all-you-can-eat" cakes, sausage, and sausage gravy. Serving will begin at 4 p.m.

The cost of the meal is $6 for adults and $3 for children. Those under age 5 may eat free.



A MONSTER IN THE MAKING? Actually, it's already made, and 18-year-old Michael Gibbons has won a number of trophies with his four-wheel-drive "Monster" Camaro, a 1974 model that Gibbons spent four years modifying. The 2008 Southern High School grad also enjoys taking his vehicle for display at community events, after-school programs, and car shows, and in parades. Gibbons notes his appreciation to the sponsors who made his project possible: Glotfelty Enterprises, Ours Salvage, Southern Auto Supply, Ammick's Transmissions, and Loch Lynn Service Center. The "Monster" has been put away for the winter months, but organizations and individuals who would like to arrange a visit for next spring or fall are invited to telephone Elizabeth Gibbons at the Loch Lynn After-School program, 301-334-0723.

Hard-To-Adopt Buddy Becomes 500th Animal Rescued By HART This Year

HART for Animals rescue coordinator Caroline Robison has announced that the organization rescued and transported its 500th animal, Buddy, this year on Oct. 17.

Working with the Garrett County Animal Shelter and volunteer drivers, HART places county animals with bigger rescue groups, where they have a greater chance of being adopted.

"We are especially happy that Buddy was rescued," Robison said. "His chances – like the chances of all big, black, mixed-breed dogs – were not good. Rescue groups are reluctant to take them because the adoption rate for large animals is very low."

Buddy differed from other dogs like him because he has a good personality, is very outgoing, and is friendly with other dogs and children, according to Robison.

"Most important, he was neutered," she said.

HART's work helps relieve overcrowding in the Garrett County Shelter and minimizes the euthanasia of adoptable animals, according to HART president Mercedes Pellet.

"Since animals arrive at the shelter on a continuous basis – a situation worsened by the current economic crisis – HART is constantly working to save as many animals as possible," Pellet said.

In describing this volunteer-intensive process, Robison said: "We have great volunteers, but we don't have enough. Sometimes we need more than one transport per week."

GETTING READY FOR A NEW LIFE – Garrett County Animal Shelter manager Bonnie Zimmerman is shown getting Buddy ready for transport downstate by a HART volunteer. In recent years, HART for Animals has taken hundreds of pets that might have been euthanized to rescue groups for adoption. On Oct. 17, Buddy became the 500th animal that HART has rescued this year. Last year, the nonprofit local organization saved 558 pets. See story for details.

The transports are trips made to either Hagerstown or Frederick to meet representatives from the rescue groups. People who want to volunteer need to have a large car, feel comfortable around animals, be able to drive, and have the time to make the round trip.

On average, dog transports take four crates, either with puppies or grown dogs, and cat transports take 10 small crates.

Volunteers donate the cost of the transport mileage, which qualifies as a charitable donation deductible from their taxes.

The real payoff as a volunteer, according to Robison, is the "absolutely great feeling you get when you deliver the animals to the rescue organization because you've helped saved the life of an animal, and find a home for a homeless pet."

Anyone interested in volunteering is asked to call HART at 301-334-4278. For additional information about the organization, one can visit hartforanimals.org or write mercedes@hartforanimals.org.

In 2007, the Garrett County Animal Shelter took in 1,317 animals, of which 558 were transported by HART and 557 were euthanized, according to Pellet.

"Those statistics are the driving force behind the effort being made by HART for Animals to raise funds for building an Animal Adoption Center in Garrett County," she said.

HART's next fundraising event is the Fur Ball Gala, which will take place at the Oakland Community Center (armory) on New Year's Eve. Tickets will go on sale Nov. 1 at various local businesses. For additional information, persons can write furball@hartforanimals.org.

West Virginia Man Found Guilty For CDS Possession

Joseph Ottawa Friend, 28, Piedmont, W.Va., was handed a guilty verdict for charges of a CDS possession of paraphernalia and a charge of displaying expired registration plates issued by any state during recent Garrett County District Court hearings. Judge H. Jack Price Jr. sentenced him to six months, all of which was suspended. Friend was handed 18 months of unsupervised probation and fines totaled $300.

Friend's charges stemmed from his arrest in May when Maryland State Police conducted a traffic stop because of the vehicle tags being expired. According to reports, an MVA check was run and it was learned the tags were indeed expired and belonged on a 1992 Mazda.

MSP conducted the traffic stop, during which Friend could not produce a license or proof of registration. The 1990 Pontiac Grand Am he was driving was unregistered. Friend then proceeded to admit that the tags belonged on his van. He could provide no proof of insurance and a routine check of his name and date of birth revealed that his license was currently suspended in W.Va. The search also revealed there was an active arrest warrant on file with the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

Officers placed Friend under arrest and a search-incident-to-arrest of his vehicle revealed a ceramic smiley face jar containing trace amounts of marijuana and a multi-colored glass smoking pipe with marijuana residue.

In an unrelated case, David Michael House, 39, Monroe Falls, Ohio, was not prosecuted on a charge of theft of $500 plus value, stemming from his arrest in July.

MSP were called to the scene of an accident involving House. Investigation revealed that House was operating a 2004 Honda 400 Fourtrax. It was determined after checking the vehicle through NCIC/Miles that the vehicle was reported stolen in June to the Wayne County Sheriff's office in Ohio by the owner of the vehicle. The report of the vehicle being stolen was confirmed by the Wayne County office.

House was transported to Ruby Memorial Hospital for injuries and appropriate criminal charges were filed for the defendant.

In another district court hearing, Chad William Campbell, 30, Oakland, was not prosecuted on two charges of assault in the second degree, one charge of second degree child abuse, and one charge of false imprisonment. Campbell had been arrested in September for a domestic dispute involving two victims. Sheriff's officers responded and transported Campbell to the Garrett County Detention Center to await trial.

DUI/DWI CASES

The following driving while under the influence (DUI) and driving while impaired (DWI) cases were heard in recent Garrett County District Court proceedings:

Rodney Clay Swiger, 42, Md., was found guilty for a June DWI charge and was sentenced to 30 days in jail. Swiger was not prosecuted on a charge of DUI.

Stancie Edward Esenwein, 45, W.Va., was found guilty on a charge of DWI and was sentenced to 30 days, all of which was suspended. Fines totaled $250 and Esenwein was given 18 months of supervised probation. He was not prosecuted for the November 2007 charges of DUI and DUI per se.

Patrick Jude Mullen, 51, Pa., was handed a probation before judgement (PBJ) for an August charge of DUI per se, and fines were $200. Mullen was given one year of unsupervised probation. He was not prosecuted on charges of DUI and DWI.

Sarah Emily Ankerson, 21, Md., pleaded guilty to a DUI per se charge and was handed a PBJ of one year unsupervised probation with fines totaling $200. She was not prosecuted on charges of DUI and DWI from the July arrest.

Accident Leads To DUI, DWI Charges For 18-Year-Old

An 18-year-old woman was charged by sheriff's deputies for driving under the influence, along with several other charges following the investigation of a two-vehicle accident on George Washington Highway last Thursday.

Brittany Marie Callis was operating a 2004 Chevy eastbound on the highway at approximately 4 p.m., when her vehicle crossed the center line and struck a 1997 Pontiac that was traveling westbound. The Pontiac was driven by Lori Sutphin, 39, Bridgeport, W.Va.

Upon completion of the investigation, Callis was charged with DUI, driving while impaired, failure to reduce speed to avoid a collision, and failure to drive right of center. She was transported to the Garrett County Detention Center to await a bond hearing.

Southern Rescue Squad also responded to the scene.

MTN. LAKE PARK WATER SYSTEM
NOTICE OF VIOLATION
Surface Water Treatment Technique

The Garrett County Department of Public Utilities is providing the following notice regarding the Mtn. Lake Park Water System. The springs for the water system have been evaluated for protection against surface water influence as required by the Surface Water Treatment Rule (SWTR), as adopted in the Code of Maryland, COMAR 26.04.01, Quality of Drinking Water in Maryland. The springs were determined to be under the direct influence of surface water by the Maryland Department of the Environment. As a result, this source requires additional treatment, such as filtration, or replacement with a protected water source. Federal and state regulations require that the Mtn. Lake Park Water System install filtration.

What is the Department of Public Utilities doing?

The Mtn. Lake Park Water System disinfects the drinking water that is produced from the spring. The drinking water is tested monthly for coliform bacteria and results have met state and federal standards.

The Department of Public Utilities is in the process of replacing the water supply with a protected water source.

What should I do?

People with severely compromised immune systems, infants, and some elderly may be at increased risk. These individuals should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. General guidelines on ways to lessen the risk of infection by microbes are available from EPA's Safe Drinking Water Act Hotline (800-426-4791). If you have specific health concerns, consult your physician.

What does this mean?

This is not an emergency. This notification is provided to advise Mtn. Lake Park Water customers of the treatment requirements for their water system. Any questions or concerns should be directed to Allen Festerman at 301-387-9141. Please share this information with others who may find it useful.

LIQUIDITY AND LEVERAGE

by Dr. Thomas P. Sheahen

Q. Amid all the recent financial troubles, I'm hearing the words "liquidity" and "leverage" a lot. What do those terms mean?

A. Liquidity is readily understood by using the comparison of water and maple syrup. Water flows quickly and easily, syrup considerably slower, and tar flows hardly at all. Silly putty feels like rubber, but if you have ever left it on the desktop you know it is actually a liquid.

In the world of banking, liquidity is a measure of the amount of cash you have on hand; it tells the degree to which a bank can produce cash when required. To conduct daily activities, a bank needs liquidity. If it expects lots of withdrawals, it needs lots of liquidity.

Here's one textbook definition: "Liquidity is the degree to which any asset can be acquired or disposed of without much danger of any intervening loss in nominal value, and with small transaction costs."

Money is definitely liquid; short-term government bonds are reasonably liquid; long-term government bonds are less liquid. This is where the water/syrup analogy is helpful – indeed, they all flow, but some faster than others.

To an individual, liquidity is cash in the pocket; a checking account balance is essentially the same, since ATM machines are everywhere. A debit card is just as good as cash, fully liquid. A credit card is a "liquid asset" to the user, provided he pays the bill in full every month and never pays finance charges (which are one type of transaction cost for borrowing money). A CD that you can't have for 6 months without paying a penalty is much less liquid. The value of your home is definitely not liquid; there is a high transaction cost to convert it into money.

At a bank, money from depositors is lent out to borrowers for various periods of time. A bank pays interest at one rate, but charges interest at a higher rate. When one loan comes due – say, a 90-day loan – the bank makes a new loan with that money. If the new loan is for a shorter period, we say the liquidity increases; and conversely, a longer loan implies decreasing liquidity. A bank that is urgently scrambling to increase liquidity may not lend the money out at all, but keep it handy to meet immediate needs.

If a lot of banks do that all at once, it causes a credit crunch. Every business needs working capital; the very simplest example is the coins in the cash register drawer. But if a business cannot find a bank that will lend it money, it soon runs out of operating funds, and has to lay off employees. Before long, many businesses stagnate for lack of working capital. This pathway is a downward spiral, and can lead to an economic depression.

Holding onto a certain amount of cash, not investing it, is a precaution that everyone would do well to observe. Having enough to cover 60 days worth of expenses is a typical choice. However, doing so has its own cost: the value of the foregone interest that you might have earned.

Leverage means borrowing at one interest rate and investing the money at another (presumably higher) interest rate. For most people, their greatest leveraged investment is their home mortgage. Imagine a home costing $150,000. Let's say you made a down payment of 20% and borrowed 80%, so your leverage ratio is 4:1. You invested $30,000 and owe the bank $120,000. If the price of your home goes up 10% (to $165,000), the bank still wants the same $120,000, but your share of the equity rises to $45,000. Already you've "made" $15,000 "gain" on your investment of $30,000. That's a 50% "return."

The reason for all those quotation marks is because you haven't actually made a gain until you sell it. And meanwhile, the price might go down, too, in which case the mortgage holder still expects to be paid; and any loss in equity is your problem. With leverage, you can lose just as fast as you once gained.

Leverage is employed not only by homeowners, but also by businesses every day; stock market investors, investment bankers, and others all use leverage as well. In the past decade, some mortgage-investment firms established packages of loans with leverage ratios of 40:1 or even 60:1. As long as housing prices went up, they were making money rapidly. Of course, "everybody knows" that housing prices never go down, don't they?

Imagine that $150,000 home-mortgage example once again. If you're leveraged out 40:1, that means your investment is only about $3,700. If the price goes up a mere 3%, you've made $4,500 – over 100% on your investment. But if the price goes down only 3% (a drop of $4,500), you've lost your entire investment.

Basically, that's what happened in the "mortgage meltdown." People who were supposed to be sophisticated investors and understand risk either forgot about or ignored the possibility of a drop in price.

There is not a fundamental connection between liquidity and leverage, but they're mentioned together these days because of this: A lot of paper value has just simply vanished amid the decline in the housing market. In turn, the investors who lost so much money via excessive leverage have caused several major investment banks to face a liquidity crisis.

Investor psychology plays an important role too. The economic realities might not be all that bad, but if too many people want their cash all at once, the liquidity crisis worsens. America has suffered banking panics in various years: 1837, 1873, and most famously, the Great Depression. Banking regulations are intended to prevent such crises. Government guarantees of deposits are an excellent way to persuade people to leave their deposits alone, thus giving the banks greater liquidity.

THE SIGN OF AN EXCEPTIONAL SALES ASSOCIATE.

Dear Dale,
What a pleasure it was working with you from the beginning, in May to the settlement in October. Your pleasant nature and calm persona during a stressful time has a comforting effect. You were always patient. When we first met you in May of this year, you were informative and not once did we feel any pressure as we did with other Realty Companies. Following up with the information you mailed, gave us a feeling of your sincerity and willingness to wait until we were ready to move on. Handling the issues as you did, because we do not live in the area (yet), was a big relief to us. We had all the confidence you had our best interests at heart. . . . You kept us informed as to what was happening and what the next steps would be. You made us feel we were the only couple you were working with. We look forward to seeing you now and again when we are at the, as I like to call it, "Lake House." . . . Dale you were wonderful. Please feel free to give our name and phone number if you need a reference. Your score is 10 (meaning the best).

Ask Sheila
Decorating Dilemma?
Sheila offers helpful advice.

Dear Sheila:
My husband and I just purchased our first home. Unfortunately we both HATE the "curtains" on the windows.
We have agreed to give our house window treatments instead of gifts to each other this year.
We both work and want something that is easy to care for, gives us privacy, and of course looks beautiful! I think we both like the idea of something light at the windows, and of course, any insulation factors help.
Early Holidays!

Dear Early:
Congratulations!
Just in time! Stop in and see the wonderful variety of shades available from Hunter Douglas with style, color, texture and lift all options you can truly make your home your own! Check out our windows with fully operating samples. Oh yes, we have insulating factors.

A REAL EARFUL

These days, iPods and other types of MP3 devices are more popular than ever, as people walk around with earbuds firmly fixed in their ears. However, users of MP3 players (with any type of headphones) should know that turning up the volume to about 90% of maximum and listening a total of two hours per day, five days a week, can lead people with more sensitive ears to experience a significant degree of hearing loss. Specifically, they could experience losses on the order of 40 decibels (dB), which means that the quietest audible sounds they hear are 40 dB loud. While people with this high-pitched hearing loss can still hear sound and understand most speech, problems will likely arise in noisy environments.

Don't jeopardize your hearing. Hearing loss is painless and invisible, yet more people suffer from it than from heart disease, cancer, blindness, TB, MS, and kidney disease put together. The reasons vary and include misusing personal musical devices, noise pollution, aging, medical conditions, and heredity. Young and old, from babies to baby boomers to senior citizens, are affected. Find out the state of your hearing. Visit AUDIBEL, where our services include thorough consultations, comprehensive testing, expert evaluations, custom fittings, and follow-up care.

P.S. At maximum volume, a person can safely listen to music via an MP3 player for only about five minutes per day. The louder the volume, the shorter the music-listening duration should be.

IT'S TIME!

With the economic situation this year, we expect great need...

WARM THE CHILDREN

Providing New Winter Clothing For Needy Children

For the 11th year, The Republican newspaper and the Civic Club of Oakland are asking for your help. Without it, many Garrett County children will go cold this winter.

Just what is the WARM THE CHILDREN PROGRAM?

The Civic Club and The Republican's WARM THE CHILDREN PROGRAM is basically neighbors helping neighbors. We here at the paper are asking for monetary donations (tax deductible) from you, the readers. The collected funds are being used to purchase new winter clothing for Garrett County children in need. Because the newspaper administers the program, there are no added fees or overhead costs. Every penny donated is used to buy the winter items.

How are needy children being identified?

A special corps of volunteers is working right now to identify those in need this year. (Please do not call for the service. If you have been selected, you will be notified.)

How will the children's clothing be purchased?

Members of the Civic Club of Oakland are taking the families shopping at Wal-Mart. The children, with the help of their parents, may select their own new coats, hats, sweaters, long johns, jeans, boots, pajamas, or other needed winter items, spending up to $125 per child.

The Civic Club of Oakland is again heading up the volunteer/shopping coordination. Many volunteers are working together to make sure the children of Garrett County stay warm this winter.

The Republican and the GWFC Civic Club of Oakland

To make a donation, please complete the coupon below, cut it out, and mail it along with your tax-deductible contribution to the address noted. All checks should be made out to Warm the Children.

Donations should be postmarked by December 10, 2008. Those collected after December 10 will be saved for next year's campaign.

SUPPORTING GARRETT MENTORS – Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church conducted a fundraiser over the past eight months to benefit local children in need. A "noisy offering" (loose change dropped into a metal pan) was collected on the third Sunday of each month. As a result, the church was able to raise nearly $1,000 and donate to Garrett Mentors Inc. The funds were used to pay three months' rent for office space for the new organization, which is housed at the Garrett County Museum in Oakland. "The office space serves as a quiet, private setting for mentor interviews, and a safe place for confidential children's files," said Tricia Cheesman, executive director. "The gift was received with many heartfelt thanks to Shepherd of the Hills." This contribution was then supplemented in October by a grant from Thrivent Financial for Lutherans, with "Care Abounds in Communities" funds, thus extending rental coverage for an additional three months. "On the surface, the Care Abounds in Communities program provides funding for chapter members to meet important needs in their communities," a Thrivent spokesperson said. "But the impact of this unique program is far-reaching, and far more powerful. It gives Thrivent the opportunity to multiply the good it does by working together with groups like Shepherd of the Hills to make a profound impact in the community." In the photo above, church member Marcene Huebner is pictured as she presents the donation to Cheesman. In the other photo are Thrivent Financial for Lutherans representatives John Strider and Susie VanMeter. For more information about Shepherd of the Hills, persons may visit the web site at www.shepherdofthehillslutheran.org.

Tips To Avoid Collisions With Deer Offered

AAA Mid-Atlantic is warning motorists to be alert to amorous deer whose mating season is in full swing now through the end of fall. Deer-vehicle crashes can be costly and deadly.

"As motorists are enjoying the beautiful fall foliage, they need to be mindful that deer are literally on the prowl with only one goal in sight — finding a mate," said Ragina Averella, manager of public and government affairs.

The Insurance Institute for Highway Safety estimates that 1.5 million deer-motor vehicle crashes occur each year on U.S. roads, resulting in at least $1 billion in vehicle damage.

In Maryland, three people died and an additional 266 were injured in 2006 in deer-vehicle crashes, according to the Deer-Vehicle Crash Information Clearinghouse.

"Tragically, the number of animal-vehicle crashes has increased. Maryland crashes with animals rose from 1,187 in 1994 to 1,479 in 2006," said Averella.

"Keep in mind, deer can run as fast as 40 miles per hour. They may suddenly bolt onto the road, catching motorists off guard and resulting in serious vehicle damage, personal injury, or even death," she said.

She explained that deer mature and begin to search for mates in the fall and may roam as far as four miles to do so. Many are also searching for food and shelter. Equally important, they tend to travel during the same times that motorists are driving to and from work — early morning and late afternoon.

"AAA Mid-Atlantic urges motorists to be especially aware during this time of year, as commuting times coincide with high times of deer activity. More importantly, with increased development, deer habitat has decreased and deer are interacting and living closer to humans," Averella said.

"Drive defensively and be alert, particularly near wooded areas along local roadways. Most deer-vehicle collisions occur on two-lane roads bordered by natural habitat," she added.

In 2007, the AAA Mid-Atlantic Insurance Group paid out 551 claims for damage caused by a collision with an animal, primarily deer. Of those claims, 79 were in Maryland, with an average claim of $2,600.

AAA Mid-Atlantic offers the following tips for drivers:

•Buckle up and do not speed. A decrease in speed gives a driver more time to react.

•Be observant. Look for deer-crossing signs indicating areas where deer frequently travel. Deer are creatures of habit and may often use the same path again — remember where you see them.

•Be alert. A deer standing near a roadside may suddenly run across the road. Slow down and use your horn to scare the deer. Never shine or flash your vehicle's lights. This can cause the deer to fixate on your vehicle. Use high-beams for greater visibility.

•Look for groups. Deer travel in groups, so if you see one crossing the road ahead slow down, as there are probably others in the area, but out of view.

•Never swerve. Instead, slow down and brake. Swerving can cause you to lose control of your vehicle and strike another vehicle or object along the roadway.

•Do not rely on devices. There is no conclusive evidence that hood-mounted deer whistles and other such devices work.

•Slow down. If a crash with a deer is unavoidable, AAA recommends slowing down and releasing your foot from the brake before impact. This will raise the front end of the car during the crash and increase the likelihood that the animal will go underneath the vehicle instead of through the windshield.

•Do not try to move a deer. An injured deer might panic and seriously injure a Good Samaritan. Call police or animal control for assistance.

Church Taking Orders For Nov. Grocery Menus

Deep Creek Baptist Church will accept orders for the November Angel Food Ministries Menu on Thursday, Nov. 6, from 3:30 to 6:30 p.m. and Friday and Saturday, Nov. 7 and 8, from 8:30 to 11 a.m.

Angel Food Ministries is a non-profit, non-denominational organization dedicated to providing grocery relief and financial support to communities. There are no fees involved, no applications to complete, and no qualifications to which participants must adhere, according to a DCBC spokesperson.

"This is high quality food, no second-hand items, no damaged or out-dated goods, no dented cans without labels, no day-old breads, or produce that is almost too ripe," the spokesperson said.

Each unit is a medium-sized box that costs $30. Also offered are specialty boxes with such items as steaks, chicken, pork, and fruit.

Each month a different menu is offered, consisting of both fresh and frozen items with an average retail value of approximately $60 to $78.

Menu forms are available at various Oakland businesses. The menus are also online at angelfoodministries.com.

Persons may call the church office at 301-387-5688 or 301-387-2920 to schedule an appointment to place an order, but the cut-off date for orders is Nov. 8. The pickup date for groceries is Saturday, Nov. 22, between 9 and 11 a.m.

Persons may also mail their order forms, along with a certified check or money order to Deep Creek Baptist Church, 19841 Garrett Highway, Oakland, MD 21550. Personal checks cannot be accepted.

The church is located across from Uno's at Deep Creek Lake.

Pain Relievers for Tension Headaches

Tension headaches are characterized by mild to moderate head pain which may extend to the back of the neck. This type of headache may resolve within a half hour, or may persist for several days. Persons who experience tension headaches may experience difficulty sleeping, decreased appetite, or difficulty concentrating. Chemicals in the brain, such as serotonin and endorphins, may be altered and interfere with pain pathways in the brain. Headache triggers include stress, anxiety, lack of physical activity, and hormonal changes. Certain medications also may trigger tension headaches, including drugs prescribed for high blood pressure and depression.

Pain relievers available over-the-counter, including ibuprofen and acetaminophen may provide relief from tension headaches. Unless otherwise directed by a doctor, the use of pain-relievers for tension headaches should be limited to 2 days per week. For more severe headaches, certain prescription medications may be prescribed. These include the non-steroidal anti-inflammatory medications naproxen and ketorolac. Paroxetine and venlafaxine are antidepressants that are sometimes prescribed to reduce the severity of chronic tension headache attacks.

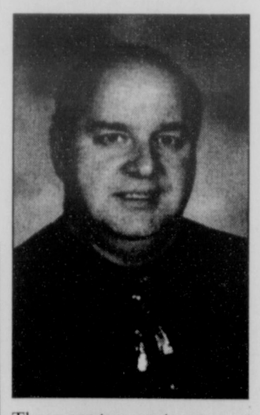
Raley Announces Candidacy For Bd. Of Education

Jim Raley, a resident of the Finzel area, has announced his candidacy for reelection to the Garrett County Board of Education.



There are two seats open on the school board for the Nov. 4 election.

Raley has been involved in public education in Garrett County for 26 years, having been a classroom teacher for 14 years and a member of the Board of Education for 12 years. He is currently serving as president of the board.

Raley said "tremendous" growth has taken place in the public schools during his three terms on the Board of Education.

"Our students are positioned better now than ever before to meet the challenges of today's society, in part due to the tremendous support of the parents and citizens of our county and the tireless commitment of our education employees," Raley said.

According to the candidate, recent data indicates the students in county schools consistently rank above state and national averages in areas of achievement.

Raley said he feels the challenge for the next four years will be to maintain and build quality programs while shrinking budgets and shortfalls will dominate governmental agencies.

"The Garrett County Board of Education has operated in a very prudent manner year after year and has carefully scrutinized budgets page by page and line by line," Raley said. "This scrutiny has resulted in annual savings to the county and afforded the opportunity for funds to be used in other critical areas. I look forward to a continued dialogue and respectful working relationship with the county commissioners on budgetary matters."

He added that during the past few years, an "aggressive" capital improvement plan and maintenance plan has been implemented to modernize and upgrade school facilities.

"I am pleased with the many capital projects we have completed over the past years, and anxiously await the opening of the newly renovated Northern Middle School, in 2009, an enhanced modern facility with state of the art equipment," the candidate said.

He added that the availability of funding or consideration of bonding will determine the continuance of the capital program, as education programs for the students have to be the top priority of the board.

Raley's spouse Susan is serving as campaign treasurer, and Jesse Opel of Longstretch is serving as campaign chairperson.

Thank You
(From The Claude Wagner Family)

We would like to thank everyone from the bottom of our hearts for the outpouring of love, kindness, and prayers that was shown to all of us during Claude's illness and following his death.

Whether you said a kind word, sent food, flowers, cards, ran errands, visited, or just sat and prayed with us, it was appreciated more than you'll ever know.

We especially want to thank Dr. Charles Walch, Dr. Donald Richter, Hospice of Garrett County, Burdock Funeral Home, Pastor David Martin, the pallbearers, all the wonderful people from the Faith Evangelical Free Church who participated in the funeral service, and all the kind ladies who served the delicious meal.

How blessed we are to live in such a wonderful community with great caring friends and family. Claude has left a great legacy behind for all of us to learn from. Again, we Thank You All!

Real Estate Facts by...

BUY MORE HOME NOW!

While the pundits determine whether the real estate market is plunging or recovering, buyers are in the unique position of looking at a glass that is half full, not half empty. When sales are slow, that's actually a good thing for qualified buyers, and there has not been a better time to consider finally purchasing that vacation home.

Your second home is not a short-term investment, like those that have been "flipped" in recent years. Your vacation home is meant to be a long-term investment that pays big dividends not only in appreciation, but also in recreation and great family memories.

Today's market allows you to take more time to do your research and make your decision. Start by connecting with a real estate professional in the area you're interested in, and have them watch that market like a hawk to alert you to possible buying opportunities.

Don't focus on what the market is doing now... look ahead and consider the value of your purchase several years from now. Because real estate nearly always appreciates, you can buy more home now than you could further down the line.

Property is still a terrific long-term investment, regardless of current market conditions. Knowing that you can always rent your second home might just prove to be a great strategy for making second home ownership a real possibility! If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call today.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

Cindy Richardson shared her photos from her Africa trip with me. All through these were plenty of pictures of the school, hospitals, and clinics built by Operation Bootstrap Africa, the major project of the Lutheran Churches through America.

One picture was of a large group of female graduates from their college studies. They were decked out in traditional attire, handbeaded by their proud mothers. Cindy presented each a wooden cross made by Judy and Mike Simpson. Cindy took many of those crosses and gave them to people she met. Cindy was impressed with the quality of works by Operation Bootstrap Africa, in spite of very limited resources.

In one of the private boys' schools, five little boys share one bed!

Cindy did get to see some of Africa. On the savannah they passed over, she saw and photographed almost every kind of African wildlife there is. She was within a few hundred feet of elephants and lions, and a pride of lions even watched while their driver changed a flat tire.

The vegetation was what I had expected □ pale tan grass with very little water and hardly any leafy trees. Cindy got a beautiful shot of some giraffes feeding on leaves right in front of a beautiful sunset.

Since Cindy is an early riser, she also got several photos of sunrises, along with a surprising number of beautiful wildflowers.

Our wildflowers are now just a distant memory. In fact, the last few weeks of October have been very cold. Last week I heard of the first light snow in the Bittinger area. I saw some snow flakes this Monday morning. I hate to say it, but I had to run my furnace a little bit the last couple of days. I only have between 100 and 200 gallons of fuel oil, which must last until December, when I hope I qualify for energy assistance.

I am dependent on one of the government programs Senator McCain calls "wasteful and socialistic," and is planning to cut to allow tax breaks for multi-millionaires. I am sure they can still afford to heat their vacation homes in Aspen.

One of my prescriptions costs over $200, on top of Medicare Part D and private insurance. Now I am sick with a sinus infection. If I have to get another prescription, my whole Christmas budget will be gone.

Senator Joe Biden predicted an international crisis for the new president. Well, it happened already, but not with rogue forces, but when American forces went into Syria. Can we really afford a massive war involving all nations of the Middle East? I wouldn't feel safer with Senator McCain in control. I hear Senator Obama's greatest strength is listening. I believe he will gather the best minds around him, listen to what they have to say, and use his powerful intellect to develop a good plan. When I heard about Syria, I longed for a great communicator to calm my fears.

Our "Top Gun of the Woods," Shane Buckel, scored his second bear last Wednesday. It weighed 196 pounds. According to the several tags in its ears, its original home was Westmoreland County, Pa., and moved several times to other counties, but it repeatedly returned to its home. After it moved down south to Garrett County, it was trapped at an ice cream place on the lake.

Shane got his first bear in 2003.

Now it is wild turkey season. Around this neck of the woods, we occasionally spot them, but not very often. A few years ago, my daughter spotted a large flock in the field between our house and Rodney's house.

It is a small miracle that I was able to do this column today because I am pretty sick: congestion, sore throat, and worst of all, an earache and fever. I was pretty happy to see the delivery gal from Deep Creek Pharmacy, because I am confident that when I get some antibiotics in my system, I will start to feel better.

It is not unusual to get snow in Bittinger before Halloween, but thankfully it is not every year, so I was not stunned to have to force open the door to let Boo out this morning. A very cold wind was blowing. Real winter arrived two months early in Bittinger this year!

GETTING A TASTE of the importance of fulfilling one's responsibility as a citizen of the United States to vote, the third-grade classes of Broad Ford Elementary School held a school election on Monday, with Senators John McCain and Barack Obama on the ballot for president. The students of Barbara Heilig, Shirley Skidmore, and Barbara Ponceroff constructed the voting booth and then invited the members of grades two through five to participate. Above left, third grader Zach DeWitt deposits his completed ballot, and above right is classmate Kiara DiSimone exiting the booth with her ballot. The final result, as one might expect, reflected the actual vote by Garrett County's registered voters on Tuesday, with McCain picking up 73.5% (189 votes), and Obama garnering 26.5% (68 votes). Unofficial returns also indicated that "Corndog" (?) received one write-in vote. Interestingly, a breakdown of the voting by grades showed that the race was considerably closer among those in the second and third grades than it was in grades four and five.

Local Woman Sentenced For Burglary, Theft

A 37-year-old Kitzmiller woman was sentenced in Garrett County Circuit Court on Monday for two third-degree burglary and two theft charges. Deann Michelle Beeman received six months in the Garrett County Jail for each count, with the sentences to run consecutively.

Judge Jim Sherbin then suspended all but 20 days of those sentences. Beeman is on supervised probation and has to pay restitution to the victims. She pleaded guilty to the four charges in September.

Beeman was charged by Garrett County sheriff's deputies in May after they determined she had been involved in the burglaries and thefts at four residences in the Kitzmiller area.

"In addition to her lack of criminal record, the court acknowledged the role she played in contacting the sheriff's office to report the involvement of juveniles in the cases, with the investigation later showing she also was involved," noted State's Attorney Lisa Thayer Welch. "Three juveniles and one other adult, John Lyle Chapman, were also charged."

John Lyle Chapman, 19, Elk Garden, W.Va., also appeared in Garrett County Circuit Court on Monday, where he was sentenced on two charges, third-degree burglary and theft, to which he had pleaded guilty in September. He also pleaded guilty in another related case to fourth-degree burglary.

Sherbin then sentenced Chapman to six months in the Garrett County Jail on each count, with the sentences to run consecutively, and suspended the sentences. Chapman was placed on supervised probation, with a condition to pay restitution.

Suspension of the sentences for Chapman was granted after one of the victims, a former Montgomery County police officer, testified on Chapman's behalf at sentencing to explain a meeting he had with Chapman and to request he not be incarcerated.

Judge Daniel Moylan (ret.) presided over several local Circuit Court cases on Wednesday. Lash Rocky Larue Lloyd Jr., 31, pleaded guilty to four counts of failing to support minor children.

Lloyd was sentenced to six months on each charge, to run consecutively, and the sentences were suspended. He was placed on probation, with a condition that requires him to remain employed and to pay his

Local Voter Turnout Not As High As Expected In Tuesday's Election

There was not a record voter turnout in Garrett County for Tuesday's general election, as many residents predicted. Of the county's more than 18,000 registered voters, about 65 percent cast ballots at polling sites.

With more than 1,000 absentee and provisional ballots yet to be counted, however, that percentage should rise to about 70 percent.

Garrett County Board of Elections director Steven Fratz had predicted the turnout might be closer to 80 percent, given such controversial referendum issues as slot machines and Sunday alcohol sales.

The "historical" factor was another component that many thought would generate a bigger turnout, as residents had the chance to vote for the nation's first African-American president or first female vice president.

But Tuesday's numbers nearly mirror the local turnout for the 2004 general election. In that year, 70.48 percent of Garrett County voters cast ballots. The turnout for the 2000 general election was 69.32 percent, according to the GC Board of Elections.

Local voters had the opportunity on Tuesday to decide if they wanted to allow certain alcoholic beverages to be sold at restaurants in their districts between 1 and 10 p.m. on Sundays. The vote was nearly evenly split in several areas of the county.

Based on current unofficial board of elections results, the referendum may have passed in at least four districts: Swanton, Sang Run, East Oakland, and Finzel. The for/against vote breakdown for those precincts is as follows: Swanton, 405/385; Sang Run, 507/397; East Oakland, 500/467; and Finzel, 322/231.

But with numerous outstanding votes yet to be counted, the fate of the referendum may change in those districts, especially considering that there are about 100 absentee ballots yet to be counted for East Oakland and nearly 115 for Swanton.

Other districts currently have the following for/against tallies: Friendsville, 298/356; Grantsville/Jennings, 555/673; Bloomington, 139/180; Accident, 355/392; Ryan's Glade/Red House, 243/351; Deer Park, 364/406; Bittinger, 129/210; Kitzmiller, 80/163; West Oakland/Crellin, 830/937; and Mountain Lake Park, 548/764.

Garrett County Board of Elections judges began counting absentee ballots this morning, Thursday, and expect to finish at 4 p.m. They will then canvass provisional ballots on Monday, Nov. 10; and next Friday they will conduct the final canvassing of absentee and provisional ballots.

The provisions of the local referendum will become effective in the election districts that approve it on Dec. 15, 2008. This means that patrons might be able to have a glass of wine with their holiday meals on Sundays at Uno's, Silver Tree, and Cornish Manor, but not at the Long Branch or Deer Park Inn.

Two of Garrett County's 19 precincts, Avilton and the Elbow, did not have the local referendum on their ballots. Voters in those districts approved Sunday alcohol sales in 1996.

Had the Sunday sales issue been presented as a countywide referendum on Tuesday, it most likely would have been defeated, as overall, 53 percent of voters disapproved. The total vote count at the polls was 5,275 for and 5,912 against.

Maryland voters approved a constitutional amendment to allow up to 15,000 video lottery terminals to be placed in Anne Arundel, Cecil, Worcester, and Allegany counties, and Baltimore City. Statewide, 59 percent of voters favored the proposal.

Locally, the vote was closer. About 51 percent approved the amendment, while about 49 percent opposed it.

Maryland voters also approved a constitutional amendment to allow early voting. Statewide, 71 percent voted "yes."

The margin in Garrett County was closer. About 57 percent of local voters

J. Hinebaugh To Be Guest Speaker At Veterans Prog.

A Veterans Day program will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 11, at 11 a.m. at the Oakland Veterans Park, located at the corner of Third and Oak streets (Rt. 219). The scheduled guest speaker is retired U.S. Army Col. Jim Hinebaugh.

The Vietnam War veteran is a native of Swallow Falls. He was drafted into the Army as a private and later went on to Officer Candidate School.

Hinebaugh is now director of the Garrett County Department of Economic Development.

In case of bad weather, the veterans program will be held in the courthouse rotunda.

Slots Pass In Maryland, But Playing Them A Long Way Off

by Eli Segall
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS – To one group, it's the "crack cocaine of gambling." To another, it's a fountain of cash for schools.

The item in question: slot machines.

The slots referendum, or Question 2 on Maryland's election ballot,, has polarized activists and spawned a web of competing, contradictory "facts." Based on these arguments, the ballot item could either save Maryland from economic failure, or send cash-starved gambling addicts on crime sprees.

One thing's for certain, though: On Tuesday, voters will decide whether or not to authorize up to 15,000 slot machines throughout the state, potentially reversing a decades-long ban.

Residents are as divided as the interest groups working to pass or defeat the referendum. Asked how she feels about it, Lois "Lo" Hibbert, a Dunkirk resident, said, "Wonderful. Happy. Great."

"I'm tired of Maryland getting screwed while West Virginia and Delaware get all the apples," Hibbert said, referring to Maryland residents crossing state lines to gamble. "I'm definitely voting for it."

Preston Metcalf, however, couldn't disagree more. The Annapolis resident described slot machines as social poison.

"Back in the old days, people would spend their grocery money on gambling," he said.

According to a recent poll by The Washington Post, 62 percent of likely voters support the ballot item, while 36 percent are against it. State officials have projected that slots will pump at least $600 million a year into the state's coffers.

More than half the total revenues produced would be used for various education needs, from pre-K through higher education.

Slots revenue would also go toward their own operating costs, the horse-racing industry and the local governments where slots are based, among other places.

The ballot item, proposed last fall in the General Assembly's special

Proposed Mining Operation Would Tunnel Beneath Casselman River

Maryland Energy Resources (MER) is planning to build an underground bituminous coal mine that would go 400 feet beneath a portion of the Casselman River. State officials are currently reviewing the proposal.

"The mining permit that we have applied for through the Maryland Bureau of Mines encompasses 3,100 acres, with an estimated 10 million tons of recoverable coal," said Joseph J. Peles, spokesperson for the Joseph Peles Coal Company of Indiana, Pa., which controls MER.

Peles has operated coal mines since 1962, and has numerous surface and underground mines to his credit in Pennsylvania and West Virginia, according to MER. His coal company was formed in 1998.

MER is a Delaware limited liability company that was established in September 2007 to enter into a coal mineral lease and to conduct an underground mining business.

Locally, MER is interested in the Upper Freeport seam within the Casselman Coal Basin. The mine is to be located south of Grantsville and Interstate 68. The South Branch of the Casselman River would bisect the proposed area's surface. A satellite view is available online at mer.us.com/index.htm.

"The start-up of the mine will occur as soon as we receive permit approval though the Maryland Bureau of Mines," Peles said. "We expect the spring of 2009."

Grantsville area residents have reported that trees have already been felled along Fire Clay Road, where it is believed the mine entrance will be located.

Once production starts, Casselman Coal may be open for more than 20 years, Peles said, and employ approximately 25 to 50 workers. The operation would be Maryland's largest deep mine

Director Jim Hinebaugh, Garrett County Department of Economic Development, said the company's investment in the project would be considerable. "About

Emily Rosser Receives First Local Scout Gold Award In Over 20 Years

The daughter of Mary and Tom Rosser, Emily was a Girl Scout for 13 years, graduated in 2008 from Northern High School, and has gone on to Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) on a scholarship to study mechanical engineering.

She was recently named an Advanced Placement Scholar by the College Board in recognition of her exceptional achievement on the college-level Advanced Placement Program exams.

Gas Explosion Seriously Injures Two In Preston County Mine

A gas explosion appears to be the cause of a mine fire on Monday in Preston County, where two miners were seriously injured with burns to their faces and arms.

A spokeswoman for the state Office of Miners' Health, Safety and Training says the explosion happened in the afternoon at the Whitetail Kittanning Mine. The mine is operated by Alpha Natural Resources and is located in Fellowsville, W.Va.

Earldean Guthrie, Oakland, is the step-grandmother of one of the two miners injured, Thomas Rosenberger, who is currently being treated at the Pittsburgh Burn Center.

"My dad worked in the mines all his life and he never experienced accidents such as these," said Guthrie. "It seems that there is not a big interest in the safety of the mine or the men."

Rosenberger's father and brother also work in the mines and were questioning returning to work today.

Two weeks ago, the mine was fined more than $763,000 after being cited 13 times in a year for allowing coal dust to accumulate along conveyer belts. Coal dust can catch fire because of friction from the belts, and it can intensify explosions.

The company allegedly said it would contest the fines and noted that the "Mine Safety Health Administration could have evacuated the mine had it considered workers in imminent danger."

Rosenberger was unresponsive after the explosion on Monday. "He finally woke up Tuesday night and asked for a lot of water," said Guthrie.

Rosenberger was recently moved to a different section

SOUTHERN BAND WINS CHAPTER 13 – The Southern Garrett Marching Band won the Tournament of Bands (TOB) Chapter 13 Championships, held on Saturday at North Hagerstown High School, for the fifth year in a row. The event pits Region 13 bands against each other to vie for a spot at the Atlantic Coast Championships (ACC), slated for Nov. 15 and 16 in Allentown, Pa. By winning the top spot in Group I with the score of 80.55, Southern will now go on to the ACC on Nov. 16. The band was also awarded the trophies for Best Percussion, Best Music, Best Visual, and Best Drum Major. Northern Garrett Marching Band was in the competition as well, and edged out Southern's auxiliary (guard) by .1 of a point, winning that specialty trophy. The Southern band is under the direction of Joshua Elmlinger, assisted by Heather Poe. Holding the banner in front of the jubilant band, in uniform and from left, are Kaytie Riley, drum major; Kelly Bean, drum major; Sarah Frederick, percussion captain; and Trista Insley, drum major. The band was against Northern and Hancock High School in Saturday's contest. See additional photos and information in today's issue.

ATV Accident Sends Oakland Man To GCMH

An Oakland man was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital following an off-road vehicle accident in Swanton late Saturday night.

Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to the railroad crossing located on Swanton Road at approximately 11:45 p.m. They, along with Deer Park Volunteer firefighters and Southern Rescue Squad personnel, were led to an area along the tracks approximately 1.1 miles south of the crossing.

Investigation into the accident revealed that Jerry Paugh, 45, had been riding his ATV along the railroad tracks, when he and the vehicle tumbled over an embankment. He was transported to GCMH by Southern Rescue Squad, where he was treated for injuries sustained in the accident.

Charges are still pending investigation.

FSU Professor Barbara Hurd To Present Reading

Frostburg State University's Department of English and the Center for Creative Writing will present Dr. Barbara Hurd, who will read from her newly released book, Walking the Wrack Line: On Tidal Shift and What Remains, on Monday, Nov. 17, at 7:30 p.m. at Main Street Books in Frostburg. Hurd, a resident of Garrett County and an evocative nature writer, is a professor in the English Department at FSU.

Walking the Wrack Line explores diverse beaches from Massachusetts to Morocco in a series of poetic essays, according to an FSU spokesperson.

Ann Fischer-Wirth, author of Five Terraces, says, "This is a beautiful book. It is as skillfully constructed as a poem, and like a poem its meanings widen. It is a series of fascinating, informative nature essays, but more deeply it is a series of meditations on 'what might be rescued from near-destruction, from silence, from invisibility'."

The book is the third installment in Hurd's environmental meditations trilogy, which also includes Stirring the Mud: On Swamps, Bogs and Human Imagination and Entering the Stone: On Caves and Feeling Through the Dark.

The reading is free and open to the public. A reception and a book signing will follow. For more information, persons may contact the FSU Center for Creative Writing at 301-687-4024 or nightsun@frostburg.edu.

FSU is committed to making all of its programs, services, and activities accessible to persons with disabilities. To request accommodations through the ADA Compliance Office, persons may telephone 301-687-4102 or use a voice relay operator at 1-800-735-2258.

"The project fills a need within a girl's community (whether local or global) and creates change to make that community a better place. The project is more than a good service project – it encompasses organizational, leadership, and networking skills."

Investigation resulted in Terry Lee Grimm, 40, being taken to the Garrett County Detention Center. He was charged with second-degree assault.

Man Arrested For Domestic Assault

A Swanton man was arrested last week for domestic assault after Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to a Swanton residence for a complaint.

Voter Turnout

want early voting, while about 43 percent do not.

Two seats were open on the Garrett County Board of Education. Only two residents ran: incumbents Charlotte Sebold and James Raley. Sebold received about 300 more votes than Raley. There were nearly 100 write-in votes.

In the Maryland Sixth Congressional District race, eight-time Republican incumbent Roscoe Bartlett easily defeated Democratic challenger Jennifer Dougherty.

Locally, Bartlett received 69 percent of the votes, while Dougherty had 29 percent. Districtwide, Bartlett received 58 percent of the votes, and Dougherty got 38 percent. Libertarian Gary Hoover Sr. had 3 percent.

In the presidential race, Republican John McCain and his running mate Sarah Palin received more than 70 percent of the local vote, while Democrats Barack Obama and Joe Biden got 29 percent. Obama, however, received 61 percent of the votes in Maryland, earning him 10 electoral votes.

Nationwide, the Illinois senator received 52 percent of the popular vote and 349 electoral votes. McCain received 46 percent of the popular vote and 147 electoral votes. Obama will be sworn in as the nation's 44th president on Tuesday, Jan. 20, 2009, in Washington, D.C.

Sentenced For

current support and arrearage payment as ordered.

At the request of the Bureau of Support Enforcement, State's Attorney Welch had charged Lloyd in April for failing to provide child support for his four minor children, beginning in May 2007, when the case was re-opened with the Bureau.

In the interim, Lloyd has obtained employment that will allow his support obligation and his court-ordered arrears payment to be withheld from his pay by his employer.

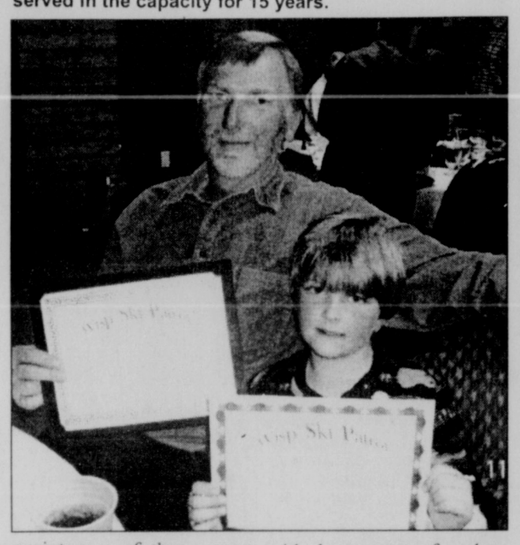
In an unrelated case, Clifford Elliott, 36, Oakland, pleaded guilty to second-degree assault. He was sentenced to eight months in the Garrett County Jail. Six months of the sentence were suspended, and Elliott will be on probation after serving the remaining 60 days. He will be on supervised probation upon his release.

Elliott was charged in April after an Oakland woman claimed Elliott had struck her in the face with a jarred candle at her residence. Injuries to her face were documented by acquaintances of the woman and Garrett County sheriff's deputies, who had contact with the woman a few days later on an unrelated matter, according to Welch.

Matthew Friend Wolf, 30, Friendsville, pleaded guilty to driving under the influence of alcohol. He was sentenced to 18 months in the Garrett County Jail, with all but 30 days suspended. The 30-days will be served on weekends. Wolf was also placed on three years of supervised probation.

He was arrested and charged by Maryland State Police last December after he was observed failing to stop at a stop sign at the intersection of Deep Creek Drive and Sang Run Road. Wolf's truck was stopped along Sang Run Road, and a trooper noted Friend had been drinking. After failing field sobriety tests, Wolf was arrested.

ROSZELL PRESENTED WITH SINCELL FIRST AID AWARD – William "Bill" Roszell IV was presented with the Wisp Ski Patrol's Robert Sincell First Aid Award on Nov. 1, recognizing his "outstanding, humanitarian, and dedicated service in teaching and training emergency medical care" to the members of the patrol. Roszell has been on the ski patrol since 1990. He assists with all pre-season classroom instruction, instruction for new patrollers, and actual on-the-hill training and testing throughout the winter season. The late Robert Sincell, for whom the award was named, was a First Aid pioneer in Garrett County, and was one of the first ski instructors and patrollers at Wisp in the 1960s. He was also the first Emergency Medical Technician (EMT) instructor in the county. Rozsell is pictured above center as he helps with a recertification class. Seated is long-time patroller Jack Herbert, and another veteran, Mike Logsdon, is at right. Ryan Roszell, son of Bill, is serving as the "victim." Bill and Ryan are pictured below with the award, plus another ski patrol honor Roszell received. The Roszells are a patrolling family, as William Roszell III (Bill's father) has patrolled for many years, and Bill's wife Susanne served in the capacity for 15 years.



Slots Pass

session, was the latest attempt to legalize slots in Maryland, where they've been banned since 1968. The horse-racing industry pushed to reverse the ban in the mid-1990s, but was thwarted by then-Gov. Parris N. Glendening.

His successor, Robert L. Ehrlich Jr., tried to legalize slots four times during his administration, but opposed this year's referendum. Gov. Martin O'Malley, who bumped Ehrlich from office in 2006, was a vocal proponent of the referendum that passed Tuesday.

Interest groups worked on both sides of the ballot item, airing television and radio advertisements and holding rallies, among other efforts.

Proponents said the referendum would inject much needed cash into the state's coffers. Among other problems, the nation's struggling economy has slashed Maryland's income and sales tax receipts, leaving less money for salaries and services.

Opponents, however, said slot machines would bring a wave of social problems, including gambling addiction, crime, and home foreclosures. Comptroller Peter Franchot, the most vocal opponent, said Wednesday that his side had to fight the "deep pockets" of the national gambling industry, among others, to convince Marylanders to vote no.

"They ran deceptive T.V. ads, manipulated the ballot language, misstated the facts, and made promises they would never, ever be able to keep," he said, in a statement.

Positive Messages...

There are some distinct advantages to electing Barack Obama as the next president of the United States that really have nothing to do with political platforms, ideologies, and whether one is a Democrat or a Republican.

While neither he nor John McCain made race an issue throughout the long campaign, there is no question that the fact that Obama happens to be African-American (well, 50%) will have some significant, positive effects that would not have happened if McCain were the victor.

A few months ago, the much maligned president of Iran, Mahmoud Ahmadinejad, stated essentially that there was no way that the U.S. would elect a black man as its president, implying that racism is so rampant here that it simply was not going to happen. Undoubtedly many others throughout the world believed the same thing. Well, in your face, Mahmoud, et al.

As an American, one can't help but feel a sense of pride that the majority of our citizens — and yes, a majority of our white citizens — disregarded skin color in this election and voted for a minority candidate to occupy the highest office in our land. And that happened in spite of the fact that opposing candidate John McCain is regarded, even by most Obama supporters, as a war hero and a man of outstanding character and proven leadership. This was certainly not a case of Obama being considered as "the lesser of two evils."

Not only does this election result send a positive message to the rest of the world about how far we Americans have come as a society in terms of race relations, but it also sends a real message of hope and encouragement to blacks and other minority citizens of the United States. While there have been many highly accomplished members of their race in various arenas, including politics, this is the first member of their race to reach what is considered, at least symbolically, as the absolute top. It finally affirms what many black parents have been telling their children for generations — that in America, with determination and hard work, they have the opportunity to achieve whatever they desire. Until late Tuesday night of this week, those words of wisdom could not be 100% justified in the minds of those young listeners. It is no wonder that there were so many post-election tears of joy flowing down the faces of black Americans.

And that affirmation also wipes away forever the excuse that some minority parents in this nation give to their children — that they should not expect to really "make it" in America because of the color of their skin.

It is now hoped that come mid-January all Americans will rally around our new president with respect and with much needed prayers of support.

Letters to the Editor

Writers of letters to the editor are reminded that letters will not be published if they exceed 400 words, do not include contact information, and/or are deemed to be libelous.

To the Editor,

On Jan. 20, 2009, Barack Obama will be inaugurated as president. The Democrats will control Congress, with Harry Reed and Nancy Pelosi at the helm

At that time we will see that George Orwell's "1984" predictions were not absurd, just 25 years premature.

We are doomed, but I guess in the words of Barack Obama, I am just a bitter person clinging to my guns and religion.

Sincerely,
Dr. Ronel R. Williams

To the Editor:

The events of Tuesday, Nov. 4, 2008, will live forever in my memory. It was a day of vast relief, of a renewal of faith in my wonderful country, of exhilaration as I watched the faces of Barack Obama's giddy supporters gathered by the tens of thousands in Chicago to welcome him and his beautiful family to the White House. What a day it was — taking such a huge chunk out of the racial barrier, and at the same time announcing to the world that we have fairly, squarely, and soundly voted to send an intelligent, wise, deeply committed individual to head up our great nation; an individual who respects diversity, who knows adversity, and who sprang from a non-traditional yet secure and loving home. A true American in every sense of the word, who will work with every fiber of his being to bring about positive change to our country and to our world.

I know he's not a god. I know he's a regular, fallible man who will make mistakes. He has said that himself, over and over. And John McCain is not evil. He's a good man, too, who has given most of his life in service to the country. But I am thrilled that the voting public saw Senator Obama as he is, a good man with a good head on his shoulders, and an agent for change in this depressed time. We needed that.

I couldn't help choking up at his acceptance speech, knowing that so many of my fellow Americans, as they went into the voting booths across the country, did not regard the color of his skin, but instead heard the wisdom of his words. And I welled up, too, in celebration with African-Americans everywhere. What a day for them, many of whom lived through segregation, and have heard stories of slavery from their own grandparents. What a day for them! My husband and I let our three teenage boys stay up to watch the history unfold right there on television. And we told them they must always remember it.

I know I'm in the minority in my beloved Garrett County, but that's okay. I'll take it. And I'll watch, along with everyone else, to see how well Mr. Obama performs. I have faith he will surprise even the most cynical out there.

To the Editor:

This letter is not intended to support or oppose the sale of alcohol on Sunday. My purpose is to point out the unfairness of the way the referendum was voted on.

The last time this was on the ballot, only two districts — Avilton and the Elbow — voted in favor of the referendum. This time, all the districts which opposed it had the opportunity to vote on it again, and possibly vote for the referendum this time.

However, the voters in Avilton and the Elbow were not allowed to vote on this issue, and that's not fair. It seems that whoever had this placed on the ballot didn't want to take the risk of these voters changing their minds.

Again, this has nothing to do with "for" or "against," but about depriving the citizens in these districts of the right to vote on this issue. It's not only unfair, it just might be unconstitutional.

At the very least, in my opinion, someone's integrity and credibility have been seriously compromised.

To the Editor:

The letter to the editor in last week's edition attributed to me was actually a letter written the previous week by a local couple who miss their grandchildren.

As described, for a six-month period of time the couple parented their grandchildren because of alleged abuse in the primary household. Needing a respite, they asked a foster family to care for the children. The Department of Social Services became involved.

The grandparents say the following:

"... most laws or rules were made with the best of intentions."

Many laws are well intended, but some have unintended consequences. Child welfare laws have had such unintended consequences, and society is served when advocates push for revision. In 2003, Maryland adopted Voluntary Custody Relinquishment, a means for parents/guardians to work side by side with local departments to access needed resources and treatment for their child where a lesser restrictive means does not exist, and be involved in review and accountability of foster care placements. Such review is mandated both in federal law, Adoption and Safe Families Act (ASFA), and in Maryland law (COMAR 07.02.11.15) by way of a service agreement, including a visitation plan. The local department has an advisory board, a foster care review board, and a citizens' review panel. Each of these entities is responsible for remedying system problems.

"More and more, grandparents are raising their grandchildren..."

Local professionals have been supporting the public in learning how to navigate the local service system. In 2006, a no-wrong-door philosophy was adopted. Citizens may make a phone call to any primary health and human services agency in Garrett County and be put in contact with the appropriate service location and contact person. For more information, go to www.communitystuff.info.

"It is wrong to make a child return to a parent that has been abusive to the child."

The epidemiology and psychology of abuse is complex. In the case of child abuse, with proper supports and education, closely monitored reunification is an important step in family preservation. Reunification doesn't always work and, when not, steps toward adoption are taken.

The local department is family-focused, and DHR, the state headquarters, has adopted Family Group Decision Making as its evidence-based model for engaging and empowering families. Locally, interagency staffs have been trained in this model. Asking for a group meeting is one way to create an environment for understanding between everyone.

Sincerely,
Susan Athey-Oxford

To the Editor:

For the past several months, the American people who are of voting age have been urged to vote. Voting is an American privilege.

However, why vote for a United States president? It seems like the Electoral College decides who gets in office, not the American people. The people could vote for some other candidate, but the one with more Electoral College votes becomes the next commander in chief. Why?

Also, why isn't the process of voting the same in every state? Why doesn't every state use the same type of machine or whatever?

One thing that the Electoral College doesn't control is the local and state issues that people vote for or against. I do hope that all people of voting age took the opportunity to do so. I also hope that our new president and local elected representatives stop things like bailing out big companies, and remember that the "little man" may need bailed out too.

Locally, I hope that people who get assistance from various local agencies are screened more carefully, and when possible, fraud is reported and investigated more thoroughly. For example, I know people who own and drive a vehicle with West Virginia tags, and get assistance in Maryland. Does he or she get help in West Virginia too?

I also know a few people who receive disability payments, work for cash, and not report it. Isn't this illegal? But, when it's reported, nothing is done.

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter because I want everyone who is reading to know about the integrity and character of my uncle and aunt, Brad and Patsy Stewart.

When I learned about their situation, I hoped for a quick resolution. However, days have turned into weeks, and weeks have turned into months. As time passes, it seems that there are more rumors and lies being spread about my uncle and aunt. I am upset and outraged every time I hear one. After reading a recent letter to the editor in the Cumberland Times-News, I feel that I can no longer be silent on this issue.

Those who truly know Brad and Patsy know that they are two of the most caring individuals anyone could ever meet. They have been there for me on countless occasions, providing me with words of encouragement and offering their prayers. I've seen them do the same and lend a helping hand, not only to other family members, but also to individuals in the community. I am blessed to have them in my life, and I know that many others would say the same. I can only conclude that the individuals responsible for spreading such blatant lies must not really know my uncle and aunt.

I am grateful that many people in the county are ignoring the rumors and are standing behind the Stewarts and their business. I only hope that others will realize that these rumors are exactly that — rumors. I hope people will think twice before circulating any rumors about these two truly remarkable individuals. As for my aunt and uncle, I know they will be okay. They have God on their side!

Sincerely,
Carrie Werdebaugh

Editor's note: The writer of the following letter to the Garrett and Allegany county commissioners requested that it appear in this column.

To the Honorable Commissioners of Allegany and Garrett counties:

This is a letter of concern requesting you to enact a moratorium on wind turbines until more environmental, safety, and wildlife studies can be concluded. There are many issues regarding turbines that have not been adequately addressed. (Ex.: include setback restrictions, height restrictions, community impact in regard to health and safety, eminent domain and basic protections for the community members who will reside close to the wind machines.) There are legitimate noise and health issues caused by wind turbines. This should be researched more before any construction.

We question why you are so urgent to bring wind energy farms to our mountaintops before sufficient research and planning is concluded. Based on the public outcry at the January 2008 meeting held at the Garrett College, it was very clear that wind energy companies did not prove they had good research supporting the installation and their claim of massive production of electricity by wind turbines. Over 90% of the citizens who attended, which numbered in the hundreds, were opposed to the wind machines.

We should not be in a race to deface our mountaintops. The amount of energy produced by the western Maryland turbines to the main grid will not even come close to 1%. Is this worth defacing our mountains? Is this alternative energy worth it? The electricity generated will not benefit the citizens of western Maryland. It will not lower anyone's electric bill in western Maryland. Have you considered how wind turbines will affect future tourism in this part of the state? Tourists come here to be in and enjoy the mountain scenery.

There are many questions and issues that need answers. Our membership asked that you hold more public hearings on this process before granting permits for construction of wind turbines. We realize that these turbines are going on private lands, but they can have much negative impact off private lands. We urged you to suspend the process for now. Consult experts in the field not tied to wind energy companies. If that research supports wind energy, then proceed through the process to ensure safety and quality of life to the citizens of western Maryland. If it doesn't support wind energy, then they should be denied. We feel the citizens should have a voice in this process.

Respectfully,
William Wilhelm,
President,
Allegany/Garrett
Sportsmen's Association

To the Editor:

In response to Sherry Werdebaugh's letter in your Oct. 30 edition regarding Brad Stewart and Stewart Funeral Home, I'd say to Ms. Werdebaugh, I think it's time for you to wake up and smell the coffee. The fact alone that the funeral home has not been permitted to do business now for almost three months ought to give you pause and raise your eyebrows a tad.

My family has turned to Stewart's Funeral Home in time of loss for over 20 years, and we have never been disappointed by the services he performed. Even with that in mind, I must present the following facts contradicting Ms. Werdebaugh's assertion that "[Brad] will be happy to answer any of your questions!" Quite to the contrary, after several attempts over the last few weeks, made by me personally and made by my nephew, we still have no accounting of funds my mother deposited with Stewart Funeral Home from 1986 through 1989. In fact, I was told by a receptionist at the funeral home that Mr. Stewart would not be answering any questions. I have two elderly aunts, and they have hit the same brick wall in attempting to ascertain an accounting and/or recoup their funds deposited with Stewart Funeral Home.

My mother passed away on Oct. 23, and during this time of great loss we were left to fend for ourselves as far as funeral and burial arrangements. Thanks to Mr. Stewart's fiasco, my mother didn't receive the dignified funeral service she paid for and had since 1989 assumed she would receive.

Ms. Werdebaugh also asserts that Brad Stewart is a pillar of his community by helping its members. That may well be true, but he is doing nothing to ease the concerns of my elderly aunts — and I expect dozens of other folks are in the same boat. My aunts are suffering extreme anxiety over this. They can't sleep at night and are becoming physically ill worrying about what will happen if they should pass away before this mess is resolved.

I do agree with one comment Ms. Werdebaugh made: "When you have to resort to deceit and lies, expect to reap what you sow." I hope Brad Stewart is prepared to reap what he has sown. And if his conduct rises to the level of being criminal, I hope he is punished to the fullest extent of the law.

We're off to the races with slots pushed out of the gate by Maryland voters. Our state constitution will be amended, and the citizenry will have to make due with whatever odds are negotiated by the house (and senate).

where under all the manure that has been piled upon the public when it comes to claims that slots will fix our state's budget problems.

Those in the betting ring, the bookmakers on both sides, banter over the odds; will there be a net gain, assets over liabilities? Best estimates show that it won't even be close.

Visit The Republican Website at www.therepublicannews.com

But let's imagine that luck is on the public's side and there is a financial win. So what? Maryland's current budget shortfalls don't go away.

That's because it isn't that there is a shortage of funds, not exactly. The primary problem rests in spending. More accurately, spending that occurs on projects, programs, and services that essentially do not work, some that year after year have never worked, and many that do not incubate or support economic or social development.

What is needed is proper perspective and analysis; a mish-mashing of knowledge, science, and experience. Unfortunately, the natural inclination, when times are tough, is to retreat to a comfort zone, where creativity wanes and inertia is too often the status quo.

In the health and human services arena, prevention and universal programs are the first to be cut. But this makes little sense, as dollar for dollar, prevention has the greatest financial return, when practiced with high-fidelity has the best outcomes, and creates long-term added value to the public. When we should be implementing an ounce of prevention as core strategy to our ailing budget, our best has been to treat symptoms.

So what we can do is encourage state leaders, elected officials, agency heads, and others involved in budget decisions to take the time needed, to stick their necks out for the greater good, to fix this eight-year structural budgetary problem. Utilize Statestats as the starting point and enforce results-based budgeting; rely on policy and budget works to guide the process. It will be, in a word, reform. And, if undertaken by good minds and kind hearts, a win-win across the board can be achieved.

Sincerely,
Susan Athey-Oxford

He is survived by his three children, Christine L. Johnson, Richard W. Carlson and wife Margaret, and Barbara Lynn and husband Charles; four grandchildren, William E. Johnson and Beverly Nugent, Stacy Renee Carlson and Jay Quinn, Stephen Chilcote Jr. and wife Erin, and Edward Chilcote and wife Kathy; three great-grandchildren, Jillian, Darby, and Hailey Chilcote; two other "great-grandchildren," Janice Nugent and Kimberly House; and two other "great-great-grandchildren," Hunter and Kameryn House.

William was baptized May 5, 1918, at Immanuel Lutheran Church, Jamestown, N.Y., and he was confirmed April 10, 1932, in the same church.

On June 6, 1935, he graduated from Lakewood High School, Lakewood, Ohio, and attended Wittenberg College, Springfield, Ohio, from 1936 to 1937.

He worked as a laborer for two years at Artisan Metal Works and later as a clerk at the Federal Reserve Bank from 1939 to 1940. He then worked as a paymaster at the Brush Development Corporation from 1941 to 1942. All of these jobs were held in Cleveland, Ohio.

He received his A.B. degree on May 13, 1942, from Western Reserve University, Cleveland. His major was in economics.

December of 1942, he entered the United States Army and served in the 99th Infantry Division and 1st Infantry Division. He received an honorable discharge in January 1946.

He attended Gettysburg Seminary, and on May 13, 1949, he received his B.D. degree from the Lutheran Theological Seminary, Gettysburg, Pa.

Pastor Carlson began his ministry in the Accident Parish on March 1, 1949. The Accident Parish had three churches: St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Accident; St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church in the Cove; and Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, Friendsville. Pastor Carlson held services every Sunday at all three churches. After serving the Accident Parish for 35 years, Pastor Carlson retired June 1984 and bought a house with his wife and daughter in the Accident community. The Accident Parish bestowed the honorary title of pastor emeritus in 1989 on his 40th anniversary of ordination.

Pastor Carlson held many positions in the old West Virginia Synod and the Western Pennsylvania/West Virginia Synod, including helping to establish Lutheran Campus Ministry in both synods, and the executive board of both synods. He also served for 10 years on the board of directors of Gettysburg Seminary.

Pastor Carlson was very active in community activities before and after his retirement. He was honored with recognition and awards for his service to the community and the church; however, he felt that he did not do the work alone, but achieved things with God's help and with the help of all the other volunteers involved. He lived for God, his family, his parishioners, and citizens of his town, county, and country. He ministered to three to four generations of families in and out of the church.

Friends were received at Newman Funeral Home, Accident.

A service was conducted on Wednesday, Nov. 5, at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, with the Rev. Roland E. Nairn III and the Rev. Dr. Ralph Dunkin, bishop of West Virginia/Western Maryland Synod, ELCA, officiating.

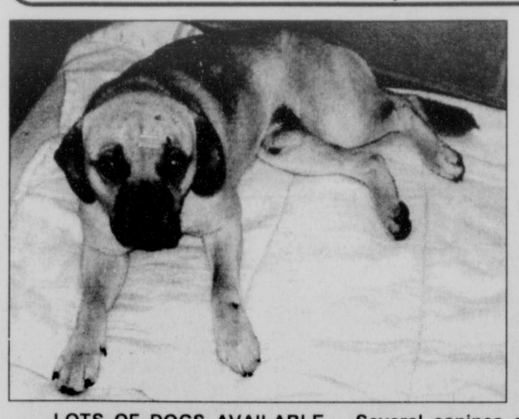
Adorable Adoptables



LOTS OF DOGS AVAILABLE – Several canines are currently available for adoption at the Garrett County Animal Shelter, a Humane Society spokesperson reported Wednesday. Those include a small cream-colored male dog (pictured above) that was picked up just outside Swanton wearing a collar but no tags. "It may have sustained injuries from a car, but it is being seen by a veterinarian, compliments of the Garrett County Humane Society," the spokesperson said. A stray female blue tick hound (below) is also looking for a home. The large orange tabby pictured above was picked up in Loch Lynn and is waiting for his owners to claim him. "These and other cats and dogs are available, including the nice hound/shepherd mix from last week's paper; he has been at the shelter for weeks and weeks," noted the spokesperson. "HART took some dogs and kittens out to rescue this week to alleviate the crowdedness of the shelter. Please have your pets, especially outside pets, spayed or neutered; this lessens the numbers of unwanted animals in our county. Call the shelter at 301-334-3553 for information concerning the PAWS or GCHS assistance programs." Located along Oakland Sang Run Road, the Garrett County Animal Shelter is open Monday through Friday.

DARK BANQUET
by Bill Schutt
c. 2008, Harmony Books, $25.95 each, 320 pages
Review by Terri Schlichenmeyer

It's bedtime, and you're getting ready to tuck the kids in. Little sleepyheads that they are, you know a few quiet murmurs from you will lull them to sweet slumber.

"Night-night. Sleep tight. Don't let the bedbugs bite."

And with that sentiment – words you heard from your parents, and they from theirs, and maybe even before that – the kids are wide awake.

Bedbugs? Bites? No way.

Yes, way. And not only do bedbugs bite, but chiggers, bats, and other creepy-crawlies do, too. Read all about them – if you dare – in the new book Dark Banquet by Bill Schutt.

If faced with a bat in your house, there's one thing you know: It's got to go. Now.

But researcher Bill Schutt loves bats. He studies them, experiments with them, and gets up at the crack of dawn to drive to a slaughterhouse so he can get food for them. Specifically, blood-as-food, because Schutt studies vampire bats.

With help from Trinidad's ministry of agriculture and a mentor, Dr. Farouk Muradali, Schutt had his very own colony of Diaemus youngi, the white-winged vampire bat. All vampire bats, including Diaemus, feed and survive solely on blood, mostly on that of large animals, but occasionally on human blood. The fascinating thing that Schutt learned about his furry little vampires is that they've adapted other species' behaviors to ensure a nice, warm place to dine.

Your chances of running into a Trinidadian white-winged vampire bat are kind of slim these days, but if you check into a hospital, you might meet up with another creature for which dinner's on you – literally. For hundreds of years, medical practitioners have known that leeches could be used for the good of the patient (but not so good for the leech; they're euthanized after one medically deemed feeding). Leeches, by the way, are the second living creature to be designated as a medical device. (What's the first, you might ask? Read the book).

And if all that doesn't make you itchy already, let's talk about those bedbugs. Your house is spotless so you don't need to worry, right?

Well, let's just say that used sofa might not be such a bargain for you after all. And free delivery? Might want to pass.

True, Halloween's over, but it's never a bad time to read a really good science book. Dark Banquet lands solidly in that category.

Part nature study, part history, part ecology, and with biting wit, author Bill Schutt adds a bit of cautionary tale to his book. As much as he geekily appreciates the creatures he's written about, and as enthusiastically gleeful he is about them, Schutt admits to some squeamishness. In the end, though, he freely points out that – whether we love them or are repulsed by them – our world needs bats, leeches, and blood-feeding bugs to keep various ecosystems balanced.

If you want to sink your teeth into a fascinating, lively science book this fall, you really can't go wrong with this one. To miss Dark Banquet would be simply batty.

"Writers Read" Slated At OTT

Our Town Theatre, Oakland, will host a "Writers Read" on Saturday, Nov. 15, at 7 p.m. The event is sponsored by the Garrett County Arts Council and the Wednesday Writers' Guild. Admission is free.

Writers will be reading selections from recent issues of Backbone Mountain Review and other works of poetry, prose, and non-fiction. A short play will also be read.

The event will take place in an informal coffeehouse style atmosphere, with music provided between readings. Refreshments will be available for a donation.

Any writer who would like to read and any published writers who would like to read and also sell their books are invited to the event.

For further information or to sign up to read, persons may call Melodee Hill at 301-334-1739 or e-mail rahill@therepublicannews.com. Writers are asked to include their names, contact information, and titles of the works to be read.

LIBRARY PARTICIPATES IN QUILT PROJECT – The Ruth Enlow Library will be represented in the upcoming Maryland library quilt by this square created by Marilyn Moors of the Friendsville Library Quilters. The square depicts a child sitting under a tree reading a book, with the farms and mountains of Garrett County in the background. The text around the edge of the square was written by Ina Hicks of the Friendsville group and says, "Books are our elders, telling the stories of how it was, is, and might be." The finished quilt will include squares representing public and university libraries from all over the state and will be ready for display sometime in 2009, according to a Ruth Enlow spokesperson.

Disastrous Second Quarter Leads To Lopsided Husky Loss To Alco

If one could simply take away a disastrous second quarter, the game played last Friday at Greenway Avenue Stadium in Cumberland between the Northern Huskies and Allegany Campers would have been a nail-biter.

However, it was in the second quarter that the home team ripped the Husky defense for 28 points in a little over five minutes, and the Campers went on to record a 45-16 victory. It was the fifth loss in eight starts for the Huskies, while Allegany upped its record to 8-1.

The Huskies stayed with the bigger, faster Campers for much of the first half, and trailed by a score of just 3-0 until just over five minutes before halftime. The only score was a 42-yard field goal by Allegany's John Carpenter midway through the first quarter.

Then all four wheels fell off for the Huskies. After a missed field goal attempt by Carpenter, and a stalled Northern drive, the Alco offense got on track and never looked back.

A drive that featured three pass receptions by Ryan Kane was capped by his one-hand grab in the corner of the end zone at the 5:05 mark of the second period. Carpenter booted the first of what would be six straight extra points for the night, putting the Campers up 10-0.

After a quick three-and-out for the Northern offense and a punt, Demetreous Taylor hit Trevor Jessie with a pass that ultimately covered 68 yards for a touchdown. Carpenter's conversion kick made it 17-0 with 3:16 left in the half.

Carpenter's ensuing kickoff carried into the end zone, giving the Huskies possession at their own 20, but they promptly fumbled the ball away, giving it back to Allegany on the 14-yard line. A 13-yard carry by Dustin Wharton put the ball on the one, and Drew O'Neal followed with a one-yard touchdown run with 1:52 still on the clock. Carpenter booted the conversion.

Allegany still was not finished scoring in the first half, as the defense again stopped the Huskies, forced a punt, and took over possession on the Northern 45. On a fourth-and-nine play, Taylor hit Jessie for a 14-yard gainer, and a late-hit penalty tacked on another 15 yards, putting the ball on the Huskies' 16. After a 12-yard carry by Wharton, J.D. Hook scored on a four-yard run with just 17 ticks left in the first half. Carpenter's PAT gave the Campers a commanding 31-0 halftime lead.

Things got worse for Northern in the third stanza, as Alco's Sean Collette scored on a five-yard run at the 8:58 mark, and then Marcellis Hamilton reached pay dirt on a 43-yard carry as the third-quarter clock expired. Carpenter kicked his fifth and sixth extra points of the night to conclude the Campers' scoring.

With the clock running non-stop from that point on, the Huskies finally got on the board at the 7:25 mark of the fourth period when Zach Fratz capped an eight-play, 74-yard drive with a one-yard touchdown run. Jake Bosley then hit Kyle Gillum with a pass to tack on the extra two points.

After the Campers fumbled a punt deep in their own territory, the Huskies doubled their score, with Fratz scoring on an 18-yard carry, and Bosley connecting with Gillum again for the conversion.

The Campers finished with 413 yards of total offense, with Hook netting 93 yards on 14 carries, and Collette gaining 57 yards on seven attempts.

"We knew going in that this would be a big challenge for us," said NHS coach Phil Carr. "I thought we hung in there very well until midway through the second quarter when it was still 3-0. But then we made a couple of mistakes that led to their big scoring run before halftime, and it really took it out of us. Their size and numbers were just too much for us after that point.

"They may well be the best team in the state," Carr added. "Besides Keyser, they have the best backs of any team we've seen this year."

Coach Carr and the Huskies will wrap up their season this Friday in Oakland when they go for their seventh straight victory over county rival Southern, a match-up that should be very competitive.

"We are a little quicker than they are, and they are a little bigger than we are," Carr said. "There're not a lot of differences between us though. Our records are similar, we both play tough schedules, we've both had our share of injuries, and we have both played very well against some good teams at times this year."

Carr said that the team that best controls the line of scrimmage will win the game.

"We are concerned about their power sweep ability on offense," he said. "They are not a big-play team, but they just keep coming at you, and we are going to have to stand our ground. We scrimmaged them twice in the pre-season, but since then they have picked up a couple of good players in Travis Skeweris and Dan Shockey.

"Skeweris is a good, strong runner, and Shockey does a great job on the line for them. Sweitzer (quarterback) does a nice job running the offense, and he also presents a passing threat," he continued. "Plus the Scheffel boys are two tough kids who can hurt you."

The Huskies will definitely be missing one of their two quarterbacks, as Josh Duckworth sustained a season-ending knee injury early in last week's game at Allegany.

"Jake Bosley will start, and hopefully finish, for us, as we really don't have anyone with any real experience backing him up," Carr said, adding that running back Randy Wiley, who was nursing a sore hip, will also be available for the Husky offense this week.

Ram head coach Steve Savage is a former Husky, and Carr was an assistant coach when Savage was playing.

"Steve and I go way back, and we both know that you can throw the records of both teams out the window when it comes to this game," Carr said. "A victory will really help take the sting out of a tough, sometimes frustrating season – for either one of us."

Friday's kickoff is set for 7 p.m.

Steelers Fall To Bishop Walsh In Season Finale

The Division I Northern Steelers of the Cumberland Area Youth Football League wrapped up their season this past weekend with a 36-24 loss to host Bishop Walsh in the BW Invitational.

The defeat evened the Steelers' record at 5-5.

Aaron Broadwater's three-yard touchdown pass to Craig Funk, followed by Jeremy Bender's two-point conversion kick, put the Steelers on top 8-0 early in the first quarter.

BW came back to knot the score at 8-8 later in the same period when Quincy Redmond scored on a 64-yard run, and also booted the conversion.

Redmond would finish with four touchdowns and three two-point conversion kicks, giving him 30 of BW's 36 points.

The Steelers regained the lead early in the second period, as Bender was on the receiving end of a 41-yard touchdown aerial from Broadwater. Bender was again successful on the conversion kick, and the Steelers led 16-8.

Bishop Walsh tied the score and then took the lead for good before halftime, with Redmond scoring on runs of 66 and 24 yards, and successfully kicking one of two conversions, giving BW a 22-16 lead at halftime.

Redmond scored the only points of the third quarter, racing 57 yards for a touchdown and kicking another conversion to give BW a 30-16 lead.

A four-yard touchdown run by Liam Rhodes in the fourth quarter concluded the scoring for Bishop Walsh.

The Steelers did not quit, though, as Robert Hill scored on a 65-yard carry, and Justin Derato booted the two-pointer late in the game.

Rams Watch 6-0 First-Half Lead Evaporate; Fall To BW

After enjoying a 6-0 lead at halftime, things essentially fell apart for the Southern High School varsity football squad in the second half Saturday afternoon, as the Rams gave up three unanswered touchdowns to host Bishop Walsh after intermission and went down to a 20-6 defeat.

It was the sixth loss in eight starts for the Rams this season, while the Spartans upped their mark to 8-1, their only loss this season coming to the Northern Huskies.

The Ram defense held Dylan D'Atri, one of the area's top running backs, to just 29 yards and no points in the first half, but the 6-1, 205-pound sophomore recorded another 123 yards and two touchdowns in the second half.

The Rams' only points of the afternoon came at the end of their first drive of the game, which started on their own 38 and ended 13 plays later with a one-yard touchdown run by Brutus Scheffel with 4:35 left in the first quarter. The run for the two extra points was stopped short.

The second quarter was all defense, but the first play of the second half seemed to set the stage for the Spartans' rally, as D'Atri picked up 18 yards. A couple plays later, D'Atri broke free after a key block from Mickey Burkett and raced 25 yards for BW's first touchdown. The conversion kick was no good, and the score was knotted at 6-6 at the 10:37 mark of the third period.

The Rams went three-and-out on their next drive, setting up what would ulti-

Northern Jayvees Hang On, Edge Rams To Record Perfect Season

Despite an impressive effort by the Southern High School junior varsity football team to keep the Northern High jayvees from concluding their season undefeated, the Huskies held on to record a 16-14 victory Monday evening at the Cove and thus achieve that perfect campaign with an 8-0 record.

All of the scoring was recorded in the first half of action, and the Rams just missed pulling off a one-point upset when a field goal attempt in the final moments of the game went wide.

The Rams drew first blood, as Tyler Gregory capped a first-quarter drive with a one-yard touchdown run. Zach Knotts ran for the two-point conversion to give the Rams an 8-0 lead.

Later in the same quarter, the Huskies knotted the score when quarterback Patrick Sines connected with Cody Rodeheaver on a seven-yard touchdown pass, and Alex Baker ran successfully for the conversion.

Northern took the lead for good in the second quarter, as Sines broke through the Ram defense and raced 28 yards to the end zone.

The difference in the final score was Sines's conversion pass to Austin Tombley to give the Huskies a 16-8 lead.

Late in the second stanza, the Rams narrowed the gap to 16-14, as Derek Papa scored on an eight-yard run. But the all-important run for the conversion was stopped short.

After nearly two full quarters of scoreless defense in the second half, the Rams mounted one final drive, working their way downfield to the Huskies' six-yard line. A 23-yard field goal attempt with just three seconds remaining was just long enough, but was wide to the right, preserving the win for the Huskies.

Sines went 6-for-9 in passing for 103 yards and one touchdown. Alex Baker, who eclipsed the 1,000-yard mark two games ago, finished with 102 yards on a dozen carries. Teammate Josh Mason accounted for another 79 yards of offense, gaining 31 on the ground via six carries, and another 48 through the air on three receptions.

Rodeheaver had the other three catches for the Huskies, yielding 52 yards and a touchdown.

Leading the Husky defensive unit were Mason, Bobby Hay, and Baker. Ryan Bennett spearheaded the Ram defense.

Southern concluded its season with a 3-4-1 record.

A PERFECT SEASON was recorded by the Northern High School junior varsity football team, as the Huskies held on Monday night for a thrilling 16-14 win over county rival Southern at the Cove. mately be the winning drive for the Spartans. D'Atri and Burkett gained most of the yardage before quarterback Jared Mathews scored on a nine-yard carry at the 5:47 mark. Burkett then ran for the conversion to give BW a 14-6 lead.

The Ram offensive unit engineered its own drive, and was inside the Spartans' five-yard line, only to lose possession when BW's Rob Lehmann picked off a Ram aerial.

It would be one of three interceptions by Lehmann, all in the second half; however, it was a pick by James Loffert in the fourth quarter that set up the Spartans' final touchdown.

Loffert returned the ball 25 yards, and three plays later D'Atri crashed through the Ram defense on a fourth-and-one and raced 35 yards to the end zone with 5:37 left in the game. The run for the conversion was no good.

Scheffel led the Rams' rushing attack with 92 yards.

"Obviously, we played very well in the first half," said Ram head coach Steve Savage. "We really controlled D'Atri and possession of the ball.

"But then we not only starting making mistakes, but they began to wear us down," he continued. "We began to miss tackles, and then we really deflated when they picked off that pass when we were inside their five. It was just a misread on the passing route."

The Rams also had to play without starting quarterback Ryan Sweitzer, who is nursing an ankle injury.

Sweitzer is listed as "questionable" for this week's big annual county clash with the Northern Huskies, a team that also has an rather unimpressive record (3-5), but will likely be the favorite this Friday night in Oakland.

The two squads both lost to such teams as Allegany, Fort Hill, and Mountain Ridge, but as stated before, the Huskies were the only team to defeat Bishop Walsh.

"I really don't mind going into this game as an underdog," Coach Savage said. "Hopefully it will fire our kids up to play hard and try to go out on a winning note.

"Our records are similar, but Northern has played a number of good teams really tough, so it is going to take a strong effort for our kids to win," he said.

"Defensively, they really have no one who is super big, but they have great quickness and are very athletic. They have some unusual fronts, but no matter where Coach [Frank] Ewing (defensive coach) puts them, they have 11 guys flying to the ball on every snap. They do a very good job of reading the offense."

Savage said that overall team speed is also his biggest concern when the Huskies have possession.

"We match up pretty well with them up front, but their backs are so quick out of the backfield," he said, "and both of their quarterbacks (Josh Duckworth and Jake Bosley) do a very good job of hiding the ball."

The other key to a Ram victory, according to Savage (himself a former Husky player and coach), is that his team will have to play hard from start to finish.

"We told our kids that we have to have four strong quarters of play, with no letdown," he said. "We have in several games this year played a very good first half, but then failed to keep the intensity in the second half. I know that some of that is just because of our lack of depth, but it is also a mental thing.

"We told our linebackers that they are really going to have to step it up," he continued. "We said that if they stand still even for just one second, it can make an average blocker across from them look really good. They need to react immediately on every play."

Friday's kickoff at the Southern athletic field is set for 7 p.m. It will be Senior Night, and at approximately 6:45, senior players and their parents are to convene along the sideline, from which point they will be recognized in a pre-game ceremony.

COME TOGETHER!

Rising real estate inventories are presenting buyers with more options and sellers with more competition. In the center of it all, you'll find the guidance and expertise of professional real estate agents and brokers. If you price a home reasonably, buyers will buy. If buyers make a reasonable offer, sellers will sell. It really is that simple.

For sellers, pricing is still the biggest factor in a listing's success or failure. Sellers, buyers and real estate agents all stand to lose from an overpriced property.

Likewise, buyers also need to be aware that negotiating skills are more critical now than ever. Contrary to widespread media reports of sellers panicking under the weight of foreclosure, most sellers are in fact in good enough shape to wait for a fair offer.

Buyers and sellers are still coming together in record numbers that would have been unthinkable just ten years ago. What everyone needs now is a big dose of perspective, since most home sales are still taking place for the most traditional of reasons: job relocation, growing families, retirement, or even simply downsizing.

Whether buying or selling, your best insurance for a satisfactory sale or purchase is with the knowledge and skills of a professional representative. If you're unsure about our local market, schedule a cost-free, obligation-free consultation with an agent you know and trust. Then move with confidence!

Northern Girls See Season End With Playoff Loss To Poolesville

A return trip to the Maryland state soccer tournament was not to be this season for the Northern High School girls' varsity, as the Huskies fell in a 1A West Region semifinal match last Thursday to visiting Poolesville, 3-1.

The Falcons' victory avenged last season's 5-1 loss to the Huskies in the region semifinal. Northern went on from that match to earn the West Region title and a first-ever state tournament berth.

"We knew Poolesville had a very good team this year," said Husky head coach Jeff Graham. "They came in as the third seed and had a 9-3 record against class 2A, 3A, and 4A teams. They didn't play a single 1A team all year, so we knew the competition would be tough."

The fast and physical match remained a scoreless defensive battle throughout most of the first half until the Falcons earned a corner kick with three minutes remaining. Senior midfielder Kristy Wynne took the kick and found the back of the Huskies net off a deflection by a Northern player.

"We still felt good going into the second half," Graham said. "Our girls knew we were kind of unlucky on the goal and felt like we had some chances to score, so we were confident we would get one back."

It didn't take long in the second half for the Huskies confidence to kick in, as junior forward Adria Graham converted a free kick just five minutes into the half from about 22 yards out to give the Huskies the equalizer.

"I got a good look at the goal and just ripped the shot into the upper corner," Graham said after the match. "We felt confident after that and really believed we had a good chance to win."

Poolesville had other plans, though, as senior Megan Brown ran up on a ball out of the midfield in the game's 57th minute and beat two Huskies for a shot from about 10 yards out. The ball struck the bottom of the crossbar and rebounded like a rocket just inside the goal line for the score before bouncing into the hands of the Huskies' keeper.

"The girls remained upbeat in spite of Poolesville's 2-1 lead," Coach Graham said. "We had talked at the half that if we found ourselves chasing the game, we would throw some numbers forward in the last 15 minutes of the game to try to get the equalizer."

The Huskies did just that in the 15th minute, changing their formation to keep more attacking numbers forward.

"We knew we were taking the risk of giving up another score, but the girls wanted to go down fighting," Graham said.

After creating a few scoring chances, the Huskies did, in fact, give up the third goal with less than two minutes to play. The goal came off a Falcon counterattack when Allie Nessalt finished a shot from about six yards out.

Poolesville finished with a 16-7 lead in shots, and held an 8-3 advantage in corner kicks. Northern's Justine Harvey had 13 saves in goal, including two exceptional grabs in the waning minutes, and Poolesville's keeper Kate Frost recorded six saves.

"I'm extremely proud of how the girls played tonight," said Graham. "We really lost to a high-quality team, and our girls gave it their all. We had some good opportunities and things just didn't go our way. That's the game when you get to the playoffs; one team moves on and one doesn't."

The Huskies finished the season with a 13-3 record, second best on Northern's all-time list. They outscored their opponents by a lopsided 87-15 margin.

Adria Graham led the area in scoring for the second straight year with 33 goals, 20 assists, and 86 points, for an average of 5.37 points per game. Justine Harvey finished her three-year career as the varsity goal keeper, having recorded 21 shutouts and 288 saves, for an overall save percentage of 86.4.

Northern Volleyball Team Falls In First Match To Smithsburg

Lakers Open With Loss To Howard, But Rebound For Victory Over PSC

After dropping their season opener to Howard Community College, 61-58, in the Potomac State Invitational tournament in Keyser on Saturday, the Garrett College Lakers bounced back on Sunday to hand the host Catamounts an 82-76 defeat.

The Lakers held a 31-29 edge at halftime against Howard, and missed on a couple of opportunities in the final seconds of the game to knot the score.

With Howard on top 59-58, the Lakers missed on an opportunity at the foul line. Garrett was then forced to foul, and Howard connected on both shots to take a three-point advantage. Then at the buzzer, a three-point-range shot by the Lakers bounced off the rim.

Pacing the Lakers' scoring effort was Francis Gunn with a game-high 22 points, 15 of which were scored via three long-range buckets. Terrance Taylor also reached double figures with 12 points.

Pacing three Howard players in double figures was Anthony Jones with 15 points, with Joe Jones right behind with 14, and Jimmy Dorsey with 10.

Brian Koonce, Gunn, and Rodney Clark led the Laker offensive effort in Sunday's win over Potomac State, with Koonce netting 20 points, Gunn recording 19, and Clark hitting 17.

Clark was also credited with seven assists and six steals.

Taylor also played well for Garrett, grabbing 11 rebounds to go with eight points.

Leading the Catamounts in scoring were Marcus Quarles and Vance Hosby with 17 points each, while teammate Travis Williams went 9-for-9 from the foul line and contributed 16 points.

Clark and Gunn were named to the All-Tournament team, along with Williams and Quarles of PSC, Jimmy Dorsey and Anthony Jones of Howard, and Ty Newman of Chesapeake.

Howard rolled over Chesapeake, 75-50, in Sunday's other clash.

The Lakers will host their own McDonald's Classic Nov. 14-15, with Potomac State facing Montgomery-Germantown on Friday, Nov. 14, at 5:30 p.m., and the Lakers taking on Philadelphia Community College in the 7:30 contest. The consolation and championship games will be played the following day.

Southern's Cross Country Teams Advance To States

With Krista Hollingsworth's individual fifth place finish, the Southern High School girls' cross country team captured the Class 1A West Regional title during last Thursday's meet held at Williamsport High School with a team score of 66, and the boys' team finished seventh with 168 points.

These positions advanced both teams to the Class 1A State Championship meet scheduled for this Saturday at Hereford High School.

Krista Hollingsworth led Southern in the girls' race with a time of 20:47 for fifth place. Teammates Jennifer Cosner took 13th in 21:44, Lindsey Smith ran in 21:55 for 14th place, Katie Gindlesberger was 16th in 22:04, and Ashley Gordon finished 18th with a time of 22:16.

The sixth runner for the Rams was Kim Stephens, who was 38th in 23:14, and Kaitlyn Swift, 23:57, finished 45th, to round out the girls' team.

"All seven varsity runners had personal bests for the season – all by a minute or more," said Coach Steve Cosner. "They packed together well and that is really why we won."

The Rams led the 10-team field with 11 points over Williamsport, which finished second with 77 points, Mtn. Ridge was third with 104, Smithsburg fourth, 131, and Catoctin had 136 points for fifth place.

"From what I see there are about four teams with a legitimate shot at the state championship," Cosner said, "and we are one of those teams."

The girls' race was won by Sara Fisher of Brunswick in 18:32. Fort Hill's Amanda Twigg took second place in 19:32 to lead the Sentinel's to an eighth place finish with 168 points.

"If our girls run like they have, and we pack together like we did at regionals," noted Cosner, "we should do very well. While I don't expect personal best times on Hereford's course, these girls believe in themselves and have the desire to win. It should be very exciting."

In the boys' race, Southern's Seth Lewis finished first for the Rams in 22nd place with a time of 17:52, aiding in the team's qualifying spot for the state meet.

Cooper Thomas was 29th in 18:16 and Wyatt McBee finished 31st with a time of 18:22 for Southern. Teammates Mike Skipper, 18:56, and Josh Arnold, 19:05, were 41st and 45th, respectively, to round out the Rams' top five runners.

Evan Rodeheaver, 19:17, and Aaron Shotwell, 19:18, were 50th and 52nd, respectively, finishing as the sixth and seventh runners for Southern.

Williamsport's Mike Lilley won the boys' race in 15:49, and Naseem Haje took second in 16:11, both leading the Wildcats to first place with 47 points.

Mtn. Ridge took second as a team with 77 points. Poolesville, 108, Smithsburg, 115, and Allegany, 116, were second, third, and fourth, respectively. Fort Hill edged out Southern by one point with a score of 167.

The girls' Maryland State 1A meet will begin at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday. The boys race will follow.

SHS GIRLS RUN TO VICTORY – The Southern High School girls' cross country team led a 10-team field last Thursday at Williamsport High School to become regional champions, qualifying them for the Class 1A State Championships to be held this Saturday at Hereford High School. "Our goals were to run the best race of the year and pack together – we especially needed our four and five runners to be close to the second and third positions, and they were," said Coach Steve Cosner. "We met those goals and it worked!" Pictured above are the seven varsity runners for the Rams. Front row, left to right, are Kim Stephens, Jennifer Cosner, and Krista Hollingsworth. Back row, left to right, are Ashley Gordon, Lindsey Smith, Kaitlyn Swift, and Katie Gindlesberger. See story for details.

WAITING FOR THE VERDICT – Representatives from Northern Garrett and Southern Garrett marching bands are pictured above, along with those from Hancock High School's band, as they undergo the tense time of waiting and waiting for the scores to be announced at the Tournament of Bands Chapter 13 Championships, held Saturday at North Hagerstown High School. At last the pronouncement was made, and Southern fans erupted in cheers to the news that the band had taken first place. Northern supporters had something to cheer about, too, as the specialty award for Best Auxiliary (guard) went to NHS. Garrett County was represented well, as Southern then picked up the awards for Best Percussion, Best Music, Best Visual, and Best Drum Major. By winning the first place spot, Southern is now eligible to go on to the Atlantic Coast Championship in Allentown on Nov. 16. "I'm looking forward to going to Atlantic Coast Championships and showing off a band that has only gotten better and better as the season has progressed," said Joshua Elmlinger, director. "I'm also looking forward to next year and working with all the wonderful parents, staff, and kids who make Southern a championship band." Northern's band leaders are pictured at the far left, and Southern's at the far right. This is the fifth consecutive year Southern has won the top spot at Chapters. A spokesperson for the Southern Band Boosters said this week that the parents are appreciative of Elmlinger's efforts in his first season as director, making a smooth transition from the long and successful career of former director Richard Clever, and again turning out an award-winning group.

"FIRE" IS THE THEME of Southern Garrett's show this season, featuring the music of Igor Stravinsky and other classical composers. A "fire bird," designed and built by Bonnie Frederick, with assistance from Duane Frederick, Christy Hamilton, and others, complements the show and can be seen in the background of the photo below. In addition to Elmlinger and assistant Heather Poe, special instructors are Mark Weeks, marching; Brent Furr, percussion; and Teresa Weeks and Rhonda Sisler, guard. Richard Clever assisted at band camp, and has also attended nearly every competition. Elmlinger noted that the band is very young, made up of a lot of sophomores and freshmen. "For being so young, they have shown remarkable consistency. Out of eight performances, we've only had one that was disappointing, and our score went up even with that one," Elmlinger said. "I'm very proud of all the hard work the kids have put into the program this year." Photos by John McEwen.

$4.5 million, according to Maryland Energy Resources," he said.

The mining operation would tunnel under the South Branch about six miles upstream from a popular fishing site. Both Peles and John Carey, director of the Maryland Bureau of Mines, told the Associated Press recently that tunneling beneath the branch would not harm the river.

Carey said MER's proposal would be scrutinized as closely as a similar one submitted in 2000 by Mettiki Coal to tunnel under the Potomac River. The company received approval to do so in 2002, and no problems resulted, according to Carey.

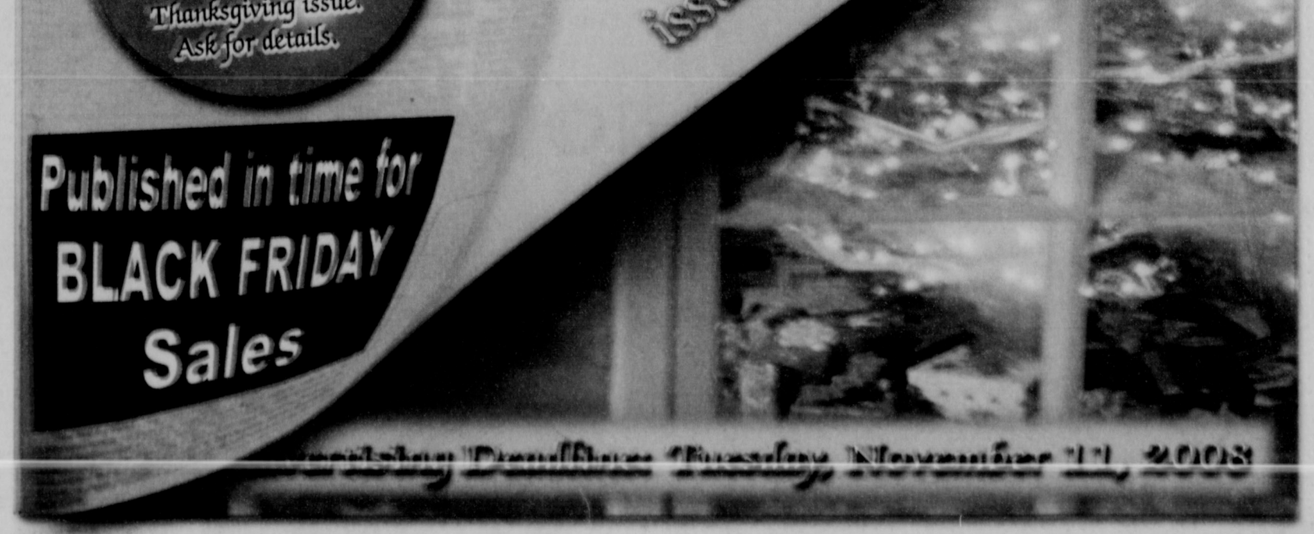
But area environmentalists have expressed their skepticism about the Casselman Coal Mine project. Sam White, chairman of the Sierra Club's Western Maryland Group, told AP that he would need to see more documentation that the river was not going to damaged by acid mine drainage.

The Casselman Coal Mine may be just the first step of a larger initiative. Local and state officials met in Frostburg this summer to discuss the Casselman Clean Coal Project. The meeting was sponsored by the Maryland Coal Association.

The first phase of the proposed project would be the construction of a coal-burning power plant, which would utilize coal produced by the regional mines, including the Casselman Coal Mine.

Officials also discussed the possibility of utilizing the power plant's emissions to help produce natural gas, building an energy technology research park in Garrett County, and developing coal-to-liquid technology.

"CHICAGO ON BROADWAY" was the theme this year for the Northern Garrett Marching Band, under the direction of Duane Salisbury. The band had a busy season, taking part in eight TOB competitions. The marchers improved from their first score of 68.65 to a final Chapter 13 score of 76.10. Salisbury is assisted by Melissa Hance. The drum major this year was Kristen DeWitt, and the assistant was Patrick Terry. Special instructors this season were Kenny Noland, brass and marching; Gino Mauricci, woodwinds; Zach George, percussion; and Trisha Knox and Susan Bennett, color guard. The band is pictured above and below in photos by John McEwen.



MLP Man Handed Six Months For Failure To Pay Child Support

Among recent cases heard in Garrett County District Court, a Mtn. Lake Park man was found guilty for two separate charges of failure to pay child support, involving a daughter from 2001 and a son from 2004.

David Ray Shillingburg, 30, was sentenced to six months in jail, 36 months of supervised probation, and restitution costs of $16,005 to be paid to the Bureau of Support Enforcement.

According to a spokesperson, "the defendant has ignored the civil support order and has failed to provide support for his two minor children."

A warrant for his arrest went out after Shillingburg had been summonsed to court and failed to appear multiple times. His driver's license was suspended for failure to pay child support.

The case involving Shillingburg's daughter had been before the courts since March 2001. The daughter was born in Oakland. The original complaint of failure to provide child support for his son, who was born in Arizona, was filed in May 2004. The Arizona case was moved to Garrett County, and the final hearing was Oct. 20.

In an unrelated case, David Wayne Welch, 46, Mtn. Lake Park, pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct, and was sentenced to 60 days by Judge Price.

Officers responded to reports that Welch was drunk and acting in a disorderly manner outside the house of a victim who had filed a protective order against him in June. He was allegedly swearing and yelling and threatening the victim. A warrant went out for his arrest which led to the charges.

Welch was not prosecuted for violating the protective order.

In another district court hearing, Chad Edward Wolfe, 31, Connellsville, Pa., was found guilty for a charge of theft less than $500 and was sentenced to 18 months, with 16 months and 25 days suspended. He was put on supervised probation for 36 months, with restitution costs of $360.

Charges had been pending since March 2003, when Maryland State Police were contacted about numerous thefts from vehicles in the Grantsville, Accident, and Deep Creek Lake areas. The report stated that ten vehicles had been broken into, items were stolen, and damages to each vehicle were made.

The Pennsylvania State Police had arrested Wolfe in early April 2003 for allegedly stealing property from cars in the tri-state area. MSP were escorted by the PSP to the hospital, where the suspect was hospitalized for injuries he sustained during an attempt to elude police.

An investigation and questioning of Wolfe confirmed that he had in fact broken into cars and stolen items. He was placed under arrest and detained.

Wolfe was not prosecuted on 11 charges of rouge and vagabond, eight charges of theft less than $500, four charges of malicious destruction of property valued at $500, two charges of theft with $500 plus value, and one charge of pursuing to scheme and continuing course of conduct.

Debra Sue DeWitt, 49, Bayard, W.Va., was handed a guilty verdict on a May charge of theft less than $100 and was sentenced to 60 days, all of which was suspended. Judge Price gave DeWitt 18 months' unsupervised probation and suspended all fines.

According to reports, DeWitt was observed, by the manager at Family Dollar, putting several items into her empty purse. She allegedly did not pay for the items when she checked out her other items.

The manager held DeWitt until sheriff's officers arrived, where it was revealed that her purse contained Clorox, Downy fabric softener, four cans of cat food, dog treats, and six candy bars. The value totaled $15.22. DeWitt was arrested and taken to the police department.

Julie Marie Meyer, 23, Keyser, W.Va., was handed a guilty verdict for her charge of CDS possession not marijuana and was sentenced to 60 days, all of which was suspended by Judge Malloy. She was given 18 months' unsupervised probation with fines totaling $100, and is required to complete 50 hours of community service by January 2009.

Meyer's charge stemmed from a traffic stop made by Garrett County sheriff's deputies, where it was reported that she was allegedly following the vehicle ahead of her too closely.

Officers ran Meyer's information through NCIC, and it was revealed that her license was currently suspended through the state of West Virginia for unpaid citations. Meyer was placed under arrest and officers performed a vehicle incident to arrest procedure.

After a search of the vehicle, officers found a plastic bag of suspected marijuana, E-Z Wider rolling papers, a cornered off piece of a plastic bag which contained suspected cocaine, and a clear plastic straw which contained suspected cocaine residue. Tests confirmed a positive reaction for the presence of THC and for the presence of cocaine.

Meyer was not prosecuted on other charges of possession, for possessing a suspended license, for driving on a suspended license, and for following a vehicle too closely.

Stephen Eugene Beckman, 50, Oakland, was not prosecuted on a charge of assault in the second degree. He was arrested in June after being involved in a domestic dispute.

Pa. Woman Found Passed Out In Car Parked In Roadway

A Pittsburgh, Pa., woman was arrested Friday night after a Garrett County sheriff's deputy found her asleep in her car, which was parked in a lane of travel at the intersection of Snowy Creek Road and Dewey Roy Lane, near Crelli8n.

Melissa Lee Wolfe, 33, was found passed out in her 1996 Chevy Cavalier. Investigation revealed her to be under the influence of alcohol. It was discovered that her driving privileges had been suspended.

She was transported to the Garrett County Detention Center. She was charged with causing a standing vehicle to obstruct free vehicle passage of a roadway, DUI, driving while impaired by alcohol, and driving on a suspended license.

Garrett County Humane Society Celebrates Its 25th Anniversary

by Mercedes Pellet, HART for Animals president

The president of the Garrett County Humane Society, Lisa Baker, announced that the organization has completed 25 years of working on behalf of animals in the county.

"This is a significant achievement for our organization – one for which we must thank many people who have dedicated their time and energy throughout the years," Baker added. "They have done it for only one reason: their love of animals."

Since its founding, the Humane Society has investigated hundreds of abuse and neglect cases in Garrett County.

"Since January of this year, the Humane Society has responded to over 150 animal neglect calls, none of which resulted in prosecution or the seizure of the animal," Baker pointed out. "This tells me that, first, there are many citizens concerned about animal welfare. In all instances, we try to work with the owner to solve the problem so that the animal is treated humanely, as mandated by state law. Second, it shows that there is a need for an organization that can check on these neglect reports."

In Garrett County, the Humane Society, which is not affiliated with the Humane Society of the United States, was founded in 1983 by Bernadine Friend of Friendsville. The initial officers of the Humane Society were president Paul Savage, vice president Joanna Sisler, treasurer Lorraine Savage, and secretary Sherry Friend.

The board of directors consisted of Nancy Helbig, Joy Wagner, Jill Fuller, and David Fuller.

Bernadine was, as she is now, the organization's executive director.

When the organization was in its infancy, Bernadine asked the assistant state's attorney about the procedure to follow when investigating cases of animal abuse or neglect. Following his advice, she created her own investigation and documentation kit, which is still being used today.

The process followed by the Garrett Humane Society when it receives a call that an animal is being neglected or abused includes the following:

1. Investigating the situation to see if the complaint is based on fact. This involves an on-site visit from a Humane Society member who talks to the owners, informs them of the situation, and gives them a specific period of time to fix the problem.

2. Following up at the end of the stated period to see if the problem has been corrected. If it has, the owners are complimented for their response.

3. If on the follow-up visit, the situation has not improved, the Humane Society will gather all the appropriate documentation to refer the matter to the assistant state's attorney.

4. If, during a visit, a domestic animal is seen to be in immediate danger – according to the law – it can be seized for the health of the animal. A farm animal, that is an animal that lives on and is productive to that farm, requires the presence of a veterinarian. If the animal is relinquished by the owner, the Humane Society pays for its care and rehabilitation at one of three available foster homes.

In addition to investigating neglect and abuse calls, the Humane Society conducts public education and distributes spay and neuter vouchers, which are used by pet owners to pay veterinary costs, thus reducing the animal overpopulation in the county. Since 2003, when Baker became president, the Humane Society has distributed over 1,500 vouchers in the amounts of $50, $75, and $100.

Most citizens are grateful that the Humane Society takes the time to educate them and bring the condition of their animals to their attention, as well as help them through the Spay & Neuter Program. Others, however, react angrily at what they perceive as interference with their property regardless of the suffering of the animal.

Many people respond that the animals were put here for "their use," to which Joanna Sisler, former president of the Humane Society, replies: "Yes, to use but not to abuse."

In relating some of the cases throughout the organization's existence, Bernadine remarked: "You can't imagine what I have seen: maggots in horses' hooves, tethered horses caught in fires that made them living torches. . . ."

But Bernadine is proud of the 80% to 90% of people who cooperate to improve the condition of their animals and dismisses the ones who opposed her volunteer work over the years.

The Garrett County Humane Society, Inc. is a 501 (c)(3) organization, established in Oakland in 1983. All contributions to the Society are tax-deductible.

Local Business To Help Heifer International

Savage River Lodge is partnering with the Western Maryland Heifer Task Force to help raise awareness of and funds for Heifer International.

Heifer International offers sustainable solutions to hunger, poverty, and caring for the earth by providing livestock, trees, training, and other resources to help struggling families build sustainable futures. Heifer's gift of "living loans" offers milk, eggs, meat, wool, and other benefits that become improved nutrition, health, education, and income for resource-poor families.

"We have declared Sunday, Nov. 9, through Thursday, Nov. 13, as "Heifer Days," said Jan Russell, owner of the lodge.

Savage River Lodge will support Heifer's efforts by donating 10% of its restaurant sales on those days to Heifer International.

The Western Maryland Heifer Task Force consists of local persons and Frostburg State University students. Its efforts are to raise compassionate interest for those in need and to direct aid to help them through the Heifer program. The task force may be contacted by e-mailing Tony Crosby at acrosby@frostburg.edu.

Over the years, Heifer has developed a set of guiding principles of "Passing on the Gifts." Recipients agree to "pass on the gift" of one or more of their animal's offspring and training in environmentally sound agriculture.

"In this manner, an endless cycle of transformation is set in motion as recipients become equal partners in ending poverty and hunger," said a spokesperson for the agency. "Since 1944, this common-sense approach to sustainable development has enabled Heifer to partner with 8.5 million families in more than 125 countries to improve their quality of life."

"Heifer International is a wonderful example of finding solutions to hunger and poverty in a simple way by helping people help themselves," Russell said. "Many people haven't heard of Heifer International, and we wanted to find a way to raise awareness of the work they do and also raise funds to continue their mission."

Persons may also send a contribution to Heifer International, c/o Western Maryland Heifer Task Force, Box 309, Lane Center, 101 Braddock Road, Frostburg, MD 21532.

For more information about Heifer International, persons are invited to go to the following web site: www.heifer.org.

Medications Prescribed for Osteoporosis

Osteoporosis results when there are low levels of minerals such as calcium and phosphorous in the bones. Bones that are porous may lead to osteoporosis, and possibly eventual fractures. Factors that may increase the risk of developing osteoporosis include older age, small body frame, and lack of physical activity. Certain medications may also increase the risk of developing osteoporosis, such as corticosteroids (Prednisone) if used for an extended period of time. Symptoms of this condition include back pain, stooped posture, and fractures of the wrists, hips, or other bones. Bone density is critical in determining the development of osteoporosis. Persons with lower bone density are more likely to develop osteoporosis later in life.

Bisphosphonates work to maintain bone mass, prevent the breakdown of bone, and increase bone density. Alendronate is a bisphosphonate that may be taken daily or weekly. Zoledronic acid, another bisphosphonate, was approved recently as a once yearly intravenous infusion for osteoporosis. Raloxifene is a selective estrogen receptor modular (SERM). This medication provides similar beneficial effects on bone tissue as does estrogen; however it does not have some of the same risks as does estrogen.

GC Dept. Social Services Encouraging Adoption Of Children In Foster Care

November is National Adoption Awareness Month, and the Garrett County Department of Social Services is encouraging local residents to "open their hearts and homes" to foster care children who are waiting for "forever families."

More than 129,000 children in the United States foster care system are available for adoption and are growing up without a permanent family of their own. The children entered foster care through no fault of their own as victims of child abuse, neglect, or abandonment, and their parents' legal rights have been terminated, according to the Dave Thomas Foundation for Adoption.

Each year, more children enter the system than are adopted. The typical child who has been freed for adoption is a least 9 years old, moves three or more times in foster care, may have been separated from siblings, and will wait five years or more to be adopted. More than 26,000 will never be adopted and leave the system at age 18 without a family, going into society without the support of a family, according to the foundation.

National Adoption Awareness Month, celebrated annually since 1990, works to increase the number of families willing to consider foster care adoption and highlights the "unique joys" of creating families through foster care adoption.

For more information about adopting a waiting child in Maryland, persons may call the Garrett County Department of Social Services at 301-533-3040.

OBJECTS IN MIRROR ARE CLOSER THAN THEY APPEAR

by Dr. Thomas P. Sheahen

Q. The mirror on the right front door of our family car makes other cars look smaller. How? What's the purpose of that?

A. That mirror is a gently curved surface. In optics, we term it a convex mirror. It does exactly the opposite of a magnifying glass, which is made using a concave lens.

It may seem strange to have a DE-magnifying glass on a car. If that mirror were perfectly flat, the image that the driver would see of another car on the right would be "full size." However, only a very small area would be seen that way, and there would be a large "blind spot." From the driver's seat, you couldn't see a very close car at all unless you moved your head around a lot.

With a curved mirror surface, the field of view is enlarged. Light rays from objects in a larger zone bounce off the mirror and form an image of that entire zone in the driver's eyes. It's important for the driver to see that larger zone. But the trade-off that must be made in the world of optics is that the entire scene is compressed into a smaller image; so individual objects in the zone look smaller.

All of this is not particularly important to a passenger in the right front seat, who merely sees things smaller in the mirror.

It certainly would be possible to manufacture the left-side mirror with curvature, and enlarge its field of view as well. But automakers don't, because drivers have gotten used to a mirror that shows things at full size. It's one of the things you pick up when first learning to drive.

Most drivers are aware of the "blind spot" on the left side of the car and can easily move their head a little to change the viewing area they see in the mirror. If a curved mirror were installed there, drivers could see more objects, but would perceive them farther away. This might lead drivers to change lanes when in fact a car is very close.

To a great extent, the mirrors that manufacturers install simply reflect customer preferences — what people find comfortable. It might have been different. About four generations of drivers have gotten used to a flat mirror and a full-size image on the driver's side. The right-side mirror has been there less than two generations, and people are dealing with the curvature successfully, so manufacturers will continue to make cars that way.

State Insurance Admin. To Hold Community Event

The Maryland Insurance Administration (MIA) will participate in a number of community events in the next couple of weeks in western Maryland.

Locally, MIA representatives will be at the Frederick A. Thayer III courthouse, Oakland, in Room 209 on Monday, Nov. 17, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Trained staff will be available to answer consumer questions.

The MIA is a state regulatory agency that offers a variety of consumer materials on all types of insurance products from annuities to title insurance and health, auto and homeowners insurance.

"Education and consumer-awareness are key factors to your financial security and to a healthy insurance market," said Ralph Tyler, MIA commissioner. "The better consumers understand the products and policies available to them, the better purchasing decisions they will make and the better protection they will have in the event of a loss or accident."

These and all the agency's consumer materials are available online at mdinsurance.state.md.us, as well as by request and at various community events.

The MIA, founded as the Maryland Insurance Division in 1872, is an independent state agency located in downtown Baltimore. This agency regulates Maryland's $26 billion insurance industry and makes certain that insurance companies, health plans and producers (agents and brokers) comply with Maryland insurance law.

The MIA also licenses over 110,000 producers and approximately 1,500 insurance companies, regulates insurance rates, monitors insurer solvency, investigates consumer complaints and travels across the state, providing consumers with educational materials on insurance.

Women's Group Holds Meeting At Maranatha

Maranatha Women's Ministries met at the church fellowship hall in Grantsville on Oct. 21 for a covered dish supper.

Before the business meeting, an opening prayer was led by Leona Munley. There were 12 members present. Katie Keller was in charge of childcare. The devotion was shared by Loretta Paul on the subject of "The Harvest" from scriptures found in Exodus 23:16 concerning gathering in souls for the harvest of Jesus.

There were several prayer requests for members facing surgery, having tests, fighting cancer, and grieving lost loved ones.

The treasurer's report was also read. New business discussed included revival services, which will be held Nov. 16 through 19.

The Thanksgiving dinner will be held on Nov. 23 after morning services. The group is also collecting items for "Thanksgiving Blessing Baskets," which will be distributed during Thanksgiving week.

"If you don't have a church to attend, you are always welcome at Maranatha," a spokesperson noted.

WARM THE CHILDREN

Providing New Winter Clothing For Needy Children

For the 11th year, The Republican newspaper and the Civic Club of Oakland are asking for your help. Without it, many Garrett County children will go cold this winter.

Just what is the WARM THE CHILDREN PROGRAM?

The Republican and the GWFC Civic Club of Oakland

The Civic Club and The Republican's WARM THE CHILDREN PROGRAM is basically neighbors helping neighbors. We here at the paper are asking for monetary donations (tax deductible) from you, the readers. The collected funds are being used to purchase new winter clothing for Garrett County children in need. Because the newspaper administers the program, there are no added fees or overhead costs. Every penny donated is used to buy the winter items.

How are needy children being identified?

A special corps of volunteers is working right now to identify those in need this year. (Please do not call for the service. If you have been selected, you will be notified.)

How will the children's clothing be purchased?

Members of the Civic Club of Oakland are taking the families shopping at Wal-Mart. The children, with the help of their parents, may select their own new coats, hats, sweaters, long johns, jeans, boots, pajamas, or other needed winter items, spending up to $125 per child.

The Civic Club of Oakland is again heading up the volunteer/shopping coordination. Many volunteers are working together to make sure the children of Garrett County stay warm this winter.

To make a donation, please complete the coupon below, cut it out, and mail it along with your tax-deductible contribution to the address noted. All checks should be made out to Warm the Children.

Donations should be postmarked by December 10, 2008. Those collected after December 10 will be saved for next year's campaign.

Soap star's world still turns – just elsewhere

Q: Why did Martha Byrne, who played Lily on "As the World Turns," leave so suddenly? –Elizabeth Wilson, Dallas

A: It actually wasn't all that sudden, even if it might have seemed that way to some viewers. Dating back to early this year, published reports indicated that the producers of the venerable CBS serial said they made the two-time Daytime Emmy winner "an incredibly generous offer" to stay with the show that had been her longtime television base.

However, Byrne countered that she wasn't guaranteed the same number of work days she first requested when she re-signed in 2007. She claimed there were no efforts to renegotiate with her, and a hiring notice to recast her role was issued.

Martha Byrne

Q: Several years back, a TV movie was about the bombing of the Twin Towers, when a group of terrorists parked a truck in the underground garage. Can you tell me the name of that movie? –Clint Hargrove, Everett, Wash.

A: It was "Path to Paradise: The Untold Story of the World Trade Center Bombing," which HBO made and televised in 1997. Peter Gallagher ("The O.C."), Paul Guilfoyle ("CSI: Crime Scene Investigation") and Oscar winner Marcia Gay Harden were among the stars of the pre-9/11 film.

Q: I loved the series "Moonlight" starring Alex O'Loughlin and was very dismayed to see it canceled. Is there any news on when it will be released on DVD? –Barbara Kissick, Maysville, Ky.

A: Trust us, we hear from very dismayed "Moonlight" fans quite regularly. You and the others will have reason to rejoice on Jan. 20; that's the day Warner Home Video intends to release the complete set of the CBS vampire detective show's only season.

Q: Will the HBO show "Tell Me You Love Me" be back soon? –Robert Kuehnle, Columbus, Ohio

A: No, nor anytime in the far future either. All the early indications were that HBO would go for a second season, but series creator Cynthia Mort ultimately decided she didn't know what direction the show would take if it continued. She and the network then abandoned plans for year two, reportedly by mutual consent.

Q: My granddaughter's birthday is coming up, and she adores Arnold Schwarzenegger. How can I get an autographed photo of him for her? – Carmen Hernandez, San Antonio.

A: Try his address at his current job: Arnold Schwarzenegger, Governor's Office, State Capitol Building, Sacramento, CA 92814.

New Federal Tax Credits For Home Heating Available

New energy efficiency tax credits will allow homeowners to lower both their monthly home energy bills and their federal income taxes in 2009 as they contend with escalating winter energy prices, according to the Alliance to Save Energy. Using the tax credits of up to $500 to make specific energy efficiency home improvements also can make homes more comfortable and reduce air pollution and greenhouse gas emissions, an Alliance spokesperson noted.

The tax credits were enacted as part of the Emergency Economic Stabilization Act of 2008 (H.R. 1424), which President George Bush signed on Oct. 3. They are largely the same as those that were in effect in 2006 and 2007, with some new criteria for qualifying products and equipment. Details are on the Alliance to Save Energy web site at www.ase.org/taxcredits.

The Alliance consulted the Internal Revenue Service to confirm that taxpayers who claimed less than the total $500 credit in 2006 and/or 2007 can claim the unused portion in 2009. However, taxpayers who want to file for part or all of the new energy tax credits are advised to consult their own tax advisors for specific advice.

"The Alliance worked very hard to ensure that Congress would renew the expired federal tax credits for energy efficiency home improvements, and we are pleased that homeowners can once again get some help from Uncle Sam to make their homes more energy efficient and more comfortable," said Alliance president Kateri Callahan.

"With prices for winter heating fuels going up again this winter, and total 2008 home energy costs reaching about $2,350 for the average U.S. household, these new tax credits provide multiple benefits for consumers," Callahan said. "For example, qualified insulation and sealing materials reduce drafts and cold spots, while keeping warmed air inside. And the less energy used in the home, the less global warming pollution will be spewed into the atmosphere."

The overall $500 cap can be reached in several ways with the purchase and installation of energy-efficient products:

• Insulation, exterior doors, or roofs: 10 percent of the cost of the product (but not the installation), up to $500. Includes seals to limit air infiltration, such as caulk, weather stripping, and foam sealants, as well as storm doors.

• Central air conditioner, heat pump, water heater, or bio gas (e.g., corn) stove: up to $300 toward the full purchase price, including installation cost. Heating and cooling equipment, including water heaters, must meet stringent efficiency requirements. (Detailed criteria are on the Alliance web site, www.ase.org/taxcredits.)

• Exterior windows: 10 percent of the total cost, up to $200. Includes skylights and storm windows. All Energy Star qualified windows are eligible. Windows, doors, and insulation must meet the regional requirements of the 2001 or 2004 International Energy Conservation Code, a model energy code for buildings.

• Furnace or boiler: up to $150 toward the full purchase price, and/or $50 for an efficient air-circulating furnace fan, including installation cost.

In addition, windows, doors, insulation, and roofs must be expected to last at least five years (a two-year warranty is sufficient to demonstrate this).

There also is a separate credit, through 2016, for Energy Star qualified geothermal heat pumps – 30 percent of the cost, up to $2,000.

Manufacturers can certify (in packaging or on the company's web site) which of their products qualify for the tax credit. Retailers, contractors, and manufacturers should be able to help consumers determine what levels of insulation and what other products qualify.

All improvements must be installed in or on the taxpayer's principal residence in the United States. Condo and co-op improvements are apportioned to the owners. The credit cannot be taken against the alternative minimum tax (AMT).

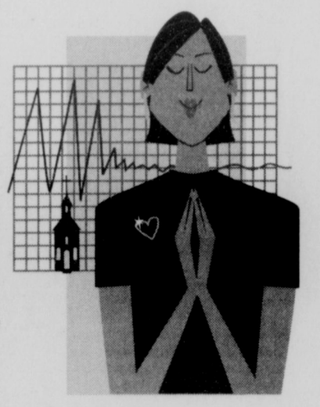
Faith and Relaxation

Research done at Harvard University by Herbert Benson over the last four decades has established how important faith is to our physical health. Benson, who is a cardiologist, originally studied the effects of meditation on blood pressure and what he would later call the "relaxation response." He knew from prior research that stress could cause people's blood pressure to go up, and practitioners of meditation had been saying for years that they could lower their blood pressure and change physiology just by meditating. Benson discovered that they were right, and the key was in repetition. By focusing on the repetition of a sound (such as a mantra), or a short prayer, or even the repetition of one's breathing or a repeated movement, people could bring about the relaxation response, a lowering of the heart rate, blood pressure and other physical manifestations of stress. Besides providing evidence of the efficacy of repetitious prayer and meditation, Benson has also shown that belief in general has a positive impact on our health. Believing that a higher power is guiding our life not only makes us feel safer and more secure in what can sometimes seem like a very dangerous world, but it also helps to maintain our health and facilitates healing when we are ill. So we should pray often, and know that our faith is working to keep us well.



And this is the confidence which we have in Him, that if we ask anything according to His will He hears us. And if we know that He hears us in whatever we ask, we know that we have obtained the requests made of Him.

Vitamin C and Chemotherapy

Vitamin C is a water-soluble vitamin, which is necessary for many bodily processes including the formation of bones, cartilage, and blood vessels. It is also necessary for the absorption of iron in the gastrointes-tinal tract. Vitamin C is known clinically for its antioxidant activity. Anti-oxidants protect cells in the body from damage caused by substances called reactive oxygen species (ROS).

The use of Vitamin C supplementation during chemotherapy for cancer has been controversial. A recent study reported that if cancer cells were pretreated with vitamin C, 30% to 70% less of these cancer cells would have been eliminated by chemotherapy drugs. This study was conducted and data collected from results obtained from laboratory rats with cancer. This specific finding has not yet been shown in humans. One reason for this is that some chemotherapy drugs produce a type of reactive oxygen that destroys cancer cells. Vitamin C is an antioxidant and by destroying reactive cell types, the cancer cells may continue to spread. More studies are needed to fully evaluate the use of vitamin C in patients receiving chemotherapy.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• It was Nobel Prize-winning physicist Richard Feynman who made the following sage observation: "There are 10^{11} stars in the galaxy. That used to be a huge number. But it's only a hundred billion. It's less than the national deficit! We used to call them astronomical numbers. Now we should call them economical numbers."

• If you're planning a trip to the great state of Texas next summer, be sure to stop by the small town of Clute in late July. You wouldn't want to miss the Great Mosquito Festival, which features a Mosquito Legs Contest and a Mosquito Calling Contest. It makes you wonder, though: How exactly do you call a mosquito?

• Statistics show that widows outnumber widowers by a ratio of 5 to 1.

• Holstein cows are known to be prolific milkers. A good heifer can produce her own weight in milk in just a couple of weeks.

• Soup is often served as a first course in Western cuisine, but if you travel to China and eat traditional meals, you're more likely to have it as the last course.

• Are you ambisinister? Don't worry, it's just a fancy way of saying that you're clumsy with both hands. The literal meaning is "with two left hands" — the manual equivalent of having two left feet.

• It's been reported that gangster Al Capone paid, in today's dollars, upward of $300,000 in bribes every week.

• More interesting collective nouns: A group of moles is known as a "labor," a flock of turtledoves is called a "pitying" and a school of jellyfish is known as a "smack."

• The French once raised domesticated beavers as a food source.

Chew on This

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: My neighbor's puppy has a ton of toys that he chews on all the time. Is this healthy? — Joe E., Atlanta

DEAR JOE: Yes, as long as the toys are specifically made for dogs. Chewing is an instinctive activity for dogs that keeps their teeth and jaws healthy and strong. For puppies, chewing not only helps them develop properly, but it also eases the discomfort of teething.

A dog will chew on anything that looks chewable — as many a dog owner has ruefully discovered after finding a favorite pair of shoes in shreds. So keeping many safe chew toys within the dog's reach, and featuring chew toys and tug ropes (thick, braided short ropes you can hang onto while the dog pulls at the other end) during play and training will help ease that urge to chew on everything.

Safe chew toys do not shred or shatter when a dog sinks his teeth into them — something you don't want to happen, as shards can cut a dog's gums, and swallowing debris can cause serious health problems. So owners should buy only approved toys that are appropriate for their dog's age and size. A Great Dane shouldn't be chewing on a toy sized for a Chihuahua, and likewise, a toy poodle might have trouble gnawing on a toy sized for a Doberman.

Remember also that owners (and those who will have dogs coming over to visit) should put away any objects they don't want chewed. Shoes, children's toys, plants, newspapers — you name it — should be placed in a room or closet that can't be accessed by the dog. A floor clear of everything but a few strategically placed chew toys is ideal.

Collecting

by Larry Cox

Q: I love to pick up odd kitchen utensils when I come across them. Since I live in Iowa, I attend as many farm auctions as I can, and this is where I have found some of the truly unique items in my collection. As you can imagine, I sometimes discover an older piece that I can't identify. I am enclosing a picture of just such an item. What is it? — Mark, Wapello, Iowa

A: I found your item in 300 Years of Kitchen Collectibles by Linda Campbell Franklin (Krause, $29.95). It is a candy-curling machine, which was used for making candies known as "opera curls." According to this guide, it is worth about $150. Incidentally, you should purchase a copy of this book. It will make your hobby even more fun and will quickly become one of your favorite references.

Q: My grandma collected thimbles throughout the 1940s and '50s. Her collection is unique, since all of her thimbles promoted various political candidates. Her thimbles include ones issued during the Harding, Coolidge, Hoover, Eisenhower and Nixon campaigns. Are they valuable? — Jon, Dover, Ohio

A: After the 19th Amendment expanded women's suffrage throughout the country, thimbles emerged as campaign tools directed toward the new voting constituents. Most of the political thimbles that I've seen in shops sell in the $10 to $25 range. One of the better clubs is Thimble Collectors International (www.thimblecollectors.com). Jina Samulka is membership chairman and may be contacted through her e-mail address: membershipVP@thimblecollectors.com.

Faith Evangelical Free Church To Open Doors For Red Cross Tours

FAITH EVANGELICAL FREE CHURCH ON RED CROSS TOURS

Faith Evangelical Free Church, located at 1009 Maryland Highway, Mtn. Lake Park, will be a stop on this year's Western Potomac Chapter of the American Red Cross "Home for the Holidays" House Tours. The church is located on the grounds of the former Mtn. Lake Park Hotel.

The event will be held on the first weekend in December. Ticketholders will be able to visit five tour stops on Friday, Dec. 5, from 4 to 9 p.m., or Saturday, Dec. 6, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. All five locales are included in the price of one ticket.

The Faith Evangelical Free church was built in 1990-91 under the direction of contractor Troy Gnegy. An addition that includes a fellowship hall, kitchen, and Christian education rooms was completed in 2007 under the supervision of the S&B Construction Company.

In both projects, much of the physical labor was done by members of the congregation. Memorial stained glass windows from the original church building in Loch Lynn Heights were restored and installed in the sanctuary in 1991. The windows are a sentimental favorite of many current and former attendees, a spokesperson said.

Although the building is relatively new, the church has deep roots in Garrett County. Loch Lynn United Brethren Church was founded in 1896. The original building was constructed in Loch Lynn Heights in 1899 on land donated by Mr. C.M. Rathbun. In 1946, after denomination mergers, the church body became the Loch Lynn Evangelical United Brethren Church. When the EUB Church and Methodists merged in 1967, the congregation did not wish to be absorbed into this large organization and voted to become independent. Over the years, the church leaders studied doctrine and policies of various denominations, and in 1985 voted to affiliate with the Evangelical Free Church of America.

The EFCA was formed in 1950. It is an association of more than 1,500 autonomous and independent churches "united by a mutual commitment to serve Jesus Christ under the guidance of the Holy Spirit and obedience to the word of God," the spokesperson said. Heading the EFCA distinctives are: "In essentials, unity. In non-essentials, charity. In all things, Jesus Christ." The term "evangelical" refers to the theology of the body and "free" refers to the governing structure of congregational rule, the spokesperson said.

The mission statement of Faith EFC is "Every Member a Missionary." This mission will be reflected in the Christian education rooms of the church during the Red Cross tour. The ministries of missionary groups from around the world that receive various levels of support from Faith EFC will be highlighted. The decorations in the Christian education rooms will have an international theme. Sunday school and Pioneer Club children will make decorations and ornaments for small trees in each room.

The sanctuary and foyer will be decorated simply, with wreaths, poinsettias, and greenery. A wooden manger will be in the baptistery at the front of the church, where it has held a "position of honor" in many children's Christmas pageants over the years, the spokesperson said.

All age groups will have a part in preparing the church building for the tours. Additionally, middle and high school youth will present a live nativity on church grounds. "At press time, several local barnyard animals have agreed to participate," the spokesperson said.

Light refreshments will be available in the fellowship hall during the tour.

"The congregation is looking forward to welcoming the community as we support the local chapter of the American Red Cross," said the spokesperson.

In addition to the church, the other stops on the tour this year are Ridgeview Valley in McHenry, the "Little Pine Log Cabin" at North Glade Hills, the WildWood Athletic Club, and a private home along Markwood Drive.

Tickets for the tour are $8 in advance and $10 on the day of the tour. Tickets are available at Proudfoot's, Gregg's, and Deep Creek pharmacies, as well as Arrowhead Market at Deep Creek Lake. Directions are printed on the back of the tickets, and Red Cross signs will be placed in the yard of each tour site.

Medbank Able To Assist Residents With Prescriptions

Medbank may be able to assist Garrett County residents who are chronically ill and require daily medications but do not have prescription coverage through private insurance or Medicaid, according to a spokesperson for the Garrett County Health Department. These people may qualify for assistance through the Garrett County Medbank Program.

To participate in the program, a person must first meet the financial guidelines set by each pharmaceutical company.

"On behalf of low income, uninsured, or underinsured patients, we apply to drug manufacturers to obtain medications at no or low cost to the patient," said Angela Lucas, Medbank coordinator for the Garrett County Health Department's Adult Evaluation and Review Services (AERS). The drug companies determine final eligibility based on income and asset information provided.

Referrals are accepted from the individual, physician, or concerned agency representative. AERS personnel then visit the applicant to determine eligibility for Medbank, as well as other community programs. Applicants will be required to submit detailed income and asset information for the household and must supply documentation to Medbank along with prescription information.

The Medbank coordinator manages the application process, which includes a financial needs questionnaire. When a physician's signature is needed, the application will be forwarded to the physician's office and then mailed to the pharmaceutical company along with the prescription. The total process takes from six to eight weeks. For more information on this program, persons may call Lucas at 301-334-7742 or 301-895-3113.

Teacher Shortages In All 24 Maryland Systems Are Declared By State Board

The Maryland State Board of Education this week declared teacher shortages in 20 key subject areas, ranging from special education to secondary school math and science.

Only two subject areas – dance and health occupations – were removed from the list, last published in 2006. A number of language subjects were added: Chinese, German, Italian, and Japanese. Remaining on the list were content areas that have historically suffered from shortages, such as chemistry, physics, and English for speakers of other languages.

The state board found teacher shortages cropping up in all 24 school systems, and noted a lack of teachers who are male and teachers who are members of minority groups.

When classes began in Maryland school systems earlier this fall, teacher shortages were less pronounced than they had been in previous years. The positions that remained open were primarily in the hard-to-fill areas cited in the report.

"Special education, upper level math, physics – these positions have been difficult to fill since we began tracking this nearly 25 years ago," noted Dr. Nancy S. Grasmick, Maryland state superintendent of schools. "But our school systems are doing a much better job of recruiting qualified teachers, and such innovations as our first statewide teacher job fair held last year have paid big dividends."

There are needs that go well beyond the classroom. The state board also declared a shortage of principals, library/media specialists, and speech/language pathologists for schools in the state.

Maryland's biennial Teacher Staffing Report, presented to the state board this week, found that 7,249 new teachers were hired last year, down slightly from two years earlier.

Of the teachers hired in 2007, 4,003 were new teachers who had recently completed teacher training programs. Only 1,234 of them came from Maryland colleges and universities, down from a high of 1,769 in 2002-03.

The percentage of minority new hires fell slightly, from 30.5 percent in 2006 to 29.3 percent last year. At the same time, the percentage of teacher candidates at Maryland colleges and universities who are members of minority groups has been increasing steadily since 2002-2003, and now stands at 19.5 percent.

There is no sign that shortages will end anytime soon. There are currently only three teacher education candidates in physics scheduled to graduate from Maryland colleges next spring, down from 14 in 2006-2007. There are no candidates in computer science education or technology education.

The Maryland Teacher Staffing Report, which MSDE began publishing 24 years ago as the Maryland Teacher Supply and Demand Study, uses information from local school systems and Maryland higher education institutions with teacher preparation programs.

This information is based on the most current available data (fall 2007), and the projected needs of school systems for 2006-2008.

State Providing Fruit, Vegetable Funds To Schools

In an effort to reduce childhood obesity and assist children with developing healthy eating habits early in life, the Maryland State Department of Education (MSDE) has been awarded $917,830 in federal funds by the U.S. Department of Agriculture to provide fresh fruits and vegetables to children enrolled in selected schools statewide. After an open, yet competitive, application process, 25 schools have been approved to participate in the program, and an additional 16 are expected to be approved shortly.

Garrett County schools that have been approved to participate are Crellin Elementary, Dennett Road Elementary, and Southern Middle School.

The Food, Conservation, and Energy Act of 2008 (the Farm Bill) allocated $40 million dollars to fund the Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Program (FFVP) in schools nationwide. The current funding level for the FFVP provides reimbursement for fresh fruits and vegetables to a selected number of schools at a rate of $50 per child over the school year.

The FFVP provides a variety of free fresh fruits and vegetables throughout the school day to introduce fresh produce as a healthy snack option for children. Fruits and vegetables may only be served during school hours and cannot be served with School Breakfast Program or National School Lunch Program meals. This provides an op-portunity for teachers to incorporate nutrition lessons with the serving of fresh produce.

The FFVP targets schools with a high percentage of low-income students because their students are likely to have reduced access to fresh fruits and vegetables. Schools admitted to the program must already be participating in the National School Lunch Program. However, every child enrolled in the school may participate, regardless of in-come. The program also en-courages community partnerships to provide additional support to schools.

As part of their applications, schools submitted extensive plans to obtain and distribute the fresh fruits and vegetables, as well as to publicize and promote the program to student and parent bodies. Many schools developed highly creative methods for delivering the produce that will engage the children, including farmer's market-style kiosks, food preparation demonstrations by trained chefs, and elaborate kick-off weeks with costumes, prizes, and games.

This program is seen by the MSDE as an important catalyst for change in efforts to combat childhood obesity. "Participating schools already report much enthusiasm among staff, students, and parents for the program," stated a department spokesperson.

For more information on Maryland's Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Program, persons may telephone the School and Community Nutrition Programs Branch of MSDE at 410-767-0199 or e-mail Shira Isenberg at sisenberg@msde.state.md.us.

The monthly meeting of the Oakland Oak Leaves 4-H Club was held Oct. 24 at the Garrett County Extension Office.

Mackayla Messinger led the American pledge, and Jessica Cooper led the 4-H pledge. There were four members and four adults present.

The September minutes were read and approved. There was no treasurer's report. Total funds raised from the bake sales and candles will be announced at the next meeting.

Old business included the Yankee Candle fundraiser, the quilt raffle, and the Festival of Trees. Delivery of the Yankee Candle orders is scheduled for Dec. 14.

Members decided to set up a table to sell raffle tickets for the baby quilt.

Club members have chosen a theme for a wreath for the Festival of Trees. The club will purchase all wreath items, and members will assemble their wreaths at the November meeting.

A special thank-you was extended to the Carrico family for all their efforts with the bake sales for providing tables, crock pots, coolers, canopy, chili, sodas, and more during the 2008 series of the Little Yough Music Festival.

Half of the funds raised at the bake sales and candle sales will be split and donated to the Dove Center and House of Hope.

Members should be prepared with ideas for the annual Christmas party, and a decision will be made at the November meeting.

Club members will meet on Saturday, Dec. 6, from 9 a.m. to noon at the Garrett County Extension Office to make cat quilts to help with Catlin's Diamond Clover project. The Carrico family will provide pizza afterward.

The November meeting will include a new slate of officers. Pam reminded members that they should be working on their record books.

Jessica Cooper completed her computer demonstration titled "Using Computer Accessories."

Following the meeting, refreshments were served by the Cooper family.

The next meeting is planned for Friday, Nov. 14, at 6:30 p.m. at the Garrett County Extension Office.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

The weather for Election Day 2008 in Bittinger was fairly mild, slightly cloudy, and dry. If there were a long line at the polls, it would not be bad waiting.

I arrived at the polls at about 10:30 a.m., and there was no line at all. But I am sure that in different locations in the rest of Maryland that was a different story, as there is no early voting in our state. However, it was on the ballot to approve that issue, but I don't know what the results will be.

Personally, I made my decision after the first debate; maybe even earlier when McCain chose his running mate. However, I do know two middle-aged, upper-middle-class soccer mothers who love Palin.

I was immediately impressed by Obama's intelligence, education, communication skills, and steady, cool personality. To me he has everything that it takes to be a great president. I was happy when Colin Powell agreed with me, and also his basic message that we need change. Nothing throughout the campaign has shaken my opinion. Our debts have piled higher and higher because of the two very expensive wars, with the middle class taking the big hit. I hate to see that I have slipped from middle class to the "have-not" class.

Obama's plan to redistribute the wealth was good news. We lived through many years of redistributing upwards, which has climaxed with the "Wall Street Bailout." Reagan's "trickle down" theory has proved false.

The Obama signs continue to be removed from properties in our area. Oh well, I guess tonight we will know the results of this important election. This election was so important to me that I had to make a number of long-distance phone calls to friends in battleground states such as Pennsylvania, North Carolina, Florida, and Virginia. I am somewhat concerned about the belief that the election is in the bag for Obama, based on the polls.

I was delighted with the response I got from my calls. Possibly the most enthusiastic supporter of Obama was one friend who said she was a long-term Republican. On the other hand, one woman said, "I was always a Republican." I wonder is she would vote for Hitler if he were a Republican.

I am very glad the election is past, but I will not get a decent night's sleep until the results are in and Obama is the new president. The new president will face a big challenge, with the shattered economy, our big energy problem, environmental challenges, restoring our standing in the world, and bringing together a deeply troubled nation.

I was horrified to see the front window of Buckel's Store boarded up. Someone shot out and threw a bowling ball through the windows last Saturday night. Gary doesn't know whether it was a random act of destruction or if someone has a grudge against him. He said it will cost three or four thousand dollars and several weeks to repair the damage.

My Caitlin and Claire voted in Morgantown because they thought their vote for Obama would be more valuable there than in Maryland.

Denver and Naomi Beitzel are celebrating the arrival of a new granddaughter. Their youngest son Terry, now a professor in Harrisonburg, Va., at James Madison University, is the new father. Denver and Naomi have hit the road to go see the new baby. I was not surprised that Terry was very enthusiastic about Obama.

I found an interesting side story about the presidential election. In the last 17 presidential elections, if the Washington Redskins won their game that was just prior to the election, the incumbent party retained the White House. But if they lost, the challenging party won the election. This year the Skins' game just prior to the election was Monday evening against our Pittsburgh Steelers. I watched that game without knowing about this strange fact, but I was delighted to watch our Steelers win, 23-6.

This evening at 6:30 p.m. it is too soon to know the results of the election. But I guess we will know for sure tomorrow (Wednesday) morning.

Have You HEARD?

HAVE YOU HEARD?

If you have said "no" to wearing a hearing instrument in the past, you should know that the recent introduction of a new type of device may change your mind. Nearly half of the new hearing instruments being fitted today are open-fit instruments. These exceedingly comfortable devices rest behind the ear and utilize only a thin, transparent tube to bring amplified sound to the ear canal. Originally developed for people with high-frequency hearing loss who do not want their ear canals occluded with in-the-ear or in-the-canal instruments, open-fit instruments are decidedly unintrusive. While they may not suit the needs of all hearing-impaired individuals, these highly popular instruments are fast gaining consumer acceptance.

We take the responsibility very seriously of matching every patient with the hearing instruments best suited to his or her special circumstances. We then use sophisticated technology to achieve the most accurate, comfortable, custom fit. The extensive training required of hearing specialists and our experience in the field make us well-suited to both tasks. Is your hearing in need of a boost? Call us at AUDIBEL to arrange a hearing evaluation and to see the astonishing hearing instruments available today.

P.S. Open-fit hearing instruments utilize digital feedback suppression to enable users to use the open-fit design without the whistling noise of feedback.

Crowd Manager Training Program Available Online

State, county, and municipal fire marshals of the state of Maryland have jointly developed a web-based Crowd Manager Training Program. The program focuses on occupant safety wherever people gather, and takes approximately 30 minutes to complete. Certificates of completion are available once a passing score is obtained.

All places of public assembly where 50 or more people gather must designate a trained crowd manager to assure safety and compliance with requirements of the State Fire Prevention Code. This training is essential in understanding the importance of crowd managers and of their obligation to protect the patrons that are in their establishment.

Assembly operators can help increase their patrons' chances of exiting a building fire or other emergency when the crowd manager:

- Points out the designated exits;
- Ensures all exits are unlocked and clear of obstructions or storage both inside and outside;
- Ensures the building occupancy has not exceeded the posted occupant load;
- Ensures aisles are clear and are a minimum of 36" wide;
- Ensures fire alarms and sprinkler systems are properly maintained;
- Ensures that emergency lighting will work properly in case of an outage.

Tragedies in the past have led to the development of codes in order to protect the public, according to a spokesperson for the fire marshal. "This free interactive program will help you train your employees, thereby making you compliant with this essential regulation," he said.

To take the Crowd Manager training, persons are invited to log on to www.firemarshal.state.md.us and click on Crowd Manager.

Assembly operators should check with the fire authority in their jurisdiction for additional information.

Farm Service Agency Reports

Preston County FSA Office

PRESTON FSA ANNOUNCES THE START OF COUNTY COMMITTEE ELECTION

Eric McCartney, executive director for USDA's Farm Service Agency in Preston County, announced the election period for the FSA County Committee begins Monday, Nov. 3, and is open through Monday, Dec. 1. A representative from Local Administrative Area (LAA) 1 (Grant and Pleasant districts) will be elected to serve.

"County committees help administer federal farm programs at the local level. It is vital that FSA committees represent a cross-section of producers in each community," said McCartney. "I encourage all eligible producers, especially minorities and women, to make a difference by voting in this year's FSA county committee election."

FSA county committees help ensure FSA agricultural programs serve the needs of local producers. Committees provide input on commodity price support loans and payments, conservation programs, disaster payments for some commodities, and other farm disaster assistance. FSA committees operate within official regulations designed to carry out federal laws. Most committees consist of three to five members and may have one or more appointed advisors to further represent the interests of minority and women farmers.

Agricultural producers who participate or cooperate in any FSA program and are of legal voting age may vote. A person supervising and conducting the farming operations on an entire farm, but not of legal voting age, can also vote.

Ballots were mailed to eligible producers on Monday of this week. Eligible producers are advised to contact the Preston County FSA Office if they do not receive a ballot. All ballots must be returned to the voter's FSA office or be postmarked by December 1.

During this year's nomination period, the following LAA 1 producers were nominated: Suzanne Benson and Phyllis Summers, both of Bruceton Mills, and William Whetsell, Albright.

The candidate receiving the most votes serves a three-year term as the elected county committee member. The person receiving the second most votes serves a three-year term as the first alternate. The candidate receiving the third most votes serves as second alternate for three years.

Approximately one-third of the nearly 8,000 committee seats nationwide are up for election annually. Newly elected committee members and alternates will take office January 1.

Producers can learn more about FSA county committees by visiting the Preston County FSA office, located in the Corner Mall of the Kingwood Plaza, telephone 304-329-1923, or online at http://www.fsa.usda.gov/pas/.

NAP DEADLINE OF DEC. 1 APPROACHING

Eric McCartney, executive director of USDA's Farm Service Agency in Preston County, reminds producers that the application deadline date for the 2009 coverage on fall seeded crops under the Non-Insured Crop Disaster Assistance Program (NAP) is December 1.

"In order to be eligible for disaster assistance programs, like Supplemental Revenue Assistance Program or SURE, producers are required to timely purchase, at a minimum, catastrophic coverage for all insurable crops and/or NAP coverage for all non-insurable crops on their entire farm," said McCartney.

According to McCartney, NAP was designed to reduce financial losses that occur when natural disasters cause a catastrophic loss of production or prevented planting of an eligible crop by providing coverage equivalent to catastrophic (CAT) insurance. Statute limits NAP to each commercial crop or agricultural commodity, except livestock, for which CAT insurance is not available.

Crops with a Dec. 1 deadline include finfish, Christmas trees, flowers, ginseng, turfgrass sod, mushrooms, ornamental nursery, apples, blueberries, peaches, grapes, pears, honey, maple sap, and small grains. In Preston County, CAT insurance is available for oats and wheat.

NAP provides financial assistance to producers of non-insurable crops when low yields, loss of inventory, or prevented planting occurs because of natural disasters. NAP coverage for 2009 costs $250 per crop, but not more than $750 per producer per county, and not more than $1,875 total per producer for all counties.

Producers who already have coverage on 2008 NAP crops may choose to continue coverage on the same crop or crops for 2009, if the applicable service fee is submitted by the application closing date. A new CCC-471 application for coverage is not required to be signed when applying for continuous coverage of the same crop or crops.

For more information on NAP and other USDA programs, producers may visit the Preston County FSA office, located in the Corner Mall of the Kingwood Plaza, or telephone 304-329-1923.

EGLON MOUNTAINEER 4-H
by Chad Vandevender, reporter

Halloween was the theme when the Eglon Mountaineer 4-H Club met on Oct. 6 at the Eglon Community Building. Halloween decorations were provided and set up by Jesse Schalker, and several members wore costumes to the meeting. Jonathan Blamble read the devotions, and Nathan Cussins led the pledges. A report was given by Trevor and Wesley Spaid, Jonathan and Danielle Blamble, and Sydnee Vandevender concerning the Buckwheat Festival exhibits of project animals. A report was also given on the Oct. 2 dinner served to the Mtn. Lions of soup and sandwiches.

To celebrate and observe National 4-H Week, some of the member exhibits were on display at Aurora Elementary School.

The Oct. 6 program was the planning of events for the 2008-09 year. Enrollment forms for the year were completed, with members making their own choice of projects. The forms were then returned to Linda Lewis. Members were also reminded of the Officers' Training and Achievement Day that was held at Preston High School on Nov. 2

Saturday, Nov. 8, is the date set for a tour of Simon Pearce, Oakland, to see blown glass art, and to Lou DiCarlo's Stained Glass Gallery, Mtn. Lake Park, to see his operation. Lunch will follow at Pizza Hut. Members will meet at the Memorial Building at 10 a.m.

Chili and finger foods will be provided for the November meeting, during which the club's Achievement Program will be held.

Danielle Blamble and Sydnee Vandevender, the recreation committee, led members in a Halloween themed game. The meeting adjourned for Halloween refreshments, which shared a sample of each family's donation. Members in attendance were Nathan Cussins, Jesse Schalker, Jonathan and Danielle Blamble, Wesley and Trevor Spaid, and Sydnee Vandevender. Adults in attendance were Linda Lewis and Elaine Roth, club leaders, and parents Ron and Angie Spaid, Jackie Blamble, Teresa Vandevender, and Marilyn Schalker.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

An open house has been scheduled at the Union Ambulance squad hall for Saturday, Nov. 15, to celebrate the 90th birthday of Lorain Hanline, Aurora. The event will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. The family asked that guests refrain from bringing gifts. Cards may be sent to him at Rt. 1, Aurora, WV 26705.

BACHTEL AND BODKINS NUPTIALS

The Rev. Mike Lantz officiated at the noon wedding of Ashley Bachtel and Josh Bodkins on Saturday, Nov. 1. The marriage took place at Horse Shoe Run in the Bethel United Methodist Church.

Ashley is the daughter of Bill and Dianna Bachtel, Eglon. The groom's parents are Steven and Barbara Bodkins, Independence. Grandparents of both the bride and groom were also in attendance.

PERSONAL

Matthew Bachtel came in from New York, where he is attending Columbia University, to be in his sister's wedding.

Ilene Fint, Old Fields, and her daughter, Nancy Winters, Manassas, Va., briefly visited with relatives in the area on Friday.

Avalena Dumire was accompanied by her good friend, Elena Yates, on a weekend visit with Avalena's sister and brother-in-law, Ruby and Troy Judy, Eglon. They returned home to Owings, Md., on Monday.

The Aurora United Methodist Church celebrated Sunday with a covered dish dinner following morning worship.

Dr. Andrew Foy gave an evening presentation of slides taken from his summer mission trip in China. The trip was planned to coincide with the Olympic Games. There were many people in the parks, evidently because of the shutdown of industry because of air pollution. The men making this trip feel that the contacts made were important and hope to return. The trip by air took 14 hours with no stops.

Carrie Harsh was honored on Oct. 26 with her 2nd year class, along with two others, all of them audiology students studying for their doctorates at West Virginia University. They were all honored with a whitecoat ceremony, during which they were given white lab coats to wear as professional attire. This was newly instituted this year in that department and has previously been done for pharmacy students. Carrie is the daughter of Ronnie and Delores Harsh, Blacksville. Her grandparents, Arvin and Rita Harsh, Eglon, were also in attendance for the award ceremony.

Air National Guard Airman 1st Class Roger F. Paugh has graduated from basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas. He is the son of Lyndia and Tony Lewis of Eglon.

During the six weeks of training, Paugh studied the Air Force mission, organization, and military customs and courtesies; performed drill/ceremonial marches and field training exercises; and received physical training, rifle marksmanship instruction, and special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate in applied science degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Thank You

The family of Donald "Duck" Dumire wishes to extend deep appreciation to all who were so helpful during Donald's illness and death. You surrounded us with strength for Donald's friends who visited with him near the end.

To his brothers, nieces & nephews who took him to outings and for rides. It meant so much to him.

To Dr. Miller and Hospice staff, I could not have done it without you. Lyn and Carol from Newman Funeral Home, your professionalism and caring service made it more bearable. The Maruccis at Mem. Gardens, so thoughtful and efficient.

To all who brought food, sent cards, and for phone calls, visits, donations and prayers. We sincerely "thank you." The Mt. Top SDA Church ladies, for the wonderful meal after the service.

To Pastors Geoff Starr, Gail Hixon and Paul Snyder, we appreciate your love for God, Donald and our family. I am so thankful for family members who stayed with Donald at night to give me rest.

To all of you, no matter how small you may have thought your gesture to our family, it was a genuine act of kindness and caring. We extend our deepest appreciation.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Deep Creek Watershed Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a public hearing on Thursday, November 20, 2008, starting at 7:00 p.m. in the County Commissioners' meeting room, Second Floor, Courthouse Annex, Oakland. The Board will review the following docketed cases:

1. VR-645 - On April 10, 2008, Wesbanco Bank of Wheeling, Trustee, applied for a Variance to allow the subdivision of a two-acre lot into two, one-acre parcels that would be substandard in width, as measured at the front setback line. The Board of Appeals denied the request on May 19, 2008. Wesbanco Bank of Wheeling, Trustee, appealed the Boards' decision to the Circuit Court of Garrett County. Having considered the Plaintiff's Petition for Judicial Review, it is ordered by the Circuit Court for Garrett County that this case be remanded to the Board of Zoning Appeals for further proceedings, consistent with the provisions of Maryland law and the interpretation and application of the Deep Creek Watershed Zoning Ordinance. The property is located north of 2042 Paradise Point Road, tax map 58, parcel 104 and is zoned Lake Residential.

2. SE-396 - an application submitted by Chris and Janice Bratiotis, for a Special Exception permit for a six-bedroom Transient Vacation Rental Unit. The property is located at 228 Stilwater Drive, tax map 59, parcel 619, Lot 5 and is zoned Lake Residential.

Interested persons are invited to attend.

Garrett College

by Dr. Paul Dauphinais

It's all about the money. We know that the economy is in turmoil, our government is doing things to hopefully make it better, and in the meantime, we all try to get along in life as best we can. We've all been facing the increasing cost of fuel for the past year or so, and trying to make compromises so that we can continue to do what we need to do, such as go to work and heat the house for the winter, in the face of making reductions to our budgets.

Garrett College faces all the same issues and, fortunately, has planned ahead for some of these issues. Last summer the GC board of trustees approved a modest tuition increase of 10%, effective January 2009. This was done so that we could deal with, at that time, the probable budget cuts coming during the year. The board was forward thinking in July of this year, knowing that it is better to plan ahead than to react to what has been termed a fiscal "crisis." In making this difficult decision, the trustees are ensuring that the college can provide the services students need and the courses required for timely graduation.

You may have read articles from the Baltimore papers quoting other colleges' sources saying that fewer classes may need to be offered, or services will be cut in the face of the impending budget cuts. Those actions will have severe impacts on students. Garrett College will not be in that situation. Our enrollment has grown beyond our estimates so that we can absorb a budget cut without jeopardizing classes, services, or other parts of our mission to the county.

At the same time, the college must be aware of the revenue that it must generate as part of the state's funding formula for community colleges. The state of Maryland expects a three-way division of community college revenues: one-third from the state, one-third from the local jurisdiction, and one-third from self-generated revenue. Garrett College's tuition for Garrett County residents was $76 per credit hour in 2002, 2003, and 2004; it was changed to $78 per credit hour in 2005, and remained at that level in 2006, 2007, and 2008. The 10% increase will bring Garrett County resident tuition to approximately $86 per credit hour. That tuition rate will continue to be one of the lowest in-county rates in the state. Our out-of-county and out-of-state rates are minimum rates set by the state of Maryland, and those considerably higher rates, two to three times the in-county rate, will increase 10% as well.

I expect that funding from external sources for the next year will be flat at best. As the college continues to recruit from other areas of the region, the increased tuition rates will enable us to meet the increased costs of fuel and other commodities as we continue to meet the needs of our students and the residents of Garrett County. No tuition increase is ever welcome, nor is any tuition increase ever enacted without considerable thought, and generally some misgivings. The governing body of the college has acted deliberately, with forethought, and in a proactive manner to ensure that the needs of our students will be met. Unlike that of many other institutions, tuition at Garrett College has not risen every year, and when it has been increased, the rate has remained very reasonable with modest increases.

The administration will continue to seek ways to make the college more effective within its budgetary constraints. We will be deliberate in the classes and programs we deliver and ensure that we are providing quality in all we do. When times are difficult, as they are for many at this time, it is not an option to do less with less; we must provide the very best with what we have. That is precisely what we will be doing: providing the very best instruction and learning opportunities so that our graduates will continue to earn the highest grade point averages of any Maryland two-year college transfer students; enabling our students to pursue prestigious Jack Kent Cook scholarships; and providing opportunity for those who seek to avail themselves of higher education.

We extend a compassionate helping hand.

Oakland Man Is Sentenced For DUI, DUI Per Se

A 38-year-old man was sentenced in two cases last week in Garrett County Circuit Court. In the first case, Kevin James Siesky of Oakland and Uniontown, Pa., pleaded guilty to driving under the influence of alcohol and, in the second case, to driving under the influence of alcohol per se.

Judge Daniel Moylan sentenced Siesky in the first case to 18 months in the Garrett County Jail and in the second case to two years in the Division of Corrections, to run consecutively.

Two years of the sentence were then suspended, and Siesky will be on probation for four years after he is released from jail. Siesky is also expected to complete part of his 18-month sentence by commitment to the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene for treatment, the state's attorney said.

Siesky was first arrested in September 2006 by a Maryland State Police trooper who observed his truck fail to stop for a stop sign at the intersection of Deep Creek Drive and Rt. 219. After stopping the truck, the trooper made observations of Siesky's condition and administered field sobriety tests that led to his arrest. Siesky then failed to appear for trial in November 2006, and a warrant for his arrest was issued.

In April of this year, a Natural Resources Police officer observed a truck pulling a trailer on Oakland Sang Run Road shortly before midnight, with no taillights on the trailer. After the truck was stopped, the officer had observations of Siesky, who was the driver, that led to the administration of field sobriety tests.

When Siesky failed those tests, he was arrested for DUI by the officer and, during a check of Siesky, the outstanding warrant for the 2006 case was found. The per se violation to which Siesky pleaded guilty resulted from the breath test exceeding .08 blood alcohol content, as the test was .22 on this occasion, according to the state's attorney.

In an unrelated case, Jeffrey William Norris, 27, Mtn. Lake Park, pleaded guilty to second degree assault. Judge Moylan sen-

SALUTING ALL VETERANS – The Southern Garrett Marching/Concert Band took part Tuesday in a salute to all veterans, joining several military organizations, elected officials, and a crowd of spectators in the commemoration event. Similar ceremonies were held across the country in observance of Veterans Day, Nov. 11. A parade was held in Oakland on Sunday as well. James Hinebaugh, a county native and resident, as well as a retired U.S. Army colonel, gave the keynote address at Tuesday's event, which was held in the rotunda of the Garrett County Courthouse. In addition to the special music and Hinebaugh's speech, there was a wreath-placing and a gun salute. In all, it was a small gesture of thanks for the enormous sacrifices made by the men and women in uniform. See additional photos in this section of today's issue. With his back to the camera is Southern's band director, Joshua Elmlinger. Photo by John McEwen.

Numerous Individuals, Businesses Named United Way "Pace Setters"

Those early supporters are Clear Mountain Bank, ClosetMaid, Deep Creek Dock Works, Design Build International, Devlin Inc., Donald and Patti Battista, Edward M. Kilkeary, Fechheimer Brothers Company, First United Bank & Trust, Garrett Automotive, Garrett Container Systems, Garrett County Community Action, Howard and Corinne Bell, and Jeffrey S. Reitz.

MSP Seeking Leads On Theft At Pharmacy

Unknown suspect(s) entered Deep Creek Pharmacy and removed prescription medication according to Maryland State Police.

The pharmacy, located at the McHenry Plaza, was broken into sometime between last Wednesday, Nov. 5, and yesterday. The suspect(s) gained entry by breaking open the front glass window.

Anyone with information concerning the burglary is asked to contact the Maryland State Police, McHenry Barrack, at 301-387-1101 or 301-895-1101.

Abandoned Vehicles Will Be Towed If Snow Emergency Plan Is In Effect

The Garrett County Transportation Advisory Committee met recently to discuss winter operations in the county. One of the main items discussed was the problem that abandoned vehicles present.

"Many of the abandoned vehicles involve people from out of town who rent lake area units," said a GC Transportation Advisory Committee spokesperson.

The Garrett County public safety office will remind the area realtors to inform their renters where parking is permitted and where it is not allowed, he said.

"Abandoned vehicles present problems at all times, but are a major problem when the Snow Emergency Plan is in effect," the spokesperson said. "Vehicles that violate this procedure will be towed."

In attendance at the winter operations meeting were representatives from the State Highway Administration, Garrett County Sheriff's Office, Garrett County Roads Department, Garrett County Department of Public Safety and Emergency Management, Maryland State Police, Garrett County Board of Education and the county commissioners' office.

Man Arrested For Oct. Burglary Of Oakland Business

An Oakland man was arrested in connection with a burglary that occurred at Success Floor Covering, an Oakland business.

Michael Ray Schmidl, 22, was charged with second degree burglary, felony theft, and destruction of property. Charges against Schmidl stem from investigation into the October burglary. The business was reportedly burglarized during the night, at which time cash and other property were stolen.

Schmidl was later taken before a District Court commissioner, where his bond was set at $5,000.

Garrett Co. Has Second Highest Recycling Rate In Maryland

The Maryland Department of the Environment (MDE) has completed its review of Garrett County's Maryland Recycling Act (MRA) Tonnage Report for calendar year 2007. Garrett County achieved a recycling rate of 57.02%, with a source reduction rate of 58.02%.

This places Garrett County with the second highest rate in the state, according to Kimberly Madigan, recycling coordinator for the county's Solid Waste and Recycling Division.

The Maryland Recycling Act requires that Garrett County divert at least 15% of its waste to recycling programs. All counties in Maryland report their recycling tonnages to the Maryland Department of the Environment for review and approval.

"It is our goal to continue to educate and encourage the residents and businesses to not only recycle, but to also reduce waste at the source," said Madigan.

Burglary At Red Run Condo Under MSP Investigation

Maryland State Police are seeking public assistance in reference to a residential burglary that reportedly occurred at the Red Run Condominiums sometimes between Sunday, Nov. 2, and Monday, Nov. 10.

An unknown suspect(s) gained entry to the condo at 99 Red Run Road, and while inside damaged the residence before stealing numerous items located inside the residence. Any person who may have seen any unusual activity in the area is asked to call MSP at 301-387-1101 or 301-895-1101.

Man Charged With Multiple Crimes Involving Juveniles

An Oakland man was arrested on numerous charges involving two juvenile females after detectives with the Garrett Bureau of Investigation served an arrest warrant on him this week.

Jackie Garland Friend, 50, is charged with one count of third degree sex offense, two counts of selling/furnishing alcohol to a minor, three counts of contributing to the condition of a minor, and one count of second degree assault. Friend was already in the Garrett County Detention Center stemming from a traffic and drug arrest that occurred on Nov. 9.

The traffic arrest was the result of a motor vehicle accident, in which two females, one 14 years old and one 13 years old, were passengers in Friend's vehicle. Statements by the females revealed that Friend had allegedly provided alcohol to them on the day of the accident. They later disclosed to detectives that they were allegedly sexually assaulted by Friend. Investigation resulted in the disclosure that one sex offense reportedly had occurred approximately two years ago. The victim at the time of the offense was 12 years old.

Friend was later taken to the District Court commissioner, where his bond was set at $100,000. Further charges on Friend are forthcoming.

Garrett County Awarded $744,955 Grant To Improve Major Intersection

The Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) has awarded Garrett County a $744,955 grant to make intersection improvements and realign a section of Glendale Road at U.S. Rt. 219 (Garrett Highway) in the Deep Creek Lake area, Senators Ben Cardin and Barbara Mikulski announced Monday.

The project will expand access to Glendale Road and Rt. 219 for new businesses.

"ARC grants provide important funding to stimulate economic development and growth and greater employment opportunities," said Cardin. "The Glendale Road/Rt. 219 intersection is a heavily traveled corridor in the Deep Creek area and needs significant safety upgrades and improvements for commercial access."

The Deep Creek Lake area is the "cornerstone" of Garrett County's tourism and economic center, and it is expected that the improvements will result in up to 200 new jobs, according to Cardin.

Garrett County will provide $187,045 to the project, which will cost a total of $932,000. Design plans are expected to begin immediately and construction is expected to begin in 2009.

The Maryland State Highway Administration will administer the project, and the Federal Highway Administration will serve as the basic federal agency for the project.

"By relieving traffic congestion on crowded Glendale Road, this grant will help Garrett County residents and visitors get to where they need to go faster," said Mikulski. "As the Deep Creek Lake area continues to grow and attract new businesses, I will keep fighting for a transportation system that gets Marylanders to their jobs, delivers goods to the marketplace and reduces traffic on our roads and highways."

The ARC is a federal-state partnership that works with the people of Appalachia to create opportunities for self-sustaining economic development and improved quality of life.

Four GC Election Districts Approve Sunday Alcohol Sales Referendum

The majority of voters in four districts approved a local referendum in last week's general election that will allow alcohol to be sold with meals on Sundays between 1 and 10 p.m.: Swanton, Sang Run, East Oakland, and Finzel. The provisions become effective in those areas on Dec. 15.

According to the Garrett County Board of Elections, the unofficial results in the four precincts are as follows: Swanton, 476 votes for the referendum/421 against; Sang Run, 568/425; East Oakland, 540/507; and Finzel 339/244.

Voting results in other election districts is as follows: Friendsville, 321 for/372 against; Grantsville/Jennings, 605/721; Bloomington, 146/184; Accident, 391/417; Ryan's Glade/Red House, 254/365; Deer Park, 392/431; Bittinger, 143/214; Kitzmiller, 81/173; West Oakland/Crellin, 905/990; and Mtn. Lake Park, 599/837.

Overall, 47.76 percent of voters were for the referendum, while 52.24 percent were against.

Two of Garrett County's 19 precincts, Avilton and the Elbow, did not have the local referendum on their ballots. Voters in those areas approved Sunday alcohol sales in 1996.

Garrett County Board of Elections judges began counting more than 1,000 absentee ballots last Thursday, and provisional ballots were to be counted on Monday. A final canvassing of absentee and provisional ballots is scheduled for tomorrow.

Accidental Fire Severely Damages Single-Family House Near Lake

An accidental fire resulted in the destruction of a single-family dwelling along Garrett Highway just south of Deep Creek Lake Monday afternoon.

Volunteers from the Deep Creek, Oakland, Deer Park, Bittinger, and Accident fire departments were summoned to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Villemaire, 18546 Garrett Highway, at 1:49 p.m. when a passerby saw smoke coming from the house.

Some 25 firefighters responded and brought the blaze under control in about 15 minutes; however, according to a notice of investigation released by Maryland Deputy State Fire Marshal Jamie Rodeheaver, the estimated loss to the structure is $120,000, plus an additional loss of $15,000 to contents.

Rodeheaver determined that the origin of the fire was in the living room and was a result of combustible materials located too close to a woodstove.

The Villemaires were not at home at the time of the fire. Personnel from the adjacent Garrett Auto were successful in rescuing the couple's two cats from the burning structure.

The Southern Rescue Squad was also summoned to the scene. There were no injuries reported.

Rodeheaver reported that the Villemaires are being assisted by relatives.

Newman Funeral Homes, P.A., To Add New Director

Lynn and Carol Newman have announced that Richard L. Mattingly will become associated with the Newman Funeral Homes, P.A., as a funeral director and embalmer on Monday, Nov. 17.

A former resident of Oakland, Mattingly has been living in Harrisburg, Pa., for the past year and a half with his companion, Amanda Reckart, a law student at Widener University School of Law. He will become the supervising mortician of the Newman Funeral Homes, P.A., in Oakland, which is scheduled to open in mid-December, as well as a funeral director and embalmer with the Newman Funeral Homes, P.A., of Grantsville, Friendsville, and Accident/McHenry.

Mattingly is the son of Richard and Carol Mattingly Sr. and the grandson of Lucille Marsh, all of Oakland. Prior to relocating to Harrisburg to explore several employment opportunities, he was a lifelong resident of Oakland with 12 years' experience in the funeral profession. He graduated from Southern Garrett High School in 1995, attended Garrett College, and transferred to the Community College of Baltimore County, Catonsville campus. He graduated with an associate's degree in mortuary science.

After completing his college requirements, Mattingly became a licensed funeral director and embalmer in the state of Maryland.

WORDS OF THANKS AND GRATITUDE were expressed at Tuesday's Veterans Day ceremony, held in the rotunda of the Garrett County Courthouse. Representatives of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) stood at attention throughout, as shown above, and presented a gun salute for their fallen comrades. Those serving the country today were honored as well in remarks made by Col. Jim Hinebaugh, retired U.S. Army, shown at right. Kaylin Paugh, a third grader at Dennett Road Elementary School, provided special music, singing both the "Star Spangled Banner" and "God Bless the USA." Mikulski Plan To Help Automakers And Consumers

by David Hill
Capital News Service

As the U.S. Senate contemplates a bailout for the nation's ailing auto manufacturers, Maryland's senior senator is proposing a plan to assist car dealers and consumers.

Sen. Barbara Mikulski, D-Md., will introduce legislation during next week's lame-duck session to allow sales tax and loan interest deductions on new vehicle purchases.

The deductions could save buyers thousands of dollars and potentially spike lagging sales, Mikulski said.

"As the American automobile industry goes, so goes so much of our economy," she said. "The best way to help manufacturing is to stimulate demand."

The proposal comes as the nation's three biggest automakers – Chrysler LLC, Ford Motor Co. and General Motors Corp. – are asking for more than $50 billion in government assistance.

While the manufacturers are struggling to survive, auto dealerships are also in crisis. Dealership sales made up nearly 20 percent of Maryland's total retail sales in 2007, compared to a national average of 18 percent.

As many as 700 of the nation's 20,700 new-car dealerships will close in 2008, according to estimates by the National Automobile Dealers Association, eliminating an estimated 37,100 jobs. Data on Maryland-specific closures was not available.

"This is the slowest that I've seen the business going," said Mel Bayo, director of sales training and 23-year employee for Mile One Automotive, Towson. "I've got a daughter in college and I've also got a mortgage to pay as well. We're worried about the current situation."

Mikulski's plan would be part of a proposed bailout package that would use a portion of October's $700 billion economic bailout to assist automakers.

If signed into law, her plan would allow families earning less than $250,000 a year and individuals earning less than $125,000 to deduct sales taxes and interest on new cars. The interest deduction would only be available on loans of less than $49,500.

The deductions would typically save about $1,553 on a $25,000 car and would be available on any purchase between Nov. 12, 2008, and Dec. 31, 2009, Mikulski said. The estimated cost of the program is about $1 billion to taxpayers.

"The cost of doing nothing is horrendous," Mikulski said. "We cannot let our American automobile industry implode."

The Senate is scheduled to begin its lame-duck session Monday. Lame-duck sessions take place between November elections and January inaugurations, allowing outgoing members – or lame ducks – to participate.

Mikulski expects support from Senate Democrats, including Sens. Carl Levin, D-Mich., Debbie Stabenow, D-Mich., and Majority Leader Harry Reid, D-Nev. She is also working to gain Republican support.

"Congress has a sense of urgency to do something to help the automobile industry," Mikulski said. "I believe my plan will be received very well."

Farm Tractor Strikes Truck; Driver Charged

A two-vehicle collision involving a truck and a farm tractor in Deer Park sent one man to the Garrett County Detention Center Saturday evening.

Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to the intersection of Boiling Springs Road and Main Street at approximately 6:30 p.m. Investigation revealed that Michael Joseph Delaney, 44, Elk Garden, had been traveling north on Boiling Springs Road in his 2007 Chevy truck. As Delaney approached the railroad tracks, Clarence William Collins, 60, residence unknown, was traveling south over the tracks.

Collins was operating an older model Ford farm tractor. Collins reportedly crossed from the southbound lane and struck Delaney's truck with the tractor.

He was allegedly found by deputies to be intoxicated and was placed under arrest.

Collins was charged with failure to drive right of center, driving under the influence of alcohol, driving while impaired by alcohol, driving on a revoked license, driving an uninsured vehicle, and alcohol intoxication/endangering the safety of others.

He was taken to the Detention Center pending a bond hearing.

Bittinger Woman Taken To GCMH Following Collision

A Bittinger resident was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital Tuesday afternoon after her vehicle left the roadway for unknown reasons and struck a utility pole before coming to rest.

Maryland State Police discovered that Sandra Nesline, 60, had been traveling southbound on Foy Road, then Mosser Road in a 2003 Audi sedan when her vehicle ran off the road. She was transported to Garrett Memorial.

The collision is being investigated by Maryland State Police Tfc. Kleppinger. Charges are pending.

Southern High Holds Student Mock Election

Southern High School recently held a mock election, with students rallying for each candidate and others simply campaigning on the importance of voting and stressing it to the students.

, Amanda Conner, a sophomore student in Dave Bender's contemporary problems class, won the Electoral College Map Contest by accurately predicting that Sen. Obama would win 364 electors to Sen. McCain's 174. "I enjoyed being a part of the mock election because this was one of the most important elections in history," noted Conner. "Even though I couldn't vote, I supported the candidate I wanted to win." She also predicting that Obama would win 52% to McCain's 46% of the popular vote.

As a result of her efforts, Amanda received $150 for an overnight school field trip to Washington, D.C., this spring. First United Bank and Garrett County Republican and Democratic central committees contributed funds to make this award possible.

"Amanda has a tremendous passion for politics and in particular for the idealism of Sen. Obama," said Bender. "She followed every aspect of the electoral process, and her performance in our mock debate and mock political rally was outstanding."

Paige Fitzwater rallied for presidential candidate Barrack Obama, Mike Ludle stressed the importance of young people voting in this year's election, and Jake Bramande urged students to vote for Sen. John McCain.

"I was completely surprised when everyone cheered during the political rallies," stated Fitzwater. "I didn't think anyone cared about the election, but I was definitely wrong."

Of the 323 ballots cast in the SHS mock election, John McCain polled 53.7% and Barack Obama, at 39.1%; however, Sen. Obama prevailed in the National YLI (Youth Leadership Initiative) Student Mock Election 60% to 35%. Obama's numbers were even greater among schools in Maryland, where he came in as a 76% to 18% victor.

"The mock election was a great experience for every student in the school," said senior Kayla Petrella. "Even those who did not cast a vote still had the opportunity to learn about the presidential candidates."

The student voting took place at the school via the Youth Leadership Initiative National Student Online Mock Election on Oct. 30, the Thursday before the nation's Election Day. State and national YLI results including voting that took place in a voting window from Oct. 20 to 30.

Predicting the Electoral College results was the culminating activity in a series of events that included a number of activities via an Internet based web quest designed by Bender. It included a mock voter registration drive and a mock presidential debate that was televised over closed circuit TV to the entire school. Also needed was participation by members of the school and community in a presidential political blog, mock political rallies, which were held for each of the major party candidates during lunch shifts at the school, and voting in the national online student election.

"Many students are often unexposed to the political process," said senior Joanna Guy. "The mock election gave all students a valuable opportunity to learn about the candidates and form opinions based on fact."

"The students at Southern High, particularly those in my contemporary problems class, were challenged to think critically about issues and problems that our political system must address," added Bender. "They didn't just vote based on shallow notions of who they think is popular."

According to the nation's polls, the number of 18- to 29-year-olds who voted was greater than in any election in recent years.

"The mock election showed how elections really work," said Caitlin Simpson. "It got students more excited about politics and the voting process, so maybe they will be more likely to vote when they are old enough."

Most Valuable Payback...

One would not suspect that our nation is in an economic downturn if that person were to look only at the early response to the local Warm the Children program, now beginning its second decade of operation.

It was 11 years ago that we here at The Republican were contacted by a fellow named Mack Stewart, a resident of Connecticut, who came up with an idea of how to provide warm clothing to children in need. Being a retired newspaperman, he knew first-hand the "power of the press," and knew that if he could get newspapers around the country to spearhead his proposal, it would be successful. We liked the idea, jumped on the band wagon, and the rest is history. We are proud to state that the Garrett County program (right here in impoverished Appalachia) is one of the most successful in the nation, having already provided well over a quarter million dollars of new clothing to several thousand children.

One of the reasons for the success of the local program is that, after handling most of the work ourselves for the first several years (doing the paperwork, collecting the money, arranging for shoppers to accompany the children and their parents, writing thank-you notes, etc.), members of the Women's Civic Club of Oakland graciously came to our aid. They first provided volunteer shoppers, and then took over the task of note-writing. Now they take care of all of the shopping in the southern half of the county. We also get great help from volunteer shoppers in the Grantsville area, plus we receive wonderful cooperation from the Garrett County Department of Social Services, as well as from teachers and principals throughout the county, who have the most direct contact with the children. Further, there have been many local Wal-Mart employees, both at Oakland and LaVale, who have gone out of their way to be helpful with the shopping.

Another reason for the success of the program is the extreme generosity of our readers, residents and non-residents alike, who faithfully send in money every year. And as stated above, it does not seem to matter that the economy is in such dire straits right now – people are still coming through with their donations. There is one Garrett County gentleman who, for the past 11 years, has sent a check for $1,000. He has always asked to remain anonymous. Now that's pure, unadulterated giving.

Still another reason for the program's success is the fact that not a single dime that is donated is used to cover any kind of "administrative costs." All of it goes to purchase clothing for children in need, clothing that they get to select, or that parents may purchase to wrap up and place under the Christmas tree. Every single person involved is a volunteer. Even Mack Stewart has never received a nickel for his brainstorm. We here at our office print and donate thank-you cards and the various necessary forms, and, along with the Civic Club, cover the postage. First United Bank & Trust charges no fees on the WTC account.

The vast majority of those who benefit from the program each year are extremely appreciative, with tears and an exchange of warm hugs with their volunteer shoppers being commonplace. Therein lies the most valuable payback one could ever receive.

So it is our hope that we can continue to work together to provide this program for a second decade, and beyond. If the support is there in a year such as this one, there is little doubt of its continued success.

Letters to the Editor

Writers of letters to the editor are reminded that letters will not be published if they exceed 400 words, do not include contact information, and/or are deemed to be libelous.

To the Editor:

As a frequent visitor to beautiful Garrett County, I was struck by your editorial "Positive Messages" as a terrific gesture of cooperation, and as McCain would say, a wish for "America First." However, it was followed by the first letter to the editor from a Doctor Ronel Williams, who claimed "...we are doomed."

Since the new president will hopefully attempt to help heal our nation, I wonder if the good doctor might want to attach that response to his office for his patients to wonder about his optimism in his ability to heal them: "You are doomed!"

Sounds like your hope is for "Me first, America second."

No, Doctor, people wouldn't think you are "bitter." Your letter says all we need to know about you.

To the Editor:

In response to the letter in last week's Republican by Dr. Ronel R. Williams, I'm sorry, but have you been living in a cave for the past eight years? Orwell's worst fears have already come to be under what I can only assume to be your choice president, George W. Bush.

He has defined the Imperial Presidency, far overreaching his powers, and as for "Big Brother," have you heard about "unauthorized wiretaps," "extraordinary rendition," and his abuse of signing statements – including the one allowing torture? How about the misinforming naming of policy, "Healthy Forests Initiative" allowing the cutting of old-growth forests, or "Clear Skies," that allows polluting instead of cleaning up industry? How about a "War on Terror," aka war without end, quite convenient for Bush and his cronies in the Corporate/Military Industrial Complex.

Bush has walked all over the Constitution, and we can all thank our stars that we are now going to have a president in Barack Obama who is a scholar of constitutional law and will hopefully restore that document to its full authority.

"1984 under Obama," give me a break! Bush and the NeoCons even have their own state television channel, Fox News. If you have any doubt, just remember how Cheney insisted that every TV on the 2004 campaign trail have only Fox News. In 1984 there was propaganda, so what about how they paid consultants to appear as non-objective commentators to push policy such as "No Child Left Behind"?

The scoundrels leaving office never had your personal liberties in mind, thanks to what they've done; you can be placed on a terrorist-watch list or a no-fly list for no good reason, and good luck trying to get off it! Most recently this came to light when Maryland peace activists and another group against the death penalty had their groups infiltrated and its members put on just such a list. If they had succeeded (as they tried) in suspending habeas corpus, you could be "disappeared," just like the KGB did. They could take you, an American citizen, away without telling you or anyone else why and keep you there indefinitely.

But the good news is, we are not doomed. Hopefully Obama will reverse the loss of our rights. Stop spreading irrational fear and give this young president a chance. We should all pray for his safety and guidance.

To the Editor:

I haven't written in a while, because I felt that my words were almost pointless. I am, however, now going to ask the residents of Garrett County, Maryland, and the U.S., what is wrong with you?

I read the dismal election results and wonder what happened. If the same presidential candidates were running in the fall of 2001, would the same choice have been made? Would this patriotic country who turned to God have elected a man who doesn't seem very patriotic? A man who pushes socialism and associates with those who are in the same group that brought our very country to its knees? Those people who crashed planes and who presently kill our service men and women?

Another thing – alcohol on Sundays? You people can't drink enough on the six other days of the week that now you vote to include the day set aside for church and rest? Maybe you should be in church instead of drinking with your meal, or maybe that vote is so you can drink after church with your kids at Sunday dinner.

I guess since it didn't work to tax cigarettes (which, by the way, if you are caught with more than two packs from out of state, you will be fined), you all decided it would be a grand idea to gamble. At least now, though, those of you who drink can do it on Sundays, maybe play a few slots while there, but won't be bothered by smoke.

I don't smoke, drink, or play slots, but if a person wants to buy a case of cigarettes in West Virginia, he should not be punished just like if someone is killed by a person who had a few too many on a Sunday. Where's the right answer? Why not raise tax on alcohol?

This whole country is going down the hole, and it's only going to get worse. Thanks so very much, Democrats. I am not happy and am speaking my mind while I still have that freedom.

Sincerely,
Brenda Glotfelty

To the Editor:

Those who planned, participated in, and or attended the Veterans Day parade in Oakland on Sunday deserve much in the way of thanks and gratitude from our society as a whole. Too often we forget that our country is the land of the free and home of the brave only because of veterans – women and men who love freedom and were willing to give their lives for their country, family, friends, and neighbors. May the good Lord bless all veterans, parade planners, participants, and attendees.

As an afterthought, I wonder why the Southern High School Band does not participate in the Veterans Parade, but marches in the Autumn Glory Parade.

Bill Ziefel
Oakland

Mr. Ziefel,

It just so happens that one of our writers here in the newsroom is a parent of two members of the SHS Band, and she wishes to respond with the following information.

The band was not invited/never contacted by the aforementioned "parade planners." It would be both awkward and inappropriate for the band to simply show up at the event without ever having been invited. The band was asked to participate in the Veterans Day ceremony at the courthouse, as it has since its inception, an engagement that requires the members to miss school. In fact, the following is a word-for-word e-mail sent by director Josh Elmlinger to every band parent just this past Monday:

"Please make sure your kids get their permission forms signed. They are performing at the Veterans Day ceremony tomorrow. I want to make sure we have everyone there for a good performance to support veterans and those still serving."

Joshua Elmlinger,
Director

That does not sound anything like an uncaring, unappreciative band director to me, an implication one might glean from your letter.

And for the record, for at least the past 50 years – and probably longer – the Southern Band has not missed a single Memorial Day parade or ceremony at the Oakland Cemetery, regardless of weather conditions.

To the Editor:

I am writing concerning the proposed shooting range on Snaggy Mountain Road as indicated in the Potomac-Garrett State Forest Fiscal Year 2009 Annual Work Plan. I am a resident of the Minnetoska Lake residential community south of the proposed range. To my knowledge, there has been no effort on the part of DNR to seek input from local residents or even advise them of this proposal.

Establishment of a sport shooting range in proximity to our homes has an obvious potential to affect the use and enjoyment of our properties and poses a number of serious concerns, including safety, noise, and the impacts on campers, hikers, and other recreational users. Why have local residents not been consulted or advised of this proposal?

I ask that this proposal be withdrawn until local residents, the ones most impacted, have had an opportunity for full review and comment.

Sincerely,
Earl Eisenhart

To the Editor:

I am writing to you to share a concern that I have about our local emergency response system. I want to share an incident that occurred at my place of employment a few weeks ago.

I am involved in healthcare, and there was a situation for which the rescue squad had to be called because of a suspected stroke victim. The emergency response system took 45 minutes and two phone calls to arrive on the scene.

This incident was within Oakland, so distance was not an excuse for taking 45 minutes. Every minute we were waiting, the more brain damage this person was likely to suffer. When I think of the rescue squad, I think of people who will be there to help when we need it, but in this case they were not. I hope that I never have a situation with my family in which I must depend on the EMS system.

This system needs to be revised. We are paying people to be available for emergency situations, and where were they? Obviously our tax dollars are not being well spent.

Oakland is a small town, and I guess because of that some think we don't have emergencies. How would any of you reading this react to an emergency in which someone's life is at risk and then no one shows up to help you? Just think if it were your child or your parent. In 45 minutes someone could lose his or her life that could otherwise have been saved if emergency treatment were readily available.

To the Editor:

November 18 is the 80th birthday of Mickey Mouse, quite likely the most celebrated and beloved rodent in the world. Market researchers say that his 97 percent recognition rate in the U.S. edges out even Santa Claus.

While millions adore Mickey, other mice (and rats) don't fare so well. Particularly when they come into our homes, we often respond with unnecessarily cruel and lethal means, including glue traps, which are among the cruelest pest-control devices on the market today.

Animals who get stuck to glue traps suffer for days before they finally die of starvation, dehydration, self-mutilation, or shock. Patches of skin and fur are torn from their bodies as they frantically struggle to escape the relentless adhesive. Many animals resort to chewing off their own limbs in a desperate attempt to free themselves. Because of the obvious cruelty of glue traps, many retailers refuse to carry them, but Lowe's stores continue to sell them nationwide.

To celebrate Mickey's birthday in a meaningful way, please declare a truce on his real-life cousins. Don't buy glue traps or other deadly snares, and please contact Lowe's and ask them to stop carrying these cruel items.

To the Editor:

Thanks for finally bringing attention to the Casselman coal project. Most of these plans have happened behind closed doors, and people should be alarmed about the coal-burning power plant, a "clean-coal" project. This term is a public relations invention and fairytale. How can 5% carbon capture equal squeaky-clean air? Can this possibly be good for our region?

We're told it will only create 50 local jobs and will be obsolete in 20 years. How will this affect property values?

And concerning the Casselman River, Senator Edwards wants to piggy-back plans to flood the whole valley to make a lake with this power plant deal. It appears that the coal companies could do whatever they wanted since the land would be at the bottom of said lake.

In this county we do without many benefits (or excesses) that people downstate enjoy. A big advantage to residing here is clean mountain air and enjoying the outdoors. Why should we sacrifice this for a power plant that is only necessary because our urban neighbors are not being made to conserve energy?

This is about plundering our region and exploiting the quality of our lives for the benefit of city-dwellers and energy companies. Also proposed is a technology park to research future uses of coal (funded by taxpayer-backed subsidies). Don't they realize coal is not forever? It's a non-renewable resource.

Haven't we learned anything from the tragedy of the American auto industry? We need to move on to better energy solutions and stay ahead of obstacles before we are already behind. Besides, even if they are only mining underground in Casselman Valley, the coal that would burn in the power plant would be brought in from mountaintop-removal mines in other states. This is a dirty, vicious cycle that needs to be stopped, not encouraged.

If our officials really care about the future of this community, why not create a renewable energy technology park? The Green Sector is a growth industry. Why can't we have a technology park that will be something we can be proud of and that will provide jobs for generations to come?

To everyone who is up in arms about the windmills, where is your outrage on this issue? You had better let them know soon because the time for public comment began when they applied for the permit. The clock is ticking...

To the Editor:

In this election for president, it all began with passion... passion for a young community organizer from Chicago who had, it seems evident, curious public figures who fell in line with the Internet savvy youth and an overwhelming 95 percent black support locked up. Add on a Teflon-coating from CNN, NBC, MSNBC, and ABC, and even the anointed one, Hillary Clinton, was thrown under the bus after Barack Obama caucused and won Iowa, with the infamous Edwards coming in a close second and finally Clinton.

We now know that, as always, money, and lots of it, will usually prevail in the end. Considering that the news media was in his pocket since the beginning, the collapse of Wall Street, the many in jail for corruption, two wars, the housing debacle, the greed on both sides of the aisle, and Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac (Barney Frank and Chris Dodd), the Democrats could have propelled almost anyone to the White House. Pray that I am wrong, as always we seem to move to the middle to protect whomever the electorate honors with such a formidable task. This time, the task is enormous.

We cannot confess that we are patriots if we miss this opportunity to close ranks, because the world really will test our spirit and determination to endure as the greatest democratic republic in the world. The jokes about an Obama presidency have already begun. Let us be vigilant and unafraid to question this new public servant. It is the most important part of being an American – being active and resolute in our quest to find the truth about our elected officials. The appearance of this letter is proof that we still enjoy freedom.

To the Editor:

This letter is in response to a letter by Dr. Ronel Williams, published last week and regarding the recent election. Having just finished reading 1984 I was puzzled by his correlation to that particular story and Barack Obama. Truly, it seems to me that our current president is more akin to 1984 with all the unwarranted wiretaps currently working against American citizens, as well as the new ones Mr. Bush has in mind by the end of his term. If ever there were a time to cry out against Big Brother, it is now!

If the reference implied was one of "redistribution of wealth," may I remind Dr. Williams that for at least the last eight years, the wealth of this country has distributed itself right on up to the top 2% of the people. Not you. Not me. Not the American worker who has become more productive while realizing a net loss in income in that time. The CEOs have made off with the goods while lining the pockets of Wall Street investors and hedge fund ne'er-do-wells. Now we are expected to "help" them out of the jam. The top 2% control 90% of the wealth. I'm sure there are numerous Bible passages that apply, like the camel and needle thing, but I'll leave that for others.

If "clinging to religion or guns" is the issue, I don't know of anything President-elect Obama has done or will do to curtail your liberty in regard to either one. Let me remind you that Mr. Obama is not a Muslim. He is a Christian. He is an American. He is our next president, elected by a majority of his fellow Americans. He is due the respect that he has earned by virtue of the undeniable results at the polls.

One more thing. We've had to put up with George W. Bush and his most dismal execution of the office for eight long years. Six of those years involved a total control of the government by Republicans. If they had done a better job maybe they'd still be in charge. But they didn't and they're not.

The sun's gonna come up tomorrow, so ease up on the doomed stuff and give the man a chance. We have enough of an uphill climb without people dragging their feet.

BOE DECLARES AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK – The Garrett County Board of Education recently proclaimed Nov. 16–22 American Education Week in Garrett County. The proclamation was presented and signed by board president James Raley, vice president Rodney Durst, members Thomas Carr, Charlotte Sebold, and Dr. Donald Forrester, school superintendent Dr. Wendell Teets, and student member Joanna Guy. The proclamation reads as follows: "Whereas, public schools are the backbone of our democracy, providing young people with the tools they need to maintain our nation's precious values of freedom, civility, and equality; and Whereas, by equipping young Americans with both practical skills and broader intellectual abilities, schools give them hope for, and access to, a productive future; and Whereas, education employees, be they custodians, maintenance staff, teachers, assistants, school nurses, bus drivers, food service staff, secretaries, and/or administrators, are meeting the challenges daily to assure achievement for each student; and Whereas, schools are community linchpins, bringing together adults and children, educators and volunteers, business leaders, and elected officials in a common enterprise. Now, therefore, we, the Board of Education of Garrett County, do hereby salute our dedicated education employees and proclaim Nov. 16–22 as the 87th annual observance of American Education Week." Above, from left are Teets, Ann Ellis, and Raley.

To the Editor:

It was brought to my attention that you recently published a letter to the editor from a family member of Brad Stewart of Stewart Funeral Home. The letter chastised the community for saying "horrible things" about Brad because of his predicament. I am not a member of your community. I entrusted Brad Stewart with the funeral services for my father and pre-paid for the future services of my grandmother.

As most people know, the handling of funeral services for a loved one is a most sacred and difficult decision. You struggle with the loss and want to be so sure that it is handled in a respectable manner for the deceased. It is very important to the family to know that you have chosen the best person whom you can truly trust.

To destroy someone's trust in a matter such of this is most despicable and unacceptable, no matter what kind of "saint" you think you are. Mr. Stewart was entrusted not only with my money, but the money of 30 other people in your community. He lost his license to practice, with the Maryland Board of Morticians alleging fraud in the practice of mortuary science, use of unauthorized persons, making false reports, and unprofessional conduct. Those who doubt the validity of this should contact the Maryland Board of Morticians at 410-764-4792.

If his family wants the community to forgive him, perhaps they should step up to the bat and refund all these people their money. While I feel bad that all of this happened, I feel worse for the people who will have to struggle to re-save the money to bury their loved ones. And what will the people who cannot come up with the money again do? What will happen to their loved ones?

No matter how many acts of kindness one person performs, one purposely committed act like this (not to mention 29 more) can override any mercy you might think you deserve.

Karen Maxey
Prince Frederick

To the Editor:

In reading past letters, I appeal to everyone to stand for what is right and appeal to the board of morticians, attorneys, and all parties involved through letters or calls to settle the Stewart appeal quickly. The Stewarts have gone through enough with false rumors, allegations, and backstabbing methods for those that wish to profit. The Stewarts requested a hearing from the very beginning, but the board is dragging its feet. Why?

I personally have taken part in numerous funerals over the years and have been provided with quality service, affordable pricing, upfront accounting services, and total respect and treatment of the family and their loved one who passed on. The Stewarts have always been very open to answer any questions. Also I would have responded sooner had I known the mortician board was not doing its part. Why do we have boards and courts if we cannot be provided with a hearing in a reasonable time frame?

I also want the good citizens of Garrett County to know I have nothing to gain from writing this letter, except to know within myself that I've held out a hand to a good family.

God loves everyone. Don't stand in the shadows or jump on the band wagon. If you have time on your hands, write to the board and encourage a hearing that would allow both sides to be heard and treated equally and openly. Put yourself in their place. Would you not want the same?

If God were like some of the individuals who wrote letters, I'm not sure he would have sent his son to die on that cross. We have a duty, not only in church, but also in our communities. Our duty is to pray and hold up our brothers and sisters.

Allow the system to work!

Never a good time.

Eleven years have gone by
Upon us we find winter arriving,
If only you could return, a complete family we would have.
The nights are becoming very, very cold and darker they seem.
But now the stars are brighter and the twinkle we can clearly see.
One of those bright and beautiful, and twinkling stars you must be.
Knowing you are there healthy and whole, we fear no longer the darkness and peace is to behold.
Praying for you we will continue. Just like yours our days too are numbered. God's free will He has given to us. With every beginning there is an end and then another beginning.
A better place awaits us, with you, among those tumbling stars.
Now and for always you are in God's Eternal care.
Life is short and sometimes so unfair.
No answer to the reason why.

Never a good time.

Love you more now than ever,
Dad, Mom, Bill, Ed, Susanne, Brenda & Nephew Ryan

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Edward Stone Gibbs, formerly of Wickliffe, Ohio, Wheeling, W.Va., and Oakland. She is also the daughter of the late Marlene J. Jedd. The bride is the granddaughter of the late Oscar and Ellen Jedd, formerly of Wickliffe.

The groom is the son of Bruce and Irene Randau of Wickliffe. Erin Stauver Gibbs, the bride's sister, served as the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Olivia Whites, Domenica Randau, Carla Randau, Tanya Randau (all sisters of the groom), Stephanie Sparks, and Tamika James, the bride's first cousin.

Mr. Ranau's brother, Bruce Randau Jr., served as best man. The ushers were Frank DeFranco, Joseph DeFranco, Joseph DiMattia, Matthew Monta, Brian Mitsch, and Phil Dies.

The flower girl was Karli Randau, and the ring bearer was Thomas Randau, the niece and nephew of the groom.

Out-of-town guests included J.A. Holloway of Portland, Maine, Edward L. Holloway of Oakland, Julie Holloway of Morgantown, W.Va., Joseph R. Clark of Derwood, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Bixby, Uniontown, Ohio, and Rev. (ret.) Manning and Kathie Smith of Mtn. Lake Park.

A reception was held at Pine Ridge Country Club in Wickliffe, with music provided by the Jack Klisuric Quintet.

The bride is a 2002 graduate of Wickliffe High School, and graduated summa cum laude from Ohio State in 2006 with a degree in marketing. The groom graduated from Wickliffe High School in 2001 and from Ohio State in 2006, cum laude, with a master's degree in education in 2006. He is a 7th and 8th grade teacher at St. Richards School in North Olmstead, Ohio. The bride is employed as a marketing coordinator with Magic Arts & Entertainment LLC in Aurora, Ohio.

For the couple's honeymoon, a cruise to the western Caribbean aboard the Carnival Line Ship Fantasy is planned. The Randaus will then reside in Willowick.

Marriage Permits Recently Issued

Three couples recently applied for their marriage licenses, according to Sondra R. Buckel, clerk of the Garrett County Circuit Court.

Gregory Alan Dawson, 35, and Gina Maria Curreri, 41, both of Deer Park.

Raymond Gerald Coles, 72, and Glenda Carol Shultz, 72, both of Meyersdale, Pa.

Tony Lynn Fike, 27, and Angela Nicole Jackson, 28, both of Mtn. Lake Park.

tenced him to 18 months' incarceration, with some of the commitment to be spent in the Garrett County Jail and some in the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene for treatment for alcohol addiction.

In January, Norris was arrested by a Garrett County sheriff's deputy for destruction of property after he responded to a Mtn. Lake Park residence for a report of an intoxicated person that the property owner wanted removed.

Learning that Norris had damaged a door, the officer placed him under arrest, at which time Norris became uncooperative with the officer. After being placed in the deputy's car, Norris lunged at the officer and spit on him while he was driving to the jail, the state's attorney said.

In court proceedings from this week, Robert Mitchell Sites, 44, Oakland, pleaded guilty to driving while his privilege was suspended in another state and to providing a fictitious name to a police officer. For driving suspended, he was sentenced by Judge Jim Sherbin to two years in the Division of Corrections and fined $1,000.

The jail sentence was suspended, and Sites was placed on probation for two years. For providing a fictitious name, Sites was fined an additional $500.

Sites was stopped by a Garrett County sheriff's deputy in July 2007 for driving a truck with no tag light. When he could not produce a driver's license, Sites provided a false name and date of birth to the officer, the state's attorney noted.

SECRET SANTA PROGRAM

For the last two years Southern peer counselors have sponsored a Secret Santa program. Staff members identify students who might benefit from receiving a little something extra over the holiday. Last year 40 students received items such as winter coats, shoes, gift cards, and school supplies. According to Kelly Davis, peer counselor advisor, "High school students are often left out because people tend to feel they should understand when there isn't money to get them the things they want or need, but these young people need to know that while we can't fix the world's problems there are people who care." Those wishing to "adopt" a student for Secret Santa this year should contact Davis in the Guidance Office at 301-334-1660. By doing so, one may make a positive difference to a student in need.

The Arts

BRAESIDE TO PERFORM AT GARRETT COLLEGE – BraeSide, a pop-rock band from Oakland, will perform a "Sublime Tribute" concert on Monday, Nov. 17, at the Garrett College auditorium. The band will be touring as the Sublime tribute act for 10 days on the east coast, including a weekend of shows in and around Disney World in Orlando, Fla. With hit songs such as "What I Got" and "Santaria," Sublime, the band that BraeSide is commemorating, became of the most popular bands in the 1990s and remains highly recognized today, a spokesperson said. Another local band, Redefined in Red, will open Monday's show, which will begin at 7 p.m. For more information, persons may call 301-616-7001.

OTT To Hold Auditions For I Remember Mama

Our Town Theatre in Oakland will hold auditions for I Remember Mama, a play by John Van Druten. Jane Avery, director, said she is looking for nine men and 13 women, including one girl, 8-10 years old; one boy, 8-10; four girls, 14-20; and two boys, 14-20.

The audition dates are Sunday, Nov. 30, 2 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.; Monday, Dec. 1, 7 to 9 p.m. Persons may also audition by appointment by calling 301-334-5640, ext. 3.

The tentative performance dates are Jan. 21-25, 2009.

Avery said the story follows the ups and downs of a Norwegian immigrant family in about 1910.

"Mama, with the help of her husband and Uncle Chris, is bringing up the children in their modest San Francisco home," Avery said. "A sweet and capable manager, Mama sees her children through childhood, manages to educate them, and to see one of her daughters begin her career as a writer. Mama's sisters and uncle furnish a rich background for a great deal of comedy and a little incidental tragedy, while the doings of the children manage to keep everyone in pleasant turmoil. No description can do justice to the rich characterizations found in this play."

Recycling Rate

In the 2000 session of the Maryland General Assembly, the Senate passed a joint resolution creating a voluntary statewide waste diversion goal of 40%. This goal consists of a 35% recycling rate and up to 5% credit for source reduction.

In 2007 the state achieved a recycling rate of 44.10% and a waste diversion rate of 47.5%, surpassing the statewide waste diversion goal.

"Source reduction means the design, manufacture, purchase, or use of materials or products to reduce the amount of waste generated," Madigan said. "It includes reuse, waste elimination, package reduction, and substitution. Examples would include using rags instead of paper towels, packing lunches in reusable containers, and donating usable items to those in need."

Recycling is offered in Garrett County free of charge. A sticker is not required to recycle at any of the seven convenient refuse and recycling sites.

Materials that may be recycled are newspapers, telephone books with covers removed, glass bottles and jars (clear, green, and brown), aluminum cans, cardboard, magazines, #1 and #2 plastic jugs and bottles, office paper, used motor oil, and antifreeze.

Electronics and computers are accepted at the Bumble Bee and Webers refuse and recycling sites.

For additional information on recycling in Garrett County, persons may call 301-387-0322 or visit garrettcounty.org.

Maryland Citizens' Health Initiative Unveils New Plan

by Karisse Carmack
Capital News Service

A Maryland nonprofit group unveiled a universal health insurance program Wednesday to strong support from proponents, even with a controversial payroll tax attachment.

The "Health Care for All!" plan would be good for individuals and small businesses by letting them provide affordable and accessible health insurance, supporters of the proposal said.

The Maryland Citizens' Health Initiative held a news conference at the Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health. Its initiative is designed to expand on progress made with the Working Families and Small Business Health Care Coverage Act of 2007, which increased Medicaid funding and was supported by Gov. Martin O'Malley, initiative officials said.

The legislation produced the Medical Assistance for Families Program, which was effective July 1. It provides low-cost prescriptions, emergency visits, doctor visits, and X-ray screenings, according to the state's health department Web site.

More than 18,000 Marylanders are insured under the new program, but more work needs to be done, initiative president Vincent DeMarco said.

"Health Care for All!" would also expand the Medicaid eligibility of individuals who make about $30,000 a year, or about 200 percent of the federal poverty line, as well as for a family of four making $35,000 a year, DeMarco said.

The plan is expected to cost $15.5 billion between the years 2010 to 2014, according to the report.

The plan has the support of Naylor's Hardware president Jan Naylor. The number of insured employees at her Oakland store has decreased from 68 in 2006 to 41 this year because the company can't afford its share of the costs.

Despite operating a small business in "fiscally conservative" Garrett County, Naylor said some of her best workers have left for better health care coverage, including one who left several weeks ago to train as a prison security guard.

Employees at Alexis Coates's DEVNIX Inc. data management now have to pay for their health care out of pocket, Coates said.

If the "Health Care for All!" plan does not pass by the first or second quarter of 2009, the company may have to work offshore, said Coates.

A Technical Advisory Committee Report calls for the creation of a "Maryland Health Insurance Pool" that combines small group and individual markets in order to make insurance more affordable.

The "Health Care for All!" plan proposal is also about prevention, and one way to finance the costs is to increase the alcohol and cigarette taxes, DeMarco said.

Maryland Citizens' Health Initiative is also calling for a 2 percent payroll tax, so that big businesses will also pay their fair share, DeMarco said.

Overall, a small business's employee health care costs under the new plan would be reduced by 16 percent, with fewer insurer overhead costs, according to data provided by the Maryland Citizens' Health Initiative.

A committee of experts from institutions such as Johns Hopkins and the University of Maryland Law School spent several years putting together a plan beginning in 1999, DeMarco said.

"Health Care for All!" is economically feasible because it would save money for businesses, provide universal coverage, and keep jobs in the state, said Rebecca Colt-Ferguson, a school nurse who is the legislative committee co-chairwoman for the Maryland Nurses Association.

Opposition to the 2 percent payroll tax has been the only criticism she's heard, Colt-Ferguson said.

There are 194 businesses and organizations endorsing the "Health Care for All!" plan, according to a press release, and the goal is to now get more businesses to across the state to support the plan, DeMarco said. The organization hopes to gain more endorsements to increase its chances of passing in the General Assembly in 2009.

GCMH MATERNITY SUITE STAFF HELPS TO WARM THE CHILDREN – The 18-member staff at Garrett County Memorial Hospital's Family-Centered Maternity Suite donated funds to Warm the Children this week. The maternity nurses and physicians decided to collect money as a donation to take the place of the traditional Christmas gift exchange this year. "We already have everything we need," said Debbie Friend, RN. "And we know some babies are going to homes where they don't have what they need. So we hope we can help some of those families." Pictured from left are Dr. Sotiere Savopoulis, Mary McEwen of Warm the Children, Charlene Bennett, RN and director of the maternity suite, Twila Amtower, certified nursing assistant, and Friend. Warm the Children is a program of The Republican newspaper and the Civic Club of Oakland. The money is used to purchase new, warm clothing and footwear for local children in need. McEwen said the donation is greatly appreciated and will be put to good use. Every penny donated is used to purchase the items for local youth, she noted.

We were very disappointed . . .

. . . with the voter turn-out on Election Day and also, of course, with the results. We were hopeful that more Garrett County voters would embrace alcohol-free Sundays as a simple and effective method [already in place] for restraining the flow of alcohol in our county.

Voters who do support alcohol-free Sundays are encouraged to consider, in the future, supporting candidates for our county offices who will do the right thing and who will represent all of their constituents in a fair and just manner. If the issue of Sunday sales appears on our ballot again, as a local referendum, we strongly suggest that it should be, in strict fairness, as a county-wide vote.

We pray that society as a whole will shortly come to grasp the alarming truth regarding the dangers of alcohol use (similarly, as it has done with tobacco) and take appropriate measures...not as a "control" (people still smoke and use smokeless tobacco) but as education and protection for its citizens, families, children, property and economy. (Isn't it curious what is considered culturally acceptable at various periods throughout history?) Our many newspaper ads during the campaign emphasized disturbing alcohol statistics, supported by study groups and/or government agencies. In light of those, is having a drink with Sunday dinner really THAT important?

We commend the efforts of MADD and SADD, over the years, in awakening the general public to the dangers of mixing alcohol & driving and alcohol & young people.

Until more individuals, elected officials, education and religious leaders, service organizations, government agencies, and private groups begin working together, vigorously promoting and supporting a generally alcohol-free lifestyle, and have the courage to take a public stance, alcohol will continue to wreak unabated havoc on our society. We challenge you to be instrumental in promoting alcohol-free events and activities (such as the after-prom parties) as the latest trend in your personal life, as well as in the community.

We extend our thanks and appreciation to those individual voters, groups and churches who worked in the campaign to...

What To Do About Croup

Croup is a medical condition in which there is airway swelling. It occurs most often in children. The condition can be caused by one or more respiratory viruses, such as the parainfluenza virus or respiratory synctial virus (RSV). Bacteria may also cause croup. A child may become infected by transmission of the virus or bacteria through coughing or sneezing, or from touching a contaminated surface, such as a toy. Signs and symptoms include a loud cough with difficulty breathing, and possibly a hoarse voice. A fever may also be present. As croup occurs, it intensifies in the smaller airways. Young children are most susceptible to more severe symptoms. When croup is caused by a virus, it is likely to resolve within 3 to 7 days.

Episodes of croup are usually treatable in the home, and may not require attention from a physician. A humidifier in the child's bedroom may improve breathing. For a fever, acetaminophen may be used. Cough syrup is not likely to improve the cough; however, the doctor should be consulted for further information. Medications may be prescribed when symptoms are more se.ere. For severe symptoms, corticosteroids or epinephrine may be required to help open the airways. If the infection is caused by bacteria, antibiotics may be prescribed.

Southern Girls' Cross Country Team Places Fifth At States

Senior Krista Hollingsworth and sophomore Lindsey Smith captured individual all-state titles as well as led the Southern High School girls' cross country team to a fifth place finish at the Maryland Class 1A State Championships last Saturday held at Hereford High School.

"Our finish is not because we had a bad race – our team ran as a team as well as they have all year, and a couple of the girls really picked it up and had excellent races," said Coach Steve Cosner. "The teams ahead of us were very deserving of their wins and simply had a better day than we did. We were very competitive throughout the race and our girls did their best."

Hollingsworth paced the Rams in 11th place, with a time of 22:25, and Smith was 24th, one minute behind Hollingsworth in 23:25.

Teammates Katie Gindlesberger followed in 23:34 for 26th place, and Jennifer Cosner and Felicia Beeman were 36th and 37th, respectively, in 24:25 and 24:26.

Ashley Gordon was 44th in 24:47 and Kim Stephens came in 53rd, 25:21, to finish seventh for the team.

"I am very proud of these girls and with the whole team, because these awards come from the hard work the entire team has put in this year as a TEAM," said Cosner.

Bohemia Manor won the 1A girls' meet with 54 points, South Carroll was second with 69, Glenelg, 100, for third, and Williamsport edged out Southern by one point, 106 to 107, for fourth place.

According to Cosner, the sport of cross country has risen in popularity and participation in Maryland, and because of this, the state extended the all-state team from 15 to 25 runners to reflect the increase.

Brunswick senior Sara Fisher won the girls' race in 20:11, and Fort Hill's Amanda Twigg, who was favored to finish in the top three, failed to finish the race because of injury.

When asked about the 2009 cross country season, Cosner stated, "We are certainly going to miss our seniors, but we have an impressive list of girls returning that should really turn some heads next year."

It was reported in last week's cross country article that the Southern boys' team had also advanced to the state meet. However, the team missed placement by one point, and had no individual qualifiers for the championships.

Huskies Set Records in Destruction Of Rams In '08 "Backyard Brawl"

With what was the most lopsided score in the history of the Garrett County football rivalry between Southern and Northern Garrett high schools, the Northern Huskies came to Oakland last Friday night and coasted to a 53-0 victory over the frustrated Rams.

The Rams had held the margin of victory since 1987, when they won by a 51-0 score.

The game wrapped up the 2008 season for both teams, with neither having one of their better campaigns, as Northern finished with a 3-7 record and the Rams ended their season with a disappointing 2-7 mark.

While the Huskies, who have now won the last seven meetings between the two schools (a series record), were generally deemed the favorite to win the annual backyard brawl, most fans anticipated a much closer game. But Coach Phil Carr's squad scored on its very first play from scrimmage, then proceeded to put 32 points on the board in the second quarter alone to put the contest away early.

Leading the Huskies' effective ground attack, which produced five touchdowns on runs of at least 30 yards, was senior running back Zach Fratz, who amassed 214 of the Huskies' total of 371 yards rushing. Teammate Randy Wiley gained 115 yards on just a dozen carries. It was the first time this season that any member of the Northern offense surpassed the 100-yard rushing mark.

The Huskies rushed 33 times, meaning they averaged over 11 yards per attempt, while the Rams' ground game netted just 106 yards on 34 plays, with Travis Skeweris gaining 71 yards.

Northern quarterback Jake Bosley put the ball in the air just twice, but completed both passes for an additional 54 yards and one touchdown. He also passed for a pair of two-point conversions.

The Rams got the ball first and mounted what appeared to be an effective drive, only to be stopped on fourth-and-short and give Northern possession on its own 34-yard line. On the first snap from center, Fratz raced 66 yards untouched for a touchdown. Randy Wiley's two-point run for the conversion put the Huskies on top 8-0.

The roof caved in on the Rams in the second quarter, with Bosley connecting with Kyle Gillum on a 32-yard touchdown pass less than two minutes into the period, and Fratz running successfully for the conversion.

Wiley broke loose on a 35-yard touchdown run, scoring at the 6:52 mark, and Bosley connected with Gillum for the conversion, giving the Huskies a 24-0 advantage.

On the Rams' ensuing possession, they immediately turned the ball back over to the Huskies via an interception by Adam Moranduzzo, and Wiley ran 50 yards this time for another touchdown. Bosley's pass for the conversion made it 32-0 with 5:09 left before halftime.

With time about to expire in the second quarter, the Huskies had possession on their own 26-yard line. Bosley took the snap and handed off to Fratz on what was designed as a safe, short-yardage play to finish out the half, but Fratz shot straight through the Ram defense again and went 74 yards untouched for another touchdown as the first-half clock ran out.

Bosley ran for the conversion to give the Huskies a commanding 40-0 advantage at intermission.

With the clock running non-stop in the second half, the Huskies would still put two more touchdowns on the board, the first recorded late in the third quarter on a one-yard run by Jason Green. Gillum's PAT kick made it 47-0. The score was set up by an interception by Northern's Dylan Day.

The final six-pointer of the game was also scored by Green, this time on a 15-yard carry with just 2:42 left in the final period. Gillum's conversion kick was no good.

"We never dreamed that we would come away with a margin of victory like

Saturday To Be 14th Annual Jr. Deer Hunt Day

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources invites junior hunters to try deer hunting and refine their hunting skills during Maryland's 14th annual Junior Deer Hunt Day, which will be this Saturday, Nov. 15. White-tailed and sika deer firearms hunting will be open exclusively to hunters age 16 years and younger who are accompanied by an unarmed, licensed (or exempt from license requirement) adult who is at least 21 years of age.

"This popular hunting day provides an opportunity for experienced adult deer hunters to mentor and pass on the knowledge and skills required to be a safe, effective, and ethical hunter," said Harry Spiker, Wildlife and Heritage Service Game Mammal Section leader. "Junior Deer Hunt Day is dedicated to teaching young hunters the ethics, techniques, and traditions of hunting, and encouraging appreciation of our natural resources."

New this year, the Junior Deer Hunt Day bag limit is separate from the deer firearms season bag limit. This change allows successful Junior Deer Hunt Day participants to continue to pursue deer during the deer firearms season in all regions of the state. Junior Deer Hunt Day is open concurrently with the bow season. Hunters pursuing deer with archery equipment on November 15 must wear fluorescent orange.

All hunters participating in the Junior Deer Hunt Day must have passed a Maryland Hunter Education course and exam, and demonstrated proficiency during a practical test and live firing exercise. The Hunter Education course includes instruction in hunter responsibilities, firearms safety, the principles of wildlife management, and other outdoor fundamentals.

Successful junior deer hunters are encouraged to visit one of Maryland's Junior Hunter certificate agents to receive a special certificate for any deer they harvest. The certificate is available to junior hunters during any of the Maryland deer hunting seasons. A list of participating certificate agents, bag limits, season dates, deer registration procedures, and other deer hunting information are online at www.dnr.maryland.gov/huntersguide. The Maryland Guide to Hunting & Trapping 2008-2009 issued with each hunting license contains detailed information about all of Maryland's hunting seasons.

LAKERS TO RESUME CAMPAIGN – After nearly a two-week layoff, the 1-1 Garrett College men's basketball team will be back in action this weekend when the Lakers host their annual McDonald's Big Mac Classic. Garrett will meet the Community College of Philadelphia at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, following a 5:30 game between Potomac State College and Montgomery Germantown, a 3-0 squad that was ranked #7 in the pre-season junior college Division III poll. In Saturday's games, Philadelphia will face Germantown at 1 p.m., and the Lakers will tip off against Potomac State for the second time this season at 3 p.m. Coach Dennis Gibson's Lakers last played on Nov. 2, when they defeated host Potomac State, 82-76, after being upset by Howard CC in their season opener. Sophomore Francis Gunn is currently leading the Lakers in scoring with a 19.5 per game average, followed by freshman point guard Rodney Clark with 13.5 points and 4 assists per game. Laker "Big Blue" season tickets will be available at the door this weekend for $20 each, and purchasers will receive a Laker T-shirt. The 3008-09 Lakers are pictured above. In the front row, from left, are: Kory Gibson, Shawn Greenfield, Aaron Jones, Jeff Stem, Joe DuBuche, and Chris Hilliard. In the second row are: Howard Ferguson, Mihail Dimitrov, Chris Speicher, Rodney Clark, Brian Koonce, and Reco Siler. Standing are: Brandon Nanton, Mark Smith, Francis Gunn, Doma Ibrahim, Marko Agbaba, J.T. Lewis, and Terrence Taylor.

Archery League Sign-Up Begins

League competition will start January 2. For more information, persons may telephone 304-693-7854.

Gower Memorial Tourney Raises Funds For Rams

The annual Chum Gower memorial Golf Tournament was held recently at the Oakland Golf Club course. The event benefits different area programs and organizations, and this year the recipient selected to receive the proceeds was the Southern High School boys' basketball program.

"There was a great turnout for the tourney," said new head coach Jon Hegeman. "We are very appreciative of the efforts of everyone involved, especially the Oakland Golf Club. We had 33 hole sponsors, and a beautiful day for the event. We are anxious to get our season started, and the entire staff is appreciative of the community support for SHS basketball."

The team recording low gross in the tournament was that of Rob Sharps, Scott Finch, Bob Finch, and Jason Finch, followed by the team of Bryan Paugh, Travis Friend, Kane Wengerd, and Bryson Paugh.

Winning low net was the team of Barry Dalton, Josh Browning, Al Marucci, and John Culp. In second place, winning via a chip-off, was the team consisting of John Price, Casey McBee, Bill Ewing, and Tyler Ewing.

Winners of the closest to the pin awards were: Rob Sharps, #3 and #6; Bo Noonen, #9; and Kurt Lear, #10 and #17. Jason Finch won the putting contest.

Laker Greenfield Is Pre-Season All-American

Shawn Greenfield, a 6-0 sophomore guard for the Garrett College Lakers, has been named a third-team NJCAA pre-season All-American.

A Region XX, Division 1 first-team selection last season, he was the catalyst for the Laker offense, leading the Lakers in scoring with an average of 15 points per game, assists with 3.5, and steals with 1.5. He scored 28 points in a win versus Catonsville CC and recorded 10 or more assists on numerous occasions.

Laker head coach Dennis Gibson said that the recognition of Greenfield is "deeply deserved."

"Shawn is a perfect example of what we ask of JUCO athletes at this level," Gibson said. "He was a big-time scorer in high school whom we moved to point guard, and he responded by making our team better in every way. He took big shots when he had too, and scored when we needed it, but he was willing to sacrifice.

"In addition to that, he has been a tremendousiy hard worker in the classroom," continued Gibson. "I am very proud to have him as part of our program."

SUCCESSFUL PHEASANT HUNT – Matthew Martin, 10, of Grantsville, recently took two ring-necked pheasants during the Junior Hunter Field Day and Pheasant Hunt held at Wings of Challenge Hunting Retreat near Accident.

Greenfield has elected to redshirt the 2008/09 season in order to increase his opportunities for a major college scholarship. He was the only Region XX, Division 1 honoree on the team this year.

THE LONG AND SHORT OF IT!

You've been reading negative stories about the housing market, and while some are experiencing a slowdown, it's still no reason to keep you from pursuing the American Dream.

Anyone who's watched the industry for the last thirty years will tell you that it's a natural cycle, much like the adjustments the stock market experiences. All's well that ends well after a period of time passes.

Remember that housing is a long-term investment. Some people tried to create high yields over the short term, and that's part of the reason so many markets are experiencing readjustments now.

Regardless of whether housing is up or down, individuals and families will always have a need to buy or sell. Home sales last year actually surpassed those of five years ago, which was another record year. Interest rates and prices are at historical lows, creating an excellent atmosphere for qualified buyers.

When reading the gloom and doom about foreclosures, it's important to keep the reports in perspective. Most defaults are associated with subprime loans, which account for less than 10% of all mortgages. Of those, only 0.6% are currently in foreclosure.

Now is the time to turn to the advice and guidance of a trusted local real estate professional, whether you're buying or selling. Keep a level head and take advantage of positive forces in the current housing market. If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call at the office or on my cell at 301-501-DALE that," said Coach Carr.

"I think that when we stopped them on their opening drive, and then scored right away, it really took the wind out of their sails. Believe me, we've been there before."

Even though the Huskies finished with a 3-7 record, Carr was still pleased with his team's effort throughout the season.

"With seven losses, it would have been easy for our kids to have quit, but they never did," Carr said. "They maintained their focus every week, and came back on Monday ready to prepare for the next game. I give a lot of credit to our coaches and our players, especially our seniors. This big win over Southern is a nice way for them to wrap up their careers, and it also gives us hope and momentum going into next season."

Another highlight of the Huskies' season was the fact that they were the only team to defeat Bishop Walsh.

"Plus, if you look at the records of the other teams on our schedule, and on Southern's schedule as well, you will see how difficult it is for both of us," he said.

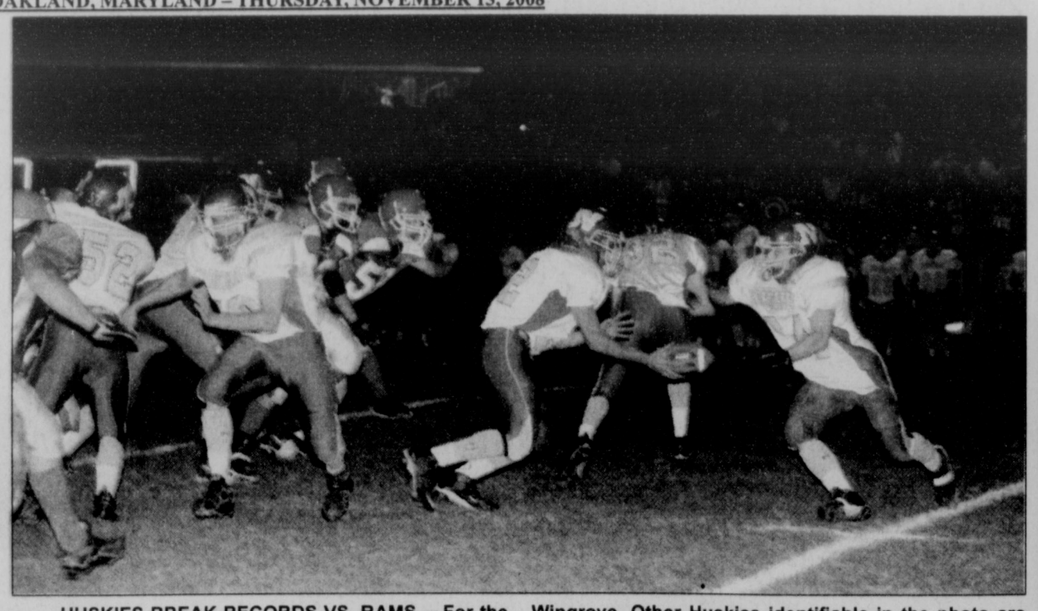
"Keyser is 11-0, Smithsburg is 10-0, Fort Hill is 8-1, Allegany is 8-2, and Mountain Ridge and Chestnut Ridge are both 7-3," he continued. "Mountain Ridge and Frankfort (6-4) both just missed making the playoffs.

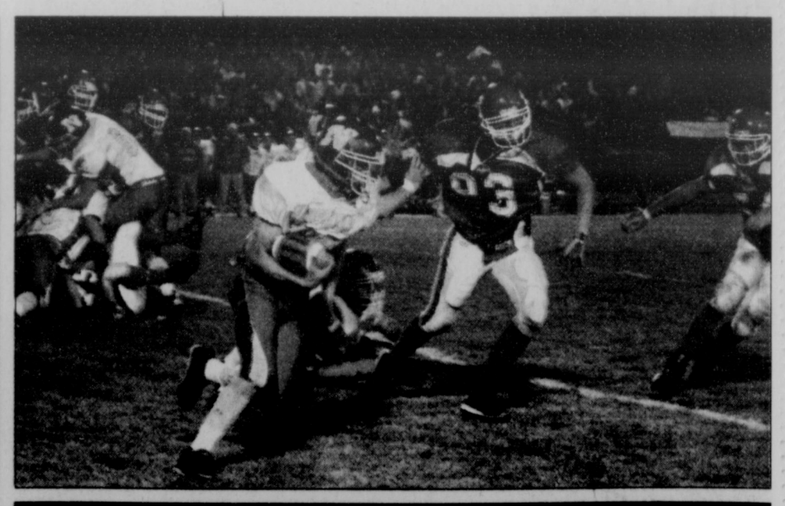
"So no one can ever accuse us of playing a weak schedule," he said.

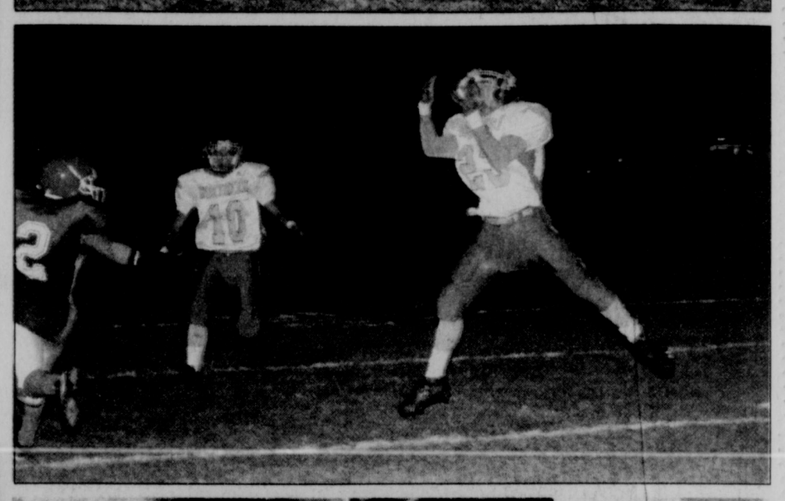
Carr said he looks forward to next season, especially since Northern's junior varsity finished its season with an unbeaten record for the first time in school history.

"But now it's on to baseball!" said Carr, who is also Northern's varsity head coach of that sport.

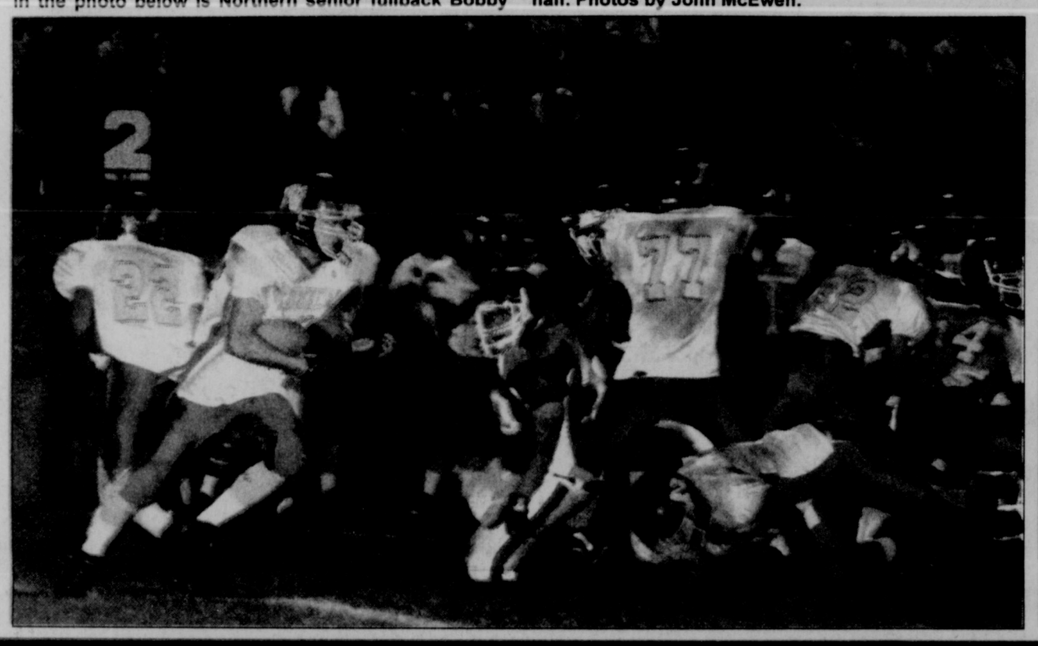
The Southern varsity leads the all-time football series with the Huskies with a 33-17-2 record.







HUSKIES BREAK RECORDS VS. RAMS – For the seventh consecutive year, the Northern High School varsity football team claimed Garrett County bragging rights by defeating the Southern High Rams in last Friday's annual GC "backyard brawl." The Huskies not only won the game, but won it by the largest margin of victory (53-0) ever recorded in the county clash. The previous record was a 51-0 victory by the Rams 19 seasons ago. Coach Phil Carr's squad brought a punishing running attack to Oakland, as the Husky offensive unit amassed over 400 yards, with most of that coming on the ground. Above, quarterback Jake Bosley hands off to halfback Randy Wiley, who finished the evening with 115 yards. Picking up yardage in the photo below is Northern senior fullback Bobby Wingrove. Other Huskies identifiable in the photo are Bosley (#22), lineman Trevor Tombley (#77), halfback Zach Fratz (#32), and Wiley (#34) at far right. Fratz, who is pictured above right running to evade Ram defenders Ryan Fitzwater (#83) and Dan Shockey (#54), set a personal rushing record of 214 yards for the game. The Northern defense also had an outstanding night in keeping the Rams out of the end zone. Below right, Husky Dylan Day is pictured picking off a Ram aerial, which set up one of the Huskies' four touchdowns recorded in the second half alone. The ball was intended for Southern's Brutus Scheffel (#2). In the background is Northern junior Teddy Linton (#10), who served as the Huskies' quarterback most of the second half. Photos by John McEwen.



SENIOR CENTER HOLDING BASKET LOTTERY –The Mary Browning Senior Center, Oakland, is holding a Longaberger basket lottery throughout November. If a participant's ticket numbers match the Maryland Pick Three nightly drawing, he or she will win a basket. All proceeds benefit Garrett County Meals on Wheels. Sheila Ford is shown with the basket prizes. For information and tickets in the Oakland area, persons may call Ford at 301-334-9431, in the Grantsville area, 301-895-5818, and in the Cumberland area, 301-777-5970, ext. 10.

Local Residents Asked To Share Holiday Meals

The local Meals on Wheels program does not deliver meals on Thanksgiving or Christmas. Garrett County Area Agency on Aging, therefore, is asking residents to deliver a hot meal on those days to frail, homebound local senior citizens who do not have family in the area.

"Would you be willing to help?" asked an AAA spokesperson. "It is as easy as making an additional plate of food and bringing it to the home of the senior citizen."

Volunteers are usually needed in the northern and southern sections of the county, she noted. Persons who would like to volunteer are asked to call AAA at 301-334-9431, ext. 137.

Oakland Man Handed Three Years For Theft

Among recent cases heard in Garrett County District Court, Todd William Riley, 33, Oakland, was found guilty by Judge Edward Malloy Jr. for a charge of theft of $500-plus value, where he will serve a three-year jail term, with 66 days of credit for time served.

Garrett County sheriff's officers responded in August to a theft report at the Wal-Mart in Oakland. Upon arrival, officers spoke with a manager, who advised that two subjects had left Wal-Mart with two Visio 22" TVs and had not paid for them.

The tag number of the suspects' vehicle had been recorded by an employee of Wal-Mart, who also gave the vehicle's description as a dark-colored Chevy Cavalier. Details of the suspects were also given.

Officers advised a Be On the Lookout code, and the vehicle was located on New Germany Road by Maryland State Police. A traffic stop was conducted on the suspected vehicle.

After making contact with the driver, who was determined to be Riley, reports show that he admitted to stealing the TVs because he needed cash. The other passenger in the vehicle was identified as the second suspect on security tapes from the store. Riley had also been recognized on the tapes.

Riley stated that the other passenger did not have anything to do with the theft of the TVs. Both suspects were placed under arrest and transported to the Garrett County detention center without incident.

Further search of Riley at the detention center revealed the finding of marijuana in his right front pants pocket. He was not prosecuted on a charge of possession of marijuana.

In an unrelated case, James Milton Tucker, 52, Oakland, was sentenced to a jail term of 15 days by Judge Malloy after being found guilty for possession of marijuana, with fines of $100. A recommended term of work release was also given.

Tucker's charges stem from his arrest in March when members of the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force began surveillance on a 1994 Chevrolet Blazer parked at Mettiki Mines. Observation was conducted upon a concerned citizen complaint that the owner of the vehicle, Tucker, smoked marijuana to and from work.

Officers observed an individual, believed to be the suspect of the complaint, enter his vehicle and pull from the parking lot. Tucker was not wearing his seat belt, which led officers to conduct a traffic stop.

Officers performed a scan of the vehicle by utilizing K-9 Tara, and a positive alert for the odor of drugs was given. A subsequent search of the vehicle by members of the GCNTF revealed a black container with numerous suspected marijuana cigarettes, a pill bottle with Tucker's name on it containing numerous suspected marijuana cigarettes, and EX Wider rolling papers.

Testing revealed a positive reaction for marijuana in the cigarettes. Tucker was not prosecuted on a charge of possession of paraphernalia.

In another district court hearing, Daniel John Tibbs, 25, Oakland, pleaded not guilty for charges of burglary in the fourth degree and theft of $500-plus value. His charges stemmed from an arrest in June for breaking and entering an apartment and allegedly stealing items from the apartment.

Heather Renee Nazelrod, 21, Oakland, was found not guilty for charges of burglary in the fourth degree and theft with a $500-plus value. She was arrested in June for breaking and entering an apartment and allegedly stealing items from the apartment.

FRIENDSVILLE SADD CELEBRATES RED RIBBON WEEK – The Friendsville SADD (Students Against Destructive Decisions) group decorated a front window at the Jubilee Diner on Oct. 23 for Red Ribbon Week. This year's theme was "Ask Me, See Me, Be Me, I'm Drug Free." In honor of all the teens and their parents who pledged to be drug free, the students walked around Friendsville and tied red ribbons on every tree and sign as a reminder that "being drug free is the only way to be." A group spokesperson expressed her appreciation to Tammy Thomas for allowing SADD to meet at the diner and decorate the window and to the Friendsville Community Watch for sponsoring the yearly Red Ribbon pizza party. For more information about Friendsville SADD, persons may call Christy Thomas at 301-746-5842 or Kecia Smith at 301-334-7730, ext. 6611. Standing, left to right, are Tammy Thomas, Christy Thomas, Holly Lane, Kecia Smith, and Laken Smith. Kneeling are Jessica Lane, Keira Pitman, Sonya Thomas, and Raven Smith. Friendsville SADD activities are supported in part by funds from the Friendsville Community Watch and the Garrett County Health Department to promote healthy living and prevent risky behaviors.

NEW EAR WAX GUIDELINES

Despite its name, ear wax (or cerumen) is a mixture of secretions from the outer ear that works as a self-cleaning agent with lubricating and anti-bacterial properties that protect the ear. Normally, the body removes excessive ear wax on its own by having it migrate out of the ear canal. At times, however, it accumulates to the point of impaction, which leads to hearing loss, ringing in the ears, pain, or a feeling of fullness. Many people with these symptoms feel a need to manually remove cerumen from their ears. However, new guidelines issued by the American Academy of Otolaryngology-Head and Neck Surgery Foundation (AAO-HNSF) recommend that patients choose wax-dissolving agents and ear irrigation over cotton swabs.

When it is difficult to tell whether ear wax or another physical impairment is causing a hearing loss, or because of the continual bombardment of noise, it's time for a hearing test. Have a comprehensive hearing evaluation at AUDIBEL so that we may accurately determine the reason behind your hearing loss. And if a hearing instrument is indicated, rest assured we carry a full range of brands and types, and we'll find the one that is right for you.

P.S. The AAO-HNSF recommends that people avoid "oral jet irrigators" and so-called ear candling (insertion of a hollow cone-shaped device into the ear canal and lighting the exposed end) to remove ear wax.

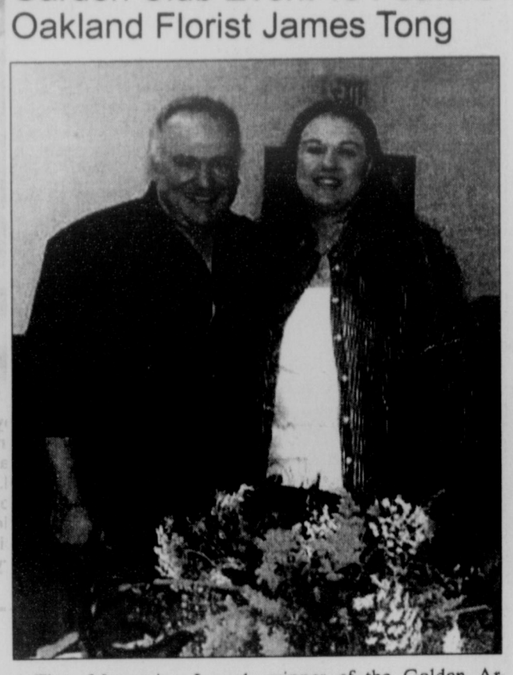
Garden Club Event To Feature Oakland Florist James Tong



The Mountain Laurel Garden Club will meet Tuesday, Nov. 18, 10:30 a.m., at the Will O' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake. James Tong, assisted by Jo Mitchum (both pictured), will present a program titled "Christmas Traditions."

Following a short business meeting, Tong will discuss the "how-tos" of live traditional Christmas arranging. Fresh pine along with an assortment of holiday flowers and accents will be used.

Lunch will follow the program, after which members and guests may stay for a workshop with Tong. The cost for the workshop will be $20.

Tong moved to the local area from Los Angeles in 2000 after purchasing the Maxwell Cottage in Mountain Lake Park. He totally renovated the century-old home, an endeavor for which he was prepared by renovating three houses in California in the 1990s.

Tong has owned a business in the Los Angeles suburbs for 20 years that specializes in parent/child play and movement, music, and art classes. He spent 19 of those years teaching the classes himself. Tong was named Teacher of the Year twice.

A music major in college, he went on to become choir director of three churches in southern California. He is also a past winner of the Golden Arrow Award of the Pasadena Beautiful Foundation, given for excellence in the beautification of the city of Pasadena, Calif., home of the Tournament of Roses. The recipients of this award are judged in secret and honored for their distinctive homes and gardens in a city hall ceremony.

Tong became owner of Jan Florist in downtown Oakland in 2007, turning what has always been a favorite hobby into his own business. In addition to musical endeavors, his other hobbies include interior decorating, traveling, cooking, and music. He currently sings with the choir of St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland, and is a member of the Garrett Choral Society.

Garden Club members will be contacted regarding lunch reservations and the workshop. Non-members interested in attending the meeting, making a lunch reservation, attending the workshop, or receiving further information about the Mountain Laurel Garden Club may contact Ginni Neff at 301-387-7387 or Helga Williamson at 301-387-8069.

The Mountain Laurel Garden Club is a member of the Federated Garden Clubs of Maryland Inc., the Central Atlantic Region, and the National Garden Clubs Inc. Affiliated clubs provide education, resources, and national networking opportunities for members, as well as promote gardening, floral design, and civic and environmental responsibility.

Women Of ELCA Hold Nov. Meeting

Zion Women of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America (ELCA) held their monthly meeting on Nov. 14 at the church. The day's program began with the annual thank offering service, "A Litany of Thanks for Bold Women."

A responsive reading of thanks was read for each of the following: Eve; Miriam; young mothers; Mary, mother of Jesus; Mary Magdalene; grandmothers; daughters; and widows.

The thank offering for the year was received, and the reading "Yes" followed.

A study, "Ruth: a Place in Community," was led by Leota Baker, and opened with the hymn "Have No Fear, Little Flock."

Judy Stanton presided over the ELCA business meeting. The minutes and treasurer's report were read.

An offering was sent to Hospice of Frederick in memory of Marvin Beachy.

A donation will also be sent to The Republican for the Warm the Children fund.

It was noted that evergreens have been gathered to make the Advent wreath for the church.

There was a discussion on whether or not to increase the monthly offerings to the synod.

The meeting adjourned with the missionary benediction.

Kosienskis To Open Home For Red Cross Tours

Jim and Katie Kosienski will open their Meadow Lake Estates home to be part of the 17th annual "Home for the Holidays" House Tours, a program of the Western Potomac Chapter of the American Red Cross.

The event will be held on the first weekend in December. Ticketholders will be able to visit five tour stops on Friday, Dec. 5, from 4 to 9 p.m., or Saturday, Dec. 6, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. All five locales are included in the price of one ticket.

The Kosienski home is located along Markwood Drive in Meadow Lake Estates. The three-story, 8,000-square-foot contemporary home was designed and built by the owners in 2002. It has four bedrooms, three full baths, two half baths, living room, formal dining room, kitchen, mudroom, loft area, two offices, sunroom, and game room. The home overlooks Meadow Lake, with a view that can be seen by most rooms of the home. All three floors will be open for the tour.

The living room features a high tongue-and-groove ceiling and a full wall stone fireplace, which will be the setting for a large and ornate Christmas tree. The kitchen has a wet bar and large island with granite countertops, stainless steel appliances, and black wrought-iron detail on the cabinets. The master suite is furnished with a Dick Idol bedroom suite, and the adjoining bathroom has a spa tub and walk-in shower.

A favorite room of the family is on the lowest level, and it is the game room. There is a refreshment area, pool table, poker table, and darts. Decorated with NASCAR memorabilia throughout, this room is the main gathering place for guests.

The Kosienskis said they enjoy Christmastime, which will be evident throughout the house with decorations of all kinds, including contemporary, country, woodland, and traditional. There will be many Christmas trees throughout the house, each decorated in a different theme to match each room, including one that will be decorated with ornaments from the White House Historical Society. Outside, the property grounds will be adorned with Christmas displays and lights.

In addition to the Kosienskis' home, the stops on the tour this year are Ridgeview Valley in McHenry, the "Little Pine Log Cabin" at North Glade Hills, the WildWood Athletic Club, and the Faith Evangelical Free Church in Mtn. Lake Park.

Tickets for the tour are $8 in advance and $10 on the day of the tour. Tickets are available at Proudfoot's, Gregg's, and Deep Creek pharmacies, as well as Arrowhead Market at Deep Creek Lake. Directions are printed on the back of the tickets, and Red Cross signs will be placed in the yard of each tour site.

For more information, persons may call 301-334-3153, 301-334-9727, or 301-334-4465.

County Reading Council Seeking New Members

The Garrett Reading Council is currently accepting new members through December 1. The council is encouraging parents, teachers, and other citizens who are interested in supporting literacy activities throughout Garrett County to become active members of the organization.

Annual dues are $25 for regular membership, and $12 for undergraduate students, instructional assistants, and retirees. These dues include membership into both the Garrett Reading Council and the State of Maryland International Reading Association Council (SoMIRAC).

According to a spokesperson for the council, members gain knowledge about supporting literacy through meetings, guest speakers, and special activities, such as the Vocabulary Make-and-Take Session.

"We are also involved in a variety of community service projects," the spokesperson said, "including holiday literacy events and supporting Habitat for Humanity, Books for Babies, and Dolly Parton's Imagination Library. This year, thanks to the support of area businesses, our members will also enjoy discounts offered by the Book Mark'et and Mark IV in Oakland, and Main Street Books in Frostburg."

For a membership application or more information, persons may contact council president Donna Deal at Route 40 Elementary School, or membership director Erica Foley at Swan Meadow School.

Members are invited to attend the next council meeting, scheduled for next Wednesday, Nov. 19, at 5 p.m. at in Room 205 of the Garrett College Continuing Education Building.

One topic of the meeting will be discussing ways to support Dolly Parton's Imagination Library, a program that will soon be providing free books for preschoolers in Garrett County.

Following the business meeting will be a Vocabulary Make-and-Take session presented by Randee Craig and Erica Foley. There will also be refreshments provided by a Tastefully Simple representative.

Space and materials will be limited. Materials will be provided to the first 40 people who pre-register by calling Swan Meadow School.

Tourists Spend $13.6 Billion In Md. During 2007

Governor Martin O'Malley announced that visitors to Maryland pumped a record $13.6 billion into the state's economy during calendar year 2007 – an increase of 2.9 percent over the previous calendar year. The governor cited the results of a study released this week by the Maryland Office of Tourism Development, an agency of the Maryland Department of Business and Economic Development.

The report also showed that the tourism industry generated an estimated $1.7 billion in state and local taxes in 2007, while employing nearly 141,000 state residents – mainly in the areas of food service, public transportation, and lodging – with a payroll of $3.8 billion. Transportation and food represent the largest share of the $13.6 billion in visitor spending, followed by shopping, lodging, and entertainment.

"Tourism continues to be one of Maryland's top economic engines," said Governor O'Malley. "In addition to boosting the state's economic health through revenue generation and job creation, tourism is essential for providing Marylanders with a superior quality of life."

Earlier this year, the governor announced that Maryland welcomed an estimated 27.2 million visitors during calendar year 2007 – a decrease of 3.8 percent from 2006. More than 75 percent were leisure visitors, and the other 24 percent were business travelers.

This year's report uses a new measurement system, the Tourism Satellite Account (TSA), which is endorsed by the U.S. Office of Travel and Tourism Industries and the World Tourism Organization. Currently, only TSA provides measurements of tourism that are designed to facilitate direct comparisons to other industry accounts (such as technology or manufacturing). Key highlights of the study can be found in the recently released Tourism Development Annual Report.

To learn more about Maryland's tourism industry, persons are invited to go online to visitmaryland.org.

Fitzwater To Attend NYL Law Forum

Paige Fitzwater, a sophomore at Southern High School, was nominated and selected to join over 300 students in Washington, D.C., Nov. 11-16, for a career development program which introduces students to careers in the legal profession. The program is being provided by the National Youth Leadership Forum on Law.

The curriculum for the forum is based on actual events, which allows students to learn from the examples set by attorneys of law and court officials from municipal court to the U.S. Supreme Court.

"Through intensive simulations, students will have the opportunity to exercise the skills used by Supreme Court justices who rule on key issues facing our country today in addition to serving as the esteemed legal teams that argue on behalf of and against those issues," said Marguerite Regan, dean of academic affairs for NYLF.

The NYLF/LAW has visited several law firms and area courthouses, including the District of Columbia Court of Appeals, District of Columbia Superior Court, and various county circuit courts. The program has also included visits to some of the nation's most prestigious law schools, including University of Maryland School of Law, Washington College of Law at American University, and Howard University School of Law.

"Because our legal system plays a vital role in our daily lives, the NYLF/LAW offers students the opportunity to learn directly from partners at law firms, criminal defense attorneys, and prosecutors," said Regan, "as well as professors and other experts of the legal profession. This is where the future for many students begins to take shape."

The NYLF was founded in 1992 as an educational organization established to help prepare extraordinary young people for their professional careers.

Forums are offered in 11 cities across the United States in other career fields such as national security and medicine. For additional information on the program, persons may visit the web site at www.nylf.org.

Fitzwater was nominated by her high school guidance counselor, Penny Proudfoot, and she is the daughter of Gary and Jeannette Fitzwater, Mtn. Lake Park.

FRIENDSVILLE HONORS GRANDPARENTS – The Friendsville Community Watch recently gathered at the Friendsville Community Building to honor the town's grandparents. The event started with a cancer awareness scavenger hunt, followed by a fried chicken lunch with "all the fixings," a nutrition bingo game, and door prizes. "The Friendsville Community Watch would like to thank everyone who helped make this event a huge success," said a group spokesperson. For more information about upcoming events or how to join the Friendsville Community Watch, persons may call group president Sharol Coddington at 301-746-5601 or Kecia Smith at 301-746-5230. Activities are support in part by funds from the Garrett County Health Department to promote healthy living and prevent risky behaviors.

The trip includes a train ride with lunch, and dinner at the Graceland Mansion, and the cost is $140 per person. Persons may register no later than March 6, with a $40 deposit due at registration. A final balance of $100 is due by April 3.

Motor coach transportation, as well as trip insurance, will be available by U.S. Tours, with pick-ups in Grantsville, Accident, and Oakland. For registration, persons may call Carrie Clow at 301-334-9431, ext. 139, or 888-877-8403.

Heritage Sunday To Be Celebrated At St. Paul's UMC

Heritage Sunday will be celebrated at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, this Sunday, Nov. 16, with a historical video being shown prior to the 8:30 a.m. and 10:45 a.m. worship services.

The video will take the viewer from the current St. Paul's Church to the corner of Water and First streets, where a survey stone is located that was used as a starting point for the "laying out" of the lots of Oakland.

Rev. Dr. Lawrence Sherwood's sermon, "Thou Shalt Be His Witness Unto All," will reveal a historical look at St. Paul's, with emphasis on the family of Isaac McCarty. Based on Acts 22:6-15, the sermon will elaborate on the early witnesses that began the Methodist movement in what is now known as Oakland and Garrett County.

Sherwood served as pastor of St. Paul's UMC from 1961 to 1976. He is retired and now serves as pastor emeritus of the church, and remains active in church work for the West Virginia Annual Conference. He is known throughout the area as a historian for the church and community.

According to Sherwood, McCarty, who had originally bought a large tract of land known as "The Wilderness Shall Smile," deeded lots 43 and 44 for the sole use of the church. McCarty's daughter gave the town of Oakland its name.

St. Paul's traces its origin to 1824 with the Sabbath Classes that were held in members' homes, such as those of McCarty, George Loar, and Henry White. The first actual church building, a log structure, was erected in 1831 on the McCarty farm.

The public is invited to attend the Sunday worship services to gain a better understanding of the history of Oakland and of St. Paul's UMC. For additional information, persons may contact the church at 301-334-2391.

CARPENTER'S LEVEL

by Dr. Thomas P. Sheahen

Q. On a carpenter's level, to what does the bubble level? The curve of the earth? Water level? What?

A. Basically, a level "points" in the exact opposite direction of gravity. Gravity pulls everything downward, but air is less dense than water, so a bubble rises toward the top as best it can. A level is constructed having a transparent tube that is not perfectly flat, but is curved just a little. The water inside that tube, as well as the air bubble, can move around, and so the air will move to the highest point it possibly can.

Instead of dissolving into many small bubbles, the single bubble is held together by the surface tension of the liquid in the tube. That gives the bubble nice round edges. The only purpose of the water is to form edges on the bubble for you to see. The markings on the outside of the tube enable you to judge when the bubble is precisely in the middle of the tube.

When you've reached that condition, the gravitational force is pointing straight down from the bubble, perpendicular to the alignment of the level. Depending upon which tube you're looking at, the surface being measured is either exactly horizontal or exactly vertical.

Dr. Sheahen is a physicist who was educated at MIT. He lives at Deep Creek Lake and has taught physics at Garrett College. Persons wishing to submit questions for this column may e-mail them to newsroom@therepublicannews.com.

IT'S TIME!

With the economic situation this year, we expect great need...

WARM THE CHILDREN

Providing New Winter Clothing For Needy Children

For the 11th year, The Republican newspaper and the Civic Club of Oakland are asking for your help. Without it, many Garrett County children will go cold this winter.

Just what is the WARM THE CHILDREN PROGRAM?

The Civic Club and The Republican's WARM THE CHILDREN PROGRAM is basically neighbors helping neighbors. We here at the paper are asking for monetary donations (tax deductible) from you, the readers. The collected funds are being used to purchase new winter clothing for Garrett County children in need. Because the newspaper administers the program, there are no added fees or overhead costs. Every penny donated is used to buy the winter items.

How are needy children being identified?

A special corps of volunteers is working right now to identify those in need this year. (Please do not call for the service. If you have been selected, you will be notified.)

How will the children's clothing be purchased?

Members of the Civic Club of Oakland are taking the families shopping at Wal-Mart. The children, with the help of their parents, may select their own new coats, hats, sweaters, long johns, jeans, boots, pajamas, or other needed winter items, spending up to $125 per child.

The Civic Club of Oakland is again heading up the volunteer/shopping coordination. Many volunteers are working together to make sure the children of Garrett County stay warm this winter.

The Republican and the
GWFC Civic Club of Oakland

To make a donation, please complete the coupon below, cut it out, and mail it along with your tax-deductible contribution to the address noted. All checks should be made out to Warm the Children.

Donations should be postmarked by December 10, 2008. Those collected after December 10 will be saved for next year's campaign.

Q: I enjoy watching the young actor who plays John Connor on "Terminator: The Sarah Connor Chronicles." Is he the same actor who played the high-school friend of Claire, the cheerleader, in the first season of "Heroes"? –Susan Davison, Columbus, Ohio

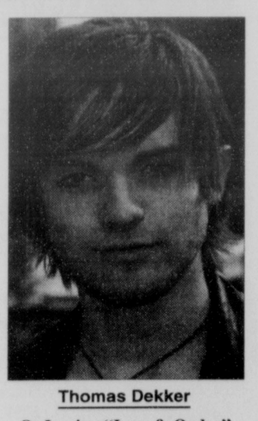
A: Yes, Thomas Dekker was seen as Zach on "Heroes." He landed another notable role recently; he'll be in a movie update of "Fame," the musical drama that inspired the 1980s TV series.

Q: Are John King and Dana Bash of CNN married? I happened to notice they were gone at the same time and came back at the same time. –Grace Alioto, Oak Creek, Wis.

A: Not that they wouldn't necessarily have had coinciding vacations, but yes, they were both gone for a while because they were wed in May. With their shared, very evident craving for finding and reporting political news, it's likely they scheduled their nuptials so they would be back in time to hit the last stretch of the road to the presidential election as hard as they did.

Q: In the "Matlock" episode "The Suspect," is the actress who plays the judge the woman who also played Helen Crump on "The Andy Griffith Show"? –Michele Granieri, Niagara Falls, N.Y.

A: Yes, it was Aneta Corsaut, who reunited with Griffith to play Judge Cynthia Justin in several "Matlock" stories in the late 1980s and early 1990s. It was her final role: the actress died in 1995.



Thomas Dekker

Q: I enjoy "Law & Order" and its spinoffs. I seem to remember that many years ago, there was a similar show that starred Chuck Connors as a police detective and Ben Gazzara as an attorney. True, or my imagination at work here? –Jack Whittington, Brea, Calif.

A: True, for the most part. The earlier show was "Arrest and Trial," which ABC aired during the 1963-64 season, but it was Gazzara who played the police detective while Connors portrayed a defense attorney. In that sense, while the structure was the same as that of "Law & Order," the trial part was a bit different; on the current show, the attorneys are trying to convict the arrested party, while the lawyer on "Arrest and Trial" was trying to get the suspect cleared.

Unbroken Promises

There's an old saying, "Don't put all your eggs in one basket." If something happens to that basket all those eggs might break!

It's difficult to put all our trust in others; we are often discouraged by misleading information and broken promises. At times is seems easier to trust only ourselves. Is it possible to put all our confidence in something other than ourselves?

There is a safe haven for all our trust; God. God does not break His promises; His advice is straightforward and sure. It is possible to place ourselves in His hands. "God shall cover you with his feathers, and under his wings shall you trust; his truth shall be your shield and protection" (Psalm 91:4).

Discover more about God at your house of worship. You can put all your eggs in His basket.

Guard Your Thoughts

Perhaps the only thing more difficult than controlling our tongues is controlling our minds. The person who can control his or her mind is poised to do great things. Good thoughts will usually lead to good actions while bad thoughts will more often produce bad actions. We have a tendency to think that what goes on in our mind is a purely private and subjective matter that we can hide from others, but what we think about, especially if we think about it habitually or obsessively, does indeed make its way into the world via our speech and actions. Eventually what is on our mind comes out in our words and actions. So, we should keep our thoughts wholesome and pure, contemplating how we can make the world a better place and how we might be of service to our fellow man. Greater is he who conquers himself than he who conquers a thousand armies.

Do not be conformed to this world but be transformed by the renewal of your mind, that you may prove what is the will of God, what is good and acceptable and perfect.

Chamomile and Diabetic Complications

Chamomile is the name of a plant that has been widely used throughout Germany and the Mediterranean for different commercial purposes. Portions of the plant are found in many topical products such as shampoo and soap. Chamomile has been used to treat many illnesses; however, it is most commonly used to treat anxiety (or as a sedative), stomach disorders, and skin disorders. It possesses antianxiety, antispasmotic, and anti-inflammatory activities. Products made from the plant have been shown to be effective as a sedative, antidiarrheal, and as a topical for the treatment of eczema.

One recent study showed that chamomile extract reduced the amount ofALR2 enzymes and sorbitol found in test animals with diabetes. Elevated levels of these substances are associated with diabetic complications of the eye, nerves, and kidneys. More research is needed to evaluate the effectiveness of chamomile in reducing diabetic complications in humans. Chamomile should not be used with other medications or supplements that tend to cause drowsiness.

How to Correct a Pet Owner

Q. My son and his girlfriend have two Pomeranians. One is an 8-year-old female, "Sassy," which the girlfriend had before they got together. The other is a male, "Junior," now about 21 months old. Junior is considered my son's dog, and he disciplines him by flipping him over on his back and scolding him. Now the dog growls and bares his teeth at my son if he comes near him. The dog was very loving at first. What do you think about this, and how can it be fixed? — Rod S., via e-mail

A. It's clear that you don't approve of the way your son disciplines his dog, and I agree with you — that's a terrible way to correct a dog. There are ways to show dominance without threatening your pet.

Part of the issue is that Junior is a Pomeranian, a breed that can be quite temperamental. Pomeranians also can become very neurotic in the wrong kind of environment. Certainly, not all Pomeranians are ill-tempered and neurotic, but they are small dogs — energetic and excitable — that often don't tolerate lots of people or loud noises.

I don't have a lot of advice for you, unfortunately. Junior has some issues, but there are no clear signs of neglect or abuse. And your son probably will not listen to advice you have to give — he might even be insulted that you think he's treating Junior wrong.

The best that you can do is lead by example. When visiting, be very calm and soothing around Junior. If the dog's behavior interferes with your visit, kindly ask your son to place Junior in another room until the visit is over. If you have a dog, treat him or her as you normally would whenever your son visits, but don't preach. I guarantee he is watching how you treat your dog.

Collecting

by Larry Cox

Q. I have a Beatles jigsaw puzzle. I have been offered $50 for it, but suspect it is worth much more. What do you think? — Steve, Paintsville, Ky.

A. According to Buy, Keep or Sell by Judith Miller (DK Books, $30), your puzzle is worth in the $120 to $180 range. Even though I think many of Miller's values are on the high side, I think it is certainly worth more than $50. As with all collectibles, true value depends on three factors: scarcity, demand and condition.

Q. I have been sorting through my father's tool chest, which contains many older tools. Are there books available to help me learn their age and value? — Barbara, Fairport, N.Y.

A. One of the better general references is The Antique Trader Tools Price Guide: Tools from the 1700s through the 20th Century, edited by Kyle Husfloen (Krause, $19.99). Tool collecting has become a major hobby in our country, and with the increased interest have come increased prices in the marketplace.

Of special interest to collectors are vintage woodworking tools such as planes and scrapers. A dealer who might be helpful is William A. Gustafson, William A. Gustafson Antiques, P.O. Box 104, 10643 Route 22, Austerlitz, NY 12017.

GC Health Dept. Focuses On Home Health Care, Advanced Technology

by Diane Lee, GCHD public information officer

November is National Home Care Month. With increasing costs of health care and shorter hospital stays, in-home care has been proven nationally to be more cost-effective and improve outcomes for individuals.

Home care allows individuals of all ages to remain in their homes with support of family, friends, community resources, and services provided by the Garrett County Health Department Home Health Agency.

Home care provides a wide range of services, such as skilled nursing; physical, speech, and occupational therapy; home health aides; and a medical social worker.

In order to receive home care, the patient must be essentially homebound and in need of skilled care. Regulations mandate that the required care be medically reasonable, necessary, and ordered by a physician.

"Our goal in Home Health care – We want our patients to receive the very best home care possible," said Linda Moe, director. "Our staff of experienced professionals strive to provide the most comprehensive, advanced and friendly home health care in the area.

"When you contact our agency, we respond immediately to your home health needs," Moe continued. "Our team effort provides patients and families with the best quality care available. Your good health is our goal."

GCHD/HHA continues to provide additional supportive services through the Telehealth Program. Telehealth uses remote computer equipment to monitor the condition of a patient and relay information over a telephone line or wireless connection, back to a central nursing station.

The system is much like an ATM machine, where a touch screen is activated and the patient is able to perform functions such as blood pressure, blood sugar, oxygen levels, and weight, which then are transmitted to a computer in the office of Telehealth. The nurse reviews the information and coordinates the findings with the patient's physician and the patient.

Through Telehealth, better patient outcomes are achieved by improving access to care, and educating patients for long-term self-management.

The service can help stimulate important behavioral changes and promotes patients and their families to participate in, and make decisions regarding, their care. Telehealth can decrease health care costs while continuing to improve patient outcomes and enhance their quality of life.

The service, provided by a grant through the University of Maryland and supported by the Cigarette Restitution Fund, is a wonderful opportunity for residents of Garrett County to take advantage of advanced technology and the changing trends of health care.

Physicians like the accuracy and reliability of their patients being monitored, and patients like the security and dependability of knowing what to do to take care of themselves and they feel better.

Telehealth provides the equipment at no extra cost to the patient and teaches the patient and/or family how to use the equipment.

"Knowing that the staff at Home Health was aware of my condition every day made me feel more secure and well cared for," said one former patient. "I knew if things weren't okay, they would get in touch and make sure I got proper care."

A family member of one patient said: "We truly appreciate all that you do to make a difference in the lives of the patients you work with. The knowledge, compassion and support that each of you shared was a true source of comfort for our family."

Patients interested in Telehealth should ask their doctors. Contact the GCHD/HHA nursing staff for more information concerning the Home Health program and Telehealth.

The Adult Evaluation and Review Service can also assist with community resources and evaluations.

The Garrett County Health Department Home Health Agency is Medicare certified and licensed by the state of Maryland and has a professionally trained, licensed, and certified staff with years of home health experience.

For more information regarding Home Health services or Telehealth, persons may call 301-334-7750 or 301-895-3111, or fax 301-334-7751.

SRWA Attends Conference At Canaan Valley

The Savage River Watershed Association, a group of local landowners and other citizens, recently attended the Eastern Coalfield Watershed Training Conference on Oct. 27-29 at the Canaan Valley Resort in Davis, W.Va.

The training was hosted by Eastern Coal Regional Roundtable (ECRR) and the Environmental Protection Agency to address issues of water quality in the Eastern Coal Region.

"The ECRR training really put into focus the issues impacting our waterways and communities in coal country," said Kevin Devine, SRWA's watershed coordinator, "and [it] provided insightful remedies to these often challenging problems."

Training sessions addressed issues such as acid mine drainage and straight pipes which have significant impacts on western Maryland streams and elsewhere throughout Appalachia.

Participants received intensive instruction and hands-on practice in water monitoring, grant writing, and organizational development. Representatives from various public agencies presented information on funding opportunities and development projects.

"SRWA hopes that by collaborating with community organizations, government agencies, and individuals in efforts to restore our watersheds, it will help improve the quality of life in western Maryland and help to ensure our watersheds are safe for future generations to enjoy," stated a spokesperson.

The event was part of Hope and Hard Work, a partnership between ECRR and the EPA, to build the capacity of grassroots watershed groups in the Eastern Coalfield Region. The event drew 88 individuals representing local groups from Maryland, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia.

The SRWA is a group dedicated to preserving and enhancing the rural nature and natural resources of the Savage River watershed. Members aim to assist interested landowners and public land managers with environmental stewardship efforts and educational outreach.

The next training is scheduled for Nov. 17-19 at Breaks Interstate Park in Breaks, Va. For more information, persons may contact Kevin Devine by calling 301-689-7156 or by e-mail at SRWAcoordinator@gmail.com.

PRESENTS "PATRIOTIC" QUILT TO VETERAN – Local veteran Joan Crawford, right, is shown receiving a "patriotic" quilt from Martha McGettigan of the Heritage Quilters Cub. Crawford was in the U.S. Navy WAVES (Women Accepted for Volunteer Emergency Service) from 1944 to 45. She entered as an ensign and was promoted to lieutenant (junior grade). Stationed at the Harvard Navy Supply School, Norfolk (Va.) Navy Yard, Crawford's job was to pay naval personnel who were stationed there and officers on detail of ships under construction. After the war ended, Crawford transferred to Bainbridge, where she paid those who were being discharged from service. Nine members of the Heritage Quilters made red, white, and blue quilts to be given to veterans in appreciation for their service to the United States. McGettigan said she was pleased to present the quilt she made to Crawford, who is her neighbor.

Savage River Watershed Assn. To Meet Nov. 20

The Savage River Watershed Association (SRWA) will hold its regular meeting at the Route 40 Elementary School next Thursday, Nov. 20, at 7 p.m.

Each meeting brings local citizens and SRWA members together to talk about issues within the watershed and to host an expert from an assortment of professions.

The guest speaker for this meeting will be Robin Broder from Potomac Riverkeeper (PRK), who as the director of operations oversees many of PRK's programs. The Potomac Riverkeeper is an action-oriented organization that defends the Clean Water Act and works to stop illegal pollution inputs into the Potomac and its tributaries.

Broder will explain how Potomac Riverkeeper is en-hancing the waterways of the Potomac through community action and enforcement. The organization emphasizes community involvement in efforts to ensure accountability of those who illegally pollute waterways.

Broder will tell the audience members about PRK's new program, "Get the DIRT Out!" She says that sediment pollution is a systemic problem within the Potomac River watershed and is attributed to many Clean Water Act violations.

Headwater streams containing brook trout are especially vulnerable to even small doses of sediment pollution, she says, adding that brook trout need cold, clear water in order to survive, and sediment can harm their spawning habitats. While all the streams in the Savage River watershed currently meet Clean Water Act requirements for sediment loads, SRWA and PRK are working to ensure that it stays that way, she said.

Broder has over 18 years of experience working for non-profits, including nine years with the Arlington Street People's Assistance Network as board president, and then as director of development during a time of rapid growth in programs and funding. She was responsible for establishing in-ternal financial controls, as well as bringing in many new foundation grants and expanding donations from individuals, corporations, and other groups.

Before settling in the D.C. area, Broder worked with public housing residents on a public-private partnership to redevelop their neighborhood on the south side of Chicago.

She holds a master's degree in public policy from the University of Chicago's Harris School of Public Policy Studies.

The SRWA is a group of local landowners and other citizens dedicated to preserving and enhancing the rural nature and natural resources of the Savage River watershed. Members assist interested landowners and public land managers with environmental stewardship efforts and educational outreach.

Anyone who is concerned about the Savage River watershed is invited to join. SRWA meetings are held at Route 40 Elementary School on the third Thursday of odd-numbered months, beginning at 7 p.m. The school is located at 17764 National Pike, a few miles west of Frostburg.

Open House Set At Cherry Glade

Cherry Glade Mennonite Church will celebrate the opening of a new sanctuary with an open house and dedication service on Sunday, Nov. 16, at 10 a.m.

The community is invited for refreshments and fellowship beginning at 9:15 a.m. A noon meal will follow the dedication service.

The church is located at 4051 Accident-Bittinger Road, Accident.

The pastoral team includes Barry Maust, senior pastor; Titus Beitzel, associate pastor; Daniel Tice, associate pastor; and Anthony Lehman, youth pastor.

The team worked with the congregation through the visioning process, planning, and construction phases of the project.

Members and friends in the community contributed time and work toward the completion of the new sanctuary.

"The desire for 'room for all' prompted the congregation to build a new, larger sanctuary," a spokesperson said. "The mission of the congregation is to preach and teach the gospel to all who will hear."

Through the years, Cherry Glade has worked to serve the local and global community through ministry, activities, and outreach. The Easter drama Behold the King plays to a full house several weekends biannually. Helping Hands sends school and health kits and supplies to local shelters as well as war- and disaster torn areas around the world through Rosedale Mennonite Missions, Mennonite Central Committee, and Operation Christmas Child. Vacation Bible School and Breakaway provide evangelism, fellowship, and leadership training to local children and youth.

There are also Sunday school, small groups including care groups, junior youth, youth group, and post-high enable bible study, teaching, and mentoring. Hosting events such as "Dare to Be You" and the "Thirty Hour Famine" raises awareness of local and global need.

Cherry Glade Mennonite Church is a member of the Conservative Mennonite Conference, a Christian fellowship of evangelical Anabaptist churches in North America.

A NEW SANCTUARY will open this weekend at Cherry Glade Mennonite Church, located along Accident-Bittinger Road. The community is invited to an open house and dedication service on Sunday, Nov. 16. Refreshments and fellowship will begin at 9:15 a.m., and the dedication service will be held at 10 a.m. A noon meal will also be served. See story for details.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

There were no lines at the Bittinger fire hall for voting last Tuesday, but still the turnout was good. Some people from the Bittinger area had to vote at the college; Bill Southerly voted there after work and encountered some lines, not unlike the rest of the county.

We don't have any African-Americans in Bittinger, and most of the more liberal young voters are away at their colleges, but Obama did pick up a number of votes in Bittinger. I talked to two Republican women who did vote for Obama. Bittinger did not make history, but that is nothing new. As in the rest of the country, he pulled a significant number of white voters with college or post-graduate degrees.

Since I was exhausted from the campaign and the change to Standard Time, I wasn't able to watch the voting returns when Obama was declared the winner at 10 o'clock, but another Bittinger supporter called me on the phone and said, "We did it." So I did see the acceptance speech and the celebration in Chicago, in Chicago real time. I continued to watch them on the news the next morning.

I was overjoyed even more, very relieved. Even if I have high hopes for Obama, he is facing some serious challenges no new president since FDR has had to, so we can't expect miracles from day one. It is sad to say, some people do not want to give him a chance.

I heard from a couple of faculty members at Garrett College that some of the kids were not worried about Obama because they were sure someone would try to kill him. One even said they should kill him!

Some people are afraid of change. Like FDR said, "The greatest thing to fear is fear itself." I just hope and pray that we will not experience the tragic events of the 1960s when we lost so many of our best and brightest.

The day after Election Day, November 5, started the Bittinger November "birthday binge." The birthday girl that day was Linda Buckel.

Linda often jokes that Pete always took her out for dinner for her birthday to the Bittinger fire hall for the annual Woodmen of the World dinner that was held this year on Friday, Nov. 7.

After Linda's birthday, it was time for my birthday, which is Nov. 6. I celebrated it by sharing some take-out Chinese food with three old and close friends. I would not call it a "party," as it was way too low-key for that word. And at our age, we all were ready to call it quits at 9 o'clock!

My first birthday greeting was a phone call from Sheila Southerly. It is not surprising that she remembers my birthday because it is one day before her husband Bill's birthday, and that of my brother-in-law Kevin Bass and Sheila's Aunt Bea Buckel.

The 8th is Wanda Reynolds' birthday. Then we have a little break in the action. Mike Taylor shares a birthday with the late Fern Beachy that is on Veterans Day, Nov. 11. The next day, Nov. 12, is the birthday of Sharon Buckel. Then Nov. 14 is Beulah Moon's birthday.

Although she was due on my birthday, my Caitlin waited almost two weeks to be born on the birthday of her father, Lloyd Sussman, which is Nov. 19.

Even though Steven Schlosnagle is not from Bittinger, he grew up on a farm in the Accident area, and his birthday is important to me because he was a classmate and a close friend of mine from the first grade all the way to when we graduated from the University of Maryland. Steve is now living with his wife in Chapel Hill, N.C.

Lenny and Sally Poholsky have been traveling a lot recently. They first drove down to Greensboro, N.C., in late October to visit Torrey at college. Then they flew to Albuquerque, N.M., where they visited and stayed with Michael and Lea Pochet and little Blake, then headed to the Grand Canyon, which Sally said is magnificent. Then they toured around Arizona, stopping at Flagstaff and Sedona. The weather was beautiful their whole time in the Southwest. They headed home in time to vote on Election Day.

Sally said, "There is no place like home." She was especially happy to see her little dog, who spent the time while they were away with Dave and Nancy Beachy.

Several other Bittinger residents hit the road last weekend. Ruth DiPaolo joined several friends to drive to Florida, where they boarded their cruise ship, heading to the Bahamas. What they didn't know was that a hurricane was heading there also.

Pastor Randolph Richardson headed to Colorado to do some elk hunting. While he was away, his wife Cindy visited Buffalo, N.Y., and the church where he did his intern duty. Cindy will give a presentation there about their African trip and spend time sewing and quilting with old friends.

AMENDED FARM BILL PROVISIONS AND NEW SIGN-UP DEADLINE ANNOUNCED

Eric McCartney, executive director of USDA's Farm Service Agency in Preston County, informs owners and operators of farms with 10 or fewer base acres that they now have the opportunity to receive payments for the 2008 Direct and Counter-Cyclical Payment Program (DCP).

"President Bush recently signed into law a bill that made amendments to the 2008 Farm Bill," said McCartney. "These amendments apply to farms with crop acreage bases of 10 acres or less and to the new Supplemental Revenue Assistance (SURE) Program. These changes and clarifications allow some producers more flexibility in farming practices and create new sign-up opportunities with new deadlines for some farms."

10-Base Acre Limit Changes

As originally enacted under the 2008 Farm Bill, direct and counter-cyclical payments (DCP) could not be made with respect to farms with crop acreage bases of 10 acres or less. The new law makes that provision inapplicable for the 2008 crop year. Related to this, producers on a farm with 10 acres or less of base may now, under the new law, enroll their farms in the 2008 DCP program until November 26. This extension of the original September 30 deadline only applies to producers who were previously excluded because of the minimum acreage requirement. FSA began issuing payments to producers on farms with 10 base acres or less who had already enrolled in the DCP program soon after the president signed the new law.

FSA will now resume allowing reconstitutions for farms with 10 acres of base or less according to normal reconstitution rules and policy. Eligible producers may sign up for DCP at any FSA office or enroll on the FSA web site at: www.fsa.usda.gov/dcp (click on Access eDCP Services).

Supplemental Revenue Assistance Program (SURE) Changes

Under SURE in the 2008 Farm Bill, producers seeking disaster benefits must generally have obtained crop insurance or coverage under the Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program (NAP) for all crops on all farms. Under the new law (P.L. 110-398), producers with crops that had 2009 crop insurance sales closing dates before August 14, 2008, may pay a fee through January 12, 2009, to participate in SURE. Producers may make their SURE participation fee payments to the Preston County FSA Office at this time.

The SURE program fee is equal to the fee for catastrophic coverage. Payment of the SURE program fee will not make the producer eligible for insurance coverage.

Producers also have a new minimum loss threshold under SURE. Under the new law, to qualify for payments, there must be a production loss of at least 10 percent for at least one crop of economic significance on the farm.

Under the SURE program, the new law provides that when a second crop is planted after the first crop was prevented from being planted, or if such first crop failed, the second planting will not count toward the SURE program guarantee or total farm revenue. This is true except in areas where double-cropping is a normal practice. Producers also are not required to purchase crop insurance or a NAP policy for the second crop.

By provision of the new statute, the purchase of insurance or a NAP policy for grazed acreage is no longer a requirement for the SURE program. However, such insurance is required as a condition for payment for the livestock feed program, tree assistance program, and the emergency livestock, honeybees, and farm-related fish programs.

In addition, the new law amends SURE eligibility so that crop insurance or NAP coverage is no longer required for crops that are not of economic significance or those where the administrative fee required to buy NAP coverage exceeds 10 percent of the value of the coverage.

Producers may contact the Preston County FSA office for more information regarding SURE program implementation.

NAP (Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program) Application Deadline Changes

NAP application closing dates for the 2009 crops have been extended to December 1, 2008. This extension for 2009 NAP applies to those crops having an application closing date prior to December 1, 2008. This extension was authorized because of the late enactment of the 2008 Farm Bill and to accommodate those applicants wanting to participate in disaster assistance programs under the 2008 Act's Supplemental Agricultural Disaster Assistance for their 2009 crops.

Producers wanting additional information on the above programs may visit the Farm Service Agency office, located in the Corner Mall of the Kingwood Plaza, or telephone 304-329-1923.

W.VA. FARM BUREAU

The annual meeting of the West Virginia Farm Bureau was held over the past weekend at Flatwoods in the Days Hotel. Attending from Aurora/Eglon area were Mark and LaDeana Teets, David and Delores Stemple, and John and Florence Minnig. Some items for business and informational discussion were the motor carrier regulations affecting the W.Va. farmer, as well as the gas and oil situation.

Charles Wilfong was re-relected as president of the organization and Phillip Gregg, Masontown, was elected to the state board of directors. Participants in the Youth Speech Contest presented their essays on urbanization as the answer to "What Affects the West Virginia Farms Today?" The essays provided differences in points of view involving the problem.

The meeting also included an address from the president of the American Farm Bureau, Bob Stallman, and a presentation of the mobile lab by Helen Hardman, coordinator. The mobile lab will be moving around the West Virginia elementary schools to make the population more aware of where food originates, while providing them with a hands-on experience.

Those interested in more information or in having the lab visit an area school should contact Helen Hardman at 1-800-398-4630. The cost for the lab to visit is $1,000 for one week with a certified teacher. Those who attended the state fair may have seen the mobile lab.

PERSONAL

Naomi "Patsy" Nair, Brookside, is a patient at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where she was admitted for treatment last week.

Members and spouses of the Farm Women's Circle, Horse Shoe Run, met last Friday evening for their annual dinner at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building. Other activities will include the exchange of gifts with Secret Sisters and the selection of new ones.

Neighbors and friends worked last week at the home of Mark and Jenny Harsh to build a roof over their mobile home in Eglon. The job was completed by Saturday.

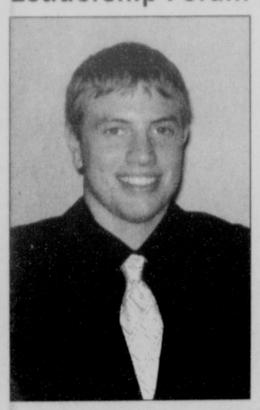
Local Student Hopes To Attend Leadership Forum



John Compton, a junior at Southern Garrett High School, has been nominated to represent his school and community as a member of the National Youth Leadership Forum on National Security, scheduled for Feb. 3-8, 2009, in Washington, D.C.

The six-day program will introduce students to challenging careers in national security, intelligence, the diplomatic corps, and other related areas.

The curriculum for the forum is based on actual world events, according to a spokesperson. Forum students use critical thinking, plus leadership and public speaking skills, to tackle the complexity of national decision-making as they examine how the U.S. plans for peace and prepares for crisis. They employ a crisis decision-making process similar to that utilized by the nation's top policy makers, according to the spokesperson.

In addition, leading institutions open their doors to the students, where they are educated in diplomacy, international affairs, and military strategy.

Compton said that he hopes attending the forum will enable him to further his interest in the field of electronic engineering and to reach his career goal of becoming a United States Marine.

At Southern High School, Compton is currently the cadet captain and supply officer for the Rams Battalion of the Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps (JROTC). He has been a member of the corps for three years.

Compton is also involved in the Garrett County Board of Education Leadership in Action Academy. In the community, he is a member of Boy Scout Troop 31, Oakland, where he holds the rank of Life Scout and recently started his Eagle Scout project.

His participation in the leadership forum in February will depend upon whether or not he can raise $1,600 in sponsorships to cover tuition, travel, and meals. Persons interested in making a donation to this effort are asked to make checks payable to John Compton, and write NYLF in the memo line. They may be sent to him at 180 Bever Park Lane, Swanton, MD 21561. The deadline for sponsorships is Friday, Dec. 5.

Persons desiring more information may telephone him at 301-359-0691.

John is the son of Tom and Yvetta Compton, Swanton, and the grandson of Doris Barnard, Eglon, W.Va.
